GOV'T RECORD UNEMPLOYMENT IS ASSAILED

Hon. Ernest Lapointe Addreses Big Liberal Rally in London.

FOUR MAJOR COUNTS.

Central Bank Placed Canada's Economic Control in Hands of Private Interests.

LONDON, Ont., May 18 (C.P.).—Hon. Ernest Lapointe, K.C., former Minister of Justice in the King Cabinet, addressing a Liberal rally here last night, said the "failure of the Bennett Government in its five years in office to produce a national policy on unemployment is the great tragedy of its record."

Mr. Lapointe criticized the Government on what he listed as four major counts:

Failure in unemployment policy.

Placing control of Canada's economic life in the hands of private financial interests through refusal to make the Central Bank a nationally-owned institution.

Policy of high protection in the face of overwhelming evidence of its failure.

Disregard of British parliamentary practice in carrying on when by-elections have shown it has entirely lost the confidence of the people.

COL. LAWRENCE'S LUNG CONGESTED

Condition Becomes More Complicated—Been Unconscious For Five Days.

WILD RUMORS SPREAD.

WOOL, Dorsetshire, Eng. May 18 (AP)—The condition of Col. T. E. Lawrence, unconscious for five days after a motorcycle accident, was complicated today by a congestion in the right lung.

The morning bulletin at Bovington military hospital revealed Lawrence "Still is unconscious, his strength is being well maintained and there is some congestion in the right lung."

In Coma 120 Hours

The bulletin was issued when the patient had been in a coma for 120 hours. A chest specialist was called to treat the latest complication.

Wild rumors flitted about. The reports were more than fantastic than many of the legends linked to Lawrence's Arabian adventures.

One was that Britain would be in peril if Lawrence died because his brain holds the country's war plans.

Another was the man in the hospital is not Lawrence because the colonel is on a secret mission in the Far East.

Blame Foreign Agents

Still another was foreign agents caused mysterious fires near the lonely Dorsetshire cottage where Lawrence lived in an effort to obtain or destroy invaluable documents.

A. W. Lawrence, brother of the man who changed his name to T. E. Shaw when he joined the Royal Air Force in 1927, said the reports were "utter nonsense."

"He was not connected with any government work," said the brother, "and had only private papers in the cottage in addition to valuable books he collected during the course of his literary activities."

However, the tales became new legends, faster than they could be denied.

They followed on the heels of reports the crash Monday when Lawrence was travelling at high speed resulted from an attempt on his life. One story said a mysterious motorist, possibly a foreign agent, sped away after ambushing Lawrence.

Campbellford To Have Girls' Softball Loop

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18. (Examiner Correspondence).—Looks as though the Campbellford girls were going to organize a softball league of their own this season. The meeting held on the school grounds on Friday evening, which was attended by a splendid crowd, gave Miss Lillian Bush and Mrs. Don McArthur an opportunity of selecting two all-star teams. The Bush team called for a workout on Tuesday evening, May 21, at 6.30 o'clock while the McArthur clan will line up for practice on Wednesday evening at the same time.

It is expected that an exhibition game will be arranged for an early date, possibly May 24th. In any case, all girls interested in the game are requested to attend the workouts as plate and base umpires will be needed and there will be a little general business to be talked over.

ERNEST HAWLEY IS ACQUITTED

Bridge district was charged with perjury, the complaintant being Dr. W. F. Loucks of Campbellford. The warrant read "That he did commit perjury in connection with a proposal for a composition or scheme of arrangement under the Farm Creditors Relief Act". Hawley pleaded not guilty and when given the option, elected to be tried by the magistrate. Alexander MacColl appeared for the accused. Col. F. D. Boggs of Cobourg representing the crown.

After listening to the evidence of Melton E. Maybee, official receiver under the Farm Creditors' Act and other witnesses which included, W. J. Armstrong, Bruce Curtis, J. A. Frederick, James Kitchen and George E. Hay. The final summing up of the crown attorney and Mr. MacColl who stated that according to the sworn evidence of Hawley, that he (Hawley) had explained to Mr. Maybee that he had other creditors and was not asked to name them, also claiming that there was no suggestion in the evidence that his client did wilfully commit perjury or use corrupt means, the magistrate's decision was as follows "A man shall submit his affairs to the board and his creditors have a right to know. The evidence of the accused is not conclusive, but the translation is taken.

The scheme is laid before the official receiver but the fact remains that the declaration taken under oath, that's what we have to deal with. In this case I am judge and jury both. This man is on trial for perjury, and it is essential that the Crown must satisfy the court that the false affair as the case may be, was corrupt. I find this word corrupt means bad design or intent, to give something to which he would not be properly entitled to, but by unfair means to gain some desired end. Here I am brought face to face at the very outset, as to whether the creditors who are set out by the persons seeking the benefit of the act (Form A) had this form said give names, addresses and amounts of all claims of creditors it would have been more clear.

In this case the purpose made by Hawley the accused, under the act does not mention any other creditors besides Dr. Loucks and the Bank of Toronto. With respect to Dr. Loucks, a certain mortgage claim, the first payment was not to commence until about one year after the proposal this was arranged under the act. The accused admits himself that these were the only ones. That he only set out such names as those he sought some adjustment. He claims that he told the official receiver about the other debts.

I have listened very closely to the evidence. This man is not particularly bright—an ignorant man—and to say that on evidence that he wilfully and corruptly did this is going further. I don't think the man knew any better, and that the ones he was seeking adjustment with were Dr. Loucks and the bank. While I am sensible to the necessity of keeping people to the line, nevertheless there is another plain duty, and I am therefore acquiting him of the charge."

SMART DISPLAY BY CADET CORPS

physical training exercises, carried through with an exactness of detail and obedience of peculiar interest to the onlookers. Each year the instructor introduced one or more novel features into the P.T., and this season the 'rooster fight' provided amusement and thrill. Divided into equal sides, and facing each other across the green, each boy holding up one foot with his hand, on the word of command advance was made to the centre and the 'fight' began until, within a given time, the stop signal was given and it as seen which side had the most men still standing.

Neat Appearance

In his address Captain Foulkes declared himself very well pleased with the appearance and turnout of the corps, "boots all shined and buttons cleaned," and urged the members to continued to take pride in their personal appearance, thus laying the foundation for a good life habit.

"Your drill also has been exceedingly good. I can see that you are all trying to do your very best. You will get out of the Cadet movement just what you put into it. It is not planned with any idea of making soldiers; indeed, it is of very little military value but learning the discipline, and a cheerful obedience to orders, will be of decided help in making better Canadian citizens out of you. Should any of you have an opportunity of leadership as an officer or otherwise, you will understand, and fulfill, your duties better because of the training you have received as a member of an active Cadet Corps."

The inspecting officer express the difficulty he had experienced in choosing the section that was to be awarded the handsome silver trophy presented by the 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons for annual competition because of its making the best all-round showing for the day, but finally awarded it to Section 4, presenting the cup to Corporal Robert Dunford, the Cadets under his command who were thus honored included Ross Armstrong, Melville Card, Byron and Charlie Foster, Wilson Ford, Kenneth Kidd, Orval Lunn, and Harold Sutton.

Number two section was mentioned as a close second, and the medals for the smartest senior and junior cadets in the parade were presented to Cadet John Howson and Cadet Grenville Trumpour, respectively.

Medals to Cadets

Captain Foulkes also presented the medals won by cadets in the rifle shooting competitions. Strathcona medals going to Robert Dunford, of the senior boys, and Arthur Richards of the juniors, Captain Owen McCarthy, and Lieutenant Reg McKnight, received officers' medals, and Melville Card a special medal for being the highest boy in the team. In the second class, in the D.C.R.A., medals went to Cadets R. Dunford, Allen Winslow Wilson Ford, Max Challice, Orville Wainman, A. T. Armstrong, Orval Rowland, Reg Edmunds, and Lawrence Hawken.

Representing the school board, ex-Warden W. T. Wood spoke briefly, expressing the interest that body has always taken in the Cadet work, and their satisfaction in the day's excellent showing along all lines. The fact that the big program being planned locally for June 3rd could not be carried through without the assistance of the Cadet Corps and the bugle band, was also stressed, and the inspection closed with three cheers and a tiger for King George, "and an extra one for the Jubilee", for Captain Foulkes, and for Cadet Instructor B. B. Dawson.

Headed by the bugle band the Corps paraded back to the Armouries for dismissal, and the Public and Continuation schools enjoyed a half holiday in honor of the occasion, with the Cadets being hosts for a jolly dance in the Armouries the same evening. The annual church attendance will be on Sunday, June 2, to St. Andrew's United Church, with the bugle band leading the parade from the Armouries to the place of worship, the service being at either 7 or 7.30 p.m., as will be most convenient for all concerned.

WANT NO CHAIN LETTERS.

BEAUMONT, Tex., May 18. — (CP).—For their own peace of mind the prisoners in the Jefferson county jail don't want any more chain letters.

They wrote to newspapers explaining that their money is locked up in the sheriff's office and the letters only serve to irritate them because they can't get in the game.

FISH and GAME COLUMN

Conducted by The LOCAL LEAGUE for the Protection of Canada's Fish Resources

The maskinonge hatchery on Pigeon Lake near Omemee, is not being operated by the Department this season. Queen's Park officials decided to close down this hatchery and operate large hatcheries further east, the largest being located near Belleville.

The closing of the Omemee hatchery is being stoutly protested by members of the local Fish and Game Association, who point out that this hatchery, judged by all available data, was one of the most successful hatcheries in the province. Results were important and the work carried out at the Omemee hatchery in propagating maskinonge was embodied largely in a Government booklet explaining the development of this great game fish. This Government booklet stated definitely that conditions in Pigeon Lake were ideal for propagation of maskinonge.

Sportsmen of this district urge that the results secured at the Omemee hatchery well warrant the continuance of its operation. It must be stated that the waters of the Kawartha Lakes could well stand all the maskinonge fry propagated at Omemee or any other single hatchery.

A quantity of maskinonge fry, brought here this week from the hatchery down East, was placed in local waters. Information as to the amount of fry put out could not be secured. It is to be hoped that the Department will send more and so help to make up for the loss of the Omemee hatchery to this district this season.

COURT ISSUES WARNING

An expensive lesson in sportsmanship was forced upon several local men in Magistrate Langley's court this week when they pleaded guilty to illegal angling for pickerel. His Worship served notice in no uncertain terms that so far as his court is concerned the work of poachers in depleting local waters of fish will not be lightly regarded. He said the public should appreciate the value to the district of its game fish and stressed the importance of of the spawning season in the continuance of good fishing.

Although Fred Marshall, county fish and game inspector, had spent many sleepless nights in apprehending the illegal fishermen he was content with a minimum fine, hoping that the lesson would be no less real if the penalty was not too severe.

Magistrate Langley's announcement should certainly be heeded by fishermen who are inclined to break the law. The stand he has taken will prove of definite encouragement to those actively interesing in the preservation of our fishing grounds.

PICKEREL LAW!

The following are extracts taken from the Game and Fisheries laws governing the catching of pickerel in the Province of Ontario:

1. In the waters lying to the southward of and including Lake Nipissing and the French and Mattawa Rivers, no one shall fish for, catch or kill any yellow pickerel (pike-perch or dore) from the first day of April to the fifteenth day of May, both days inclusive.

2. No one shall fish for, catch or kill in any waters of the Province in any one day by angling a greater number than eight yellow pickerel regardless of their length, nor take away at any one time a greater number than two days' legal catch.

3. No person shall catch any pickerel from a moving or drifting boat or any other floating device in the Counties of Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham; the waters of the Trent River and Lake Sougog in any county; the waters of Crow Lake and Crow River in the Counties of Peterborough and Hastings; and the waters of Beaver Creek, in the County of Hastings, during the close season for the taking of bass and maskinonge (muskellunge).

4. No pickerel shall be taken from an anchored boat, prior to July 1, in the waters mentioned in section 3, by use of any artificial bait or lures. June-bug spinner is an artificial bait.)

TESTING PERIOD.

It can be readily grasped by fishermen that the use of artificial bait in fishing from a boat before July 1 in local waters is absolutely prohibited. Still fishing with natural bait only is permissible.

The right to fish for pickerel from an anchored boat with natural bait in Rice Lake and along the Otonabee was secured from the Department by the Durham Fish and Game Protective Association. Local sportsmen were opposed to the granting of this privilege and department officials certainly are not convinced as to its wiseness. This is just a broad hint to anglers that the fishing for pickerel at this time is really under test. It requires only a few branches of the act, proof that bass and lunge are being taken, to have the department close down tightly again. It requires the co-operation of all to see that no such breaches of the act occur.

GOOD FISHING

Pickerel fishermen have enjoyed good fishing since the season got underway on May 16. The pickerel were biting well below the lock's and reports of anglers landing two and three beauties in several hours were reliably reported.

ALONG TROUT STREAMS

Reports from the trout fishermen indicate that they are well satisfied. Bigger and better trout seems to be the rule so far and records have gone by the boards. Again it must be recorded that as yet the trout are not taking flies. Continued cold weather is said to be the explanation of the trout refusing to rise to flies.

MORE FRY EXPECTED

The executive of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association has been in correspondence with the Department concerning the securing of trout fry for this district again this season. It is expected that another large supply of fry will be sent here late this month or early in June. The Department has been most active in past weeks distributing large quantities of pickerel and maskinonge fry about the province.

SPEEDY HATCHERY

While on the subject of fry, there's something interesting to be told in connection with the pickerel fry which was placed in local waters last week. The pickerel, in the egg stage, arrived here in cans by truck from down east. The cans were packed in ice. When the cans reached their destination, the ice packing was removed and the sun was permitted to shine in on the eggs. Due to the warmth of the sun the eggs began to hatch and when all were hatched, within an hour or so, they were dumped into the river.

A FISHERMAN'S SECRET

William C. Tyndall in his Globe column, "Where to Get 'Em," has this comment:

"A Peterborough angler, A. S. Pepe, last Monday displayed a speckled trout which weighed four pounds one ounce and measured 19½ inches in length. The fish was taken in "a stream in Cavan Township" last week-end, and Mr. Pepe would not divulge the location of "the stream." It is unlikely that he will be censured for this action, as few anglers inform others where to catch four-pound trout."

AN EAGLE'S FLIGHT.

The tremendous speed of an eagle's flight is graphically described in an article by a Manitoba writer in the Toronto Telegram:

"While watching the geese on the fields we have noticed that they are always uneasy when a plane appears," this writer states. "Last April a very large flock suddenly sprang from the stubble as a plane droned over from the north. They appeared even more uneasy than usual and looking up the reason was apparent.

"Trailing the plane were two golden eagles and this triple alliance was just a little more than the geese could endure. We marvelled at the easy flight of the splendid eagles. The plane with a stiff tail wind was easily making 120 miles an hour, but the noble birds kept right with it. In fact one, an immature, continually circled it.

"Airplanes have a great attraction for eagles. At a recent air meet we saw a bald eagle suddenly join twelve planes in the air; examine these avian friends as he sailed, soar around them, and then drift off to the north."

Trent River

The pickerel season opened with a good start, several fair-sized ones being caught early Thursday morning. In the evening the pier was lined up with fishmen.

A tug towing two large scows passed through en route down the Canal Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lowther and daughter, Nancy, of London, who have spent a few days in camp on the Sedgwick tourist grounds, left Thursday.

Mrs. T. P. Ward has returned after spending the winter in Rochester, N.Y.

Mrs. J. Knox and son, Carl, of Toronto, are spending a few days at "Bon Alexander."

Mr. Matthew Sewell, of Toronto has purchased a lot from Mr. Thos. J. Brown on the property formerly known as the Doupe place. The lot follows along the shore west of the Webb cottage. Mr. Sewell expects to have his cottage erected by early summer. Mr. and Mrs. Sewell and family previously spent their holidays at "Riverside cottage."

Court Comes To Aid Of Destitute Girl

PHILADELPHIA, May 18 (C.P.).—A 26-year-old girl brought into court by detectives, left yesterday after Judge Frank Smith and Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. Carroll "adopted" her.

Sue Helms admitted she went into a department store to take some wearing apparel because of "sheer desperation."

"All I ask is a job," she pleaded. Her frankness moved Judge Smith to remark: "This is pitiable. Here is a young girl, born in Oregon, raised in homes and orphanages, and who shows by her attitude she is willing to work. We will do something for you."

The Judge and Carroll arranged for her room and board and agreed to alternate in paying the expenses each week until the girl finds employment.

WESTWOOD W. I. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. F. C. Birdsall is Elected President of Institute.

WESTWOOD, May 18. (Examiner Correspondent). — The annual business meeting of Westwood Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon, in the town hall, with thirty-nine members present.

A singular feature of the meeting was the enrolment and paid-up fee for the ensuing year, of the entre thirty-nine.

It was announced that Mrs. Colloton, Provincial President of Women's Institutes, would be guest speaker at the district annual meeting, to be held in Westwood, on Thursday, May 23, morning and afternoon sessions.

A small balance remained to start the new year. The report of the relief committee by Mrs. R. B. Lobb showed a good year's work; several families had been remembered with Christmas cheer, and a number of others with gifts of flowers, fruit and soups in time of sickness. Second-hand clothing and vegetables had been given to families in need, with a surplus of gods to the value of nearly $20.

The reports of the standing committees were received as follows: Historical Research, by Mrs. J. Thompson; Publicity, by Mrs. E. W. Sargent; Canadianization by Miss Helen Bray; Agriculture, by Mrs. F. Faux; Health and Education, Miss Jessie Davidson; Home Economics, Mrs. Morris.

Armed Speed Boats Carry 4 Torpedoes

BERLIN, May 18.—(AP).—Armed speed boats, capable of attacking grim men of war, are said by foreign naval experts to be the Reich's hope to-day for protection of her coast.

Confronted with the necessity of devising some sort of defensive naval weapon both cheap and effective, the German inventors busied themselves.

The result? Speed boatsh which can show their stems at 60 knots, carry four torpedoes each, and require a crew of only five men. The experts say 250 of them have been constructed.

The boats are believed able to approach great battleships and cause the commanders no end of worry—possibly send giant craft to the sea bottom.

Campbellford Brigade Answers Double Calls

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — A chimney fire at the residence of Marshall Sills, Victoria Street, gave the firemen a run at 6.30 o'clock on Friday morning. Acting Chief Ferris and his volunteers responded promptly and quickly extinguished the blaze.

At 3.30 p.m. a call came to from the home of Ed. Collins, Sammy Street, where overheated pipes had caused a small fire. Aside from smoke damage, there was no property loss in either case.

ment with respect to Empire defence. No attempt had been made to influence Canadian policy nor had any commitments been given, he said.

Mr. Bennett was greatly improved in health as compared with his condition when he left Canada nearly a month ago, and in appearance he was very much his normal self.

Should Mr. Bennett be forced to retire a new leader would be chosen, he said, dismissing a suggestion he would nominate his successor.

The Prime Minister received a group of newspapermen and photographers on board the liner Duchess of York which brought him to Quebec. Great Britain, he found, was showing continued satisfaction with the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreements.

Splendor of Jubilee

Words were inadequate to describe the splendor of the Jubilee celebrations or the manifestations of loyalty by the British people to the Crown.

Mr. Bennett told questioners the next Imperial Conference might be held some time in 1936, but neither the time or the place had been fixed.

..The last Canadian budget had been well received in Great Britain, Mr. Bennett believed. A much better feeling had arisen due to increased woollen and cotton textile exports to Canada.

Mr. Bennett was given a warm welcome as he disembarked. A great crowd lined the docks, cheering loudly as the Premier walked down the gangplank and into his railway car nearby. Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, headed those welcoming Mr. Bennett.

The Canadian High Commissioner at London, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, had been seriously ill but had completely recovered, Mr. Bennett said, and no question had risen of his retirement. Mr. Ferguson was one of the greatest ministers to represent the Dominion at London since Sir Charles Tupper.

"He has never ceased to be a Canadian and he has won the admiration and approval of United Kingdom businessmen," Mr. Bennett said. Mr. Ferguson had been active, "perhaps too active," but his health was improved.

Test to Come

"If I am not able to do the job the way I think it should be done, I don't want to attempt it," Mr. Bennett said. Whether or not he could continue the pace he had set for himself in the past five years remained to be determined.

Throughout a very pleasant passage he had been active in all shipboard activities, and he declared that his physical condition had not handicapped him to any degree in his normal enjoyment of the visit to London and the ocean voyages involved.

During the traditional concert held for the seamen's benefit on the Thursday night at sea, Mr. Bennett delivered a ten-minute speech and the collection taken was the largest in the history of the liner, members of the crew reported.

Imperial Conference

There had been some talk while he was in London with respect to the next Imperial Conference, Mr. Bennett said, but neither the place nor the date had been fixed. He assumed it would be some time in 1936, to allow ample time for any changes that might be deemed desirable in the trade agreements. Discussions regarding the Empire agreements while he was in London had not affected Canada, but had been between the United Kingdom and other Dominions.

Silent on Stevens' Status

Mr. Bennett would not discuss the possibility of Hon. H. H. Stevens re-entering the Government, nor would he talk of the domestic situation in view of his long separation from active participation in Dominion affairs. He would not give any approximate date for the general election, nor was he in a position to discuss Canada's stand with respect to Japanese trade, nickel exports used for munitions, or for the forthcoming negotiations for a United States-Canada trade treaty.

Bible Society Meet Is Held In Marmora

MARMORA, May 18.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The annual meeting of the Marmora branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held in St. Paul's church on Friday evening. Fololwing the singing of the hymn, 'My Faith Looks Up to Thee," prayer and Scripture reading were taken by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell.

Mr. H. W. Sabine, president of the local branch, then took charge of the meeting. The report of the year's activities and the financial statement were presented by W. J. Cottrell, secretary-treasurer. All officers of the past year were re-elected as follows:

Honorary Presidents—Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell and Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth.

President—H. W. Sabine.

Secretary-Treasurer—W. J. Cottrell.

Mr. W. W. Tyler, the society's representative, gave a very impressive talk on the Bible Society and its big share in all missionary enterprise and mentioned some fo the results accomplished by the British Foreign Bible Society during the past year. Following the offering of the hymn, 'How Precious is the Book Divine,' was sung and the benediction pronounced by Rural Dean Caldwell.

way he described acreage overexpansion which prompted Canada to mistake a temporary enlarged European wheat market for one of permanency.

Mr. McFarland said he had not changed his opinion Canada cannot afford to discontinue Governmental mediation in the wheat market while there continues a world over-production, encouraged and sustained by world-wide subsidies. In such an era, he said, there was no such thing as a "world price" for wheat because the tidal wave of economic nationalism that followed the World War made it impossible for the automatic regulator, free and open futures trading, to continue functioning.

CHORAL SOCIETY SCORES HIT IN INITIAL EFFORT

Organization of 50 Singers is Well Trained and Balanced.

AUDIENCE OF 300.

Program in Collegiate Included Vocal Solos and Choruses.

(By Jeanette.)

The first concert presented by the recently formed Choral Society of St. Peter's Cathedral had a very auspicious reception last evening in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, where over three hundred people gathered and apeared to enjoy to the utmost a very fine entertainment taht included vocal solos and choruses and some outstanding instrumental selections of the trio type.

The choral numbers made a splendid impression. This group of nearly fifty fine singers, comprised of soprano, alto, tenor and base sections, sings with ease and well-sustained, harmonious tone. It is a well-balanced, skilfully trained choral organization that does credit to the great amount of hard work expended in the preparation of pleasing numbers, all sung in four-part arrangement for mixed voices.

The personnel of the Choral Society, drawn mainly from the choirs of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Church of the Sacred Heart and the Church of the Immaculate Conception, includes also members of the choir of St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, and some of the city's well known soloists from various other churches.

The musical director and conductor is Joseph Minicola, and the accompanists are Miss Veronica Scollard, A.T.C.M., and Miss Marion Best.

The program was diversified in a pleasing manner, with sacred and secular numbers contrived to please individual tastes. Two selections sung in Latin opened the evening's entertainment: Sir Edward Elgar's "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus" (Behold the great priest), which is a festive motet in the Catholic Church's liturgical music sung during episcopal ceremonies in honor of a Bishop, and "Panis Angelicus" (Bread of Angels), an excerpt from one of the five great Eucharistic hymns of St. Thomas Aquinas. These were very beautiful selections, the latter taking the form of a quintette for mixed voices, with Miss Geraldine Collins as soloist; Mrs. Leo Picard (soprano), Miss Mary Fleury of Lindsay (alto), Thomas Williams, tenor; Harold Coulson, base. The violin obbligato for the last selection was played by Joseph Nolan.

Secular Numbers.

The remainder of the program consisted of standard secular works. An Irish medley was a melange of favorite old Celtic airs, arranged by Rhys-Herbert, and "The Bells of Notre Dame" was a full-voiced descriptive offering that dramatized in tone the varied voices of Cathedral chimes.

The two choral selections that received the most applause were the last in the list of ensemble presentations. They were the gay, vibrant music of "Old King Cole," a tuneful picture of the nonsensical old nursery rhyme that has a reiterated, staccato refrain; and a very charming presentation of the famous and always popular "Blue Danube Waltz" of Johann Strauss. This was the concluding number on the program and was applauded with enthusiasm and sincerity, so pleasing were the graceful, swinging melody and the buoyant, portamento cadences of the lovely old waltz song.

Much of the repeated applause of the evening was for the superb music of the Searles Instrumental Trio: R. Cecil Searles leading with his violin, Tom Smith playing the violloncello, and Mrs. R. L. Searles at the piano.

Peterborough is more fortunate than it has yet realized, probably, in possessing a trio of such unusual calibre and finish. This singing violin, this rich, smooth 'cello, and this sweetly-toned piano provide a triune group that is quite out of the ordinary and the listeners last night were not slow to appreciate and applaud to the echo the finished playing of the three skilled musicians.

They played several times, and came back for an encore to insistent encores for their last group that resulted in some of the daintiest melody of the evening, the fragile and echoing, elfin-like cadences of Boccherini's famous Minuet, played 'con sordini' (with muted strings) on the violin, and a pizzicato treatment by the 'cello.

Their first group included "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn); Andante (Beethoven), and Hungarian Dance No. 6 (Brahms), contrasting types that demonstrated their combined mastery of beautiful instrumentation.

Later came some difficult composition in two movements from Gade's Trio Opus No. 42, and the concluding group by the trio was comprised of an arrangement of "Drink to me only with thine Eyes"; Schubert's gay and flowery mode, in "Moment Musical," and another Hungarian dance, Haesche's "Kamazur," with the brittle music of the gay csardas flying from tingling strings and dancing keys.

Solo Numbers.

The solo selections were agreeably chosen and splendidly rendered in every instance, each number receiving a hearty meed of applause which was prolonged for the superb rendering, in Arthur Phillips' finely-trained tenor, with its haunting timbre, of two outstanding songs: "One Alone" and "Somewhere a Voice is Calling." They were songs that conjured the imagination with their beautiful tone quality. Mrs. Searles played Mr. Phillips' accompaniments.

The feminine voices of the evening were delightful. Mrs. Leo Picard's clear, high-pitched soprano was at its best in two solo numbers: "The Lass with the Delicate Air" and "Be Still, Blackbird"; Miss Geraldine Collins' beautifully rich, sweet tones were heard to wonderful advantage in two solos: "The Blind Ploughman" and "Happy Song," as well as in the lovely Latin stanzas of "Panis Angelicus," and Miss Stella Brady's charming quality of sweet tone was very effective in her solos "Adieu, Marie" and "Call of the Woods."

Of contrasting type to the tenor and soprano voices was the rich, very deep quality of the bass-baritone of Harold Coulson, whose strikingly powerful and resonant tones were most interestingly displayed in two solo numbers: "On the Road to Mandalay" and the softly-cadenced, appealing pensiveness of the "Goin' Home" composition from Dvorak's "New World" Symphony.

The expressive sentiment of the old favorite, "Watchman, What of the Night?" was heard in duett in Mr. Coulson's fine voice and the appealing sweetness of Thomas Williams' tenor tones.

The very pleasing concert, which opened with "O Canada," closed with Dr. MacMillan's impressive, dignified arrangement of the National Anthem, two verses of which were sung by the choir. The only drawback to this rendition of "God Save the King," which was introduced here by the Madrigal Singers, is the fact that it is so impressive that it gives the impression of being one of the offerings on the program and no one in the audience joins in the singing!

The Choral group, which was gowned effectively in black choir robes with white collars, against a large flag draped across the blank white wall which usually acts as a damper to most groups ranged before it, is comprised of the following singers: Mesdames M. Duffus, Joseph Dwyer, H. LaPlante, L. Picard, the Misses Minnie Allen, Helen Brady, Stella Brady, Josephine Clancy, Geraldine Collins, Josephine Collins, Phyllis Cowie, Madeline Doherty, Marie Dorris, Kay Doyle, Mary Fleury (Lindsay), Bernadette Galvin, Loretto and Lillian Giardino, Edith Guiry, Leona Hummell, Margaret Hurley, A. LaPlante, Margaret Lynch, Aileen McCoy, Mary McManus, Alice Milne, Marcelle Minicola, Gladys Perdue, Helen Ross, Hilda Sullivan, Dorothy Young, and Messrs. Harold Coulson, A. Everitt, J. D. Fitzpatrick, H. Flowers, Harold Lee, W. McFadden, S. H. Mitchell, Jos. Nolan, A. Phillips, A. Pooley, Jack Roach, A. Seidel, C. Sullivan, Thomas Williams, F. Wolff, Ernest Wolff.

Many Spectators

The impressive ceremony of marching out the colours was carried out as Captain Foulkes appeared at the reviewing post shortly after two o'clock in the afternoon. Several hundred students, parents and spectators from the general public lined the borders of the parade ground. Captain Foulkes was accompanied in his line inspection by the commander of the company, Cadet Major James Wood, Captain H. A. Craig, D.C.M., of the Collegiate staff who has charge of the corps instruction, and Principal H. R. H. Kenner.

The company proceeded with efficiency and precision with the regulation ceremonial drill following the inspection of the line, winning applause for a trim appearance on the march past and the return. Then Cadet Major Wood directed a general drill demonstration by the company.

While the platoons staged individual drills, the signalling corps proceeded with a display of its accomplishments. One section occupied a station on the steps of Murray Street Church and exchanged Morris-coded messages by flag with a second section located on the monument in Confederation Square. The ceremony of changing the guard at the guard tent and a demonstration by the Ambulance Corps followed. Three groups of stretcher bearers hastened to the side of striken cadets and rendered first aid services on the field with expert speed before bearing the victims away.

Cadet Captain Harold Botnick, second in command of corps was in charge of a physical training demonstration staged by first and second form members of the corps. The spectators applauded generously a tumbling exhibition which followed as part of the physical training section of the program. Trained by H. L. Bamforth of the Collegiate staff, and directed by Jim Thorburn, the tumblers were Jack Archibald, Ross Pulkinghorn, Douglas McPherson and Gordon McIntyre.

Route March

A route march down George street behind the Bugle Band concluded the afternoon.

Gunsolus, officer in charge of the guard. Non-commissioned cadet officers are Sergt.-Major J. Seymour, Quartermaster Sergt. Donald Carr, and Orderly Sergt. J. Allen.

As King George Replied To Good Wishes Of His Parliament

The King with the microphone in front of him, and the Queen and his four sons on either side, is replying in Westminster Hall, to the silver jubilee congratulations of parliament. A notable sentence was: "In these days when fear and preparation for war are again astir in the world, let us be thankful that quiet government and peace prevail over so large part of the earth's surface, and that under our flag of freedom so many millions eat their daily bread in far distance lands and climates, with none to make them afraid."

A National Message

By REV. W. PASCOE BOARD, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.A.S.

THE church, which is the corollary of the state in the kingdom, is a divinely-established institution. More than that, it is the soul of the state. It is the spirituality of the nation organized and active. This is the ideal and purpose of the church. Such being the case, it must be manifest that as the soul must be clothed with a body if it is to function in this world, so the soul of the kingdom must be clothed with the body of the kingdom if it is to function in this world. The church may be likened to the soul, and the state to the body of the kingdom. Let no man despise the body, either in the person or the state. Of the body the New Testament says: "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost. Now if any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy. For the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." The body of the Kingdom of God, which is the state, is an holy thing. The nation is "an holy nation," according to the testimony of both the Old and of the New Testament. The Israel nation is the "bottle neck" through which the blessings of the kingdom organization must be poured out to all the world. The state is older than the Christian church. It is exactly as old as the Mosaic dispensation and the Christian dispensation added together. For "the church in the wilderness" and the state in the kingdom were organized simultaneously. In due time the Mosaic ordinances and organization blossomed and bare as the fruit of the old, the new revelation of the Christian dispensation. The church will yet be merged in the glory and in the personality of God. In the final stage of Israel history, in the new heaven and the new earth, John said, "And I saw no temple therein." But the nation continues. Of the nation Isaiah says, "As the new heaven and the new earth which I will make shall remain before me, so shall your seed and your name remain" (Isaiah 1:16). These things need to be said a million times by all who have the ear of the people; in order that among the crashing of empires and nations abroad there may be balanced thinking at home. On the stability of the Kingdom of God in British-Israel depends the restoration of peace and stability to the world. Now let us go on to see that the state in "This our Zion"—as the preamble to the authorized version of the Bible calls this our Britain—is not functioning in accordance with the divine purpose and law. In the matter of two vital principles, the kingdom of to-day is displaced from its true centre. This is well illustrated by the displaced passages and chambers of the great pyramid. With Mr. Davidson we believe that in the great pyramid this displacement was carefully arranged by the inspired builders in order to illustrate this point for us at the presentime. We are, as a kingdom, suffering displacement in regard to both church and state.—Reprinted from "The National Message."

Your Problems

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Is there any chance of the United States having a dictator? —U. S. A.

There is a chance for anything in the way of government to happen these days. We are all so uncertain about handling conditions that here is something of a relief when somebody announces himself as fit to take over and manage the affairs of a nation.

Dr. Wylie Clark

The present President of the United States has really acted as a dictator since his election. Just now there are other proclaiming voices advertising that they have the goods and can deliver them. The people of the U. S. are such a conglomeration that it would be exceedingly difficult to bring them to an agreement on a dictator.

Would it not be a good thing if the United Church would forget King Gordon and go on with business?—M. C.

King Gordon might be forgotten but if there is anything worth while in his doctrines they cannot be forgotten. If Mr. Gordon goes on teaching either in the classroom or from the platform and he has the truth of things, then in the end he wins—wins because he was right.

Like all other things, the church must go on with its business and no matter how worrying different incidents are, they must be faced with courage and dealt with in all fairness—remembering to be patient let making haste.

Who was Anna?—S. R.

She was an aged prophetess, daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher, who in the temple saw the Babe, Jesus, and proclaimed Him as the coming Redeemer of Israel.

How many of God's chosen people had a seer?—M. A. B.

The seer or prophet was one whose sight pierced through the veil that hid divine things, or for whom the veil was occasionally lifted. Up to the time of Samuel the seer was a revealer of the future. Then came the prophet as a substitute for the seer. During the period of transition there were both seers and prophets which were distinct from each other. Gradually the moral force of the prophet gained ground and he became a teacher and a statesman.

Having read the budget speeches of Ontario and the Dominion, I am thinking we are badly in debt. Do you think we will ever be able to pay them? —C. C. F.

The speeches did not make good reading for those who know something about debts and interest. If we had only the interest to scare us the scare is a big one, but there are the yearly deficits and the growing assistance to the unemployed. When and where will these stop are questions too difficult to answer. It takes a very long time for deficits to pay the principal.

CARE IS REQUIRED IN PLANTING LILLIES

Ideal Place is One Where They Are Shaded From the Hot Sun.

(By Frank Biddle.)

One of the choicest flowers of the garden is the lily, and when given the proper attention in planting and position many of them are easy to grow and will give joy to the grower for years. The principal causes of failure with many amateurs are not sufficiently deep planting of some of the varieties, too damp a situation, and too much exposure to the hot sun. The ideal position is one in which they are partially shaded from the midday sun. There are two distinct types of lilies, one the stem rooting and the other the base rooting. The stem rooting varieties must be planted at least eight inches deep and ten or twelve inches for the large kinds like Regale and Auratum. The base rooting varieties should be planted three to four inches deep. Two vital things to remember are never to plant lilies where water is likely to lie, and never on any account allow manure to come in contact with the bulb or roots. Some of the most popular and easiest to grow of the stem rooting varieties are Regale, white and yellow in the throat, Croceum (orange), Elegans (orange dwarf), Tenuifolium (a lovely scarlett and easily raisd from sed). These are all early. For seed.) These are all early, except Regale.

The later flowering Regale and Willmottiae (brilliant orange red) and latest of all Auratum (the gold banded lily), not always reliable, but a variety named Piteyphyllum is quite hardy, and Henryi (orange yellow) a fine variety. Of the base rooting kinds probably the favorite is Candidum, the Madonna lily. Others are Specosum (white spotted, late), Canadense (yellowish red spotted), Testaceum (the Nankeen lily), a lovely shade of buff yellow, several varieties of Umbellatum in varying colors, Superbum (orange crimson), and Chalcedonicum (scarlet). When planting the bulbs of lilies always put a layer of sand for the bulb to rest on for drainage.

SHOPPING WITH ANNE

I don't know anything that feels better these days than a "knitted suit." Under the top coats they are so warm and comfy and they do resist the sharp cold winds that seem to be giving the lovely bright spring sunshine the hee-haw. You just simply cannot get along without a good warm knitted suit these chilly days and nights. Our stores have the smartest collection this year.... the shades are all new and delightful—bright colors predominating—the prices are really lower than they have been for a long while. Don't shiver any more—get one of these attractive, warm, new, woolen suits—they are smart—they will be just the thing for golf—for the street—for the races if you are one of the lucky people who can attend.

It is fashionable to be dressed up with flowers this year. You wear a rose on your new dress, add a spring bouquet to your suit, wear flowers in your hair for evening wear and on the shoulder of your dinner gown ....And now hats have got the habit, they too want flowers—we read the other day of a French milliner who was using real posies on her hats—We saw the loveliest chapeau the other day with a medium wide brim or red coarse straw, turned up at the back to show a cluster of carnations.

It is the very best taste to look tailored in the morning—but when the lights are low and evening is nigh, you must look very feminine and alluring—taffeta jackets, ninon, sets, stiffened organdies, one lovely little lady that we know wore to a dinner and dance-after-party the other night, a frock of white mousseline de soie, and over this a cerise taffeta jacket that was long enough to be worn as a wrap. The sleeves were very full and it had a stand up frilled collar—She looked darling.

Wider skirts, slimmer waists, sleeves much bigger, hats too are larger, taffeta for frocks, flared skirts. In fact we are going in for everything in a big way—A navy sheer dress with very full shirred sleeves, a quilted taffeta collar, was worn with a coat of navy moire, with a voluminous collar and sleeves that had yards and yards of material, at least so it seemed, they were gathered at the shoulder and wrists, the waist was fitted and circled with a silk cord from which hung two lovely large silken tassels. A large navy hat, trimmed with dusky pink was worn with this charming ensemble....A cluster of pink carnations cuddled down on the collar, and mind you the navy gloves worn with this costume were stitched in pink thread. The effect was stunning.

We saw some darling little frocks for the small daughter of the house to-day—there were Shirley Temple frocks, and lovely little creations in crepe, print, voile and organdie. There were ruffles and tucks, frills, scallops, faggotting, drawn work and even embroidery on these charming frocks for the young lady who will add the necessary chic and dash to these creations. Little hats of organdie, pique, straw and silk were there too, to be worn with these dresses. It is possible to get a splendid assortment of smart frocks for children now....our stores are well stocked.

The very newest shade is "Ice Blue" and something stunning to be worn with this is a bouquet of violets—try that—Wouldn't a bridal outfit complete carried out in this shade be stunning.

Get the porch fixed up and plan to spend all your leisure time out of doors this summer. Deck chairs are being featured and don't they just invite relaxation. The frames are enammelled and the canvas such gay shades. They are reasonably priced too—Three piece porch sets are smart too, with a bench, a rocker and an arm chair, made of sturdy wood and gaily painted. Garden benches and folding chairs—camp stools and chairs — Grass rugs for the floor. You can have a very attractive porch or verandah for a very small outlay, and how it will repay you.

For immediate wear one of the new pastel felt hats is a wise investment. One very striking model is of lemon colored felt with navy blue ribbon band breaking the crown line. Tops off the navy suit so appropriately.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY TRAFFIC MANAGER

Kiwanians Are Told Rail and Motor Transport Systems Should be Co-ordinated.

CHAS. LA FERLE SPEAKER

Co-ordination of railway and highway transport systems as a partial solution to the transportation problem was advocated by Charles LaFerle, traffic manager of The Robert Simpson Company Limited in his address as guest speaker at Peterborough Kiwanis Club luncheon at Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Laferle who began his career in the world of transportation as an employee of the Canadian Northern Railway at Winnipeg when sixteen years of age, was introduced by Kiwanian Hedley Shaw.

Attributing the difficulties faced by the Canadian railway systems at the present time chiefly to the effects of the world-wide economic depression and not to the competition from motor transport services, the speaker urged co-ordination of railway and highway transportation so as to permit the use of each of these agencies in such a way that the public could obtain maximum service at minimum cost.

Must Co-ordinate

"The forcing of certain restrictions and legislation on a new transportation industry, such as motor transport," Mr. LaFerle stated, "will not cure our present railway troubles. There must be co-ordination."

Mr. LaFerle showed how developments of the past few years had each contributed to bring about confusion in the transportation world. Accompanying those developments, he said, there had also been a business depression with reduced earnings of the railroads as a result, improved highways that had brought about changed distribution methods. Other factors that had added to the confusion, the speaker declared, had been cries of unequal taxation and unfair competition; waterways and financial mismanagement and so on.

Historical Outline

He proceeded to give a brief historical outline of Canada's transportation developments, and contended that in the development of any new country transportation facilities were one of the most vital elements of the entire material equipment.

In Canada very little railway construction had been accomplished before the middle of the past century. The first railway was constructed in 1836 between St. John's, Quebec and La Prairie, Quebec, a distance of 16 miles.

Eighty-five years ago there were only 66 miles of railway in all Canada, as compared with to-days mileage of 43,000 exclusive of industrial trackage.

Mr. LaFerle believed it to be generally realized that in all new countries railway construction was usually in advance of requirements. One had only to turn the pages of railroad history, he said, to find evidences that there was little faith at the time the Canadian Pacific Railway was constructed.

Source of Pride

True the C.P.R. had passed through many years when the earnings did not justify the faith of the original builders, but eventually he contended, that faith was justified and the C.P.R. became great and prosperous. It was a transportation agency that every Canadian should be proud of.

In regard to the Canadian National system, he described it as having been a "run down system" when the government first took it over. But, he proceeded, no one could deny that between 1932 and 1930, when the system was coordinated, the trackage was immensely improved and new equipment purchased that brought the Canadian National to the forefront among the railway systems of the North American continent.

Discussing the canal situation, Mr. LaFerle asked whether it would not be good business for Canada to consider charging tolls for the use of the canal system.

A Great Contribution

"We all know there has been competition between the railways themselves; between the railways and the waterways, during the season of navigation; and between the railways and highways. All these forms of transportation have been publicly subsidized, the first by grants of lands and money; the second by appropriations for improvements and free use of waterways; and the third by provision of expensively paved and inter-connecting system of highways," the speaker said. "But if the country had not built these facilities for the pioneers, I doubt very much if we would be a country of 10,000,000 population."

At the present time, Mr. LaFerle stated, "we are facing the difficulties which have arisen not through any action of the present management of the C.N.R. or the C.P.R. or through any action of the motor transport operators or inland water carriers, but through breakdown of the economic system of the world."

Interesting Comparison

Stated in absolute figures, Mr. LaFerle showed that the railroad estimate of the business lost by the railways to P.C.V. truck operators in 1930 was roughly 1,500,000 tons. The total estimated tonnage lost to the railways by reason of truck operation of all sorts was 2,150,000 tons.

Compare this he invited, with the 50,000,000 tons and 23,000,000 passengers which represent the decline in rail freight and passenger handling between 1926 and 1935, and "I think you will get something of a closer picture of the relation between rail and highway freight and passenger traffic."

Looking to the income side of the picture, Mr. LaFerle said, "we find that during the past ten years, the motor transport vehicle users, through registration fees and gasoline tax have paid to the provincial revenue, a total of $265,000,000.00. The Dominion Government through custom and excise duties collected $237,000,000.00. The aggregate of the two totals was equivalent, he said, to 67 per cent of the total estimated capital cost of the highways system.

A New Industry

Speaking further in defence of the truck operators and upholding their right to compete with the railways, Mr. LaFerle maintained that both agencies could reap advantages if they would co-ordinate. The motor car industry, he said, had brought much new business to the railways, and if the railways realized that they were the transportation leaders in this Dominion, they would have done ten years ago, what they are now doing under necessity.

Rates offered by motor truck operators were not the controlling factor for making use of this new transportation facility. Speed, flexibility, and completeness of service had been major influences in the diversion of tonnage from rail to truck, together with the outstanding advantages of truck transportation.

Past methods of meeting rail and truck competition had been unsatisfactory, the speaker declared, and he urged that there should be a constructive instead of a destructive policy that would tend to stabilize all freight rates with the ultimate object of classifying them and raising them where they are uneconomic.

Rate-cutting Unsound

The bad effect of rate cutting had not yet been fully understood. There was nothing so easy as to cut prices and rates, but there was nothing harder than to get them back to normal levels again.

It was economically unsound, the speaker contended, to permit any transportation agency which was dependent upon the general funds of the national treasury to take advantage of its position in offering transportation service at a loss, merely as a means of seeking to destroy or eliminate from the same field a transportation agency which was bound by the laws of supply and demand to be in the field as long as the provincial minister of highways and the taxpayers as a whole, saw fit to improve the highways and by-ways of the country.

It had not been from choice, but necessity, that the public had been forced to patronize the new system of motor transportation, and the speaker was of the firm opinion that this evolution had been brought about chiefly by the present depression in all lines of business.

Vote of Thanks

The speaker was tendered a hearty vote of thanks by President Ivan T. Lillico who presided, on motion of Dr. C. B. Waite.

Following luncheon Miss Marion Ralston delighted the gathering with two vocal solos. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Searles.

J. J. Turner, a past president of the club was present at the meeting with his brother Reg Turner and was accorded a rousing welcome back after a lengthy absence due to illness.

Bootleg Troubles Are Bothering Great Britain

RUM-RUNNERS NOW FINDING READY MARKET

Hi-jackers Also at Work Due to Profitable Prices and High Taxes.

GREASE R.R. TRACKS

Rob Liquor Shipments at Train Labors Over Greased Rails.

LONDON, May 18. — Old-time American rum-runners are finding the British seaboard excellent game for their skill.

Profiting by their American experience, they manage to run in rare old brandies and wines in such quantities and with such celerity as to leave the British customs' officials bewitched, befogged and bewildered.

The bootleggers' swift running surface craft and the large unpatrolled stretch of the British coastline makes their latest efforts child's play in comparison with their previous experience in America.

Now and again they get caught, but never the actual runner; it is always the receiver. The penalties imposed on the receivers in the last year amounted to $100,000, or $25,000 more than in the previous year.

So serious, however, has the situation become that the customs' officials now candidly admit they are powerless. Except for expensive and not too successful co-operation of the royal navy, the rum runners look like having it entirely their own way.

Get Ready Sale

To police or patrol the whole coastline is too gigantic a task. Heavier penalties are suggested. But the smuggler's task is too easy and their risk of detection too obscure.

The south coast of England is full of inland creeks and the smugglers' swift moving craft can penetrate these far inland, in some cases right up to the main roads.

Once landed, there is a ready sale for their contraband. Fine old brandies and rare liquers can be smuggled through. Ordinarily they cost $5 a bottle; the smuglers can sell them at a dollar a bottle less and still make a handsome profit.

Many lonely English inns on the south coast sell some remarkably good brandies and wines at pre-war rates.

The customers are not troubled with qualms of conscience, for they say that the present tax on a bottle of spirits, about $2 a bottle, is unfairly excessive.

Greasy Railway Tracks

Britain also is having trouble with another type of U.S. prohibition era criminal. Booze freights from Scotland to England are being hi-jacked.

The racket is well organised and very effective, although the actual methods differ from the American system; it is less spectacular; there is no gunfire, nevertheless the effect is the same.

A corps of special police of the London, Midland & Scottish Railway and the London & Northeastern Railways has been at work investigating a series of thefts of whiskey and other spirits from trains during the last few months.

The thefts are known to be the work of organised gangs of bandits. They work in lonely districts where there is a heavy gradient. Most of the thefts have occurred on the Scottish side of the border, though a few have occurred in Lancashire and Yorkshire.

As a whiskey train approaches the gang works feverishly smaring the line with grease carried to the spot in five-gallon containers. The detectives obtained their first clue from empty containers which the bandits had left behind them.

On the greased line the wheels of an engine revolve but do not grip, and the train is stopped until the line has been well sanded. Engine-drivers and their firemen have been blaming the moisture caused by rainy weather for such stoppages.

Poison Moonshine Appears

Meanwhile, the bandits raid the train, composed of nearly 100 cars, maybe more than a quarter of a mile long with only three men in the crew to watch it. Cases of whiskey are thrown from the train on to a grassy slope by the side of the line and placed in waiting motor trucks.

Inhabitants of lonely villages tell stories of eerie lights moving about at dead of night of motor trucks without headlamps rushing through the darkness.

High prices and taxes on liquor also have given rise to moonshining in London, with a number of deaths attributed to poison booze. In brief, England now is suffering from the bootleg ills Uncle Sam cast off.

Like an echo from prohibition days to Americans will come the revelation that more than 3,000 persons were convicted in English courts last year, according to official figures, as whiskey smugglers.

Penalties imposed for liquor-running amounted to $101,010 last year. But theee figures represent only a fraction of the contraband smuggled into this country every year, it was stated.

To fight the rum runners with their own weapons, the customs and excise department has been granted a $435,000 appropriation to build a fleet of high-powered motor boats, equipped with powerful searchlights to patrol every bayou and creek along the coast.

Customs Officers Are Facing Difficult Task

British custom officers have to face the task of halting the illicit smuggling and hi-jacking operation of American experienced rum-runners. Layout shows fast coast-guard craft such as U.S. officers use in pursuit of smugglers. Inset: Unloading the cargo from a captured rum-runner after she had been brought to port. TOP: A British train climbing a hill—the perfect setting for hi-jackers who grease the rails and toss kegs of liquor from the laboring train while it cannot make progress until the rails are sanded. The kegs are then picked up by waiting motor trucks.

CHAIN LETTER WRITERS ARRESTED

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 18. (CP) — Nine persons were under arrest today as police made good threats to close chain letter establishments. In North Tonawanda, Myles Joyce, stationer, faced a charge of violating the section of the penal code relating to lotteries. Joyce was arrested and a staff of 60 clerks, stenographers and notaries were booked as witnesses. At Joyce's main office police took $1,500, in envelopes, and cards and letter lists. At a branch office they confiscated $132.50.

CAMERA IS KEY TO GOOD TIME

Take a Camera Along When You Go on Trip Into the Country.

SIGHTS WILL LINGER.

"For four things there is no return: Time that has passed; the march of Fate; the arrow that has aped from the bow; the word that is spoken." So says an old Arabian proverb.

The fleeting moment—would you like to capture it? It can be done. You can immortalize forever the smile of a tiny babe, reaching out to the beauty of the spring apple blossoms. You can record on the pages of time the wise faces of the very old. And the loveliness of forest, stream and hill.

The camera is the key. Take a camera along with you and use it as you go. Here is a little stream, laughing through a meadow, with pussy willows leaning over its brink. You will forget its poignant reminder of an awakening spring, if you trust to your memory, but the story will linger on in a snapshot.

Here is a kitten at play near a big dog. Time was when the canine and feline worlds were at enmity always, but Nature has its exceptions. One of the most notable of recent newsprint photographs was a picture of an enormous English bulldog standing guard over a pair of tiny cats that crawled trustingly around its mighty forelegs.

If you like a horse, snap one of the noble animals in action, or in repose. If you admire nature in its many moods, there are countless beauty spots in and around the city that wait for the tiny snap of the camera shutter to transfer their charm to the shiny surface of a little picture. If you enjoy the ups and downs of human nature, there are scenes that wait every day for the seeing eye and the understanding brain.

Gardens are waking to a new year. Crocuses and dandelions and tulips are pushing their way up through the brown earth and the grass is growing green on smooth lawns. The trees are shooting out young and tender foliage after the winter's inaction.

A woman who wished to remember her children as they grew formed the habit of making a scrapbook in which she put every month or so tiny patches of their clothes and as they grew older, press notices of their achievements in recitals or concerts, as they were musically inclined. And with every entry she pasted a tiny snapshot, right from the time when the baby was small enough to do nothing but lie dreaming in its bassinet, tiny thumbs curled in a red mouth, on through little girlhood and boyhood and later, through the school years. The wedding photos of son and daughter carried on the record, which ended with the pictures of baby grandchildren. It made a famous and wonderful book—the annals of life told plainly in picture form.

Truly, a camera has many uses.

Westwood Couple Is Given Shower

WESTWOOD, May 18—(Examiner Correspondence).—There was a large gathering of friends and neighbors of the newly-married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison (nee Eva Clysdale) on Tuesday evening in the town hall. A miscellaneous shower of many beautiful gifts was presented them, which Mr. Harrison, on behalf of his bride and himself, gratefully acknowledged.

The evening passed pleasantly in dancing, music supplied by the Fife orchestra with Miss Lena Dickson at the piano. During the refreshment hour, step-dancing by several was heartily applauded.

MAY NOMINATE NEW CANDIDATE IN EAST RIDING

Havelock and Norwood centres is predicting that Bruce Airheart will be the Conservative candidate in the general elections, against Rork Ferguson of Asphodel, a former Warden of Peterborough county. Mr. Airheart is highly esteemed in his own community and the neighboring townships, he is widely known through the Hastings section of the riding, and has many friends in the Peterborough area, he is a successful and "self-made" business man, managing to carry on his lumbering operations profitably during the depression, he is personally popular, and on every point he is being boomed as an ideal candidate.

Desire To Change

Generally speaking the Conservative party pass approval on Dr. Embury. He has been the representative of the constituency for eight years, and apparently there is not a mark against his record, but the sentiment among the rank and file seems to be a desire to take no chances in this year's elections.

"People are demanding a change," one prominent Conservative told The Examiner, "and most of us realize that we kept 'Bill' Ireland too long in the field. Some people might think that Dr. Embury has been there long enough, and altogether we haven't any doubt about being able to win with the Doctor again it looks a lot safer to bring out a new candidate."

Conservatives are anxious to wipe out the loss in Hastings last year when Dr. Faulkner won the provincial constituency so long held by the late Hon. J. R. Cooke. They are animated by a determination to redeem their prestige, and the Marmora convention is expected to bring out the strongest candidate the riding can produce. Mr. Gunter stands high in the party but the Bancroft district has had a member for eight years, and the Marmora-Madoc group is frankly looking for recognition if any change is made.

The pre-convention gossip may possibly underestimate the position Dr. Embury still holds in the riding. He was Warden of the county in 1931, served overseas as Captain in the Royal Army Medical Corps, was first elected to Parliament in 1925 and in 1926, and retained the seat in the general elections of 1930.

PHYSICIANS MORE LIKELY TO DIE ILLS THEY TREAT, THAN PATIENTS

Knowledge of Diseases Handicaps Doctors When Ill Specialist Claims.

SIX JINXES.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (A.P.)—Physicians are more likely to commit suicide or die from some of the very diseases they treat than the average person.

In a study of 600,000 deaths among doctors, among citizens of Massachusetts, and among patients in Massachusetts State Hospitals over 15 years, Donald Gregg, M.D., of Wellesley, Mass., told the American Psychiatric Association yesterday the incidence of death among physicians from certain diseases was greater than among the other two groups.

Speaking on "the lethal power of the emotions" he declared that a knowledge of diseases handicaps the physician when ill. "Few will gainsay the view that with his greater knowledge of the lethal possibilities of disease, the doctor when sick carries a heavier emotional load than the layman," Dr. Gregg said.

Of 13 diseases physicians are more likely to die of coronary sclerosis and angina pectoris, angina, asthma, pneumonia and arterio sclerosis and are more likely to commit suicide than either mental patients in state hospitals or the community at large, Dr. Gregg declared. They are less likely to die of diabetes, ulcers and mephritis because they are more likely to receive earlier diagnosis and better treatment.

Persons in the medical and related professions in Germany now number 278,353.

Why Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop an Aspirin tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches the bottom, it is disintegrating.

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH — An Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach—ASPIRIN tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep
Green, and never fade away.

Special Sound Device Recently Been Installed in Oriental Gardens.

COLORS ARE RICH

An innovation at the Brock Street Summer Gardens this week was the installation of a special Sound device that makes it possible to create out-of-the-ordinary effects from the orchestra stand. Be sure to notice this when you next visit the big rink.

And anyone is well repaid who visits the Gardens, either to dance or to inspect the extremely new and interesting type of decorative effect. The big place might well be called Oriental Gardens this summer, so rich and effective is the combination and harmonizing of unusual and spectacular colors. One can imagine the approval of the late Harold LaPlante, whose artistic sense was so acute and who did so much to transform the rink into an up-to-date dancing centre, could he return for a while and glimpse these unique effects.

Dark and light colors have been combined to make the whole interior light up beautifully, when illuminated. The emphasis is on the tints of emerald green and gold which make a polychrome border for the orchestra stand, with its very effective and modernistic background in white, against which black silhouettes picture a grand piano, a musical director, and several dancing figures.

At the entrance, there is a wonderful effect of space and distance achieved by the use of a changing vista of lovely colors. A false ceiling is contrived by the use of countless drooping festoons and streamers of crepe paper, in banners and nets and fans that also outline the pillars at either side and are done in striking and unusual combinations of rich blues, purples, greens and crimsons. The same shades are used for the elongated shades around the lights, which havet irridescent tassels of glistening gold, blue, crimson and purple.

The same gorgeous and rich colors appear on the trios of colored cones or tubes that decorate the entrance and there are colored globes on the chandelier that hangs with glistening glass prisms drops, over a fountain spray that rises above the circular pool near the door. This is fringed with stones and evergreens and forms an accent for the natural wood arbor that makes an entrance for the dancing floor. Yellow cedar boughs are used for the arbor and the seats near it, to give a pleasant rustic touch to an interior that is really as much like an outdoor garden as one could wish. The whole effect is artistic and pleasing in the extreme, with sophistication and natural simplicity mingled in an ensemble that goes in for gorgeous colors, soft lights and a modernistic setting for the orchestra's fine music provided by Eddie Stroud and his band.

OLD TABLE USED GENERAL GRANT IS NOW LIKE NEW

For Many Years Table Occupied Place in Home at Cobourg.

NOW IN PETERBOROUGH

Of Solid Oak, Nearly Six Feet Long and Three Feet Wide.

(By Jeanette)

Age has the power to evoke memories, whether the years have descended on the head of an individual or an object.

Some of the pictures that reach out of the shades of Time: A young man, a grocery clerk at $600 a year, shouldering a gun to fight for Abraham Lincoln and the cause of the slaves. A failure, they called him then, but later, was twice President of the United States of America and was nominated for a third term.....

And, before that, he took the sword of Robert E. Lee at Appomattox, surrendered from the stubborn South after a long and wearing encounter....

And still another picture: A dark, older man bending wearily over a manuscript, the remembrances of his own life, designed to provide bread for his loved ones, bereft of means through a ruined banking company. Bending above papers that meant the finish of his book, just four days before he died of cancer of the throat....

The man? General Hiram Ulysses Simpson Grant. And the object that brings back all the crowding memories of his crowded life of storm, triumph and power? A table that has once more come into the light of the sun after an obscurity of years in a dark and musty basement.

William Webb of Webb's Woodwork Shop, behind Hamilton's Fur Store of Charlotte street, has just completed a piece of work that gives him a great measure of just pride, so beautiful is the table that shines resplendent now in a large room of a local institution. It belonged once to General Grant, whose daughter lived for many years in Cobourg, where later her former residence became in time a home for little, orphaned children.

For many years this table has languished, broken, soiled, bereft of its beauty and grandeur. Now it has taken on a new lease of life. What memories it evokes. What thoughts come trooping from the shades as one ponders over the history of this old table.

Perhaps on it was indited much of the correspondence that followed that notable finale to the long war of blood-brothers, the Northern and Southern States, when Grant, with a "courage that rose higher at each obstacle," was able to wear down Lee's stubborn resistance and bring matters to a head at last. Or, maybe, it graced one of the many handsome chambers of the White House, where Grant reigned as President for eight years. Or again, it may have served to hold the papers on which, in his twilight years, suffering from an incurable affliction, yet still animated by that high courage, he wrote the story of his life, the book entitled "Personal Memoirs," that was to provide money for those he left behind, four days after its completion. Who knows?

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." What though it was torn and ruined and for many years was only a bit of forgotten junk. Now, with the spirit of the man who once owned it, it shines with renewed grace and beauty in a noble setting.

A good part of the interest of this old table lies in its creation by Duncan Phyfe (sometimes spelled Phyffe), who has been termed the "American Sheraton." It has also been said of him that "he was to New York what Chippendale had been to London."

Period Furniture

Phyfe, who was of Scottish birth, came to America in 1783, at the age of sixteen years. He settled first in Albany, later in New York, where, in time, he made a name for himself that has become famed in the history of period furniture.

This old table, which is his handiwork, bears many of the distinctive marks attributed to its creator, who was influenced to a great extent by French ideas in furniture, as evidenced in the "complex garment of carving" noticeable in this table, every bit of which is carved with the exception of the top.

It is of solid oak, nearly six feet long and three feet wide. In its original state, as discernible from the shreds of material which clung to the broken frame, it was topped by wine-red leather. But a dark, myrtle green leather covers the top now, to harmonize with its surroundings. And it took a very large cow to provide this especially-made top.

Although it appears much heavier, it weighs only in the neighborhood of one hundred and fifty pounds. The side panels which descend apron-like from the top are carved with an acanthus-leaf design and make a drawer which pulls out, although it might be termed a secret drawer, as there is no trace of a handle and one would never guess that the panels were anything but solid right through.

The bases of the heavy feet, each about six inches wide, catch the attention at once. They belong to the "satyr mask" period in furniture which began about 1730. They are the faces of scowling dolphins with scaly bodies and tails, and the same dophin heads with thick lips, appear on the side panels and the corners of the table, with brass rings held in their lips. These rings, according to Mr. Webb's fancy, are throwbacks to the days when hunting dogs were held in leash by just such rings fastened to table corners. They appeared in the picture of "Henry the Eighth."

The pedestal supports of the legs are of the "melon-bulb" variety measure about nine inches in diameter and are also heavily carved. Foliated designs, also walnuts, grapes and pears appear in the ornamentation of the wood of the table.

Mr. Webb spent much time in carving out replicas of the pendant husks which form a fringe at the sides of the table and which were almost all broken off. Fortunately, a few were left to guide his work. The corner heads were all torn away up to the lips and only one brass ring remained of the original quartet.

The task of transforming the old, battered table to a state of approximating its pristine beauty, took about three weeks.

Mrs. J. L. Hughes and Aileen Hughes were remembered by members of the 'Teen Age and Junior Branches of the W.A. of St. George's Church at their closing meeting last evening. The real purpose of the gathering, which was well attended by parents and friends and Boy Scouts following their own meeting, was for the presentation of certificates, pins and pictures to juniors who had passed successfully the examination in missionary study, and for the presentation of nursing badges to the 'teen age girls who had gained them by passing a simple test in first aid and home nursing. A program consisting of vocal duets by Iva Lackie and Violet Hobson, Laura Storey and Doreen Storey, songs by Bobby Moscrop and Jackie Storey, a recitation by Betty Cooper and a violin solo by Aileen Hughes, comprised the first part, the second part taking the form of a radio broadcast presented by the 'teen age girls, with Ruth Farr as announcer, and Dorothy Moscrop and Doris Styles as performers. Rev. J. L. Hughes was chairman, and Mrs. W. H. Andrews presented the certificates, pins and badges. On behalf of the 'teen age girls, who have also formed Mrs. Hughes' Sunday school class, Ruth Farr made the presentation of a lovely damask cloth, Dorothy Moscrop reading an address which expressed the high esteem in which Mrs. Hughes has been held by the girls. On behalf of the juniors, the presentation of a pretty linen lunch set was made by Gwen Doleman, Doris Styles reading an appropriate address. Aileen Hughes also received small gifts from the two organizations. Mrs. Hughes replied suitably, and Aileen expressed her thanks. Dainty refreshments were served by the girls. Before closing the meeting, Mrs. Andrews moved a vote of thanks to the girls, and paid a warm tribute to the work of the Rector and Mrs. Hughes, especially as leaders of the young people. She expressed sincere regret at their departure, and only hoped that the work they were leaving would be carried on successfully. The juniors receiving certificates, pins and pictures were: Elsie Jones, Betty Cooper, Joan Fellow, Georgina Fellow, Muriel Fellow, Iva Lackie, Aileen Hughes, Mary Doleman, Gwen Doleman, Elsie Martin and Doris Styles. The Teen Age girls receiving badges were: Agnes Sturgeon, Edith Spenceley, Elsie Martin, Dorothy Moscrop, Ruth Parr, Doris Styles, Ruth McBride and Evelyn King.

ROBERTA'S CHAT

A column conducted by a reader of The Examiner for her other reader friends. Address all mail to Roberta in care of The Examiner.

Oh woman, God beloved in old Jerusalem! The best among us need deal lightly with they faults, if only for the punishment, thy nature will endure, in bearing heavy evidence against us on the Day of Judgment."

—Dickens.

Dear Friend:

There have been so many debates, as to which is best, man or woman.

Men used to look down on women as inferiors, but that is changing, much more rapidly than anyone thought it would.

Men exploit women, by making them work for less than they would pay men, but at the same time they should realize that they are putting so much power into women's hands that they will again rule, as they did before.

Some women are business women entirely, and do not like domestic work, but that is due to their training.

The average married woman wants to tell others what a wonderful man her husband is. How clever and kind. What a great business man he is, how courteous to her, and the children.

How he never forgets all the little attentions, he showed her before marriage, and tries to make life pleasant for her, that is what she would like to do, and much more.

But when she sees him selfish, bad-tempered, putting the blame for everything on her. Taking all her love and labor for granted. Making much of what he does, and little of what she does, can you blame her for using the brains God gave her. A woman goes in a straight line to reach a conclusion. Men go in a round-about way.

Why can't he use his strength and her intuition, work together, by supporting her, with counsel and understanding, and she doing her part with true sympathy and help.

Men are made in the image of God, but some of them act like devils. No man should make a woman feel her dependance on him, in a monetary sense. It, should be true partnership.

Women give up much more than men when they marry, and you often hear a woman wish she were a man, but you never hear a man wish he were a woman.

On a farm (and I'm not a farmer) it has always seemed to me, that the men's work was far lighter than the woman's.

When the crop was good most of the money, was spent on labor-saving devices for the men, and a very little, or none, went to lighten the burden of the woman.

As long as the women stand for it, the longer they will have to put up with it.

Do not think I am a man-hater. Men, in all walks of life, have always been kind to me.

I know men who are gentlemen through and through, and especially some who talk gruffly, to hide their innate fineness.

But it shines out, no matter how they hide it. These men do good by stealth, help lame dogs over stiles, but would be in an agony of embarrassment, if you spoke of it.

And now, as I don't want to be tedious, I will soften my words with a verse.

"When Eve brought woe to all mankind,
Old Adam called her wo-man;
But, when she wooed with love so kind,
He then pronounced her woo-man.
But now with folly, and with pride,
Their husbands pockets trimming,
The women are so full of whims,
That men pronounce them wimmen."

Your friend,
Roberta.

QUEEN TEA MUFFINS

1¾ cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 4 tablespoons sugar; ¾ cup milk; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 egg, well beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg, then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Makes 18 small muffins.

* * * * * * *

made at home with minute tapioca, is usually smooth and creamy.

½ cup sugar; 1 pint fresh strawberries, hulled; 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 2 cups milk; ¼ teaspoon salt; 6 tablespoons light corn syrup; 2 tablespoons sugar; 2 egg whites; 1 cup cream, whipped.

Add ½ cup sugar to strawberries and crush well. Let stand 30 minutes. Add quick-cooking tapioca to milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, and bring to scalding point (allow 3 to 5 minutes), and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Strain hot mixture, stirring (not rubbing) through very fine sieve onto salt and corn syrup, and mix thoroughly. Chill. Add 2 tablespoons sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff; fold into cold tapioca mixture. Fold in cream and strawberries. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible—3 to 4 hours usually required. Or turn mixture into container, cover tightly, and pack in equal parts ice and salt 2 to 3 hours. Makes 1 quart ice cream.

Assorted sandwiches, cookies and "cakelets" are splendid for afternoon tea. They can be attractively arranged, too, and added to the dainty appearance of the table.

COCONUT VARIETIES

2 cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon grated orange rind; 1 cup sugar; ½ can southern style cocoanut; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 egg, unbeaten; ¼ cup milk; ½ cup orange juice; 1 egg white, stiffly beaten; 4 tablespoons sugar.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add orange rind to butter and cream thoroughly. Add 1 cup sugar gradually and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk and orange juice, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into greased pan, 15 x 10 inches. Cover with thin layer of meringue made by beating 4 tablespoons sugar into beaten egg white. Sprinkle with cocoanut. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Cool. Cut in diamond-shaped pieces. Makes 2 dozen vanities.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

A MARVEL

Last evening I sat West, with three ladies whom I have no permission to name, when the following marvel appeared. Neither side was vulnerable. Rarely indeed is it possible to make a slam against any opening bid. It is usually impossible even to go game against a legitimate opening forcing bid. Had we not been unduly forced neither my partner nor I would have ventured to bid so high. The result was astonishing.

Bidding went: South, 3-Diamonds, asking for partner to show Aces. West, 4-Spades, expecting to save game at non-prohibitive expense. South, 5-Hearts; East, 5-Spades; North, 6-Hearts; West, 6-Spades; South, 7-Hearts; East, 7-Spades; South doubled, ending the bidding with my hope not to go down too much.

The opening lead was the 7 of diamonds. Dummy's Ace won. The Ace of spades picked up the lone missing trump. Four club tricks enabled me to discard my only losing diamond, and the hand became a spread for the doubled grand slam.

South readily could have spread her hand for 5-odd, either at hearts or diamonds, losing a single diamond and the same in clubs.

In my opinion, with so many high honors missing from the black suits the best opening bid on South's hand would have been 5-Diamonds. The two black suits afford opponents to get together on a satisfactory call over an opening bid of 3-Diamonds. While there are 32 chances in 57 that partner will hold either or both of the missing minor suit Aces, I think that chances for a slam had better be waived for the better chance for game, by using the pre-emptive 5-Diamonds opening call. In this particular case my spades would have justified an overcall of 5-Spades, but in most cases less pronounced strength in West's hand would have allowed South to play for game at diamonds.

Can East Go Game?

East plays 3-No Trumps. The opening lead is the 7 of spades. Before Monday see if he can go game against the best defence open subsequently to North and South.

Menu Hint

Boiled or Riced Potatoes
Creamed Salmon or Tuna Fish
Spinach or Other Greens
Rich Cottage Pudding Coffee

Creamed tuna fish served over boiled, mashed, riced potatoes or over toast is a favorite at our house. I usually make it in the double boiler, so that if all the members of the family are not ready to eat when it is prepared, it will keep warm.

Today's Recipes

Rich Cottage Pudding — One (nine-ounce) package dry mince meat, and one-half cup water boiled almost dry, two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons brown sugar, two eggs, beaten; two-thirds cup milk, one tablespoon grated lemon rind, one-fourth cup shortening, melted. Break dry mince meat into pieces. Add cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling for three minutes or until mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sift again. To beaten eggs, add brown sugar, milk and sifted dry ingredients, stirring to smooth batter. Add grated lemon rind, melted shortening and cooled mince meat. Pour into greased pan 8x8x2 inches) and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 35 minutes. Serve hot or cold with lemon sauce. Serve eight.

Serve on Toast

Choose a medium squash, not too small. Do not split it. Leave whole, tying legs close to body. Cover with dripping from chicken. Salt and pepper and put in a roasting pan in a quick oven for about 20 minutes, then leave about one hour in a slow oven. Put a teaspoon of good brown gravy over the breast and serve on hot buttered toast.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: I really have very pretty eyes, and they are my best beauty asset. I try to take good care of them always. However, as my daily occupation requires that I use my eyes a good deal, they often feel tired and dry by the end of the day. I've been told that 'palming' is excellent for resting tired eyes, but I'm not quite certain of what the correct method of doing this is. Could you enlighten me about this matter?

"MIRIAM."

Palming is indeed excellent for resting and refreshing eyes that feel strained and dry, and it is an extremely simple procedure. You must, of course, first cleanse your hands thoroughly. Then dip them into very cold water, and lay the cool palms over your eyes for a few minutes. When they lose their coolness, dip them into the cold water again, and stroke the lids of your closed eyes very softly in slow, rhythmic movements, to soothe and rest them. An equally effective method of resting tired eyes is to make little pads of cotton, moisten them with cold water or witch hazel, and lay them over closed eyes. These pads should be permitted to remain on the eyes for at least 10 minutes while you rest. Always give your eyes resting treatments daily, for rest is essential for the preservation of the health and loveliness of the eyes.

"Dear Miss Glad: My best friend has had such grand results from following your advice, that I, too, am bringing my problem to you. She was a great deal overweight, you see. But she lost over 31 pounds through following that excellent reducing course in your 'New Figure' booklet. And she looks simply wonderful now. I, however, am underweight, and would like to try to gain some added poundage through calorie counting. Could you tell me, however, just how many calories my diet should contain daily, so that the weight of my body will increase?

"BELLE."

If you are a normally active woman, your normal intake of food should range from 16 to 20 calories a day for each pound of your weight. If your normal weight, for instance, is about 120 pounds, your maintenance diet, to supply the needs of your body, should be equal to from 1,920 to 2,400 calories a day. If you wish to gain weight, you must increase this number to about 1,000 calories each day, until you have reached your normal weight. Do not make up this extra thousand calories with foods that are bulky and take up a lot of room, however, as you may not be able to consume enough to equal this number. Make it up with foods that are high in calorie count, but are not very filling, and you will be able to do it without overeating or stuffing yourself uncomfortably.

Race for Royal Guineas Again Today

King's Plate 1935

WITH THE blaring of trumpets and all the panoply of opening day at the course, historic old Woodbine Park, Toronto, will swing into action today. Never in the history of this famous Canadian racing centre has more interest been shown, than at the 1935 meeting. The outstanding race of the spring schedule is, as usual, the King's Plate, which will have its 76th running today.

It is expected that one of the classiest fields in many years will line up at the barrier in this blue-ribboned event of the Canadian turf. No doubt, the post-time favorites will be the thoroughbreds from the Parkwood stable, owned by R. S. McLaughlin, popular Oshawa, Ont., motor magnate. It is expected that the pair that will flaunt the silks of this establishment will be the French-bred, Canadian-foaled colt, Epicurus and Listaris. The latter, who was winner of all his starts as a two-year-old, has trained for this race in excellent fashion, and old and experienced horsemen are of the opinion that this son of The Bump II-Listen Dearie will be a mighty tough horse to beat for the King's guineas. Last year the McLaughlin stable won with Horometer.

AN ENTRY which is supposed to make it very interesting for the McLaughlin color-bearers, is owned by E. F. Seagram, who nominated Gay Sympathy. Langstaffe and Sally Fuller, the best of this trio being Gay Sympathy, a big, upstanding filly, by Solace-Gallant Kitty.

Others that are expected to be in the line-up on Plate day are Goggles, owned by Stanley Crawford, and one of the real "dark horse" threats; Beachview, owned by Robert Graham; Tax Free and Worthing, which will fly the red and white silks of W. H. Wright, of Barrie, Ont. Rightfoot, who it is figured by experts, if the track turns muddy, will win in a gallop, will run in the interests of J. E. Smallman. Chickpea and Dominick, who many figure can make it very interesting for any man's horse, will carry the light and dark blue colors of W. C. Hatch; and T. C. Gooderham has Papalico, who is having his third crack at the plate. A little history of the King's Plate. The purse which carries the largest value of any stake in Canada, $5,000 added, and fifty guineas, the gift of his majesty the King.

THIS ROYAL donation was originally made in 1859 by Queen Victoria upon the petition of the Toronto Turf Club, through Sir Edmund Head, then governor-general. Headquarters of the club were at W. C. Keele's farm at Carleton, Ont., and the secretary-treasurer was Colonel R. L. Denison. The prayer of the petitioners was for a Queen's Plate of £50, which was granted "to be run at Toronto or such other place in Upper Canada as her majesty might appoint."

For four years, 1860-1863, the race was run at Carleton, and subsequently, under political pressure, at Guelph, London, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Whitby, Kingston, Ottawa, Barrie, Woodstock, Prescott and Picton. In 1923 his majesty, at the instance of the Duke of Argyll, gave his sanction to an understanding with the founders of the Ontario Jockey Club that the race should henceforth be established permanently at Toronto. Time has proved this to be a wise decision, as, under the control of the Ontario Jockey Club, the race has amply fulfilled its purpose of encouraging the breeding of thoroughbreds in Ontario. The Earl of Minto, a former governor-general of Canada, on his return to England, stated publicly, "Nothing, in my opinion, has done more good for horse breeding in Canada than the King's Plate, run at Toronto." The race has steadily grown in importance, and the royal donation being continued by his majesty, King Edward the Seventh, has been run annually without interruption; so that when King George the Fifth decided to continue the gift the King's Plate was already established as the oldest fixture run continuously in North America. What the Epsom Derby means to England, what the Kentucky Derby is to America, the King's Plate means to racing fans who live in Canada.

"Derby Day" in Canada is King's Plate day when the oldest continuously run race on the American continent, is renewed at Woodbine Park, Toronto. The historic plate, which carries an added prize of fifty guineas from the King, will be run today. Here are some scenes from previous runnings. Background—The Plate Day crowd at Woodbine Park, when racing's best are always present, generally including the governor-general. TOP, RIGHT, Horometer winning the 1934 race for R. S. McLaughlin. BUNCHED HITS GIVE CRAFTS 14-2 VICTORY

Collison on Winners' Mound Allows 5 Hits While Striking Out 10.

SOFTBALL OPENER.

The Men's Softball League got under way last night at Central School grounds with Fashion-Craft pounding out a one-sided 14-2 win over the Lillico Motors. Despite the cold weather and the large score the game was productive of good softball in spots, the winners especially showing a nice concentrated hitting attack along with some snappy fielding.

Collison, on the mound for the Fashion boys, hurled splendid ball allowing but five hits and two runs while striking out ten of the opposition, his teammates meanwhile collecting a total of 22 hits off the delivery of Elliott to tally fourteen runs and win very much as they pleased.

Playford did the heavy stickwork for the Hand-me-Downs notching himself a triple, two doubles and three singles for a perfect evening at bat while Collison helped his own cause with four bingles. Starr for the Motormen was the only one who seemed able to solve the deliveries of the Craftsmen's twirler, touching him up for three of his team's five hits. Ellis and Newson each collecting one apiece to account for the remainder.

To Currie, the right fielder for the victors, went the honor of hitting the first home run of the season, blasting out a long four-bagger to open the eighth inning.

Although Lillico Motors were guilty of more errors than their opponents they also completed the only double plays of the game, completing two, the first going from Newson-to-Ellis in the first frame and the second coming in the seventh, Wilshaw-to-Ellis, being the order in which it was run off.

The outfields turned in good work, nabbing several hard hit balls that were labelled for extra bases, Tom Montgomery for Fashion-Craft shining in this respect.

The teams:

Fashion-Craft: R. Dorner, 3b; Smith, 1b; Playford, cf; Montgomery, lf; Curry, rf; Collison, p; Gainey, ss; Starker, 2b; Mahood, c.

Lillico Motors: Wilshaw, 2b; Starr, c; Weir, lf; Ellis, 1b; Newson, 3b; Gardner, cf; x-Heffernan; Dallin, rf; x-Price; Crary, ss; Elliott, p.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, the senior ball season is all set to open next week with the Oshawa Brewers here Fri., Victoria Day, to clash with Mister K. Lee's Johnson Motors or Petes. The local club, which copped the league title last year, is all set to pry open the 1935 campaign with a classy opening, and I ain't got a doubt in the world they'll be a record crowd of fans along the side lines next Fri. p.m. when the umps yell "Play ball" and starts the boys on their way. The Petes has been getting in a lotta useful practice, and they oughta be in good fettle for the initial league clash. This year's edition will be a young, fast, peppery collection of ball-tossers, which oughta to give the fans many colorful performances during the long campaign. Give Mister Lee credit, he ain't never been afraid to gamble with young players, and this year in particular he'll have quite a flock of performers round the junior age borderline and a coupla under that mark.

With a lefthanded flinger in Mister Lepper added to the heaving brigade and the chances that our old friend, Mister F. Whitehouse, may add his portside flapper to the pitching assets of the Petes, with speed in the field and on the sacks, and some hitting strength contributed by a coupla newcomers, Mister Red Kearns and Mister E. Murphy, and with several new local lads, Mister Cadd and Mister Starr earning theirselfs a place in the squad, I for 1 am going to be terribly disappointed if the Petes don't give us a lotta classy baseball this season. They oughta be a team well worth watching, and let us hope they'll have more luck at home than last year's squad, which win theirselfs the championship by their work on the road. The 1934 Petes was tough onions away from home all season, but before the Peterborough fans wasn't nearly so hot. Mebbe this year's gang will be hard to knock off either abroad or on the village green.

Anyway, Mac, I'd advise all the neighbors to get over to Riverside Park next Fri. to watch the opening ceremonies and the battle with the Oshawa Brewers. Them Motor City babies was always tough opposition to the Petes at Riverside, and if they can shake loose a effective pitcher outa their ½ dozen throwers next Fri., they will be just about all the home guard would care to handle opening day. By the way, the teams go into action against each other again on Sat., the Petes helping Oshawa to get their season under way.

They aint been much outa the ordinary in the big top this week, Mac, except the Chicago White Sox climbed to the top of the American loop, and if Mister Jimmy Dykes and his hired help don't get dizzy looking down from the loft perch, mebbe the Chicago entry will be tough to knock off. However, the Detroits has been showing signs of coming to life, and the Yanks and Cleveland is playing smart ball, so picking the American League probable winner is sure a knotty problem, old-timer. The National is having a good race, too, and with some summer weather, it looks like a great year in the box-office dept.

Well, Mac, don't forget next Fri. and be there with the rest of the ball bugs. Until then, tally-ho.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

DODGERS ON EVEN FOOTING WITH GIANTS

Brooklyn Again Wins From Pirates While New Yorkers Fall 6-2.

CUBS BLANK PHILLIES.

Brooklyn Dodgers again were the big news in the National League as they clouted out a 7-1 decision over the Pirates and moved into a virtual tie with New York for the lead. Another late attack gave the Dodgers their second straight victory. The Giants meanwhile took a painful 6-2 setback at Cincinnati when Lew Riggs started a first-inning blast against Roy Parmelee. Besides losing the game, Outfielder Joe Moore and Shortstop Dick Bartell of the Giants were injured.

Larry French pitched the Cubs to a neat 5-0 victory over the Phillies, granting only seven hits, while his batterymate, Gabby Hartnett, batted in three runs. The Braves, with Babe Ruth on the job as usual, pelted one of the Cardinals' rookie hopefuls, Ed Heusser, for seven hits and four runs in five innings and trimmed the Cardinals 7-1.

BOSTON SOX WIN IN MOUND DUEL

Wes Ferrell Beats 'Sad Sam' Jones For His Fifth Victory.

YANKS BEAT INDIANS.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Big Wes. Ferrell, who once had so much trouble with his pitching arm that he gave serious consideration to the idea of converting himself into an outfielder, has already turned in some of the best pitching performances of the major league season. And it seems he has to do that even to have a chance of winning a fair share of games.

Outstanding on the Red Sox mound corps, Ferrell has probably received less backing from his teammates than any other member of the staff.

He's worked seven games already, won five of them and only once have the Sox provided him with more than four runs to work on. He started with a two-hit, 1-0 triumph over the Yankees, suffered two setbacks when he allowed as many as five runs a game and finally has come through with a pair of brilliant five-hit performances in his last two starts to win them both by 2-1 scores.

13 Innings Battle

Ferrell had to go 13 innings against the White Sox yesterday to gain the edge over a club he trimmed 10-1 the only time his teammates gave him any real hitting support. Opposed to 43-year-old "Sad" Sam Jones, Wes turned back two early threats to hold a 1-0 lead going into the ninth. Then Zeke Bonura walloped his eighth home run of the season and it wasn't until the 13th that Boston could get the odd run and the pitcher had to help along with his third hit. After Babe Dahlgren smashed a double, Ferrell beat out a bunt and when Luke Sewell dropped the throw to the plate after Bill Werbert's grounder, Dahlgren was safe with the winning run.

The triumph enabled the Red Sox to gain a full game on the second-place Cleveland Indians as well as Chicago's league leaders when Cleveland Indians as well as Chicago's League leaders when Cleveland ran into its second straight defeat at the hands of the Yankees, 4-2. Johnny Allen held the Indians well in check with six-hit flinging and they escaped a shutout on Lou Berger's circuit blow in the eighth.

Washington regained sole possession of fifth place by trimming Detroit, 10-8, with a three-run counter rally after the Tigers had scored seven times in the seventh, while the Athletic moved past St. Louis out of the cellar by blanking the Browns, 8-0, on Johnny Marcum's four-hit silencing.

Trent Valley League Elects 1935 Officers

MARMORA, May 18. (Examiner Correspondence).—The Trent Valley Baseball League was reorganized at a meeting held at the Royal Hotel on Friday evening under presidency of P. Yuill of Havelock. In his opening remarks the chairman called attention to the poor attendances seen at the games last season. The class of ball played, he felt, warranted better support than given and he hoped that this year the attendances would show that the villages which organized a team really wanted baseball. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—P. Yuill, Havelock.
1st Vice President—C. Rollins, Coe Hill.
Secretary Treasurer — W. Regan, Deloro.

Committee—C. Rollins, C. McCormack, Coe Hill; G. Woodhouse, J. Brady, Marmora; G. Kennedy and H. Kitchen, Havelock.

It was decided that Peterborough and Belleville be written to with respect to furnishing an entrant in the league.

The schedule was left to a future meeting with the understanding that Coe Hill play at Marmora on June 3rd.

BEARS-LEAFS AGAIN IN TIE

Newark Drops 11-10 Decision to Give Albany Second Straight Win.

TORONTO IDLE.

(By The Associated Press)

Albany Senators still are mired deep in the International League but perhaps better days are just ahead.

Al Mamaux's men turned back Newark Bears yesterday 11-10 and thus hung up their second victory in a row for the first time this season. Seventh place, now held by Syracuse Chiefs, still is 3½ games away but the Senators are hoping they finally are under way.

Albany spotted the Bears a six-run lead in the first 2½ innings but pounded over four runs on their own behalf in the last half of the third, and sandwiched a five-run rally in the fifth in between single runs in the fourth and sixth to gain an 11-6 edge that proved to be just enough. Snipe Hansen stopped a closing Newark spurt in the final inning just one run short of a tie. The Senators collected only nine hits off four Newark pitchers but received extra help in the shape of three Bears' errors and eight bases on balls.

Again in Virtual Tie

The defeat failed to knock the Bears out of first place but their edge over Toronto Maple Leafs was shaved to a few percentage points with Montreal only a half-game behind the two leaders. Newark and Toronto are in a virtual tie in games won and lost but the Bears hold the top spot on percentage because they have played fewer games and lost one less.

Orioles in Fourth Place

Baltimore's Orioles gained full possession of fourth place, a game and a half behind Montreal, by whipping Syracuse 5-3 on Bill Sweeney's triple with one on in the 10th. Lehrman, who relieved Granger after the eighth, held the Chiefs hitless over the last two frames, received credit for the victory and scored the winning run on Sweeney's long drive. George Puccinelli collected three of Baltimore's nine hits to lead the batsmen.

All four other clubs were given an off day by the schedule makers.

YINGT CINQ.

TORONTO, May 18.—(CP)— R. S. McLaughlin's three-year-old filly, Yingt Cinq was withdrawn to-day from the entries for the 76th running of the King's Plate at Woodbine Park this afternoon, reducing the field to 12 probable starters.

KNOX BANTAMS GAIN 8TH FRAME VICTORY OVER GEORGE ST. 18-16

St. Paul's and George St. Juveniles Battle to 6-all Score.

CHURCH SOFTBALL.

Two overtime games were played last night of the four games played. St. Paul's and George Street were unable to settle their argument and ended their Juvenile game tied, 6-all at the end of the 8th. Knox Bantams pulled out an 8th inning win over George Street, 18-16.

Trinity Seniors grabbed their first win at the expense of Murray Street, 18-14. St. James' Juniors won from St. John's, 31-15, but were only able to get in five innings.

Trinity Seniors, 18; Murray St., 14

Murray Street, minus their regular catcher, second baseman, and centre fielder, made it interesting for Trinity. Neither pitchers, Nicholls or Palmer, had much on the ball, so it was a hitters' game. A. Mann, K. Mann, and Wells and Mattice, Gadd, and Sage leading the batters in slugging. The former getting two homers. Each team had one big inning. Line-ups:

Trinity. — Nicholls, p; Wolstenholme, 2b; Gadd, ss; Clark, 3b; McFadden, lf; Mattice, c; Sage, cf; Kelly, rf; Rehill, rf; McBain, 1b.

Umpires—G. Hunter, R. Charlton.

St. James' Juniors, 31; St. John's, 15

This game took up a lot of time and ran into cold weather. In the last half of the sixth inning, the score was 27-17, when the umpires called the game; the score reverting to the end of the 5th. The lob-sided score was caused by the bitterness of the Anglican fielders, as none of the pitchers, Heal, Copperthwaite or Chivras, were hard to hit. English, Leggett and Bowlers were best of the fielders, with Coleman catching well. Line-ups:

St. James'.—Heal, p; Lawson, 2b; English, 1b; Leggett, c; Smart, 3b; Wood, rf; Grose, lf.

St. John's.—Vollans, lf; Bowler, 2b; Copperthwaite, p, rf; Hewett, 3b; Coleman, ss; Clark, cf; Chivras 1b, p; Hartley, rf; Kent, 1b; Thirnbeck, c.

St. Paul's, 6; George St. Juveniles, 6

George Street, the mystery team of the league, played another tie game, this time with the strong St. Paul's team. The game was close all the way with a spectacular finish. With the bases loaded in the end of the eighth inning, Hoy struck out for the third time. Moorhead and Parnell pitched swell ball, the former fanning 10 and leaving 13 stranded on bases. Parnell, although not as fast was just as effective. Both pitchers got good support especially from Hoy and Wildman and B. King. Galley and A. King led the batters. Line-ups:

St. Paul's.—Easton, cf; Sedgwick, c; McMillian, 1b; Moorhood, p; A. King, 3b; B. King, 2b; Rutherford, lf; McCartney, rf; Williamson, ss; Barr, ss.

Umpires—B. Hamilton; S. Craig.

Knox Bantams, 18; George St., 16

George Street threw away a perfectly good win in the seventh inning, when Knox got 8 runs. Although George Street tied it up in their half, Knox went on to win in the eighth inning. The game was highly exciting, with a small score until the latter innings. Both pitchers, Routley and Smythe, served up a slow twirl ball. George Street were hitting the ball harder, but did not field near as well. Milburn and Hamilton fielded well. Parnell, Routley and Todd hit homers. Stewart and Smythe also batted well. Line-ups:

Knox.—Crowe, 2b; Gardiner, ss; Milburn, c; Smythe, p; Todd, 3b; Doughty, 1b; Stewart, lf; Francis, rf; Gourley, rf.

Lawn Bowling
BY Herb Martin

Some of The Boys who take a little more interest in our bowling club then others have taken us to task about not giving them more information regarding the opening day, May 24th.

—o—

Well, Maybe We Have Been a little slack in that respect but our time has been more or less pre-occupied with the games committee, the membership committee, and preparing the schedule, but that is all over with now and perhaps we will be able to keep the bowlers interested in what is going on from time to time; and you know, after all, that is our job.

—o—

Now Then, Getting Back to Friday, May 24th, the games committee have decided to open up the season with a great big open mixed tournament. The draw will be made from the board at 1.30 p.m. sharp.

—o—

There Will Be
three 12-end games—two in the afternoon and one in the evening. No entrance fee; good prizes will be given to the winners.

Last Year We Had twenty-four rinks out on this opening day and this year we want thirty and we are going to get them—because we believe "Each objective gained makes the next one more easily attainable."

OUTSIDERS IN SWIMMING MEET

Representatives From Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa and Orillia Take Part.

IN Y.M.C.A. POOL.

All is ready for the biggest swimming meet in the history of Peterborough to be held in the Y.M.C.A. pool to-night, Sixty men and women swimmers from Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa and Orillia are expected to join a strong Peterborough contingent in an evening of high-class aquatic competition.

The Kingston Y.M.C.A. is sending sixteen or seventeen swimmers and divers, according to reports. A like number is expected from the Y.M.C.A.'s and Y.W.C.A.'s of Belleville and Orillia. The entrants from Oshawa will represent the Oshawa Swimming Club, it is expected. Peterborough will defend its honors with swimmers and divers recruited from both the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. While Peterborough is managing the meet, a referee, a judge and a timer will accompany each group.

A full card of events has been arranged. The classes are senior (men), junior (boys), and ladies. Several distances and styles are demanded by the events in each class. Perhaps the feature of the evening will be the mixed medly relay, 120 yards. Each team will consist of two men and two girls. The first girl will swim 20 yards back stroke, the first man 40 yards breast stroke, the second girl 20 yards breast stroke, and the second man 40 yards free style.

The meet honours will be decided on a point basis. Although competitive diving had been scheduled, visiting groups which have not had access to a good diving board for training requested that the diving be for exhibition only. Nevertheless, some good diving is expected.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two DAY BY DAY

Despite a cool breeze that swept across the school grounds a large and merry crowd gathered at Central last night to once again hear the sharp cry of 'Play Ball' ring out over the ball diamond. And with this shout that brought a sudden stillness over the crowd, R. M. Glover started his windup in the pitcher's box while J. J. Duffus took a firmer grip on his bat and prepared to break one of the school windows. The first one across plopped into the glove of W. H. Taylor behind the plate for strike one. The second, waist high was stopped in its flight for a short pop into the infield and the Men's City Softball league was off for another season of this popular summer pastime.

Collison may have been a newcomer to most of the local fans up to last night but his performance on the Fashion Craft mound made him a hero to followers of the Clothiers, at the same time a pain in the neck to Lillico's. Holding the Motormen to five hits and striking out 10 while his teammates collected 22 safe hits, the Merchants had no trouble in gaining a lop-sided 14-2 count in the opening tussle. Playford did the heavy hitting for the winners collecting unto himself a triple, two doubles and three singles, not a bad night's work. Currie cops first honors for the initial homer of the season by cashing out a long circuit blow to open up the 8th inning. Starr did most of the hitting for the losers.

Arrangements are being made to have the Rama Indian lacrosse club play the Peterborough Intermediate in Lindsay on May 30th. The Scugog Kiwanis club are sponsoring the event it is understood and although there is a possibility that satisfactory arrangements might not be made, it is thought both clubs may be satisfied with the proposition prepared.

Here is a shit from Belleville that will be of interest to the fans who follow the Senior Pets and to the players of that team also: "Carpenters started to work at the Exhibition Park yesterday building a new clubhouse or dressing rooms for the local baseball clubs. These rooms will be directly under the grandstand at the western extremity of the stand, a feature that has long been needed by the ball team in this city. Then again we understand that the present site of the dugouts is to be moved and we are to find the player's dugouts directly in front of the grandstand, where the paddock now is. Whether this is a wise move or not remains to be seen, but 'tis safe in saying the players and perhaps the fans also, will regret the shift before the first of July. The idea is a splendid one insofar as bringing the players in closer proximity with the fans is concerned, but there are too many set-backs to the idea, is our humble opinion. For instance they will have to erect a ten foot wall between the two benches or there is bound to be trouble when boos and cat-calls are hurled from one bench to the other by the more spirited and irritated players during some of the heated discussions that sometimes occur. Of course if the fans want to hear these verbal battles we suppose it is perfectly all right."

Bits About Lawn Bowling

BY N. C. HART

The Provincial Lawn Bowling Association has requested the writer of this column to attempt weekly articles of general interest to lawn bowlers. The desire is to keep all lovers of the game duly and properly informed of the rules and progress of this international sport. The writer will appreciate items of interest from officials and members of clubs, and these will be used when time and space permit. All communications should be addressed to the University of Western Ontario, London, Canada.

By the way, has your club affiliated with the P.L.B.A. this year? The Provincial Association is doing a splendid "job" for lawn bowling in this province and is worthy of your support. Why not get your club in the year book about to be published? "Al" Longford wants to hear from you.

We suggest that clubs be careful not to commence strenuous play too soon this year. The greens should be in good condition before the first player steps out on them, and damage should be avoided especially during the early part of the season. Playing too soon after rains is equally fatal to the grass. Waiting an extra day will liven up the competition and work wonders on the grass.

Grass cutting should be done with a high speed mower with about ten blades, thus assuring a smooth surface without ribbing. Best results come from "corner-wise" cutting, each day in a different direction. Cutting frequently in the same direction may produce ridges.

Proper rolling is essential and should not be done with a very heavy roller. Power rollers, while convenient, are not as favorably received as they were some time ago. They "iron out" the greens well, but they eventually make the soil so compact that the grass cannot thrive. Two rollings with a light roller are better than one with the heavy type.

Rolling should be cornerwise across the direction in which the grass has been cut. Rolling in the same direction as that of the play is responsible for the ridges which tend to cause "runs". Many of the "weird" paths which a well delivered bowl may find are often due to improper rolling.

The use of the ground sheets at the ends of the greens saves these ends from trampling and from the delivery of the bowls especially when the grass is damp. These should be removed immediately at the conclusion of the game, and should not be placed on the grass before play is about to commence. During a bright day there is an enormous concentration of heat under these sheets, and this may ruin the grass if they are left on too long.

The ground sheet is not a part of the game and must not be confused with the movable regulation rubber mat about 14 by 22 inches. When the bowl is delivered the player must have one foot entirely on this mat. This procedure prevents digging up the green with the toe, and necessitates the delivery of the bowl from approximately the same place by all players. The rule should be enforced in all games.

This playing mat is placed one yard from the ditch on the first end and not less than one yard on each subsequent end. After the first end it may be placed anywhere from one yard from the ditch to the place where the "jack" rested at the completion of the previous end. The moving of the mat saves trampling of the green in one spot, and serves the same purpose as playing long and short ends from the same position.

The placing of the mat is the privilege of the lead who throws the "jack", and it may not be moved until the completion of play for that end. It should be borne in mind, however, that there must always be 25 yards between the mat and the "jack."

Greens may be protected by insisting on the use of proper shoes. Such shoes should have perfectly flat soles with round edges to prevent tearing the greens. Crepe or rough soles and any heels, however shallow, are not permitted on any of the English greens. The same regulation, enforced in Ontario, would be a wonderful protection for the grass.

And finally! Start the season adhering to the International Playing Rules in all games. The only deviation should be in the length and width of the greens and occasionally in the number of ends played. The green should never be less than 14 feet wide, and wider when the length permits. The regulation bowling green is 126 feet square, and the playing space 19 to 21 feet wide when the maximum length can be obtained. Shifting the greens both in position and direction will prove helpful in preserving the grass.

As a reminder it might be mentioned that the time for getting bowls tested before the opening of the season is short. The P.L.B.A. has stated that all bowls must bear the official I.B.B. stamp after June 1st, 1935. Let's be protected before the tournament season begins.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

By McDONALD FRASER

Girtza, too, missed Consuelo. His heart was heavy. There were no dancing feet in camp; no laughing song; no saucy impertinence; no child of his own in the van; no dusty black curls to rest against his shoulder. After his first roaring anger had spent itself, he ceased to reproach her. He tried to hate her, but could not.

He dispelled the thoughts that there was a gorgio, but he knew her love of jewels and finery, and so he sighed, the ache in his heart dull and heavy. He did not think of her returning. Perhaps it would be better if she never did. He told himself that he would never forgive her if she did come back, and yet he knew that his loneliness would compel him to.

Of all the camp there was only one who was glad that she was gone, and that was Anica, her mother. Her black eyes rested often on Marcu now. Her hands were restless, but there was no hurry. She was docile to Girtza and he did not notice that she wore her best clothes and her finest jewelry and kept her hair combed.

So life in the camp moved on without the girl. Little Gita was dancing in the fairs, but the men did not crowd after her and her pockets were never heavy with gold. Voda and Honey played and wrestled and entertained the gorgios, but Voda forgot to flirt with the white girls: They did not look good to him and he remembered the night he had almost kissed her—if Honey had not tripped him. Petru's flute did not sound so gay and the dancing around the fires was not as spirited now.

Ofttimes they had no more than unhitched the horses and put the cows to feed and set up the tents when Girtza would boom out in his great voice that this place was not fit for a gypsy. They would look at the grass and the trees and the clearness of the brook all in one glance. The moment before it had seemed good and the year before it was an excellent camping place, but now truly it was not fit for a gypsy and they would eat a hasty meal and go on and on.

So success had come quickly and easily to the gypsy girl. All in one night it had given to her more than it gives to most in a whole lifetime. Gypsy that she was, she counted it as nothing. Hadn't she dreamed of this? Then of course it must come true, for dreams of the heart are as real as life itself. Back in camp when she left she knew that this would happen, just how, no, but it would happen and it had.

So it was the next morning that she lay asleep in the bed as contented and satisfied as a kitten. The room was filled with flowers and she breathed in their fragrance and it brought into her dreams remembrance of a morning long ago. She thought that once again she was lying on a hillside covered with lilies. She had left the camp one evening in the springtime and had come upon this hillside that was massed with lilies, overturned bells that grew no more than a few inches high, but filled the mountainside with their sweet scent. She lay down among them and their perfume became a robe about her and she fell asleep. The moon rose high in the heavens and its beams caressed her and touched her with pale beauty. It passed on and the sun rose and dropped its rays of gold about her. And now again she was awakening on the hillside and life was good and beautiful. She opened her eyes and saw where she was and that it was the flowers that had brought the dream.

"I'm glad you've awakened, miss." It was Ann beside her. "They've called you to come to the theater at 11. I've ordered your breakfast. I've brought in the papers and there's telegrams that have come in." She paused, looking at the girl. "Ah, miss, I never saw anyone so beautiful as you were last night. When you danced it was easy and graceful and wild, as if nothing in the whole world mattered except your dancing. When you sang I was not Ann serving in a foreign country, but Ann at my own home, back home where the trees are green and the cows come up to the sill and the cock crows at dawn—I'll bring your breakfast in now, miss."

The girl stretched lazily and kicked down the covers and wiggled her toes. She propped up the pillows behind her, sat cross-legged on the bed, and opened the newspapers. There was a large picture of her in her white dress. Another holding flowers. One in costume. A flashlight showing her at limousine. One walking down the alley with Goldberg and Stewart and Doug behind her and the people, a dark blur, waving their hands. She poked her finger through the paper and tore out the small head of Stewart. It was not in focus and it made him look funny. She laughed and wet the back of the paper with her tongue and patted the picture on her arm and looked down at him.

"Now you are my man," she whispered. On her other arm was a new bracelet of square cut rubies set in platinum that matched the necklace he had given her. She looked down at it now and fingered the little safety chain.

"I wonder whether you are real or if you, too, are only a piece of glass!" She looked away. "Now surely he would kill me!" She shook the thought from her and idly, without much interest, looked through the rest of the papers and with difficulty read the telegrams of congratulations. "Now this is silly, for I do not even know who these people are who send me these things that are so hard to read." And she tossed them to the floor.

She sprang from the bed and going to a basket of flowers tore off the buds and made a crown of them for around her head and stuck others in the lace of her silken nightgown. She was humming to herself and thinking that her man would be coming to see her soon.

So she was sitting in the bed like a young wood nymph when Ann brought her breakfast to her.

She ate greedily and scolded because there were not enough potatoes. She laughed when Ann said she would get fat eating so much starch like that. Before she had finished Douglas called. At first she was disappointed that it was he and not this other one, but then, after all, she was glad he had come and commanded that he be brought in.

"My darling, come eat some breakfast with me—"

Doug held his hand over his face.

"Yes, my pet, but will you remember that nightie is less than nothing, Ann, cover up the young lady—quickly!"

Consuelo laughed and tucked her legs under the covers.

"Oh, you are the kidding one! Come, tell me about last night, my Douglas!"

Doug sat down beside her.

"You're a tempting morsel this morning. Tell me, have you been out in the woods picking flowers and putting them in your hair like this?" He took one and put it in the lapel of his coat. "Now about last night, you were quite the loveliest thing I ever saw. Scrumptious, gorgeous, swell, elegant and what-not. But tell me this, young lady, where did you disappear to? I saw you and then I saw you not and you had disappeared like a rabbit. Tell Doug."

The girl was blushing. She fumbled with the toast on the plate and made great pretense of buttering it.

"Aaaah—so, a man—a villain enters this peaceful scene. Tell Doug, who is this brute?"

She nibbled the toast and sipped the coffee and would not answer him.

He saw the bracelet on her arm and recognized it—after all, hadn't he purchased it only yesterday at Tiffany's for Stewart? He rose from the bed and crossed to the window and looked down into the street.

After a while he said, "Get your clothes on, we're going to the theater, you're late now. They want to see you and talk over an encore and start planning a new act for you. Hurry up." He left the bedroom.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 19

Sunday's horoscope holds testimonies of rather fair activity, possibly in connection with church or charity affairs. It also has indications of some vexations, disappointments and sorrows to cope with. Also there are some signs of treachery, subtle enmities, and the mind may be found in a rather erratic copdition.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly active year with a fair degree of progress and profitable turns to the fortunes. There should be an effort to keep the mind in stable and sound grooves, since it may incline to distorted views.

A child born on this day may be fairly active and ambitious, with some constructive ability, but its mental outlook may be moody, distorted or quixotic.

For Monday, May 20

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather intriguing one, with omens of some minor losses and anxieties, and at the same time signs of personal pleasure, success and benefit. These latter may be in connection with private affiliations, or with writings, documents, or possibly at the happy behest of an elderly female, who may be generously disposed.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of more or less doubt and contradiction in affairs. Documents and writings call for precaution. Guard against loss on a journey.

A child born on this day may be versatile, inclined to cultural pursuits or vocation, but may be changeable and temperamental.

When a Gibraltar-Malta cable broke 10 times in the same place recently and bushes and branches were found entangled in it, workers surmised that an underground river flowed into the sea 10 miles out from the coast of North Africa.

ANIMALS AT OUTS.

NEW YORK, May 17 (C.P.).—The keeper of Manhattan's barnyard up in Central Park had quite a fuss on air hands to-day, his prime white turkey and Daisy, the Jersey cow, being at outs.

Claudius, the turkey, cut his right leg yesterday in an effort to escape the unwelcome attentions of Daisy, who has been bothering him since the barnyard opened Wednesday.

The barnyard is portable and will be taken around to the various city playgrounds.

TELLING ON CANADA

and the British Empire

By HARRIS-STAPLETON

The 1935 Canadian racing season starts officially when "They're off" sounds at Woodbine Park, Toronto, where the opening day's card features the 75th running of the King's Plate. This most famous of all Canadian turf events has been continuously contested longer than any other similar race in North America, and for thoroughbred lovers has a glamour all its own.

The classic was inaugurated in May, 1860, at Carleton, and in after years was contested on eleven other Ontario tracks before it became a permanent fixture at Woodbine in 1896 when Norah P. led them home. Although not the richest race, from a monetary standpoint, it has been contested by Ontario breeders more keenly than any other event of the kind. The famous Waterloo horseman, J. E. Seagram, practically held a monopoly of the plate for several years, winning 15 times himself, while the stable sporting his yellow and black afterward added four more triumphs.

"Grave and Skeleton" is the grim notation that frequently appears on detail maps of King William Island and Adelaide Peninsula, Canadian North West Territories. And at the point marking the tragic Starvation Cove is written "boat and 35-40 skeletons."

Thus is charted the final chapters in the history of the ill-fated Franklin expedition, which set sail from the Thames River on a May day 90 years ago with the object of exploring the North West Passage. In the Erebus and Terror, Sir John and his men crossed the Atlantic safely, entered Baffin's Bay, and then disappeared as in the darkness of the long Arctic night. The tragedy that befell them has been gradually pieced together by numerous explorers, who have been able to trace the party's movements from the position of relics. The two vessels foundered in the northern straits, and not one member of the expedition survived to tell of the calamity of 1846-48.

Over 40 expeditions have been made to trace the expedition since 1847 and have wrested from the northland many of its secrets, but the entire story probably never will be known. Records found show that Franklin himself died, June 11, 1847, after which the expedition made a futile attempt to push south toward civilization, leaving en route souvenirs of "their long march to the grave."

Rough and ready justice was meted out when the Yukon called with the lure of gold in 1895 and the following years. The records of the R.C.M.P. (then the North West Mounted) reveal the fact that greatest of all in the catalogue of sins was that of robbing caches, which was punished as pictured. It is perhaps not necessary to say that many of those tagged with the placard were not passed along very far, but paid for their thievery with their lives. A cache was life itself in many cases for those who left them and returned to find their food gone.

The temperature was 77 below zero when the N.W.M.P. established a post at Fort Constantine and even so primitive a necessity as a candle was worth a dollar.

Ottawa's "two of a kind club" are all twin students in the one school. They combined forces to present a feature of the Glebe Collegiate's annual concert.

Our Common Birds

A Column Written for the Host Lovers of Peterborough and District.

By Frank Pammett.

THE HOUSE WREN.

This is the commonest wren of Southern Canada. It is quite plentiful in this part of Ontario. It is a small bird, being only about half the size of a house sparrow.

The house wren is a most attractive bird about the garden. It moves around, under and over everything in quick jerky motions; not a crack or crevice is missed by this busy little searcher for insects that are beneath the notice of larger birds. It often controls pests before they get large enough to do damage or to attract other birds.

This little wren's song bubbles and ripples forth almost faster than he can sing. The multitude of notes in his song reminds one of the water in a small brook, rippling along over the pebbles, as it flows to the river. After the wren's discovery of a place to nest in, his song will peel forth in a series of musical episodes all day long, now from the roof, now from the fence, the barn, the wood-pile, or some bushy shrub. There was never a more tireless singer. He has an expressive little tail which is usually kept erect and flippant.

The wren returns year after year to the same nesting place. He is not very particular what he uses for a home either. Wrens have been known to build nests in old overcoat pockets, tea jars, and many other peculiar places. If, once home, always home to them. They will build in boxes, if they are provided. It is advisable to make the hole the same else as a 25-cent piece, as this is plenty large enough for wrens, and too small for house sparrows to enter. The nest is kept scrupulously clean, the house-cleaning, like the nest-building, being accompanied by the cheeriest of songs.

No man is clever enough to estimate the vast numbers of insects that wrens destroy in your garden. They eat nothing else but insects. They keep, as a rule, quite close to the ground, which their finely barred brown feathers so closely match. They are always busy in your interest, which is also theirs. It certainly pays, in every sense, to encourage wrens to come about your home and garden.

F.R.P.

Have you put a drinking dish for birds in your garden yet? It is a worth-while project.

STAMP CORNER

By M. A. BESSEY

AUSTRALIA ANZACS

Another new commemorative issue from Australia appeared last month, commemorating the twentieth anniversary of the landing of the Anzacs at Gallipoli on April 25, 1915.

The denominations are 2d, red, and one shilling, black. The central design, as may be seen in the illustration, consists of a cenotaph surmounted by a laurel wreath.

MEXICO

The issue of a few months ago from this country is exceptionally interesting and attractive and two designs of the air mail issue as illustrated, will, we believe, bear us out in this assertion.

The stamps were first placed on sale Dec. 1, and consists of a complete new set of postage stamps. It is understood that this is to be a permanent issue and that all remaining stocks of previous issues were destroyed.

The twenty centavo, red-brown air mail, illustrated, depicts an Indian's head and a Mexican eagle, with a snow-capped mountain peak in the background.

The fifty centavo, bright green, illustrated, portrays Mexican art.

In all, there are twelve denominations of postage stamps, ranging in value from one centavo to five pesos. Eight values of air mail stamps, from five centavo to ten pesos, and one ten-centavo special delivery stamp.

The peso values are all bi-colored, as is the special delivery, the balance all being of one color only. The stamps, themselves, must be seen before one can appreciate their real attractiveness.

THE NEW CANADIAN ISSUE

With reference to the new issue of Canada to appear this June 1, and already outlined in our column, we quote in part the official notice from the post-office department regarding first-day cover service for collectors.

"To meet the wishes of first day cover collectors, arrangements are being made to furnish an advance supply of the entire issue to the district director, who will attend to Ottawa, Ontario, who will attend to all requests for first day covers."

Our understanding is that the stamps will be placed on sale June 1 in only a few of the larger cities of Canada—just which ones has not been stated. Distribution will, however, be made to all post-offices from that date on. Thus, if you are a first day cover collector, you had better play safe and send your order to Ottawa at once, as previously outlined, in order to avoid any possibility of disappointment.

Orders for mint stamps of this issue should be sent to the philatelic section, financial branch, post-office department, Ottawa, Ont., entirely separate from any orders for first day covers.

The early advent of this new issue will doubtless curtail the length of time, to some extent, of the use of the silver jubilee stamps, which should turn out to be a fairly good set in nice used condition.

Speaking of first day covers, we understand that at Ottawa the orders for the silver jubilee stamps on first day covers came in by the thousands and that several extra clerks were required to work on them for several days to cope with the huge quantity. The demand from England, particularly, was enormous, many dealers sending in several boxes full for dispatch on May 4. Toronto, also, was swamped, the employees of the department handling them having to work until well after midnight of the third in order to take care of the last minute rush. Collectors certainly owe the department and employees concerned a hearty vote of thanks for their splendid co-operation in handling first day covers in such a fine manner.

EASY TO BUY! USED CAR NOW

Ford Dealers Score Again With a New Selling Policy.

MONEY BACK SAFEGUARD.

A novel policy in merchandising used cars so that the buyer may be confident of satisfaction has just been put into effect by the Ford dealers of Canada. It has been designated the Three-Five plan, and includes two forms of warranty, one on cars selling at $300 or more; the other on those under $300. All used cars included in either of the classifications under the plan have been reconditioned or are believed by the dealer to be in sound mechanical condition.

The purchaser of a car in the $300 and over classification may do so with a three-day money back provision. He may use the car for three days, and then if he finds it is not suitable may obtain his money back.

The buyer of a lower priced used car has the privilege of exchanging it for another used car within five days, if he is not satisfied with his first choice.

The plan, it was explained, has been developed to enable the person with a limited sum to spend, to use it to the best advantage. It is not always possible in the purchase of an inexpensive used car to be certain after a drive around the block that it is just what is wanted. The alternative three and five-day money-back and exchange safeguard, however, is believed by Ford dealers to make it easy for the most careful buyer to find what he needs among the varied stocks of re-conditioned automobiles now available.

Hood & Cumming Motors Limited, 276 George street, are local Ford dealers.

JEWISH SOCIALIST PROGRAM IS SAID HAMPERED BY BRITISH

Claims Government Opposes Strong National Development or Unity With Arabs.

CONTROL TO WANE

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central Press Canadian Writer

JERUSALEM, May 18.—Whether it is possible to build socialism in one single country, even if that country covers one sixth of the globe's surface, is the major question which has, as all the world knows, produced the bitter animosity between Stalin and Trotsky and their respective followers. In Palestine a similar question underlies the strife and friction which are inevitably associated with the work of building a modern commonwealth.

Here the problem is: can people live socialistically in a country whose government is by no means committed to a socialist program, can they foster socialist institutions in a land which is itself a link in one of the world's most powerful imperialist systems?

The Histadruth, Palestine's Labor party, answers in the affirmative and proceeds with building up a system of co-operatives which evokes the admiration of every social expert who visits the country. But it is especially in agriculture that something unique in the whole world is being done here in Palestine. The Histadruth sponsors the operation of a score of agricultural colonies which are instituted on a collective principle.

No Coercion

These colonies, known as Kvutsoth, are operated on a purely Communist basis and yet differ enormously in construction from the so-called Kolchose and Sovkose in the Soviet Union. The Sovkose and Kolchose rest largely upon constraint The Russian peasants did not on their initiative take the decision to pool their resources and exploit the land collectively. They were compelled to collectivise by the government of Stalin. In Palestine there is no dictatorship. But there is among the socialists a strong, self-imposed discipline.

When in a Soviet kolchose a member does not abide by the regulations or if he falls short in his quotum of work and production, he is openly denounced and ultimately may be expelled, which means that he is condemned to misery and starvation. In the Palestinian Kvutsoth the principle is that the stronger carry the burdens of the weaker members. This is possible only since the element of profit has been removed. The purpose of the socialist agricultural colonies is not in the first place to make money but to create a harmonious socialist life. The Kvutsoth are miniature socialist commonwealths which are destined, it is hoped, to extend their influence gradually and to radiate socialist thought and practice, in other words permeate the Palestinian people with a new approach to life.

Government Opposed

It goes without saying that such an experiment must stand in the token of violent criticism and meets with a deal of opposition. The Jewish agency for Palestine, that is to say the world Zionist organization, has never opposed the Labor party's co-operative system considering it a very worth-while experiment and one entirely in harmony with Hebraic traditions. Yet the executive of the Zionist organization itself is not socialistic, although at the present composition of that body includes some Palestinian labor leaders.

The mandatory government, that is the government of Palestine which administers the country on behalf of the League of Nations, cannot interfere directly in the method which the Jews chose to build up their country. But it can hamper progress. And this it has never ceased to do.

The Palestinian government proceeds along the ancient lines of "divide and rule" that device so successfully employed by the Romans in their mastery of the world. It plays Arabs against Jews and vice-versa. Left to themselves Jews and Arabs would since long have worked out a modus vivendi. As things stand the government has systematically sabotaged a real rapprochment of the two sections of the population.

That harmony is nevertheless coming about, in spite of the opposition of the Arabic landlord class and in spite of the uninterrupted governmental chicanery. The Arabic masses are beginning to understand that their economic interests are identical with those of the Jewish laboring population. Arabic-Jewish unity, on an economic basis, is growing up from below. It is still in a fragile state, of course. The Arabs could still be roused against the Jews by the introduction of a false issue, such as occurred in 1929 when Jews in outlying districts were massacred upon a report being spread that the Jews in Jerusalem had set fire to the mosque of Omar.

Arabs Seek Unity

But the Arab peasant will no longer believe the propaganda scattered by the effendi class to the effect that the coming of the Jew means expropriation, expulsion, famine and misery. He has the evidence before his eyes that it is not so. There are Arabs in Palestine who have grown tremendously rich as a result of land sales to the Jewish national fund at exorbitant prices. Purely Arabic cities such as Jaffa, Shichem, and Nasareth testify to a strong spurt of prosperity.

There is work aplenty for the Arabs. Thousands of them have flocked into the country from Transjordania, Libya, Syria and elsewhere. But Jews have the greatest difficulty in getting in and yet the government of Palestine is pledged to do all in its power to facilitate the upbuilding of a Jewish national home in Palestine.

But there is a good reason for all this: the government does not desire a close-Judeo-Arabic front, which might eventually come into being and pursue a joint policy of revendications against the government. It is therefore thought better in government quarters to keep the two sections of the population separated and on edge.

The whole fundamental trouble is that the Palestinian government, is a branch of the British colonial office, pursues an entirely different aim in Palestine than the Jewish people. The Jews are out to build a national home for themselves. The British are building a war-basis. The two things don't go together; they clash.

LINDSAY OPENS "DRY" CAMPAIGN

Vote June 26 on Abolition of Town's Beer Rooms.

COUNCIL'S $21,242 SUIT.

LINDSAY, May 18. — Injunction or no injunction, the vote on the abolition of the local beverage rooms, scheduled for June 26th will be proceeded with. This is the declaration of Mayor Pickering. Last night Dr. A. J. Irwin, secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, opened the campaign by addressing a large gathering of workers in the Cambridge Street United Church. A spirited fight is anticipated.

Owing to the failure of the local artesian wells to supply the municipality with sufficient water to meet the needs of its citizens, the Water Board has decided to take action against the Jordan Roberts Company, of Brantford, for the recovery of $21,242 paid on contract. The Board claims that the company agreed to supply the town with 1,500,000 gallons of water every 24 hours. The wells, they claim, are only capable of supplying one-third of that amount.

It was rumored in political circles today that a meeting would be called at Fenelon Falls to consider the nomination of a straight Liberal to contest the riding of Victoria and Haliburton in the forthcoming Federal election. This action, it was stated, was being taken by certain Liberals residing in the north. Local Liberal workers when spoken to today stated that they had heard of no such movement.

YOUNG'S POINT, May 18 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday evening a miscellaneous shower was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McIlmoyle (nee Whillmene Bulmer) of Smith, whose marriage took place on May 4th.

Mrs. Robert Carter received the guests and presented them to the happy couple, who then ushered them into the beautifully decorated sitting room. Games and music were enjoyed. The bride and groom were asked to seat themselves at the dining table, which was lovely with a lace cloth (a gift received from California) and a suitable address was read by Mrs. B. V. Harvey. A basket well filled with lovely and useful gifts was carried in by Mildred Carter and Isabelle Hill and opened and shown to the guests. The groom thanked all present for the attractive gifts.

A bountiful supper was then served and a social time followed.

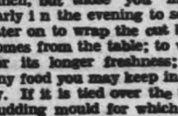
WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN



A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind.

LIFFORD LINE

During the coming months particularly, that comparitively fragile substance called paper, can render wonderfully stout assistance to the home maker. In its various forms, and they are more numerous than the average person realizes—it has scores of uses especially in the kitchen. It is time well spent for the busy house keeper to give a few minutes to checking up these uses in order to see if there are not many little tasks paper might do for her, chores it might make lighter or pleasanter, savings it might achieve for her or improvements in the way she cooks, keeps or serves her foods.

Wax paper of course leads all the rest when it comes to verastility. It was probably the woman who had lunches to wrap for school children or working men who provided the first and readiest market for the household package of waxed paper. This package has been improved many times just as the uses for the paper have multiplied.

And what are its uses. They are innumerable. To wrap not only the sandwiches which you may have occasion to send out in a carried lunch, but those you make ready early in the evening to serve much later on to wrap the cut bread that comes from the table; to wrap cake, for its longer freshness; to cover any food you may keep in the pantry. If it is tied over the top of the pudding mould for which you have no cover, the steamed pudding will be much better when protected—thus from moisture. Cake boxes and other food containers are lined with it. When you have a grapefruit, orange or lemon to keep fresh press a bit of wax paper over its surface. Wrap salad greens in it after washing—they will crisp well in a cold place. Roll, pastry or biscuits on it. Wrap roast or fish in it to keep juices in while cooking. The more you use it, the more uses you will find for it.

Then there are those little paper cake cups that we can buy a hundred in a package. These come in various sizes from very tiny ones to regular gem size. If one is set in each cup of gem pans, there will be no further need for greasing the pans or cleaning them afterwards. Or the paper cups may be simply placed in rows on a baking sheet or any pan for convenience. They not only give an unlimited number of containers to use at a time but exactly the size that will aswer best. Small cakes are much nicer baked in the cups for the paper need not be removed until the cake is served and will help to keep the cage from drying out.

Paper towels have supplanted the hand towel in many modern kitchens—with little mourning over the fact, for the roller towel at its best has never been a beautiful object. Coarse paper towels are the most efficient things to use to wipe off greasy dishes and pans. They are fine too for polishing mirrors, glass or metal and for draining fried foods.

Paper napkins run from the useful and practical all-white napkin at a trifle a hundred to brightly decorative ones for every holiday occasion, all kinds of children's parties or for the colorful card party.

Picnic equipment will soon be in season once more. In this day of long motor trips and never ending picnics, the fiber plates of old have been supplanted by drinking cups, custard cups and little individual ramekins, spoons and forks and any number of practical containers. We can now pack salads, puddings and hitherto hard to carry delicacies that will make the transported meal almost anything we want it to be.

Then there are those handy wax paper envelopes large enough to contain an individual sandwich or two. A supply of these are successful as it is speedier to slip things into an envelope than to wrap them in sheets of paper and several of these to hold the different parts of a school or other lunch would be worth while in many cases.

Paper doilies have become very handsome of late—since sophisticated uses for them have arisen they have had to put forth more effort. These can be had in the old thin paper embroidery style but they also come in close invitation of linen and even in the colored bordered linen.

Smart little paper frills for a cooked ham and tiny ones for the leg of a fowl are considered indispensable by some cooks. These can be bought ready for use or made of white writing paper. And of course we can also buy the neat-pleated frill to put around the outside of a baking dish that must go to the home or picnic table.

Apart from food, paper equipment enters the realm of housewifery in helpful fashion. Shelf papers have taken on the decorative appearance demanded of smart up-to-date accessories. You can get it in two or three widths, so the shelf can be neatly fitted; edges are in "white embroidery" and in gayly colorful designs. A cupboard that is painted within in some bright contrasting color as to door lining and the bottom of the shelves, and given a fresh and pretty paper with an attractive border to come over the edge of each shelf becomes an asset to any pantry or kitchen.

A time-saver for the housekeeper is a note pad in the form of a roll of paper, with a cutting edge on the roller so that the narrow paper may be torn of fat any length; as the shopping list grows, the paper is pulled out, to be torn off at ordering time. A similar roll at the telephone is a convenience in many households—there should be a stationery pad for the taking of proper messages at least.

Even the humble newspaper has myriad uses in the kitchen; keep a handy pile to draw on for packing, wrapping refuse, or for rough wiping up.

It is no longer a mark of household efficiency to be dependent on the paper in which parcels come home, for paper in which to wrap all out-going packages important or otherwise. A roll or package of fresh brown paper should be kept convenient.

LARGEST LAND PLANE IN WORLD FALLS IN PIECES

Wing Buckles When Struck By Pilot Handling Small Stunter.

ALL ON BOARD PERISH.

Soviet Orders 3 More of Same Type—Second Tragedy Narrowly Averted.

MOSCOW, May 20.—(AP) — The world's largest land plane, the Maxim Gorky, pride of Soviet Russia, crashed to earth yesterday after a collision with a small stunting plane and all the 48 persons aboard the giant air liner along with Pilot Blagin of the other machine, were killed.

The disaster occurred over the village of Socol, Moscow suburb, at 12.45 p.m., but for 10 hours authorities clamped down a rigid censorship which delayed the tragic news.

Breaks Up In Mid-Air

The giant plane and the smaller one collided and the former broke in mid-air and crashed to the ground. It was the worst disaster ever to befall a passenger plane.

Mikheeff, who was substituting for the regular pilot of the Gorky and who was killed, never before in his long career had a serious accident. He was a veteran of the Great War and wore a Lenin decoration, the highest award in the Soviet Union.

Blagin violated instructions not to stunt while accompanying the Gorky. His plane rammed headlong into the leading edge of the giant craft's wing, between two motors.

An automobile passing the village of Socol when the accident occurred described how it happened. Blagin's plane, he said, made two loops and was coming out of the second when it struck the wing of the Gorky near the point where it joined the fuselage.

Pilot Dumps Gasoline.

"The Gorky trembled and lost altitude sharply," he said. "The pilot evidentally had the presence of

Fire Sweeps Bush North Of Orillia

ORILLIA, Ont., May 20 (CP)—A bush fire which swept across Morrison Township in the Kaska Lake district yesterday, destroying thousands of dollars worth of property and timber, was reported under control early to-day. Unless the wind veers to the east to-day, as it did yesterday, cottages and timber in the line of fire are safe.

In response to telephone calls from Reeve H. L. Clipsham, firefighters and equipment were rushed to the blaze by the Department of Lands and Forests.

A large area of Crown lands and about 200 acres of bush and cultivated lands on the farms of Irvin Hughes, Angus Goheen, James McConnell and Wilfred Zeaks were burned over. The fire burned for 12 hours before it was noticed.

No Joke

FIREMAN CAREY IS A VICTIM OF GAS POISONING

Found on Floor of His Home By His Sister Overcome By Gas.

GETTING READY FOR DUTY.

The Rescue Squad of Peterborough City Fire Department has been called upon to face some tough jobs in its experience, but none more tragic than that which called them to duty around seven o'clock Sunday morning.

Answering an alarm to 209 Westcott street, which had been relayed from the City Police Department, they discovered Fireman J. Henry Carey, 32, one of their own number to have been victim of gas poisoning.

For over two hours the rescuers worked with inhalator and other artificial aids of respiration, under the direction of two doctors, but all efforts at resuscitation were without avail.

Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young, who investigated the circumstances surrounding the tragedy, recorded a finding of "accidental death," and declared that no inquest would be held.

Comrades' Tribute.

To-day the flag over the City Fire Hall is flying at half mast as a tribute from Fireman Carey's chief and former comrades with whom he had served for seven years.

ROEBUCK STARTS JARVIS INQUIRY

Review Case as to Possibility of Recommending a New Trial.

UNFAIRNESS CHARGED.

TORONTO, May 20 (C.P.). — In the library of the Ontario Attorney-General's Department to-day a court case, a sensation more than a decade ago, was reviewed so Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck could decide whether to recommend to the Minister of Justice at Ottawa that Aemilius Jarvis former Toronto broker, be given a new trial.

Jarvis Present.

Jarvis, grey-haired and attired in a brown suit, sat beside a long table in the room full of books and heard details of the 1924 trial which convicted him and the late Peter Smith, Provincail Treasurer in the former Drury Government, of conspiracy in connection with bond transactions.

At one end of the table was the Attorney-General, flanked on his right by Salter Hayden, counsel for Jarvis, and on the left by Joseph Sedgwick, solicitor in the Attorney-General's Department, who represented the Department.

A charge that the Attorney-General's Department at the time of the trial prevented Andrew H. Pepall, then in California, from appearing as "a material witness" by having him held in the United States, was made by Mr. Hayden. He charged also Jarvis did not have a fair trial, Attorney-General's Department "misstated and misre-

Liberals Discuss Buying Probe Stand

OTTAWA, May 20 (C.P.) — The attitude the Liberal opposition will adopt towards the Government's proposed legislation arising out of the report of the Price Spreads Commission was canvassed at a party caucus to-day at which Hon. Mackenzie King presided.

The indications are the Liberals will adopt as their plan of attack against the legislation the opinions expressed by the Liberal commissioners who signed the report with reservations. They will also support to some extent the minority report of E. J. Young (Lib. Welburn), it was learned after the caucus.

POLICE ESCORT MAYOR McGREER

Both Booed and Applauded as He Speaks in United Church.

RELIEF CAMP STRIKE.

VANCOUVER, May 20. (CP).—Mayor G. G. McGreer was both booed and applauded when he delivered the evening address at First United Church last night and was escorted by detectives through a side door at the close in order to escape a hostile crowd. A delegation from the crowd, refusing to believe the mayor had left, searched the church.

The central committee of the relief camp strikers stated to Rev. Andrew Roddan, minister, the demonstration was not organized by their men.

First booing took place when Mr. Roddan early in the service mentioned relief camps. When Mayor McGreer got up about 200 people, mostly women, booed him loudly and left the church.

Others waiting outside quickly took the vacant places while other hundreds were unable to get in the crowded building.

Mayor McGreer proceeded with his address and the main item of which the relief camp strike situation was distinctly a federal responsibility and the Dominion Government must start a program of public works financed on the public credit if the present unemployment problem were to be met. He was applauded when he finished.

1,000 Wait Outside

During his address a crowd numbering about 1,000 persons remained outside, some attempting to sing the "Red Flag" and others joining in various forms of demonstration and police decided to escort him away.

"It is becoming more and more clear that Communists are getting the upper hand" commented Mr. Roddan after the service.

ALLOT $10,500 FOR SETTLERS

Monthly Appropriation by Ontario Government For County Residents.

ON NORTHERN ROADS.

For the employment of settlers' gangs on road building in Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton counties $35,000 a month has been allotted by the provincial government according to a report here this morning. Peterborough's share is said to be $10,500 a month.

J. J. Duffus was out of the city this morning, but from several other sources it was learned that this work is being provided only for residents of the county. The reported appropriation will not be sufficient to allow the program of suspending the operations in the main camps on the Buckhorn and Apsley roads, but it will enable the Department of Northern Development to provide work for some men, probably including a few from the city. Details of the plans for this county have not been completed, but will probably be announced in

Dick Moore and Ken Black, both of Vancouver, and Edward Innes of Montreal were the initial trio from the Dominion to get past the first obstacle.

TORONTO, May 20 (C.P.) — Vaina Rama, 28 appeared in police court to-day on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death last night of Mrs. Ida Rinnie, whose jugular vein was severed by a fragment of glass.

BEATTY STATES RAILWAY STAND CLEARLY TO CLUB

C. P. R. President Claims Position on Problems Been Misrepreented.

ANSWERS MANION.

Urged Combined System Managed By Private Company —Save $75,000,000 Year.

TORONTO, May 20 (C.P.) — E. W. Beatty, K.C., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, told members of the Canadian Club to-day he wished to make clear his stand on railway problems in Canada and urged his listeners to consider the question "as one transcending party boundaries."

Asks Two Questions

The president said his position had been misrepresented and he answered questions put forward in a recent speech by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways. Mr. Beatty said he would like to ask the Minister and other critics of his unification proposals, two questions:

"Can labor, or others dependent on railway operation for their existence, be assured of employment, of stability or earnings, or of their present standard of living, if the industry on which they depend is unable to earn a return on the money invested.

"And, will a country like Canada prosper if one of its major industries supporting one seventh of the population can be kept alive only by subsidies derived in the final analysis from general taxation?"

Mr. Beatty said Dr. Manion first enquires "whether the amalgamated railways are to be under private or government control.

"Each is, in my plan, to remain the property of its owners; the combined system should be managed by a private company, since our experience with management by a company under direct control of the government has not been satisfactory. Government control of rates and service—as complete as needed —would continue.

His second question asked, how much saving can be made by amalgamation under present traffic con-

FIRE DAMAGES WHITBY SCHOOL

200 Pupils Reach Safety Only Few Minutes Before Roof Crashes.

$7,000 LOSS.

WHITBY, Ont., May 20 (C.P.).— When fire broke out in Whitby High School to-day, 200 pupils marched safely from the building a few minutes before the roof crashed in.

The fire started near the roof and caused damage estimated at $7,000.

When the pupils arrived they smelled smoke, but it was not until a few minutes after nine the blaze was discovered in the roof. It had gained great headway by that time. The fire gong rang, and the students filed out in orderly fashion. They lined up in the schoolyard to watch the work of fire-fighters, and two minutes later heard the roof fall through.

Heavy Water Damage.

Firemen blame defective wiring for the blaze. Most of the damage was caused by the tons of water poured into the building. Loss is covered by insurance.

The High School students at present are ready to try their yearly examinations, and the Whitby Board of Education is making arrangements to-day for new quarters. The school will be rebuilt.

Two friendly criticisms have been voiced over the statement in these notes that no night frosts have occurred since May 2. The first was that of a Keene reader, who said: "The ice was so thick on a pail of water Thursday morning (16th), I couldn't break it with finger pressure but had to use my heel"; while a Bailieboro friend stated there was a keen night frost on the same date.

As both places are quite a distance from the city, the variation is probable. However, the two minimum thermometers here both registered 32 degrees on the nights of the 14th, 15th and 16th days of May.—A.O.P.

Colonel Lawrence of Arabia Claimed by Death

LEGENDARY HERO DIES SIX DAYS AFTER SMASH-UP

Private Funeral to be Held in Accordance With Master Strategist's Wishes.

MYSTERIOUS CAREER.

Had Many Notable Achievements, Both in War and Peace to His Credit.

WOOL, Dorsetshire, England, May 20.—(CP)—Death came to T. E. Lawrence in the quiet English countryside for which he always longed.

The man who wrested Arabia from Turkish control during the Great War, versatile in achievement, enigmatic in character succumbed yesterday in a little military hospital to injuries he suffered in a collision six days ago between his motorcycle and a bicycle.

Lawrence of Arabia, who had shunned fame and publicity in life, shunned it likewise in death. In accordance with his own wishes, the funeral will be held privately Tuesday in the village of Moreton.

Loved England

Wherever he was—campaigning in Arabia or soldiering in India — Lawrence expressed keen desire to come back to England. His achievements covered many fields. The Great War showed him to be master strategist with an intimate knowledge of Arab character and customs. Before the war he had a high reputation as an archeologist. His "seven pillars of wisdom" was described as one of the finest pieces of English prose ever written. In recent years he had completed the tremendous task of translating into English verse the odyssey.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock branch were: Cattle, 3,910; calves, 469; hogs, 1,120; sheep and lambs, 560.

Packer bids were lower on all grades of killers in the cattle division and only 900 head had been sold by early afternoon, mostly to small buyers. A few choice weighty steers sold at $7 to $7.50. Small lots of good, choice butchers sold from $6 to $6.65 cwt. Good butcher cows brought $4.90 to $5 with plainers downwards to $3. Bulls were steady at $3.75 to $4.50 for butchers, and $3.25 to $3.50 for bolognas.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 20. — Rains over the North American grain fields washed out speculative enthusiasm on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday. Wheat prices extended Friday's decline, closing with losses of ¾ to ⅞ cents, May at 85¾c and July 87c.

Demand for cash wheat at the Pacific Coast, where an estimated 300,000 bushels of wheat were sold for quick shipment, was not reflected in pit operations here and failed to stem a slow decline that set in at the opening.

A net ¾ cent decline at Chicago and ¾d at Liverpool induced local bearishness, accentuated by heavy precipitation over the area United States South-west and Canada's Prairies. Two inches of rain were reported at some south-west points.

Believed the reason for the Orient's continued good buying of Southern Hemisphere wheats, reports from China said that country's 1935 crop would be 20 per cent. less than last year. A further two cargoes of Australian wheat was sold on Saturday.

DURHAM COUNTY MUSIC FESTIVAL IS BIG SUCCESS

Gold Medalists and Shield Winners Present Concert in United Church.

TRIUMPHANT END.

PORT HOPE, May 20.—In a blaze of triumphant glory, the fourth annual Durham County music festival came to an end here Friday night when, before over 1,000 persons who packed the auditorium of the United Church, all gold medalists and shield winners presented the numbers which won them recognition before the adjudicator in the three days of competition. All the artists performed with an ease and grace and the growth which music has made in Durham County was clearly manifest.

On behalf of the council and the citizens of Port Hope, Mayor George Bennett extended an official welcome to the gathering. "Your organization," he said, "has done a great deal to assist particularly those of our young people interested in a special way in music and the splendid way in which your competitions are arranged and carried out speak well for those who occupy the executive positions. The work in which you are engaged, that of encouraging the efforts of all interested in music, is one in which all our people should have a part, as music has an important place in our religious, educational and social life."

E. P. Brndt of Bowmanville, Festival president, announced that over 300 entries had taken part, embracing 1,200 individuals. "I am delighted to see such keen interest taken, and the large entry list shows that we are reaching out and touching all branches of musical life in the county."

Dr. G. E. Reaman of Toronto presented the various shields and gold medals to the finalists, prior to which he praised the members of the committees who zealously worked for the success of the association. "Music," he said, "is a real necessity to us." He admonished the youthful entrants to put all they had into their work and for the losers to accept defeat with a smile. The speaker suggested that when a contestant had reached a certain standard and did not win a prize, the association should give recognition in the form of a certificate, etc.

Elaborate gold medals were presented to the various artists and striking shields were awarded to Starkville School, Providence School, Boys' Training School Harmonica Band of Bowmanville, Cartwright Public School, Bowmanville Public School, Orono Public School, Trinity orchestra, Bowmanville; Orono Public School boys' chorus, Trinity Choir, Bowmanville urban choir and mixed chorus, Zion United Church Choir, Hampton, and Bowmanville Canadian Legion Band.

JOHN PRITCHARD, EDITOR PASSES

Widely Known Member of Globe Staff For Past 32 Years.

ILL THREE MONTHS.

TORONTO, May 20.—John Pritchard, widely known and popular newspaperman, died early yesterday morning at his residence, 490 Parkside Drive, after an illness of three months. He was 55 years of age.

Soft-spoken, retiring and pleasant mannered, he was considered one of the most widely acquainted and well-versed news writers and editors in the country. For the past 32 years he had been a member of the editorial staff of the Globe, during the past 20 years also serving as the Toronto correspondent of the New York Times.

Enviable Record

Jack Pritchard, as he was familiarly known, was almost a legendary figure to the younger men of the craft. His record was one to which all young reporters aspired. His history was one of amazing 'beats' in the news. Yet, with it all he was always ready to hear a younger man's troubles or to provide good advice if it were sought. He was famed for his accuracy; if Jack Pritchard were the author of the story, it was considered fact.

His first job in Toronto was not in the newspaper field. He was a junior clerk in the treasury office of the old city hall when he applied for and gained a position on the World and was assigned to the police beat.

From the outset he became popular and was assured of success in his chosen work because of his quiet, alert manner and his preservation of confidences. Unassuming and usually little heard, he missed nothing.

PLOTTERS GIVEN LIFE.

KAUNAS, Lithuania.— President Antanas Smetona to-day commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences of four Memel Nazis condemned by a Lithuanian court for plotting the return of the Memel territory to the Reich.

A Cure

WINDSOR, Ont., May 20.—(CP).—If Jack McMann, 33, had ceased attempts to start a motor car owned by Jan Buchan, St. Catharine's Chinese, he might have been free and unharmed to-day.

McMann is alleged to have taken exception to Chinese attempts to protect the property of their fellow countrymen and broken in the window of a shop owned by another Oriental. This was the signal for a horde of Chinese to descend upon the belligerent Windsorite and when he was eventually rescued by police, blood dripped from his badly lacerated hand and nose.

OTTAWA HOUSE REOPENS TODAY UPON LAST LAP

Expectation Bennett Will Discuss Leadership Adds Interest.

START ON PUBLIC WORKS.

OTTAWA, May 20.—(CP)—Members returned to Parliament this today for the last lap of the session. Assurance that Prime Minister R. B. Bennett would again be in his seat, and expectation that during the week he will discuss with his supporters in caucus the question of government leadership, added interest to the situation.

Pick Up Shelved Bills

The House of Commons, it is anticipated, will start in where it left off, with the public works and railway equipment bill. This important measure which provides for an expenditure of approximately $18,000,000 on public works, and guarantees $35,000,000 railway equipment bonds, was left high and dry before Easter when members on the opposition side objected to an item of $1,000,000 for a subway between the mainland and Hanlan's Island at Toronto. This appropriation, part of the program envisioned in the bill, should in the opinion of opposition members, be utilized for other purposes which they considered more important.

After considerable debate, during which the government took the position that the opposition must accept responsibility if the measure was delayed, the bill failed to get through.

Legislation based on the Price Spreads and Mass Buying Report is ready for Mr. Bennett's examination and will shortly make its appearance in the House. It is understood that recommendations of the Commission have been embodied in seven or eight distinct measures which the prime minister will survey. Whether or not his examination of the bills will result in their being changed before being laid before the Commons remains to be seen. It is probable, however, that they will be brought in with as little delay as possible, and that the government will do its utmost to facilitate their passage through the House.

Senate Sits Tuesday Eve

Members of the Senate will not resume sitting until tomorrow evening, and will meet with three more vacant seats bringing the total number up to 15. Leaders will pay tribute to Hon. H. S. Beland, Hon. Peter Martin and Hon. John Lewis, who died during the recess.

While the program of legislation which must be dealt with before parliament prorogues is extensive, the feeling is that the remainder of the session will not be long drawn out. With an election coming on, members are said to be anxious to return to their constituencies as soon as possible. Their disposition will probably be to get down to business and conclude the session as soon as possible.

SPECIAL BONUS IS REPEATED BY TRAVEL CLUB

200,000 Votes For Every $12.00 Turned in During Week.

DRIVE ON "PROMISES."

So popular was the special offer of 200,000 votes for every $10.00 turned in during last week and so many have been the demands by the members of the Travel Club that we have decided to repeat the offer for this week. In keeping with our plan which we outlined to the candidates that at no time during the contest would the votes be greater than during the first period and that as each period succeeded the one preceding, the votes would decline, we cannot exactly duplicate the offer but we will grant the candidates a special bonus of 300,000 votes for every $12 turned in to the Travel Club office during this week, ending May 25th, instead of for every $10.

Candidates when they visited the office on Saturday, voiced their protests of the shortness of the period during which the special vote bonus was in effect and felt that they had not been given sufficient time to enable them to cash in on the offer and they felt that if the offer were extended another week they might have piled up a huge total of votes for themselves.

The Travel Club is very desirous of co-operating to the fullest extent with the wishes of the members and is again making the offer as nearly like the one made last week as possible. No doubt this will be appreciated by the members and they will take advantage of the opportunity by a special drive on the "promises" made to them by prospective subscribers to The Examiner. Supporters will realize too, what their assistance will mean to the members and will boost for

FINNISH WOMAN HAS THROAT CUT, DRUNKEN PARTY

Bleeds to Death in Toronto Home as Beer Bottle Slashes Vein.

MAN IS WOUNDED.

Alleged Assailant Vaino Rama Held on Charges of Murder.

TORONTO, May 20.—A drunken party on Soho Street ended in tragedy early Sunday morning when a 36-year-old Finnish woman bled to death after a flying piece of a beer bottle had severed her jugular vein.

Mrs. Ida Rinne of 54 Beverley Street, died 15 minutes after admittance to Toronto General Hospital and a short time later police arrested the alleged bottle-thrower, Vaino Rama, 29, on charges of murder and wounding. The wounding charge was laid when police learned that the bottle first struck another Finn named Einar Jukkarainen before breaking into fragments, one of which found a mark in the throat of Mrs. Rinne.

Incidents leading up to the throwing of the empty beer bottle were hidden in an alcoholic mist as far as the other members of the party were concerned, police discovered. The party was given by Mrs. Lempi Kaivola at No. 4 Soho Place to celebrate her "name day" in Finland. Friends were invited to a Saturday night party and others, not invited, came along anyhow.

Men Refuse To Leave.

Early Sunday morning the party became boisterous and a quarrel broke out among the men. Mrs. Kaivola decided to get rid of her guests, the invited and the uninvited, and ordered them to leave. The request was refused by the guests. One man said he was prepared to

CAN EAST GO GAME?

"Dear Mr. Shephard: Some time since I obtained your name and address from the Wellington Free Lance. I have tried in vain to go game on East's hand, played at no-trumps. Can it be accomplished? The opening lead is the fourth best spade." (B. J. Fraser, Wellington, New Zealand).

The bidding is not given, but the hand looks difficult. Try it.

Probably the reason Mr. Fraser failed to go game was because he won the opening lead of spades with dummy's 10, utterly closing future entry to the spread hand and also preventing him from winning 4 heart tricks. As the hand is played one has to think of such matters. Instead of trying to catch what the "rule by eleven" states cannot be held by North, just realize that South must hold the missing Q of spades. Win the opening lead with declarer's K.

Lead the Ace and K of hearts, and establish 2 added hearts in dummy, with sure entry thereto, as declarer holds 2 smaller spades than the 10. Either his first or second lead of that suit must enable him to enter dummy. Lead a low spade. With two cards of re-entry in his hand it is probable that South will win the trick with his Q, to try to establish spades and defeat the contract. Suppose that South's Q wins the trick. He must lead the suit back to establish it and dummy's J will win.

Lead the Q and J of hearts. Discard from the declarer's hand the lowest diamond and lowest club. Declarer has played 7 tricks, of which he has won 6. South's best discard on the last heart led from dummy is the 2 of clubs. He should not advertise his desire to have that suit led. Lead the low club from dummy. Finesse declarer's Q, thereby losing to the K. With the ace of diamonds still in his hand South will again lead spades. Had South discarded the J of diamonds, instead of his lowest club, dummy's return lead would have been a diamond.

Declarer wins his seventh trick with the ace of spades. His ace of clubs and K-Q of diamonds insure him two added tricks for game. Lead the K of diamonds. South is in with his ace of diamonds and will run off his single long spade, giving him just 4 defensive tricks, but now he has no further chance to win another trick. East will discard his last low diamond on the spade lead. South has left in his hand a single diamond and a single club, and East holds the K of one suit and the ace of the other suit.

Veal Pie

Fresh Vegetable or Green Salad

Chocolate Cake With Baked Icing

Coffee or Tea

The veal pie is a complete meal in itself, with the exception of something crisp and green to balance it, and, if you like desserts, a sweet. In this case a chocolate cake with an unusual frosting is recommended for dessert.

Today's Recipes

Veal Pie—One an one-half pounds veal, four tablespoons butter, four tablespoons flour, one and one-fourth teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-four teaspoon celery salt, one teaspoon curry powder, one-eigth teaspoon cayenne pepper, eight onions (small white cooked), six carrots, cubed, cooked; one-half cup peas, one cup cubed potatoes, rich biscuit dough. Veal from the smaller part of the leg may be use. Just add salt and simmer until very tender. Leftover veal might be used. Cut the cooked meat into small pieces, suitable for serving, and lay in casserole to half fill the dish. Strain one pint of broth through a cheesecloth and bring it to boiling point. And butter and flour blended together, stirring in celery salt, cayenne and curry. The curry may be omitted. Beat the sauce with an egg-beater to insure smoothness. Add cooked onions and carrots, increasing amount given if desired. Add peas and potatoes. Mix vegetables lightly with the meat and pour hot sauce over all. Top with individual rounds of rich biscuit dough and put into a hot oven 425 degrees until biscuits are bake a rich brown. Brush the tops with butter and serve. If desired, fresh pork may be substituted for veal, or leftover lamb or beef may be used. Serves six.

Chocolate Cake With Baked Icing—Two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, three egg yolks, three squares chocolate, one and one-fourth cups milk, one teaspoon vanilla, one egg white. Icing—Two egg whites, one cup brown sugar, nut meats. Sift flour and measure. Add the dry ingredients and sift three times. Cream shortening and sugar. Add well beaten egg yolks and vanilla. Add the flour alternately with the milk. Add the melted chocolate and lastly the beaten egg white. Pour into a greased square pan. Beat the egg whites until they hold a peak. Add the brown sugar slowly, beating it in. Spread on top of cake batter. Sprinkle with nuts and bake in moderate oven 45 minutes. Almonds give the icing a good flavor.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

Back in the days when white chalk from the English channel cliffs was used as face powder, the subject of color did not bother women at all. In those times, all powder was white. Consequently, women didn't have to worry concerning the selection of harmonious powder shades. Today, however, as the make-up men at motion picture studios can tell you, face powders come in so many different hues that the average girl is likely to become confused when selecting the powder shade for her own particular skin. One expert says he believes that the use of a wrong shade of power is far more likely to detract from, than enhance, the charm of a woman's appearance.

The shade of powder that a woman uses really is every bit as important as the color of her lipstick and the tone of her rouge. And she should make her selection only after careful study. There is hardly a woman in the world with so white a skin that she can use a dead-white powder. And the woman who is foolish enough to use such a powder will, nine times out of ten, wind up looking as though she were wearing a clown's make-up.

Shade Should Match Skin

The shade of powder that a woman uses generally should match her skin so perfectly that it seems entirely invisible when it is smoothly distributed by her powder puff. She should hunt for that shade zealously, and refuse to be satisfied with any other. And if she cannot find it ready made or among the standard shades, she should blend it herself, by mixing several powders that contain the basic tones of her natural skin coloring.

Since women are more or less individual, it is impossible to designate the correct shade of powder for each one. But most women, I believe can find their proper powder in the five basic shades known as cream, natural, peach, rachel and ochre. These shades are the most natural because they contain both pink and yellow tones, just as does the youthful, healthy skin. The girl who cannot find her powder shade amongst these powders should do a little experimenting and blending. It's really an enjoyable occupation. And the improvement that results when the proper shade is finally found is most gratifying.

COCONUT APRICOT CANDY

½ cup dried apricots; ¾ cup premium shred coconut; ½ cup nut meats; ½ teaspoon grated orange rind; ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind; 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Wash apricots, and steam 5 minutes. Put apricots, coconut, and nut meats through food chopper. Add orange and lemon rind and lemon juice and knead until mixture is blended. If candy is dry, add enough orange juice to moisten. If too moist, work in small amount of confectioners' sugar. Shape into balls about ¾ inches in diameter. Roll in granulated sugar. Makes 16 to 20 balls.

COCONUT CHERRY DIVINITY

adds a touch of color to the candy assortment.

2 cups sugar; 2-3 cup water; ½ cup light corn syrup; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla; dash of salt; ½ can southern style coconut, toasted and crumbled; ¾ cup candied cherries, thinly sliced.

Bring ½ cup sugar and 1-3 cup water to a boil and boil until a small amount of syrup forms a slightly firm ball in cold water (240 degrees F.). While this mixture is boiling, bring remaining 1½ cups sugar, 1-3 cup water, and corn syrup to a boil and boil until a small amount of syrup forms a hard ball in cold water (252 degrees F.) Remove first syrup (240 degrees F.) from fire and cool slightly; pour slowly over the stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly until mixture loses its gloss (1½ minutes). Then add second syrup (252 degrees F.) slowly, beating as before. Fold in vanilla, salt, coconut, and cherries, and turn immediately into greased pan 8 x 8 inches. Cool until firm. Cut in pieces 1½ x 1 inches. Roll in additional toasted coconut if desired. Makes 3½ dozen pieces.

Broken pecan nuts, chopped dates, or raisins, may be substituted for candied cherries in this recipe.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE

2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces; 2-3 cup milk; 2 cups sugar; 2 tablespoons butter; dash of salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt, and stir until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue cooking, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees F.). Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.) then beat until mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Pour at once into greased pan 8 x 4 inches. When cold, cut in squares. Makes 18 large pieces.

PERRY DELIVERS FINAL ADDRESS

"The Lord's Near Return" is Subject of Third of Series of Addresses.

Last evening, after church services were finished, the final address, entitled "The Lord's Near Return," was given to an audience that packed All Saints' Parish Hall. Many were unable to gain admittance to hear this message that is of vital interest to the people of this day and age. The lecture last evening was the third of a series given by Mr. P. J. Perry of Winnipeg, president of the British-Israel Federation in the Province of Manitoba.

This series has been presented under the auspices of the B. I. Federation Headquarters in Toronto, with the local branch co-operating and arrangements in charge of the local president, Major Allan MacNab.

Reviewing the amazing course of the descent of the Angel-Celtic-Saxon people from the ten tribes of Israel which scattered north-west through Europe after the downfall of Nineveh, capital of Assyria, and briefly recapitulating the salient features of the Great Pyramid structure. Mr. Perry proceeded to show, by lantern slides of section plans of the pyramid, that all but one of the great biblical prophecies had been accurately fulfilled and that the expiration date of the final prophecy was in the very near future.

Biblical prophecy, pyramid structure and current world events indicate the nearness of the outbreak of a great final war. The nations to be involved and the centre of the war area are indicated and the result clearly defined in scriptural prophecy.

Mr. Perry, who has travelled extensively in Egypt, and has some knowledge of ancient Egyptian life and belief, gave an interesting outline of the faith of the mystics of Egypt showing that immortality was one of the fundamental elements of that ancient religion. In this reference, in the ancient story of a Pharoah who was being initiated into the knowledge of mystic truth, the Pharoah discovers at the completion of his initiation that his mortal body had become immortal and that he was one with the Gods. This experience of immortality, which is symbolized in the Great Pyramid, occurs at the same point in the pyramid structure that marks the date of the expiration of the last great prophecy which will see the consummation of Christian hope and faith—the second coming of Jesus Christ—"when this mortality shall put on immortality."

LINDSAY PRESBYTERIANS MARK 100TH ANNIVERSARY

LINDSAY, May 20.—Preaching at the 100th anniversary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday before a large congregation, Rev. Dr. D. T. L. McKerroll, of Victoria Presbyterian Church Toronto, took as his subject, "Friendship, Home and Christianity."

"If you think back to those early days in 1835 when Presbyterian ministers first began visiting their scattered parishioners in this district, which at that time was virgin forest, you will realize it was through friendship developed, love displayed and the Christian spirit shown by these early disciples that we are to-day able to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the church started by them," said Dr. McKerroll.

THIS IS ENCOURAGING.

One does not usually like to read of declining populations. Too often are they an indication that a community is slipping, that the means of making a livelihood are less plentiful and that residents are shoving off toward greener pastures.

Reduced prison population, however, imparts something altogether different, something wholesome and encouraging, and if recent figures issued from the office of the Deputy Provincial Secretary of Ontario are any indication then the people of this province are becoming more law-abiding.

Number of persons sentenced to Ontario jails and reformatories in the year ending October 31, 1934, was the lowest since 1926, according to the figures furnished by C. P. Neelands, Deputy Provincial Secretary. The total in 1934 was 13,500, compared with 11,371 in 1926.

Contrary to general opinion, there has been less crime during the depression years than in the years of prosperity. Between 1923 and 1930 there was a sharp increase in the prison population, but since then it has been declining. According to Mr. Neelands, during the boom years young people had too much money and less home training, but since the depression the reverse has happened and most people are doing considerably more serious thinking.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

KITCHENER'S PLAN.

For some years the public schools of Kitchener have been giving safety lessons and programs, impressing upon their pupils the necessity of constant care and seeking to develop a safety consciousness.

So gratifying have been the results, Kitchener having been virtually free of fatal accidents involving children in the last three years, that at the recent meeting of the Ontario urban school trustees the delegates heartily endorsed the Kitchener plan, and passed a resolution urging upon the Ontario Department of Education the adoption of "such measures as may be necessary to ensure that all public school children of the province receive such specific instruction in all aspects of safety education and first aid as may contribute to the reduction in the number of accidents causing bodily injury to and endangering the lives of our children."

The Examiner is satisfied that compliance with this request would bring most gratifying results.

Among children of public school age it should be possible to build up a safety technique that will serve them well, not only in their school years, but all through life.

The majority of accidents are the result of lack of thought, and it is to correct this condition that safety education was established in the schools of Kitchener.

There is every reason to believe that the happy consequences of such education in that city would be duplicated everywhere else where a similar plan is followed.

MORE TOURIST BUSINESS.

It is gratifying to learn from the Canadian Travel Bureau that an unusually large number of inquiries is being received from prospective summer visitors and from the local Chamber of Commerce that the same condition obtains in regard to our own district.

The advertising campaign carried on by the bureau is obtaining the results that were predicted for it, and it will be surprising if there is not a material increase in the number of tourists entering Canada this summer.

That this part of the country is going to get its share of this larger tourist trade should be a matter of satisfaction to those who deal directly with summer visitors in particular and to everybody in general, for in the long run all benefit from the money put into circulation by holiday-makers.

In a sense we are getting more than we deserve. If a larger influx of visitors into the Kawartha district does develop, because we have more or less been falling down on the job, doing little or no advertising and counting upon the Travel Bureau's campaign to do the work for us.

That was not, of course, the intention when the federal organization was launched, because it was made clear from the start that the bureau's efforts would be to advertise Canada as a whole, while each district was expected to call attention to its own advantages.

However, it is good news that our own section is not being overlooked in the greater volume of tourist business that seems to be heading Canada's way.

IT PAYS TO PLAY.

To focus public attention on the fact that "It pays to play," to point out to all and sundry that participation in games and outdoor recreations is good for the body, good for the mind and good for the soul—that is the purpose of Canadian Sports Week.

For nine years now the week of May 26th (this year May 18 to 25) has been nationally recognized as Sports Week. Probably no "week" has made such speedy and practical progress as the seven-day period set aside for promulgating the benefits of healthful play. The public response to the concentrated effort has increased annually and, with the return of the country's purchasing power this year, the occasion should be marked by even a greater interest in this event.

Press, pulpit and the air-lanes will co-operate in the movement. In past years the newspaper world has contributed greatly to making the "week" one of Dominion-wide interest; special sermons have been preached on such subjects as "The Value of Sports from the Moral Standpoint" etc; radio stations have broadcasted series of sport talks and have carried "spot" announcements.

As a nation, we pride ourselves on our legacy of "fair play," handed down to us from our British ancestry. In our national life, the spirit of true sportsmanship is an essential prerequisite if we are to prosper and become a nation among nations.

John Galsworthy pays real tribute to sport when he writes:

"Sport which still keeps the flag of idealism flying, is perhaps the most saving grace in the world at the moment, with its spirit of rules kept, and regard for the adversary, whether the fight is going for or against. When, if ever, the spirit of sport, which is a spirit of fair play, reigns over international affairs the cat force, which rules there now, will slink away and human life emerge for the first time, from the jungle."

The value of sport to the world, the value of sport to Canada is far from being fully understood even yet. A more general appreciation of the many advantages and opportunities offered, a keener recognition of all that clean, wholesome contests contribute to the life of a community can only come through education. Teach people to play; it matters not if it is lawn bowling or rugby, if it be on a championship team or with the "pick-up scrubs"; the big thing is—"Play" and play fairly.

The slogan of the sports world is, "It pays to play"—pays not only in dollars and cents, but in the gaining of qualities and standards which cannot be reduced to the scale of mercenary measurement.

Interpret it how you will—"IT PAYS TO PLAY."

MR. BENNETT'S FUTURE.

With Mr. Bennett back in Canada the question of whether or not he is to continue in public life still remains unsettled; the answer hinges upon how his health stands the test of leading the Government during the balance of the parliamentary session.

The Premier has been told, he says, that his heart is sound organically, but that it is tired, and in the ordinary course of events that should mean a complete rest and relaxation from work or strain of any kind.

However, Mr. Bennett feels better than when he sailed for the jubilee celebration a few weeks ago, and he has decided to resume his duties and carry on if he finds that his health will continue to permit him to do so.

For a man of the Premier's temperament and zeal for work this would seem to be a decidedly doubtful experiment, for there is the obvious danger that he will put the duties of his office ahead of consideration for his own health and run risks that no Canadian worthy of the name would want any statesman to run.

The Globe, we believe, voiced the feelings of the country most accurately in the following editorial reference to Mr. Bennett:

"The people are deeply concerned over the Prime Minister's health, and would be glad of assurance that it is restored completely. He may be able to settle their anxieties happily, notwithstanding the numerous intimations that have gone forth as to his need for continued rest. If rest it must be, it is to be hoped Mr. Bennett will not prescribe the minimum amount for himself. He has sacrificed enough, and more than enough, in shouldering so earnestly the heavy responsibilities of the past five years. If he decides the time has come to look after his own welfare, no one can say he is running away from public duty. The people always will be grateful for his devotion to their interests at a most critical period, whether they agree or not with his methods and policies, and notwithstanding dissatisfaction over results, justifiable or otherwise. If he desires to retire altogether or seek release from a large share of the load he has been carrying, he can do so with a clear conscience and with the knowledge that the country understands what he has gone through."

Should it become necessary for Mr. Bennett to take a complete rest, the feeling seems to be growing that his successor will be Hon. H. H. Stevens.

With Government candidates seeking the services of the former Minister of Trade and Commerce for their nomination proceedings and with the press of all shades of politics pointing out that by the man on the street the return of Mr. Stevens to a position of prominence is regarded as essential to the success of the Government in its appeal to the country, it is difficult to see how the instigator of the price spreads investigation can be overlooked when a new leader is being sought.

Considerable stress is placed on the need for more courtesy on the highways by an Ohio judge, who claims that if consideration for others had governed the operation of all motor vehicles in the United States, three-fourths of last year's traffic accidents would not have happened.

Courtesy on the road is more conducive to safety than many of us realize. When one considers what courtesy is and does, the truth of that statement becomes more apparent. As the Detroit Free Press points out:

Courtesy is the antithesis of greed.

Courtesy obeys all the laws and regulations enacted for the common safety of all drivers.

Courtesy is never reckless to the point of endangering life.

Courtesy does not hog the road or cut in and out of traffic unnecessarily.

Courtesy drives on the principle of live and let live.

Strange to relate, some individuals who are very polite when you meet them at a social gathering or on the sidewalk can be the very opposite once they get behind the wheel of a motor car. Why this is so, is rather difficult to explain.

Maybe the thrill of holding the wheel and stepping on the gas causes them to forget their good manners. If so, they should put a sticker in front of them on which is printed in large, red letters: Courtesy and safety go hand in hand.—Kitchener News-Record.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Probably Parliament decided to re-open to-day to make sure of fireworks for the 24th.

With a Seagram victory in the King's Plate, it begins to look as if Canada is at last getting back to normal.

The story of the Toronto bookkeeper who lost $40,000 of his employer's money betting on horses should recall to a lot of people who imagine they can get rich by gambling the old saying, "You can beat a race, but you can't beat the races."

Portsmouth Penitentiary cannot be so bad after all. Several prisoners released from that institution under the jubilee amnesty have already been re-arrested on criminal charges, indicating their alleged dread of the penitentiary could not have been genuine.

RELIEF CAMPS

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—The Examiner has nailed that super-reactionary, C. L. Burton in the right spot in condemning any regimentation of relief camp workers, but I am rather surprised that the editor so favorably commend Mr. Stevens purposed reforestation scheme without more careful study.

It was with rapt attention that I listened to that clever orator point out the wretched miseries, the crushed ambition and hopless lives of those fine young men segregated from community life by economic forces gone crazy, and intered to rot in our government relief camps building roads, but I was considerably shaken when the orator continued to paint such a glorious scene of the same camps, the same men in a wilderness setting planting trees. What a picture and I presume the unfortunate victim of circumstances is supposed to get enthusiastic over the purposed change.

It may be true that reforestration would be of great value in years to come but who would reap the benefits if society is to remain organized as at present? What these men need is a chance to create wealth for themselves or to exchange for goods and services needed, and unless our legislators indulge in more basic thinking than is the case at present, the future generations will not be in a position to appreciate a heritage of roads and trees.

Let us hope that when the lady goes to Parliament there will be a grand house cleaning with mental cob-webs the focal point of attack.

Yours truly,
W. Wiggins.

Your Health

by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Medical science, since the middle of the sixteenth century, has never ceased to make definite progress. It has done so just as much in the field of child-birth as in such a field as that of surgery, which is popularly supposed to have made the most rapid advances.

We may, therefore, say with assurance that never, before our own day, has the prospective mother had as good a chance to bring a healthy child into the world with safety to herself, as today.

Consider the conditions which obtained in other times. The primitive Indian woman, to whom not a thought concerning her condition was given, until the actual moment when the baby arrived. She was expected to do hard labor just as under ordinary conditions, ride horseback on long tribal marches, abandoned if she was either left alone in a hut made of boughs, built near a stream, or given an attendant in the person of an elderly, dirty and ignorant squaw.

Victorians Not Much Better Off

More recently, our grandmothers, even in the midst of Victorian civilization, were not much better off. They were supposed, by the dictates of modesty, to conceal the condition until it was well advanced. They did not consult or engage a physician (or a midwife), except when necessity compelled them. Their general health was, therefore, a matter of guesswork during this period of rapid change. They were carefully guarded against a great many things that would do them good. They were surrounded by gloom, and no one seemed to think that the situation called for any rejoicing. When the time came for their delivery, confinement was really the word for it. They were confined in a room that was overheated, and had no ventilation, in the idea that this atmosphere would ease them, when all it did was to make them subject to respiratory disease. They were attended by a physician who knew little about asepsis, anesthesia, blood transfusion or bacteriology. So far as my own grandmother was concerned, her attendant knew NOTHING about any of these things—and that was not so long ago.

Today one of the prime lessons which the medical profession has tried to teach is that of prenatal care—that for her own safeguarding, the prospective mother should be under the physician's instructions from the earliest possible time.

Her physician has the resources of the laboratory, both the chemical and immunological laboratory, the X-ray, the blood pressure apparatus, a new knowledge of nutrition, besides the personal advantage of a broadened acquaintance with the new science of the subject.

No better illustration of such a state of affairs could be found than that which occurred this year—the unique phenomenon of the quintuplet birth, where, in an obscure village, under far from ideal conditions, there was present a practitioner who had at his fingertips all the accomplishments of modern science.

Some hold back from taking advantage of prenatal care because they think it will involve more expense. For them, let me say that in my experience physicians prefer to handle a case in this way, and exact no extra charge than if they were called in just before the time of delivery.

(By Marshall Maulin.)

I.. I....

I can understand many of the things that human beings do, but my understanding stops when I try to analyze the impulses of men who walk through a neighborhood scattering poisoned food for dogs and cats and pigeons....Has a cat kept them awake? Has a dog snarled at them? Has a pigeon nested on their housetop?....How can they do this terrible thing?

I know a kindly man who cannot like dogs....When he comes into a home where a dog is the dog crawls under the table....Please explain that, doctors of science?

So far I have never played but one "practical joke" in my life.... and I'm ashamed of that.

My idea of perfect fishing is to sit in a flat-bottomed boat with a bamboo pole, worms on the hook and a bobbing cork.

Whenever a doctor tells me something interesting a scared look comes into his eyes and he says: "Don't put it in the paper, but if you do don't mention my name!".... Other doctors must make remarks to them about "advertising" if doctors' names get in the papers. ....Except in connection with the illness of an important character.

Whenever men begin to talk lovingly about their pipes and smoking tobacco, I don't belong in the same species with them....I have a pipe, but I don't know where it is.

I was thinking vaguely of swearing off smoking for a few weeks, but I got a box of cigars for Christmas and that changed everything.

Why do we suspect the habits that give us the most pleasure?.... It's a pathetic flaw in the race.

A good rule I have found is: If you spend your money for something, even foolish, that you want—waste no precious time regretting it ....You have had your money's worth many times over.

Sentimentally, I am a lover of sweet harmonies; physiologically, however, I am brother to the croaking frog—and I envy all those joyous ladies and gentlemen who gather round the piano and swear that they want a girl JUST like the girl that married dear old DAD.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

WHEN WOLSELEY LEFT FOR RED RIVER

On this date May 20) in 1870 Colonel Garnet Wolseley and his expedition left Toronto for the Red River to end Louis Riel's rebellion. Four companies of the Ontario Rifles had gone in advance and been given a good send off, but Wolseley and his men had no complaint about their au revoir. The Red River expedition consisted of 1,200 carefully selected men, two-thirds of them militia volunteers, the balance British regulars. The militia were the Ontario Rifles and the Quebec Rifles, the latter supposed to be a French-Canadian corps, but there were less than 50 of them in the ranks. The regulars included the 60th Battalion Royal Rifles, 350 strong; a detachment each of Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers, with Army Service and Army Hospital Corps. Great care was taken with the transport. While the expedition was on its way up the lakes, S. J. Dawson organized with 200 boats for the journey west of Lake Superior.

300 voyageurs with 200 boats for the journey west of Lake Superior and so satisfactory was their work that when Wolseley was in Egypt in 1884 he sent for Canadian voyageurs to overcome the rapids of old Mother Nile.

Everything had to be planned in advance for the 1,200 mile journey, 94 by rail from Toronto to Collingwood, 534 by steamer to Thunder Bay, 55 over the Dawson trail to Lake Shebendowan and then 500 more miles to Fort Garry by boat and portage. Three months after the departure from Toronto saw Riel in flight and the Union Jack again flying over Fort Garry.

Many soldiers consider this Red River expedition unique for several reasons. 1. No spirits were carried or issued to any man in the whole 1,200 miles. 2. Not a single man was incapacitated by sickness or accident. 3. The officers worked alongside of the men, wore the same uniforms and ate the same food.

The cost was less than $200,000. Colonel Wolseley's skill and the fine work of the troops provide a story which should not be forgotten. The expedition was a trying test for young Canada, but the boys proved their mettle. The Ontario Rifles showed the gallant 60th that the "colonials" could be as good soldiers as any, even if the discipline was a little lax when viewed from the standpoint of the British regular.

Verigin Delighted With Winnipeg Jail

KYLEMORE, Sask., May 20.—(CP).— Peter Verigin, Doukhobor leader, was delighted with his experience in Headingly jail, near Winnipeg, where he was permitted to demonstrate his ability in the culinary line, he told a Canadian Press correspondent to-day.

He served a short term for assaulting Fritz Ammeter, formerly his interpreter, and was high in his praise of jail officials. "They know how to treat people. I miss them just like brother," he said. "When I was there I was the chef."

With this Peter insisted his interviewer take a seat at a table and hastened to the kitchen. Within a short time a splendid full course meal, which he had prepared, was served.

METAL STOCKS SHOW ACTIVITY

Oil and Distillery Issues Take Over Leadership in Toronto Industrials.

GAINS-LOSSES EVEN.

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP)—Oil, distillery and metal stock demonstrated today that they are not yet ready to forego the leadership of the Toronto industrial share market, these groups accounting for the big end of the day's turnover with price gains in the oils and liquors and the metals showing firming tendencies late in the session. Over the board gains and losses held the balance fairly even.

Distillers Seagrams edged up to 17¾ and at the close, around the 17 mark, a gain of a half point or more was showing. Walkers issues and Industrial Alcohol also registered narrow gains.

Consolidated Smelters dropped 4 points to 176 in the early trading but made up half the loss before the close while International Nickel was off only ¼.

Imperial Oil sprang up to 21 for a gain of ¾. International Petroleum and Supertest ordinary showed minor price gains.

Prices for the utility stocks were moderately soft, banks displayed about the same tone and constructions were quiet and barely firm.

FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

BIG MISSOURI

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company Limited have not had the good fortune of owning a large gold mine, despite the fact that millions have been spent on exploration and development work. The official utterances in respect to the work done by Smelters on Big Missouri makes it appear as though there is a good chance that this property may yet prove up well. Before many weeks go by the shareholders of Big Missouri may hear some good news.

RECOVERY IN GREAT BRITAIN

The London Economist prints this week its monthly chart plotting the United Kingdom index of business activity. The index stands at a new top of 112.7 (for March), which compared with 109.3 a year ago, 98.4 in 1933 and 96.3 in 1932. The index in 1929 was 110. Great Britain has not had NRA, AAA or such like, although she has a system of farm aid, a big dole and a fairly lively share-the-wealth program involved in heavy taxation. In general, the recovery in Great Britain has come with application of old-fashioned and sound economic principles.

presented the facts" in an official memorandum to the Minister of Justice when it opposed a new trial for Jarvis, and the Crown acted "unfairly and unreasonably" in the Jarvis trial in the absence of Pepall

The Deportation Hearing

Mr. Hayden introduced a report of the deportation hearing in California in July, 1924 when the examiner found Andrew Pepall received a secret commission, had stolen money and was guilty of moral turpitude and recommended his deportation to Canada.

Objection was raised by Mr. Sedgwick to this document on the ground upon it the Ontario attorney general's department could be subject to blame and criticism when the department had no representative at the hearing and did not know at the time what took place.

Mr. Sedgwick said the Ontario department was represented at a June hearing by J. C. McRuer. This hearing, he said, found Pepall was an alien but deportation proceedings were dropped.

Criticism was voiced by Mr. Sedgwick against the minister of justice for turning over to Jarvis lawyers "a private and confidential document on the case after petitions had been presented to the federal minister asking a new trial.

"Breach of Faith"

"Unless I am mistaken, it is a gross breach of faith to hand over a private and confidential document to the party about whom it is written," declared Mr. Sedgwick.

"If the attorney-general's statements in the document are true, I don't see why it should be private and confidential," retorted Mr. Hayden.

"We are not trying the good faith of the minister at Ottawa," Mr. Roebuck interjected.

Mr. Hayden said Pepall was first tried in Canada in 1925.

When he gave evidence he was prevented from coming to Canada during the Jarvis trial.

The only way he could have come to Canada, Hayden quoted Pepall as saying, was by jumping bail or pleading guilty to charges brought against him in California.

He explained this, said Hayden, by saying he was arrested in May 1926, on a charge of illegal entry and of being an undesirable. He was given bail of $10,000 but his case did not come up for hearing until November, 1926, one month after the Jarvis trial.

Mr. Hayden called attention to a letter from Jarvis to Smith Feb. 19, 1926, concerning Bond St. transactions. On it appeared a postscript: "It is of course understood no commission is to be paid us," our remuneration being obtained from purchase of securities and their sale at a fixed price.

Mr. Sedgwick objected to the introduction by Mr. Hayden of a memorandum regarding bond transactions.

Not An Exhibit.

"This wasn't an exhibit at the Jarvis trial," said Mr. Sedgwick. "We are considering the fairness of the Jarvis trial."

"We are not considering the fairness of the trial," Mr. Roebuck replied. "We are considering the propriety of the proceedings that led up to the Jarvis trial."

In the Pepall trial Mr. Hayden said the fact the Crown asked the jury to infer and the Judge charged the jury find possession of coupons by Smith meant he also possessed the bonds.

As Pepall was acquitted of conspiracy in this trial, Mr. Hayden contended his evidence on the same point, if introduced in the Jarvis trial, would have resulted in Jarvis' acquittal on the conspiracy charge

FOX OBJECTS TO ADOPTION.

BELLEVILLE. — The cat, owned by Mrs. A. McGeechnie, gave birth to four kittens and then left the McGeechnie household. Early next morning it returned, half carrying, half dragging a snarling, cross-tempered fox. Despite pussy's attempt to humor the foster-child the fox did not take kindly to new life, and found itself in a cage on a fox farm.

DIFFERENT ANGLES.

VIENNA. — A husband's petition for divorce on the ground his wife wouldn't take a bath as frequently as he thought proper was rejected by a Vienna district court.

The decree was granted, however, on the wife's petition her husband had humiliated her before relatives and friends.

BEATTY STATES RAILWAY STAND

ditions. I have said it would take five years to complete bringing the railways under unified management which, not amalgamation, is what I suggest.. After that I believe we can save $75,000,000 a year on a normal traffic volume, taking the year 1930 as a normal traffic base. The Minister in his address certainly predicted a return to that level."

"This third question enquires about the division of the savings to be made by amalgamation. The savings made by unified management, after each property has paid its owners net earnings equal to those which would have resulted in the properties continued to operate independently, would be divided on an agreed basis, with at least one-half going to owners of the National railways.

"His fourth question is 'How much capital expenditure will be necessary to effect the physical union of the railways, such as the uniting of terminals, and how will it be raised?' Capital expenditures would be made only where adequate savings would result. . . . The method of financing these expeditures . . . would be part of the unification agreement.

No Answer

"Fifth question begins, 'If the Canadian National is to be absorbed by the Canadian Pacific, how much of the present deficit of $50,000,000 is Canadian Pacific to absorb?' Any idea that Canadian National is to be absorbed by C.P.R. is not part of my suggestion, so I need not answer that question.

"The sixth question enquires what guarantees are to be given the owners of Canadian Pacific securities if Canadian Pacific is brought under government ownership? Neither government ownership of the Canadian Pacific nor guarantee of its securities is a part of my plan."

"The seventh question asks if 'in case of amalgamation will the Canadian Pacific put in all its assets, or only part of them?' Amalgamation is not a description of my plan. Earnings each company would draw out of the operated property would depend upon the assets and earning power which would be put in. I have already stated we would be prepared to put in all those assets which now form part of our transportation system, subject to such modifications as might be mutually agreed upon."

Care With 'Abandonment'

In answers to the eighth and ninth questions the president gave his assurance "care will be used" regarding abandonment which he said would not be considered where they would "deprive communities of reasonable access to transportation" and that compensation would be made in "individual cases on their merits" to those who have located at railway terminals, shops or towns.

"The tenth question," he added, "is 'as the estimated saving necessarily must be made out of railway operating and maintenance expenses, and as from 60 to 65 percent of such expenses are made up of labor, what provision is proposed to provide for those displaced wage earners?' I have repeatedly said the ordinary turn-over of railway labor would, in a short time, take care of most of this. If necessary, some savings of unified management could be devoted to compensation for labor displaced."

Mr. Beatty declared Hon. W. D. Euler of Kitchener displayed a willingness to discuss the problem in the light of realities, and sketched the outline of a possible alternative to my proposal.

"The country, I believed, would like to have him pursue his exploration of the subject, and to have the benefit of his final conclusions," Mr. Beatty added.

HEAVY CHANGES IN GOLD GROUP

Hollinger, Little Long Lac, Siscoe and Macassa Draw Attention.

BASE METALS FIRM.

TORONTO, May 20 (CP)—Quotations on the gold shares went through a period of adjustments today with action heavy in Hollinger, Little Long Lac, Siscoe, Macassa, Central Patricia and McWatters, some weakening and others advancing. Silvers dipped at the opening and again in the late trading to close slightly lower, while base metals maintained a generally firm tone. Hollinger was the outstanding weak spot, selling for a time below the $15 mark a new low for the year.

Lower prices for spot silver was a drag on both silver and base metal shares. After touching $41, Noranda weakened to close practically unchanged, and Sherritt, Base Metals Corporation and Pend Oreille dropped 1 to 3 cents each, and Big Missouri, Coast Copper and Mining Corporation were firm to strong.

Lake Shore eased back 60 cents to $54, while the other big golds held steady. Little Long Lac touched 6.15, then dropped to 5.55, recovering to around 5.75 to show a loss of about 20 cents net at the close.

KING WELCOMES PREMIER BACK

Tribute To Perley.

The Liberal leader also paid tribute to Sir George Perley, who acted as Prime Minister during Mr Bennett's absence referring to his long public service to Canada.

Full concurrence in the sentiments expressed by Mr. King was voiced by Robert Gardiner (U.F.A., Acadia). He spoke for the Farmer-Labor group and declared all its members were delighted to see Mr. Bennett back and to know his health was improved. A roar of applause from all sides of the House greeted Mr. Bennett as he rose to reply. He thanked Mr. King and Mr. Gardiner and said he was grateful for the prayers of a multitude of people. Such expressions had convinced him of the soundness and sincerity of the religious convictions of the people of Canada.

These expressions with the great mass of telegrams and flowers sent to him almost convinced him it was not a bad thing to be ill.

It was clear he had overdone things in his work, said Mr. Bennett and, though he regretted it, if he had to go through the same years again he did not see how he could avoid overworking himself again.

Leadership Still in Air.

OTTAWA, May 20. — (CP).— Questions of future leadership of the government and the Conservative party were discussed only in a general way at the Cabinet Council held to-day and no official information was available at the close of the meeting. Whether Mr. Bennett will continue as leader or retire to take the rest his physicians advise, may not be decided for a week or two.

Numerous matters of Government concern were before the ministers, including the situation in Vancouver, where unemployed disorders have brought requests from Mayor G. G. McGeer for immediate Federal Government action toward meeting the demands of the workless. No decision was reached on this point to-day.

Mr. Bennett gave a brief account of his progress back to health and his activities abroad during the King's Jubilee.

It was learned definitely the questions of Mr. Bennett's retirement and the necessary party reorganization that would follow, were as far from solution as at any time since the possibility of such action became apparent. The Prime Minister seemed a little tired after his morning's activities.

No Nickel Embargo.

A committee of departmental officials is studying exports of nickel from Canada, Premier Bennett told the House.

At the same time, he indicated the Government had no intention of placing an embargo against nickel exports on the grounds they were being used for war purposes.

The committee was seeking information from Japan and from the League of Nations economic authorities as to the extent of this use and a sincere effort was being made to find a satisfactory adjustment which would be fair both to Canadian enterprise and to Japan.

NORANDA STAKES GROUND ADJOINING GILMOUR MINES

R. J. Farquharson, M.E., consulting engineer for Gilmour Gold Syndicate, was in Toronto for a day this week, and he reports that Noranda has staked ground adjoining Gilmour's property in Hastings County, south-eastern Ontario. He also states that work on the mill building will commence this week. The concrete foundation for cellar and heavy machinery is now completed, and the syndicate expects to have the mill turning over about midsummer. Dewatering will also be under way at about that time.

SOMERVILLE ELIMINATED FIRST ROUND

Moore chalked up a victory over Hector Thompson, Scottish star, one of the favorites, but the pair struggled to the 20th hole before the result was in. Black recorded a 3 and 1 victory over D. Watson of Royal Ashdown Forest and Innes defeated D. Turner of Alderburgh four and two. Higgins was eliminated by Robert W. Knowles, Jr., of Brookline, Mass., five and three.

Biggest upset in the early returns was the elimination of John McLean, Scottish and Irish champion, by a 22-year-old "known", J. H. Bryant of Blackwell. The score was one up, 18 holes. McLean was completely off his short game.

"I just played bad golf and deserved to lose," said Sandy ruefully after the match. He was not at his best form anywhere on the course. He took 45, nine over par, for the first nine.

Starting the homeward nine Somerville took the 12th and 16th in threes, being one down. At the 17th however he putted weakly, taking three putts from 15 yards out, losing the hole and the match.

A crowd of more than 11,000 circled the home green and held its collective breath as Lawson Little rather uncertainly knocked in an 18-inch putt for a par four and victory over Parker who, tenacious to the last, almost laid the champion a stymie.

F. G. Hobitzel of Toronto joined Somerville and Higgins on the sidelines when he was beaten by J. P. Zacharas of Formby. The Englishman finished one up at the 18th.

Parker, a tall, thin fellow, using a wooden-head putter, gave Little one of the scares of his life as he buckled down to a string of fours on the back nine, broken only once.

You will find many things in the Classified Ads of The Examiner.

Canadian Tourist Trade Aided by Protecting Wild Life

NATIVE SPECIES ARE BEING SAVED BY GOVERNMENT

Buffalo and Antelope at Beginning of Century Practically Extinct.

NATIVE HAUNTS CHOSEN

Hundreds of Thousands of Big Game Animals Now Roving in West.

By JAMES MONTAGNES,
Central Press Canadian Writer.

Hundreds of thousands of big game animals roam thousands of square miles of Canada—particularly the West—to help swell the coffers of the Dominion and of individual Canadians. The big game animals, many of them once threatened with extinction because of the many who hunted for fur, to-day roam unmolested over vast areas and annually increase in such numbers that now there is much less likelihood of extinction for any of the principal species. Guns no longer bark indiscriminately at scurrying or resting animals. The only shooting to-day over vast areas is with the camera.

Governmental policy has done much to save wild life, especially types such as the buffalo and antelope, which were at the beginning of the century practically extinct, though once these animals had roamed in millions over the western plains. This policy was followed in an effort to perpetuate the faunal resources of the Dominion, and has become a great contributor to Canada's tourist attractions. There are spots on this continent where you can see buffalo, elk, antelopes, bears, mountain sheep and other big game animals mingling in natural surroundings, coming into towns and motor camps for food tit-bits, and so accustomed to seeing humans as to have lost their fear of them. Zoological gardens have these animals, but these they are kept in cages. Canada's game preserves, open to tourist traffic, encompass over 12,000 square miles.

Choose Native Haunts.

These game preserves were picked mainly because they were the stamping grounds of much wild life. Nemiskam and Wawaskesy antelope preserves in southern Alberta are recent examples of this policy. Here herds of wild antelope were located. There were no antelopes in nearby sections, and so as late as 1922 these two areas, one of eight square miles and the other 54 square miles, were fenced in and set aside as antelope preserves.

In addition to big game, the preserves teem with smaller fur-bearing animals, as beaver, weasels, marten, muskrat, mink, otter and badger. Coyotes, cougars and lynx, while classed as predatory animals, are abundant also in the game preserves. Bird life from the smallest to the heron species are to be found in the preserves, while game fish of all kinds are naturally or artificially located in the streams and lakes of the areas, and are the only species of game allowed to be caught.

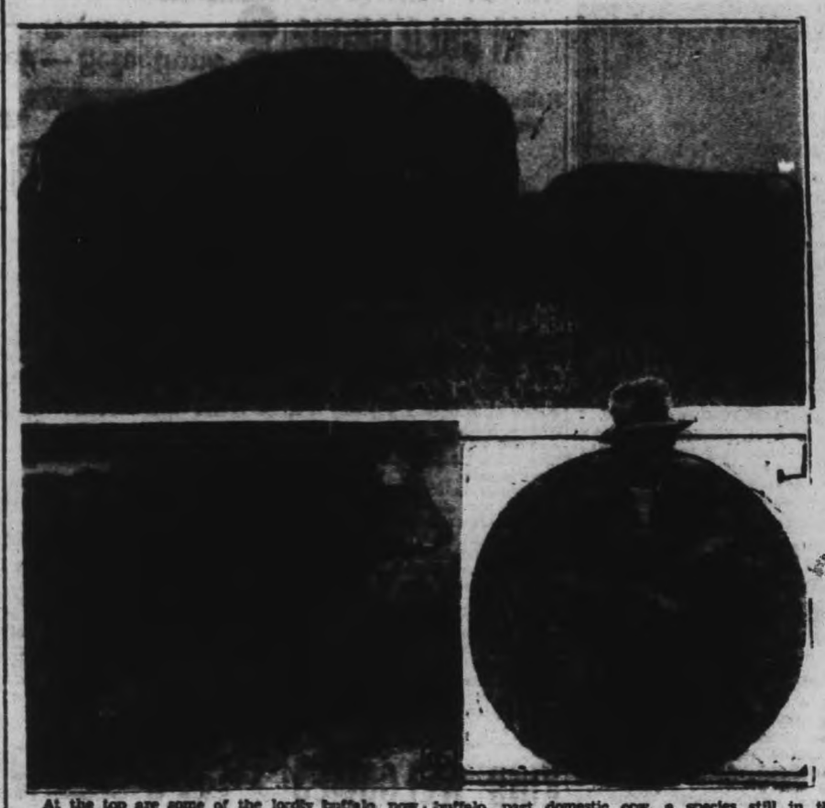
To more safely preserve the innumerable animals in these areas telephone lines connect ranger cabins, roads have been built through the bush, vigilant fire control systems are in use, and a check is kept on every one who enters these game sanctuaries. Millions of dollars have been spent since the first game preserve was opened in 1885 with Banff, Alberta, as central headquarters, and to-day the Dominion is reaping a harvest from its early policy of game preservation in the development of a tourist trade to these areas.

Try New Type.

Among the interesting animals to be found in some parks are the yak and the cattalo, neither of which are native to Canada. The yak was imported from Siberia to aid in developing the cattalo, and the latter animal is a mixture of buffalo and domestic cow. The yak is the intermediary animal in the breeding of this new strain for northern farms, and while the experiment has been going on for some years, it has not been possible as yet to rear a male cattalo to maturity. When that is accomplished the cattalo experiment will be fully successful and the cattalo established as a new Canadian species. Meanwhile, scientists are working on the problem at Buffalo National Park, near Wainwright, Alberta.

The principal game preserves are Glacier, Kootenay, Revelstoke and Yoko in eastern British Columbia; Banff, Buffalo, Elk Island, Jasper, Nemiskam, Waterton Lakes and Wawaskesy in Alberta; Prince Albert in Saskatchewan, and Riding Mountain in Manitoba.

15,000 Buffalo Have Sprung From Herd Of 700



At the top are some of the lordly buffalo, now part of the herd of 6,000 in the national park at Wainwright, Alberta. The 15,000 buffalo now in Canada were built up from 700 originally purchased by the Dominion to save this once innumerable race from extinction. Left, a specimen of the cattle—part buffalo, part domestic cow, a species still in the process of experimentation. It is hoped to produce an animal combining the rugged qualities of the wild buffalo with the milk and meat possibilities of domestic cattle. Right, a young deer in its native haunts making friends with a northern Ontario naturalist.

He had been confined to his home on Queen street for a few days with a severe cold, but, early in the week he suffered a heart attack which resulted in his death.

Mr. Jarrett was a native of Kent, England, where he was born sixty-one years ago, but he moved to Canada as a boy with his parents. MANY WITNESSED IMMERSION SERVICE

Full Gospel Pentecostal Church is Filled to Capacity For Service.

A unique immersion service was conducted on Sunday night at the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church by Rev. George A. Chambers, the local pastor, which was witnessed by an attendance filling the church to capacity, numbering between four and five hundred.

The fifteen-piece orchestra played several numbers while the congregation was gathering after which Miss D. Spring led the worshippers in an inspiring song service. The message of the evening was delivered by the pastor's assistant, Miss Agnes MacDonald, speaking from the first chapter of the Book of Ruth.

Rev. Chambers then addressed the congregation for a few minutes on the subject of Water Baptism, basing his remarks on the 6th of Romans and other portions of Scripture showing the significance of this ordinance. Mr. Chambers said it was never intended by God as an ordinance for admission into church membership, nor had any church member who had never been born again any Scriptural right to the ordinances of baptism or the Lord's Supper any more than any other sinner outside the church, and is only to be observed by those who through repentance had a personal knowledge of their sins forgiven.

At the close of the pastor's remarks, the orchestra leader, F. Robinson, rendered a very appropriate solo, "The Saviour can solve every problem," after which he led the people in the singing of several selections from the local hymn book while the candidates prepared for baptism, having retired to the lower rooms. As the minister descended into the pool all the regular lights were extinguished, substituted by a strong spotlight illuminating the baptismal scene, making it most effective and unique. Seventeen adults and one boy of thirteen years were immersed, all of whom were regular attendants of the church except one gentleman. Frank Robinson closed the service with prayer.

SONS OF ENGLAND ATTEND SERVICE

Members From District Lodges Take Part in Church Parade.

Sunday evening, May 19th, the local lodge of the Sons of England, Lodge Lansdowne, together with members from lodges at Lindsay Millbrook, Bailieboro, Orono, Newtonville, Cobourg, Port Perry, Port Hope and Bowmanville, attended divine service at All Saints' Church. After the parade, the members assembled in the Paragon rooms where refreshments were served by Bro. Coleman. Representatives of each of the visiting lodges expressed their appreciation of the opportunity to visit Peterborough to join with Lansdowne Lodge in their annual church parade. Bro. Arthur Harris, Deputy Supreme Lodge officer for the Peterborough district, and Bro. George Benton, president of Lodge Lansdowne, extended a hearty greeting to all the visiting brethren and expressed the hope that next year the district parades would be even better than the one held this year. A vote of thanks to the rector, Rev. J. D. Paterson, the church wardens and the choir of All Saints' Church for the splendid service to which the members had been privileged to listen was carried with enthusiasm. The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the best church parades in the history of Lansdowne Lodge.

"MILE OF COPPERS"

HAMILTON, Ont. May 20. (CP). Hamilton had its third annual "mile of coppers" campaign Saturday, held under the auspices of the Old Contemptibles' Association. The veterans laid a narrow cotton band along the sidewalk and passersby were asked to donate whatever change they could afford. Mayor Willson started the ball rolling by placing a shiny new quarter on the strip.

CHAIRMAN OF RESTORATION FUND OCCUPIES PULPIT AT ST. JOHN'S

Sir Henry Drayton Follows Unusual Course in Addressing Congregation.

MAKES FINAL APPEAL

Sir Henry Drayton, chairman of the Restoration Fund of the Church of England in Canada adopted the unusual course of entering the pulpit when he addressed the congregation at St. John's Church yesterday morning. In the Anglican Church the pulpit is zealously regarded as the sole privilege of the clergy, and only on very rare occasions may a layman be seen speaking from that rostrum, and then it is usual for them to be attired in cassock and surplice.

Venerable Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave, extended a cordial welcome to Sir Henry, and commented on his invaluable contribution to the Restoration Fund appeal not only in the Diocese of Toronto but elsewhere throughout the Dominion. Another reason why he was especially pleased to welcome Sir Henry Drayton, Dr. Blagrave said, was that Sir Henry's father was a leading member of Parkdale congregation when Dr. Blagrave was rector of that church.

Speaking on behalf of the Restoration Fund appeal, which is now in its third and final year, Sir Henry Drayton spoke of the calamity which had resulted in the appeal being launched, as having provided "a great opportunity for service and self-dedication to the Christian church."

A Noble Response

The response to the appeal had been evidence of the fact, he stated, that the members of the church were capable of great sacrifice and unselfishness, and he trusted confidently that the final year would show a result that was worthy of the cause and worthy of Christians.

To date, the speaker announced $350,000.00 had been subscribed to the Fund in cash and promises.

He provided several illustrations of the sacrifices that had been made to attain that splendid result, stating that one congregation in which 60 per cent of the members were on relief, had been asked to subscribe $2,000.00 to the Fund. "There was God; there was faith; there was devotion and courage—the call was answered and the whole of that amount was raised in cash," he stated in paying tribute to the great spirit of service and sacrifice that was everywhere evident throughout the church.

Announcement was made by the rector that the Rev. Frederick C. Jackson who has been assisting at St. John's for the past three weeks is to be ordained in the priesthood on Trinity Sunday, June 16 in the Diocese of Niagara. Mr. Jackson is a local young man.

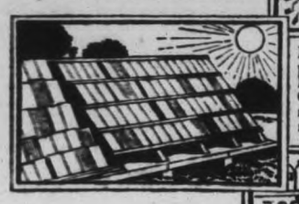
JUST AMONG US GIRLS

OVER 800 DAYS and it still looks new!

OVER two years ago this board was painted with Scarfe's House Paint and placed outdoors with hundreds of others. The beating sun, the driving rain, the snow, sleet and frost have done their worst.

Today its surface is almost like new.

The sun is hard on most paints. So Scarfe chemists subject their house paint to extreme heat—in the blazing sun—in torrid ovens under high-powered lamps—just to prove it won't check or blister.



More than a score of homes were painted with Scarfe's new House Paint under Scarfe supervision. Observers checked their condition regularly. A part of our effort to make Scarfe's House Paint better.

For good measure every ingredient is tested in the laboratory. Unless it meets Scarfe's rigid standards it is rejected.

SCARFE'S tested HOUSE PAINT

Eight years of research stand behind Scarfe's new House Paint. It is made with a new formula. Harder, tougher, longer-wearing. Covers better and gives a brilliant, opaque finish. Proved by every test before it comes to you. The best value you can buy. A standard price everywhere . . . $1.30 a quart.

Foster Home Lost In Saturday Fire

LINDSAY, Ont., May 20 (Special to Examiner).—Fire at noon on Saturday totally destroyed the farm house owned by Dr. G. W. Hall, one mile east of Little Britain. The house was occupied by James Foster but at the time of the blaze the occupants were not in the building. The fire started from sparks from the kitchen stove which was situated in the north end of the house. A strong north wind was blowing at the time and blew the sparks through the house. Neighbors formed a bucket brigade, and most of the furniture was salvaged, but nothing could be done to save the house.

Talks to the People — J. H. Burnham

The Anglican Synod at Toronto, feeling like the United Church, the pinch of poverty, lost its nerve and prays for reconciliation with the Church of Rome. When its finances were up they dictated to God, corrected His Bible and made over religion to suit themselves. They were wonderful. But now with the money gone they are gone and we are all gone. Freedom includes the freedom to be foolish and surely we are enjoying that privilege. But don't let us get down to stealing other people's school taxes. I trust we have still pride and money enough left to pay our own way. It will be milk-bottles next. No one ever demanded, as a right, a "proportion," as the Synod pretended. The Protestants of Quebec, who marvel at our narrowness, receive a "proportion" and it was suggested as a cheap and easy way out for Ontario. All that Catholics ask is to get out what they alone pay in, and it is simply stealing to sneak it from them and put it to our own use. Why the courts if we won't obey them? Is this to be another Ireland? World trade continues to shrink, but we all like pets. We can slap them about when we feel inclined, and their helplessness intrigues us. It is nature. It is also why we let our best brains go into business. We are afraid of them or jealous or don't know. At any rate we give ourselves the short end of it and are left lamenting. Certainly with Dr. Cotton and Mr. Duffus the campaign begins well here, not to mention other possibles. But the old fondness for a fool or a pet was the weakness of kings and it is ours. The people suffer and God knows we pay. Have we no one to speak for us? How the mighty have fallen.

FRANCE SPEEDS STRENGTHENING SEA FRONTIERS

Quietly Moving Naval Forces From Mediterranean to North Sea.

HEAVY TROOP SHIFTING.

Hitler Rumored Seeking to Ease Situation By Talk With Laval.

(By Charles Foltz. Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

PARIS, May 20.—France was reliably reported to-day to be reinforcing her sea frontier as well as her outposts on land, and to be quietly moving her naval strength toward the North Sea from the Mediterranean.

The move corresponds with France's action in transferring thousands of troops from the Italian frontier to her fortifications on the German border after the Reich announced her rearmament policy and Franco-Italian friendship was sealed in the Rome accord.

Within the past six months, the navy's second squadron, responsible for protection of the coast from the North Sea to the Gulf of Gascogne, has been more than doubled. There are indications the strength of the squadron will be still further augmented after the naval manoeuvres off Morocco the first two weeks in June.

Last Fall, France's West Coast Fleet consisted of one cruiser, two divisions of destroyers, and a squadron of submarines. Since November there have been added one battleship, two new destroyers and four torpedo boats.

In addition 25 submarines have been returned to the fleet. The submarine squadron has been put under the command of a rear admiral who operates from the depot ship, Jules Zerna.

Hitler Wishes a Conference
(By Melvin K. Whiteleather. Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 20. — Pinched by French encirclement, Reichsfuehrer Hitler is again seeking to-day to ease the discomfort of Germany's position through a frank talk with Pierre Laval, France's Foreign Minister.

With all exits seemingly closed by France's diplomatic manoeuvring, it is disclosed Der Fuehrer is hunting high and low for a way out of the dilemma with which his foreign policy is now confronted.

With the assistance of Joseph Beck, Polish Foreign Minister, Hitler succeeded in getting Laval into a 2½-hour conference at Krakow with his principal aide, General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Minister of Aviation.

But the Frenchman later slipped out of Poland through Germany, with indications he has no intention of returning to this side of the Rhine.

"There is not much chance that Laval will give Hitler the satisfaction of an interview," quarters close to the Foreign Minister said. "The conversation with Goering was instructive, but that's about all."

Whatever stand Hitler intends to take in his Reichstag address tomorrow, he is keeping his own council. There was a general opinion, however, he would renew his protest against the League of Nation's criticism of German rearmament, and would assail the Franco-Russian military convention.

Rev. Hughes Closes His Ministry Here

St. George's church was filled to capacity last evening for the service which closed the ministry of Rev. J. L. Hughes, after a period of almost eleven years. Besides representatives of other Anglican churches in the city, the members of St. David's Society attended in a body to pay honor to their first president, whose service and help they had always appreciated.

At the 11 a.m. service of choral eucharist, St. George's Boy Scouts (Troop No. 3) fully uniformed, were in attendance, in charge of Scoutmaster G. Houghton, and Assistant Scoutmaster V. Howard. The words of the text were, "Hear What Our Lord Jesus Christ saith, thou shalt love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, etc., and thy neighbor as thyself." A special message was also given to the Scouts. The same thought of duty towards God was carried out in the theme of the evening sermon.

At the close of the evening service the congregation adjourned to the church basement, where Rev. and Mrs. Hughes were given an opportunity of personally meeting the congregation for the last time. Short speeches were made by Church Wardens E. C. Styles and A. Knott, after which refreshments were served.

TROUBLE BREWS OVER FIREMAN

Recent Appointment Cause of Friction Between Chief and Committee Chairman.

MEETING CALLED.
A special meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council has been called for tonight, it is learned, to iron out some differences of opinion which have arisen between Fire Chief George Gimblett and Alderman Malcolm McIntyre, chairman of the committee regarding the recent appointment of Edwin Wigg, as probationary fireman.
The appointee over whom the dispute has arisen, is a son of Sergeant William Wigg of the City Police Department, and it is stated he was brought here by Chief Gimblett from Toronto when a vacancy occurred on the Department last week following dismissal of another probationary fireman who had failed to measure up to the requirements of the Department in respect to general efficiency.
Chief Gimblett is contending that under the provisions of the City by-law under which he takes his authority as head of the Department, he has absolute power in connection with the hiring or discharging of the men under his command.
Alderman McIntyre is understood to be taking the stand that as chairman of the committee he should have been consulted by the chief in respect to the appointment, particularly as it involved the bringing of a man from Toronto. He feels that the chief has acted in an arbitrary manner and has exceeded his authority.

Live News Source

Newspaper reporters are always glad to get in touch with a good, steady news source. Fred Bissonette of the River Road seems to be one of the best.
A few weeks ago one of his Plymouth hens went into action and laid an egg six and one-half inches long. That made a nice little news item. A week later the hen outdid itself and laid an egg seven inches long and the information made another news story. A third item came from the Bissonette source when a duck belonging to him proudly produced a record egg somewhat smaller than a football, more or less, a couple of weeks ago.
One would think that the Bissonette source would be exhausted of news by that time but not at all! To-day the obliging gentleman came in to tell of his horse being stolen.
"And I'll have another story for you in a week or two—a fish story," he promised confidently as he left.
"Have you caught a big fish?"
"Not yet, but I'm going out to catch a whopper."

Forced Farmer to Swim Lake Until Became Exhausted, Drowned

NEWPORT, Ark., May 20.—(AP)—A man booked as Barney Jeffries, 35, was held today on charges that he forced Bill Rutherford, 30, a farmer, to swim in Bergen Lake until he became exhausted and drowned.
A corner's jury returned a verdict, "Bill Rutherford came to his death at the hands of Barney Jeffries" and recommended the latter be held without bail pending grand jury action.
Coroner Sam Rich said a half dozen witnesses testified at the inquest Rutherford dived into the lake after the man listed as Jeffries chased him from a rural dance hall Jeffries operated.
It has developed in testimony Jeffries was waiting on the other side of the lake when Rutherford swam across and refused to allow him to leave the water, Rich said. Rutherford drowned in attempting to swim back across the lake.

TRIBUTE PAID TO EFFICIENCY OF POST OFFICE

Peterborough Department Equal to Best, Chief Superintendent Underwood Informs Rotary Club.

THE POSTAL UNION.

Speaker Describes Organization of Universal Body Which Regulates World Handling of Mail.

"My duties bring me into contact with post offices everywhere in Canada, and I can truthfully say that from the Peterborough office we get a loyalty and service equivalent to the best found in any town or city in the Dominion," was the warm tribute voiced by E. J. Underwood, Chief Superintendent of Canadian Postal Service, in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club today on "International Postal Service," a most intricate but interesting subject with which Mr. Underwood is thoroughly familiar. The speaker was Canadian delegate to the Universal Postal Congress held at Cairo, Egypt.
Before touching upon the international aspect of the question, Mr. Underwood, who was introduced by Rotarian A. L. Killaly, referred to the efficiency of Canada's domestic postal service which, he said, compared most highly with that of other countries, despite the problems that had to be overcome. As a proof of Canadian efficiency, he declared that out of between eight and nine million registered letters every year, the yearly average of lost letters occasioned compensation payments totalling only some $450 a year, while of ordinary letters only one in every 750,000 went astray.
The speaker described the chaotic, haphazard conditions that existed before the Universal Postal Union was organized in 1874, and then explained in some detail, the working out of that organization which embraced over eighty countries in the world. The Postal Convention, he explained, was the constitution by which the Union was governed, while every five years the Postal Congress met to discuss problems in regard to the handling of mail throughout the world, and at these gatherings some 250 delegates, representing practically all the mail jurisdiction in the world discussed 1,600 or more propositions. French was the official language used in the Congress and all speeches and reports were in that tongue.
Mr. Underwood referred to the harmony and spirit of co-operation that had always marked the organization and stressed the fact that there was uniformity in postal rates and that by virtue of the convention the whole world postal service became one jurisdiction. The method by which the cost of transit was paid was also explained by the speaker, who informed his audience that in the case of a letter going through several other countries to reach its destination, the country of origin retained all the postage paid, and paid the cost of the transit through the intervening countries and the country to which the letter was addressed met the final cost of bringing the communication to its destination.
Rotarian Ross L. Dobbin moved a vote of thanks to the Speaker for his most informative address.

Seagram Stable First

Yellow and Black Silks of Waterloo Once Again in Top Ranks.

SALLY FULLER GETS PLATE.

THE WOODBINE opened on Saturday, ushering the 1935 Canadian racing season with typical Woodbine weather, which of course consists of a cool wind with lots of sunshine and a dry, fast track. Watering carts were a necessity to keep the dust from the track from blowing onto the lawns and into the grandstands. The beautiful east end course at Toronto never looked better and is entitled to its non de plume, Ascot of Canada. It looked like old times to see the famous yellow and black silks of the Seagram stable finish first and third in the King's Plate and to make it a great day for the popular sportsman from Waterloo. His Stand Pat simply made a show of his field in the third race, by simply romping home to win as his rider pleased, and also his two-year-old Samoan won the opening race on the day's card. It seems as if this once powerful stable has come back with a bang.

On today's program is the first steeplechase event of the season. There are only three of these during the entire seven days and as the Woodbine is the only Canadian track to sponsor such events it can be readily seen that calibre of the jumpers will be very mediocre as it would not pay the large American stables to ship their timber-toppers over for so few events. There are more horses quartered at the Woodbine track this season than at this time last season, which we call a good sign. And including Saturday's King's Plate winner there are four holders of the famous plate now in training at the Woodbine, the other three are Young Kitty, Aymond and Horometer.

WE HEAR that Circulet is showing all his old time speed in recent workouts. And the aged Mr. Gaiety is looking and acting like a two-year-old and any day now you will hear that old cry 'The old boy sure run a grand race when it comes to copping a heat.' Direct Hit, one of Conny Smythe's string did not ship any too well from Churchill Downs and will be on the shelf for a while. When he recuperates, this good son of Display should win a lot of purses for the hockey magnate. Miss Monoa should account for a purse very shortly, when she is dropped down to her own level. She had absolutely no chance in the world to beat a horse like Stand Pat on last Saturday's card.

The Miner ran a very nice race on opening day and will crash the winner's circle without much delay. J. E. Smallman's good sprinter Quickly is in the proverbial pink at the present time and there are very few sprinters who will take her measure at any distance up to and including six furlongs.

CANADA PACKERS BEAT C.C.F. 6-0 IN SOCCER LEAGUE MATCH

Winners' Combination Perfect —Losers' Tactics Fail to Function.

TEAMS AGAIN EVEN.

C.C.F. took a heavy setback in the local soccer league on Saturday afternoon when the Canada Packers trounced them to the tune of 6-0, before a large attendance of fans. The winners' front line moved with accuracy whenever an opening presented itself against an inexperienced half-back division. Packers were backed up with the splendid tactics of A. Bromley, Art and N. Downer in half-back division. The standing in the league now shows every team has won a game, which makes them all even.

R. J. McGrath, superintendent of the C.P. plant, kicked off at the start. The Packers were in their new uniform of black and gold sweaters, stockings to match, and black pants.

Packers Open Scoring.

The opening exchanges proved disastrous through the C.C.F. not having a full quota, thereby permitting the fast moving forwards of the Packers to confine the activities to Melrose's charge, Foster delivering a rocket drive over the bar. C.C.F. settled down to close passing that failed to penetrate Denisen and Whatman. Newt Downer cleared from the scrimmage, his brother trapping the ball on the run who shot into goal, and Gordinaro blocking the ball, but Newt Downer drove hard from twenty yards out to open the scoring. Within two minutes, George Downer dribbled his way towards goal. C. C.F. defence closed in upon him, but he met the loose ball with a smart tackle that rested in the net.

Players Arrive Late.

At this point Latham and O Halloran, from Lindsay, arrived, to take their respective positions on the C.C.F. team. Exchanges continued on a never ending basis until Jack McMaster initiated some clever movements with scrimmages in front of Packers' goal. Their defence rallied to divert the play upfield, where Wagstaff carried the ball right into goal, Melrose coming out of the goal to transfer the ball to the other end, where McMaster missed the upright. Canada Packers 2, C.C.F. 0.

Scoring Rampage.

No sooner had the ball been set rolling than George Downer had the ball in the net, on an individual effort that beat Melrose as it found the inside of the upright at a terrific speed. It was evident that the losers could not get into their proper combination. They were strong defensively, but offensively they were weak in front of goal; while Packers' full backs and the halves were working in harmony when hard pressed to offset the C. C.F. attacks. Fred Dyer accepted a pass up the centre from McMaster to test Chamberlain with a high drive. Bromley took the ball up the wing to place G. Downer in possession, and he lifted the ball into goal. The C.C.F. goalie misjudged the flight of the ball, to witness it bounce over his head into the vacant net. No matter what the losers endeavored to force in style of play or tactics, it failed in its objective. From a scrimmage in front of goal, Wagstaff made it five, and a little later the same player increased the score to the half-dozen mark. Canada Packers 6, C.C.F. 0.

Goal scorers: George Downer 3, R. Wagstaff 2, and N. Downer 1.

C.C.F. — L. Melrose, goal; A. O'Halloran and G. Gordinaro, full backs; J. Parry, H. Latham and K. Mayette, halves; D. Mowry, J. McMaster, F. Dyer, J. Wilson, and D Best, forwards. Subs., J. Mayette and J. Flynn.

Canada Packers — J. T. Chamberlain, goal. D. Whatman and H. Denisen, full backs; Art Downer, N. Downer, and A. Bromley, halves; D. Anderson, F. Todd, R. Wagstaff, T. Foster, and G. Downer, forwards. Subs., R. Rishea and H. Keith.

BUFFALO COPS DOUBLE WINS FROM MONTREAL

Bisons Run Their String to Seven Victories in Eight Games.

TORONTO AT TOP.

(By Associated Press.)

From a spot deep in the second division, Roy Schalk's Buffalo Bisons had climbed into third place to-day, trailing Toronto Maple Leafs, International League leaders, by only 2½ games and second place Newark by only a game and a half.

Whipping Montreal Royals in both ends of a Sunday doubleheader 3-1 and 11-6, the Bisons ran their string to seven victories in eight games and boosted themselves into a spot from which they can start worrying the leaders in earnest.

Bob Kline gave the Royals only six hits in the opener and only Del Bissonette's homer in the third was all that saved the Canadians from a shutout. Buffalo won the nightcap in a breeze, scoring four runs in the second and seven in the third to make Ken Ash's pitching chores easy. Fitzgerald led the Bison attack with a home run, double and single, and drove in four runs

Toronto at Top.

Toronto remained at the top by virtue of an 11-7 conquest of Rochester Red Wings. A pair of homruns by Cal Chapman featured Toronto's 15-hit attack on four Red Wings pitchers. Walter Hilcher went the route for the Leafs and worked no harder than he had to.

After taking two beatings from Albany, Newark Bears returned to form to sweep a double-header with the Senators 11-8 and 7-3. Newark collected 24 hits off nine pitchers during the afternoon, with George McQuinn leading the assault in the first game and Ernie Koy in the second.

Orioles in Fourth Place.

Splitting two games with Syracuse, Baltimore Orioles moved into fourth place, a half-game behind Buffalo and a half-game in front of Montreal. Reg. Grabowski shut out the Orioles with nine widely scattered hits in the opener, and Syracuse won 2-0 in the second game.

REDS DROP 10 INNING TANGLE

Schumacher Gains His 13th Victory in 3 Years From Cincinnati.

PIRATES BEAT DODGERS.

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer).

Although a couple of seasons ago it might have been a simple matter to become a "jinx" to Cincinnati Reds, Hal Schumacher has carried it so far it threatens to become a serious affair now that the Reds are heading toward better things.

Since he broke into the National League as a result in 1933, Schumacher has never lost a game to the Reds, and his string of triumphs now going into his fourth season, has stretched to 13 games with a tie as the only interruption. The 13th triumph yesterday was almost as shaky an affair as the drawn battle two weeks ago. After building up an early lead, the Giants saw it fade away when a homer by Alex. Kampouris started a sixth inning flurry that tied the score at 5-5 and they had to go 10 innings to win out 6-5.

In addition to flinging a fine game except for that one inning Schumacher knocked in three runs with a homer, a double and a long fly and did a lot of fielding to help out the crippled Giant infield. The victory enabled the New Yorkers who looked as if they would be lucky to escape with their uniforms intact when Dick Bartell, Hughey Critz and Travis Jackson were put on the side-lines, to win the series 2-1 and increase their lead over Brooklyn to two games again.

The Dodgers took their second straight licking from Pittsburgh 9-6 when a four-run flurry against young Harry Harnstat in the eighth settled the swinging match. Brooklyn retained second place, however as Chicago Cubs yielded to the Phillies for the second time 3-1.

Stewart Hurls Shutout Ball to Give Cleveland Club Close Victory.

THIRD FOR ATHLETICS.

After one day in third place in the American League, the Cleveland Indians returned to second with a 1-0 victory over the Yankees in the day's keenest battle in the junior circuit. Walter Stewart, making his first Cleveland start got the better of an 11-inning mound argument with Charley Ruffing when Red Rolfe and Bill Dickey collided going after Lou Berger's bunt and the hit paved the way for the only run.

Chicago's White Sox continued to pull ahead with a 6-5 triumph over Boston although "silent" John Whitehead, rookie hurling sensation, failed for the first time to go the route. He was belted out in a four-run spurt in the ninth but got credit for his sixth straight victory.

Detroit Tigers took the odd game and fifth place from Washington, slamming out 19 hits and a 16-6 victory while the Athletics consolidated their hold on seventh by trimming the Browns for the third straight time, 6-5, while Doc Cramer's seventh-inning homer providing the winning run.

EAST ENDERS COP 1ST WIN

Earl Boyle's Team Takes 13-6 Victory in Hastings Baseball Series.

22 HITS IN ALL.

HASTINGS, May 20.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—Earl Boyle, the 'Connie Mack' of baseball in this district, piloted his East Enders to a 13 to 6 win over the West Enders in the first of the best two out of three for the baseball championship of Hastings, before a big crowd at the Fair grounds. In an effort to knock off the first win "Torchy" English, of the West Enders, had the McGregor Bros. and Ewell, Toronto boys who spend the summer here, in uniform.

Both outfits were unsteady at the opening, the losers putting three runs across the plate on three successive hits and two errors after two were out in the first. For the balance of the game 'Casey' Radford, the lanky moundsman of the winners, held the boys at bay, getting twelve via the strike-out route and only issued two free tickets. 'Torchy' English was subjected to a rough passage the first four innings, when the winners garnered in all their runs. The defeat cannot be placed altogether on the shoulders of the red-head, as his support was nothing to brag about. He struck out eight and like his opponent had fairly good control for so early in the season, only issuing two walks.

Phillips of the losers, was the hero of the day with the willow, getting four hits out of five trips to the plate. The fielding feature of the game went to Bonds, when he engineered a snappy double play with Ewell in the ninth.

The fans will be out in full force for the return fixture next week-end.

McLARNIN TAKES UP SERIOUS TRAINING

Vancouverite to Defend Welterweight Title on May 28th.

NEW YORK, May 20 (C.P.). — Supporters of Jimmy McLarnin for the May 28 defence of his welterweight title against Barney Ross, flocked around his stinging right-hand to-day like bees around honey.

The McLarnin right that brought the champion from Vancouver many knockouts to make his ring career one of the greatest in modern boxing history, came to sudden life at his training camp at Swan Lake, N.Y., Sunday. It flashed with such blinding brilliance Colonel D. W. Wear, member of the State Boxing Commission, eye-witness, said he believed the crushing Canadian could have knocked out all three of his sparring mates.

NEW YORK, May 20 (C.P.). — Two straight victories and eight goals to one for their opponents gave the Scottish Football Association tourists confidence to-day they might complete their busy tour of Canada and the United States with a clean slate

As they entrained last night for Toronto for their first game against Canadian teams, they left behind them 50,000 fans convinced of their class and these scores in week-end games:

ORILLIA SQUAD TAKES HONOURS WITH 69 POINTS

Belleville is Second, Kingston and Oshawa Tied For Third Place.

Y. M. SWIMMING MEET.

A hard battle by Peterborough swimmers failed to save them from the cellar position in the meet with Orillia, Belleville, Kingston and Oshawa at the Y.M.C.A. pool Saturday night.

Orillia's high-class contingent took the meet honours with a total of 69 points. Second place went to Belleville with 49 points, Kingston and Oshawa were tied for third with 41 points and Peterborough followed with 30 points.

Failure to gain the heavy relay awards handicapped the local swimmers. Two seconds in relays brought them 24 points while Orillia netted 40 points on their two firsts. Peterborough swimmers showed up well in the ladies' events, but met particularly stiff competition from the outsiders in both the senior and junior men's events.

The meet attracted a crowd of more than one hundred spectators for whom accommodation was provided along the north and east sides of the pool. It was the largest meet yet organized here with a total of more than sixty competitors and exhibitionists. The Oshawa contingent was a feature of the evening, numbering only four men yet tying Kingston with 41 points. Three girls and seven men represented Kingston and five girls and 11 men were here from Belleville. The Orillia and Peterborough groups both numbered over 15 swimmers.

Diving during the evening was non-competitive. Peterborough divers holding the spotlight. Among those who performed were Mary Kingsbury, Jean Bell, Hazel Bradley, Elda Bradley, Ken Weldon, and Vern Janeway, all of this city, and Charles Crasher of Belleville.

In the individual swimming competitions, points were awarded on the basis of five for first, three for a second and one for a third place. Relay awards were 20 for first, 12 for a second and four for third place.

The meet was sponsored by the swimming club of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. and organized by J. C. McClenaghan and Ross Thompson.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

DAY BY DAY

(By C. J. P.)

Bon soir, mes amis. Just back from a week's visit in Montreal, we have developed a decided taste for French phrases, French femmes and French peasoup. Good people, the French. Hospitable and interesting. When they argue, they make more noise than the two-bit bleachers at a rasslin' show. And more motions than some of our lefthand stickers trying to connect with Chief Williams' southpaw slants last summer! We returned as usual flattened financially and in need of two weeks to rest up. Another week and we'd be speaking broken English. But it's a good spot to visit, Montreal. And those femmes—mais oui oui!

• • • • • •

And now to return to the wars. Tonight, if the weather's obe, two Men's Softball League teams clash at six in Central. It will be the debut of Omemee and the Hood and Cummings' squads, and we're informed both outfits are strong. Omemee has Frank Shine this year and he may pitch this opener. Several classy newcomers will appear on the local lineup under management of Fred Scates. Tomorrow eve, Lillico Motors and Fashion-Crafts tangle again, the former smarting undere a severe lacing last Friday. They admit that Collison dude is a nice hurler but claim he hasn't the speed of Whitely—Oshawa's fireball flinger—and will not be so tough again.

• • • • • •

George Dormer has rounded up a classy bunch of ballsters for Fashion-Crafts and this looks like the team to take this year. However, don't sell Lillico's short. Herb Payne has a pretty well-balanced and experienced crew, including the two best catchers in town—Starr and Pat Calladine. As there is a rule against using two catchers at the same time, we suspect Pat will be patrolling the territory around short. And just to insert a social item into this softball paragraph, did you know that the same Pat Calladine up and got married a few days ago? Whether it will help or hurt his playing remains to be seen.

• • • • • •

Several business men have promised Knotty Lee prizes for his seniors to compete for this summer. M. R. Knox, jeweller, again donates a smart wrist-watch (worth $42.50) for the leading hitter here for the year, schedule and playoffs. Riley and Hickey's will give a hat to any local twirler tossing a shutout this season either at home or away. The R. Neill Shoe Store comes along with the offer of a pair of shoes for the Peterborough player clouting the most homers of the season. And the Fashion-Craft Store will give the best tie in the place to the leading three-base hitter. These are a few nice targets for the boys to shoot at.

• • • • • •

Gordon (Big) Smoke, a young Alderville Indian, six foot two, with a real smoke-ball and neat change of pace, worked out with the Petes Saturday and looked so good he will be signed for a trial. So we shouldn't be shy pitchers this year. Eddie Murphy, smart shortstop, had tough luck near the close of the practice when he took a thrown ball on the index finger of his throwing hand. It may keep him out of the lineup the first few games. Players signed to date or to be signed right away include: Whatley, Starr, Scriver, Lepper, Kitchen, Smoke, Whitehouse, Ash, Murphy, Calladine, Foley, Kearns, Burton and Cadd. Neither Konopka nor Rod Hollingsworth have received transfers here yet.

• • • • • •

At a sub-committee meeting of the O.B.A.A. in Toronto Friday, Konopka was refused a transfer from Detroit here. The fact that he had left here last fall and worked in Detroit in the winter and was late this spring getting here counted against him—although Knotty Lee tells us Bill Smith of the O.B.A.A. told Knotty that Sig should get by okay. While Hollingsworth was promised a transfer if he got work here, the O.B.A.A. didn't know Friday if he was working or not so he was held up, but should be passed next meeting. Some very peculiar transfers and reinstatements—like that of Irish Rasson — were granted. The local officers are pretty indignant about the whole thing. However, we'll know more about it all by tomorrow.

• • • • • •

Senior gals' softball schedule should be published within a day or two. Teams in are Keene, Bailieboro, Westclox and C.G.E., with Omemee in the second half. They open May 27th. The intermediate teams meet Wednesday at eight p.m. in Dutfus' with all interested invited. Sixth Line, Westclox, C.G.E., Ev. Thomas' team and Choates are all expected. Ev. Thomas is calling a meeting for tonight at eight o'clock at 409 Walton Street and invites all girls wanting to try out with his intermediate squad. It will be named later. The various damsels' outfits are practising hard now in preparation for a big season.

• • • • • •

There were 65 swimmers participating in the swim meet at the 'Y' here Saturday e'en, including Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Orillia and local aquatic stars. The biggest water meet ever held here and with a large crowd witnessing some classy performances. Orillia finished first with 69 points, Belleville placing with 49, while Kingston and Oshawa tied with 41 apiece. Peterborough entrants fell down in the relays and collected a total of but 30 points. Despite this, it was a most successful swim competition with smart exhibition diving also on the program. Oshawa made a fine showing with only four fellows on hand. Many girls took part in the affair.

Up and down Sports' Rialto: An E.P.I. ball meeting will be held about Thurs. eve; some dope on the Lakeshore Ball Loop will be seen here tomorrow . . . . Belleville opens the C.O.B.I. schedule in Kingston Wednesday and Oshawa is here Friday of this week . . . . And bantam and juvenile certificates will be issued tomorrow night at eight in Dutfus' at a City Baseball League meeting . . . . With Konopka and Hollingsworth not transferred here and Murphy injured, things look black for the Peter' infield at present . . . . School Softball League games tomorrow: Central at King George, Prince of Wales at Queen Mary, and Queen Alex at King Edward . . . . Men's softball exec. meets at eight this eve in the 'Y'.

LOW SCORING SPREE.

Peterborough C.C. and Whitaker's C.C. met at the Oval on Saturday in unfavorable weather on a poor wicket and a low-scoring game resulted in a win for the P.C.C. by 56 to 19. The match was a local 'Derby' with the older club anxious to avenge their defeat of a couple of weeks ago. They had out their strongest available team, except Rev. E. J. Worral, while Whitaker's were—and will be handicapped by the loss of two good men in F. Jefferson and G. Colbran who have left the city. Whitaker's batted first and made a disastrous start against the bowling of Rowe and Lawrence, losing five wickets for five runs, all by Hamilton;; T. Jones was top scorer with six and with seven extras the total reached 19. Rowe had five wickets for eight. Lawrence three for four and Dyer two for none and of 20 over bowled 15 were maidens.

On Peterborough going in Binks batted steadily for eleven the only double figure innings of the afternoon. The match was won with three men out and number of small scores took the total to 56. SCOUT NEWS

With the rally in Ottawa last Saturday, Ontario's Scouts said "Good-bye" to the Chiefs as they left Ontario, and they are now in the Province of Quebec. They left for Montreal to-day and with them they carry the best wishes of thousands of Ontario Scouts and Guides who attended the rallies held in five Ontario centres.

The Chief's visit to Ontario has been a march of triumph, capturing the hearts of the thousands of boys and girls who are in the movement.

Their first Ontario stop was in Fort William and later in Sudbury. Then to Toronto on May 11th for two huge rallies, where half a dozen special trains, buses and trucks brought 5,000 out-of-town Scouts and Guides to the rally, and with the 8,000 Scouts from Toronto marvelled at the excellence of the program.

On Tuesday last, in London, Ont., again about 5,000 Scouts and Guides gathered together. Prior to a march past, which took forty minutes, the Chief Scout and Guide walked through all the ranks and chatted with boys and girls and leaders.

At Fort William, Port Arthur, Sudbury, London and Toronto, Lord Baden Powell and Lieut.-Col. Granville Walton the Chief Scout's personal representative attended luncheons and dinner. In Toronto on Thursday evening more than a 1,000 Scouters from all over the province came to Royal York Hotel to the dinner in honor of the Chief Scout.

With these rallies in Ontario, Scouts and Guides will carry a memory which they will never forget.

At the annual meeting of the Dominion Council of the Boy Scouts' Association, E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., was again re-elected president of the Boy Scouts' Association. With the drive for membership throughout Canada, the number of Scouts were increased in Canada to about 85,000.

On Wednesday last instructions in the St. John's Ambulance work was completed, and several Rover Scouts will try their examination to-night. The instructor was L. Tomkins leader of the local St. John Brigade. John Langley gave an illustrated talk on the bicycle journey he made in England prior to leaving for home. The pictures showed the wonderful sights England presents to her visitors.

The last meeting of the 1st (St. John's) Troop was in charge of A.S.M. F. Ford and included instructions blended with games. A. Winslow passed his signalling and G. Pink, who passed his tests in "Second Class" and "Friend to Animals" work, was presented with badges for the above.

Members of the 4th (Sacred Heart) enjoyed a hike recently to Nassau, where several boys have passed their fire-lighting and cooking test in connection with their second-class work. The district of Nassau was explored and the party left for home with a treasure love for nature.

With less than a week, the time for the district jamboree is drawing closer, and on Friday, May 24th, about 400 Scouts from the district will gather again to make new friends and spend a happy afternoon together. The Scouts will assemble at Nassau about 1 o'clock, where the different events will take place. Several troops have been working throughout the week, putting up different archways. The jamboree will close with a great camp fire in the evening. We hope that the public interested in Scouting will show their interest by coming to this jamboree and join the hundreds of other Scouts for a good afternoon.

NABORHOOD COLTS FALL TO KING EDWARD SCHOOL

In an exhibition bantam baseball game last week in the Exhibition Grounds, King Edward School took a 13-3 victory over the Naborhood Colts. The winners tallied all their runs in a wild first frame, the Shoe boys' infield being very shaky. The rest of the way, the Colts looked good with the K.E. kids also going along in snappy style. Freeman fanned five in three innings on the Colts' mounds, with Thomas also going nicely. Todd hurled neat ball for the School squad with Berwick the heavy hitter. These teams meet again Monday at 6.15 in the Exhibition Grounds.

NORTH SMITH

The mid-week Young People's meeting has commenced for the summer months with Rev. E. M. Joblin in charge of the worship period. President, Miss G. Armstrong; vice president, Mrs. W. Blewett; secretary treasurer, Miss Viva Harris and organist, Miss G. Northey. Committees were formed to take charge of the topics, etc. for each week. The first meeting was in charge of L. Hearsey and Miss F. Harrison. The second, B. Sage and Miss E. Evans. The meetings are very interesting and well attended.

Mr. John Pearson celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday on Tuesday.

About 75 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Northey on Monday evening at a miscellaneous shower tendered Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Sutherland (nee Mildred Northey) whose marriage took place recently. After a short program of song and music, Miss G. Northey and Miss Viva Harris carried in a decorated basket overflowing with gifts both useful and lovely. Miss G. Armstrong read the address which was suitably responded to by the bride and groom. The hostesses served lunch.

SAFETY SAMMY SAYS By E. Geo. Green
TO DRIVERS!
Help to save yourself from this awful predicament by developing the habit of changing to SECOND GEAR when crossing a railroad track.
REMEMBER:
That even if the track is clear ahead motorists invariably slow down and a motor is less likely to stall in SECOND GEAR than in either of the other two speeds.

KING TO REVIEW AIR MANOEUVRING

His Majesty Will Wear R.A.F. Blue for First Time at Jubilee Meet.

LONDON, April 20.—(CP).—Units of the home defence command of the Royal Air Force are already brushing up for the silver jubilee review by the King July 6—the first grand review by His Majesty of the British air services in its history.

An historic day for the R.A.F. all units of the command will be concentrated at Duxford and Mildenhall airdromes about 25 miles apart. The King will take the salute at Duxford, which is near Royston. Elaborate plans are being made for the greatest mass formation flight ever seen in Britain.

Incidentally it is pointed out the King has never worn the R.A.F. blue, though he is chief of this as well as other branches of the defence forces. It is the only service rank for which he has no uniform; moreover, no uniform for this rank exists.

It is expected the uniform to be made for the King will follow the general lines of that of an air marshall with certain distinctive features.

When the King went to Bircham Newton airdrome last year on Empire air day he wore a bowler hat and lounge suit. It was the first time he had made an official visit to a service airdrome since the war, except the Sandon pageants.

The Prince of Wales, who flies constantly, is an air chief marshal, and the Duke of York an air vice-marshal.

Ho Hum! Just Another Aeroplane Burning Up

"Let 'em roar!" That was the defiance of the inventor, as he sat in the cockpit of an aeroplane as it was set alire. He was testing a special asbestos suit for the Royal Aeronautical Society, London. When the flames were at their height, the man calmly stepped from the cockpit and walked away, unharmed. A man on the right is putting him.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER

CHAPTER 30

In the taxi Consuelo said, "We will go to Madame Yvonne's this afternoon, eh? Stewart said I should get all gorgio clothes and not wear my gypsy things any more. He said he had never seen anyone so beautiful as I was last night. Tell me, Doug, if he likes me at all why wouldn't he like me just as I am?'

Doug shrugged his shoulders and did not answer her.

"Oh, Dougalas, you don't like me any more, do you?'

He made no reply.

"Please, Dougalas—'

After a moment he said, "All right, baby, I'll snap out of it. I knew all along it would be this way, but I didn't think I'd go into a blue funk." He threw the cigaret out of the window and took her hands. "All right, baby, I'm your pal. I'm for you through and through, get me? Anything you want of me—why, my little lamb, I'm right here." He kissed her cheek. "Gee, but you're a swell mama. Sure, I'll take you to Yvonne's this afternoon and we'll doll you up so that all the dames in New York will be jealous when they see you—just leave it to Doug. And then I suppose you'll forget you're a gypsy even—but listen, baby, will you remember that I think you're a swell gypsy? I like your clothes and I like the way you wear them and I like your hair blowing against my shoulder and I think you've got the swellest pair of bare feet I ever looked at—so when you get tired of playing dress-up, why, put on your old duds and Douglas will tell you how beautiful you are."

She snuggled against him.

"You are my darling one—"

"And lay off that, baby. I'm only human, even with all of my fine, upright, outstanding qualities of superb manhood!'

They went to the theater. Consuelo rehearsed a short encore and worked out an accompaniment to her song. They told her that work would start immediately on a new act. The scene would be laid in a gypsy camp. The girl's heart rose in her throat with gladness to think that they should do this for her. "Ah, how good it will be to have my own people about me again—" She mustn't build her hopes on that, they said, because they doubted if they could get real gypsies and might have added that they had no intention of trying.

As she went up the stairs to her dressing room, after she had been dismissed, she paused before the door with the star on it. It was a bright metal star with prongs to hold it in the wood. As she looked at it, she thought of last night, of the crowds in the alley, of the times she had bowed upon the stage, of the flowers that had been sent to her and she pried off the star with her fingers. Walking to her own door, she stuck it into the wood. Then she stood off and admired it.

The afternoon was spent at Madame Yvonne's and when Consuelo left she was outfitted in a tailored suit, a pair of white foxes thrown negligently over her shoulders, a chic little hat on her head and gloves on her hands and high-heeled slippers on her feet. She wore the clothes so well that indeed she did not seem the same person who went into the shop wearing a loud gypsy costume.

Douglas took her to tea and people turned around to stare. It was interesting the attention she attracted when she wore loud clothing, but now it was not that, but some other quality more elusive that made people turn to look at her a second time.

It was nearly six when they got back to the hotel. Stewart's hat and stick were in the little reception hall, so Doug did not stay to dinner.

Consuelo paraded her new outfit for Stewart's approval and kissed him lightly on the lips.

"I'm the best looking mama in New York, Doug says." She sank into a chair. "But, my darling, my feet hurt!' She kicked off the chic slippers and curled her legs under her; pulled off the hat and shook her head until the hairpins fell in all directions and the black hair tumbled about her. "I'm so tired! I would like to go to sleep under a great green tree and just sleep and sleep and sleep." She yawned and closed her eyes. "I used to think the days we broke camp were busy ones, but I was wrong. Tell me, my darling, will New York always be like this?'

"Yes, but you'll get used to it. A career means lots of hard work, you know."

"In all my dreams the marble palace was never like this." She was half asleep. "We bought so many things—"

"I want to see them. Show them to me while we are waiting for dinner." He twisted a curl of her hair.

"Go in and look at them, white man, if they have arrived. I am so very tired I can't seem to think of what we bought even—'

"You're not being very nice to me, gypsy girl. Those clothes wouldn't be a bit pretty without you in them. Go put them on for me or at least change out of this suit into something for dinner."

She didn't hear him. She was asleep.

He stared down at her and he was angry, but his anger did not last. How beautiful she was and how uncomfortable she looked sitting in the chair. He picked her up and carried her into the bedroom. She did not waken when he laid her on the bed and unfastened the tight jacket. Quietly he went out and, shutting the door behind him, called the dining room and made arrangements to have the dinner he had ordered served later.

He sat down then and lighted a cigaret and gazed at the smoke and thought of this gypsy.

When Consuelo came out to dinner she was fresh and rosy and thought it a good joke that she had gone to sleep while her sweetheart waited. She laughed and joked with him and would take nothing he said seriously until he remarked that he had made arrangements with one of the finest dancing masters for her to take lessons.

"Now you are crazy, white man!'

They quarreled. Stewart threatened to send back all of the clothes she had bought. Consuelo told him to take them back—gorgio clothes they were, not fit for a gypsy. Stewart told her she'd never be able to do anything but gypsy dances if she didn't take lessons. Consuelo flew into a rage. It was Ann who stopped them by warning Consuelo that she must get dressed or she would be late for her dance. The girl hurried into her clothes and flung angry words through the bedroom door.

But Stewart won this first battle between them.

"Listen, white man," came through the door, "I will take those hated dancing lessons but mind you I will learn nothing but the dances that woman, that L'Ville does, and then when I have learned them I will take her place—she who dares to say I can't dance!'

He could not see how angry she was and he smiled to himself to think of the gypsy taking L'Ville's place. The smile turned to a grin. The gypsy didn't know that she was already edging in on Louise. Didn't know that this dinner they had eaten together was so much like the endless dinners he had had with Louise. When the gypsy found out—but then, he'd see to it that the gypsy didn't find out.

THE STARS SAY . . .

For Tuesday, May 21

A particularly lively and eventful day is forecast by the dominant lunar transits. This excitement and probable upheaval, having a far-reaching effect on all future interests and destinies may be bound up in private affairs as well as business affairs. Combines, mergers, secret societies or diplomatic relations seem involved, although the romantic touch is outstanding.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very adventurous, exciting and probably romantic year, with much stirring of far-reaching influence on life, both business and private. Travel, change, relations with large or secret bodies or diplomatic circles are presaged. But these high advantages may be negatived by reckless, indulgent or contentious conduct.

A child born on this day may be adventurous, romantic, enterprising and progressive, but its private indulgences may defeat it.

it's FINE either way!

It's so handy to have a package of Kellogg's All-Bran in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a wholesome ingredient in your muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

Kellogg's All-Bran supplies "bulk" to aid regular habits. All-Bran is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct common constipation, due to insufficient bulk in the diet. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" of All-Bran does not break down during digestion as does that of leafy vegetables, and is therefore more effective for furnishing the needed "bulk." It is a delicious laxative food . . . far better than patent medicines.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

NORTHERN LOG DRIVES STILL RETAIN THRILLS FOR HARDY LUMBERMEN

Machines Have Not Removed Excitement From Spring Operations.

DANGEROUS OPERATIONS.

By JAMES MONTAGNES.
Central Press Canadian Writer.

OTTAWA, May 20.—Close shaves with death are still the order of the day in northern logging camps. Not long ago during the spring drive in Northern Ontario, a boom pole 34 feet long became jammed in the middle of a chute over which logs were passing to avoid the boiling water and rocks of a rapids. The foreman ordered the upper chute gate closed, but the water continued to race through. He ran down the side of the chute to where the log had jammed, pried at it with a peavie, but could not budge it. Then he slipped, fell head first into the water. He was caught under the jammed boom log, his head near the bottom of the chute in six feet of water. The chute gateman ran down the side to help. He pried with his peavie, hooked it around the boom chain, was able to loosen it. Down the boom log raced towards the end of the chute, dragging the foreman with it. The gateman raced alongside on the sloping side of the chute. Just as the big log left the chute for open water, the gateman grabbed the foreman's legs, pulled him out of the water, unconscious, but still alive.

Thrills Still Present.

Machines have entered the logging business, and the danger of death has lessened in this colorful industry, which grows more important each year as the demand for wood increases. Machines today take the place of horses and men in large operations, but the excitement of the spring drive cannot be taken out of logging even by machines.

The spring drive is the culmination of the winter's logging operations. Before the timber is cut an engineer goes over the area, estimates accurately the number of sound trees in the bush, measures them with calipers to calculate the amount of lumber or pulpwood in each, and figures on the best places from where the cut logs can be dropped into the river or lake. This used to be a slipshod undertaking in the days when lumber was plentiful, but to-day it is an accurate, scientific job, for trees are scarcer and costs are higher. On big operations aeroplanes are called into service, to allow an observer logging engineer to study the lay of the land and the amount of lumber in the region, as well as to take aerial photographs of the entire region to be cut down.

The actual cutting of the timber in most camps is done by cross-cut saw or axe. Trees fall rapidly, and lumberjacks must so saw their trees that they will fall without injury to themselves or other men working nearby. In British Columbia, where tall trees grow, there is the added labor of the high-rigger. He occupies one of the most dangerous jobs in the lumber industry, and machinery has not eliminated his job, nor is liable to.

Dangerous Operations.

Trees towering 200 or 300 feet are the rigger's meat. He climbs up to nearly 200 feet on the tallest trees, where the diameter of the tree is about two feet. His spiked boots are driven firmly into the tree, so that they bite through the four-inch bark. He fastens his safety-belt around the tree, makes with his axe an under-cut on the side on which he intends the top to fall, then chops from the under side. The top leans a bit in the wanted way, a few more blows, then 50 to 80 feet of superfluous timber wavers, gains momentum as it sways and crashes down.

The high-rigger has to be firmly braced to stand the whipping of the tree as the top goes over. Sometimes he blows the top off with a charge of powder, placed in grooves at the required height attached to a fuse long enough for him to reach the ground before it ignites. Hitching guy ropes, up to eleven in number, around the tallest of these trees required for masts, flagpoles and similar purposes, is another of his dangerous jobs.

Log jams during the drive are not as numerous to-day, because timber is lighter and floats more easily down rapids-strewn rivers. But when a log jams, even the most modern machinery cannot unloosen it, and a lumberjack goes down in the raging waters with logs piled high above him to release the key log. It is ticklish work, requiring great skill. With a peavie pole it is sometimes possible to unloosen the key log. Then it is for the lumberman to get astride a log and join the mad dash of the logs down the river, or else jump to land before the logs start moving. Sometimes the jam is so bad that dynamite has to be used, and it has to be placed in exact position, with the possible risk to the lumberjack that at any time the current might release some of the logs and send them tumbling down on him.

Use Tugs Also.

Once flowing down a river the lumbermen have to steer their logs in such a way as to save the greatest distance, and for this purpose chutes and skidways are frequently built to overcome circuitous rapids and river courses. The chutes are so built that the river is partly deflected from its course and rushes down the chute, carrying the logs with it, and spewing the logs out again in less rock-strewn water, where log jams cannot occur.

In smooth-flowing water or on lakes, it used to be the custom to haul the logs by horses on shore or to pole them downstream. To-day tugs with powerful winches, are used, and they can take a load of 80,000 logs, which cover an area of about a city block. A steel cable is run ahead of the tug and fastened securely to a big tree or group of trees or other anchor. The alligator, as these tugs are called, then goes back to its load, unwinding the cable as it goes. It fastens on to its block of logs, held in position by chained boom logs, and the engines start winding up the line, which pulls the tug and its load along. Speeds of one or two miles an hour can be made in this way, and that is fast compared to old methods.

In addition, these alligators can travel overland in the same way, by pulling themselves through a path made in the bush, thus portaging rock-strewn rapids. Log rollers are used under the hull of the boat when travelling overland. One alligator recently portaged itself over a three-mile neck of bush to avoid rapids which were in its way.

Breaking Up a Nasty Jam

Prying loose the key-log of a nasty jam as lumberman drive the winter's cut down a New Brunswick river. TOP, LEFT.—Lumberjacks go to work on a huge stack of "decked" timber to start the logs moving toward the water's edge. TOP, RIGHT—A lumberjack demonstrates an old logger's trick—keeping your balance on a spinning log. A miss means a ducking—or sometimes worse.

FLEET TO ANCHOR IN LONDON PORTS

Battle Cruiser Hood Will Head Ships in Visits During Jubilee Week.

LONDON, May 20.—(CP).—Twenty-two British warships, ranging from battle-cruisers to destroyers, will arrive in the Thames on May 15 for a Jubilee week's visit to the Port of London. They will anchor at various places from Southend up to Battle Bridg Pier, opposite the Customs House.

It is understood a force of sailors and marines will be invited to march through the city. In 1909 some 1200 officers and men, under the present Earl Beatty, then senior captain in the Atlantic Fleet, took part in a similar ceremony.

The battle cruiser Hood will be one of the visiting ships at Southend during the celebration. The Hood is of 42,100 tons, was completed in 1919, and is the biggest warship in the world. The battleships Nelson, Rodney and Valiant will also be at Southend. The Nelson is 33,500 tons and the Valiant 33,900 tons, each with 16-inch guns.

Four Boys Take Horse From Hotel Sheds Enjoy Drive—One Is Spanked, 3 Escape

The day of the horse thief is not yet gone!

Fred Bissonette of the River Road drove his fine brown horse and delivery wagon into town Saturday morning to do some shopping and look after some business. He tied the steed, still hitched to the wagon, in the yards at the American Hotel on Hunter street about 10.30 a.m. and went about his business. When he returned in about an hour—no horse and no wagon.

The police began a search of the city. Two youngsters had been noticed driving the horse and wagon away from the yards a half hour after Mr. Bissonette left, but nobody thought anything of it. The names and descriptions of the culprits were lacking.

Shortly after one o'clock in the afternoon, the police spied the missing horse and wagon moving along Water street. Four boys were aboard. As the police approached on the run, three of the culprits dismounted and disappeared in the opposite direction on the double run. The fourth found himself in the arms of the law, however, before he could escape.

Grilled at the police station, the young man, about nine years of age, admitted his guilt under the stern eye of his father. Police agreed to the father's suggestion that a good "paddy-whacking" right on the spot would serve as the most effective punishment and, with the administration of the paddy-whacking by the irate father, the incident was closed.

Apparently the boys had been driving the horse throughout the morning for the animal was hot and tired when recovered.

PADDLERS PLAN ACTIVE SEASON

Organization of Paddling Section With Aquatic Club Discussed.

MEET ON TUESDAY.

Paddlers in the city who are interested in the proposed organization of a paddling section in the Peterborough Sailing and Aquatic Club will meet to discuss the matter at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 p.m. to-morrow evening. Officers will be chosen and a program of activity mapped out at the meeting.

Ross Thompson, sponsor of the idea, states that the cost to paddlers who may wish to join up can be limited to a very small membership fee. Funds for the purchase of three racing canoes are already available, he states.

The purpose of the club will be to develop paddlers who can compete in the Canadian Canoe Association regattas. In accordance with the present organization of the Canadian Canoe Association, a Peterborough club would fall in the Toronto division. In the event of the organization of a strong club here, however, it is thought likely that Peterborough, along with Belleville, Gananoque and other lakefront clubs, would be allowed to form a separate division.

A scold's bridle, once used to punish talkative women, was sold recently in London for $40.

FLOOD TORNADOS TAKE 13 LIVES

Many Missing as Week-end of Tragedy Hits Texas and Oklahoma.

$2,000,000 DAMAGE.

DALLAS, Texas, May 20 (A.P.).—A path of death and destruction was left to-day by flood and tornadoes which swept across parts of Texas and Oklahoma over the week-end.

Thirteen persons were dead, several were missing, and scores were injured as the floods and storms caused damage unofficially estimated at more than $2,000,000 to highways, bridges, railroads, crops, live stock, business buildings, and homes.

Flood waters near Altus, Okla., caused heavy damages, and at least three persons were killed in that section. Ten persons were killed in Texas.

The worst of the storms hit North, Central, and East Texas, twisters destroying business houses and home, and swollen streams cluttering down bridges, inundating farm lands and sweeping away live stock.

OPEN WINNIPEG CONVENTION.

WINNIPEG, May 20 (C.P.). — Delegates to the Dominion Women's Amateur Hockey Association opened their annual meeting to-day with Mrs. Myrtle A. Cook-McCowan of Montreal, president, presiding. T. R. Tafford of Edmonton, secretary-treasurer of the hockey body, is also in attendance.

FIRE DESTROYED ENNISMORE HOME

James O'Brien's House is Completely Destroyed Sunday Evening.

CONWAY HOMESTEAD.

ENNISMORE, May 20 (Examiner Correspondence).—Starting in the roof and gaining rapid headway, fire razed the home of James O'Brien, on the north half of Lot 4, Concession 2, in Ennismore Township shortly after six o'clock Sunday evening.

The O'Brien family were at supper when a neighbor's boy, Lorne Twomey, raised the alarm. The loss was severe and much of the furniture that was salvaged by willing neighbors was damaged.

The building was a frame structure. It was formerly the old Conway home, which held many happy memories. The O'Briens purchased the property two years ago.

The loss is partly covered by insurance.

MOSCOW, May 20—(AP)—A desperate battle in a motion picture plane accompanying the Maxim Gorky at the time of Saturday's disaster was disclosed today as having almost caused a second accident.

The pilot of the smaller plane, V. Rybushkin, said after a stunting aircraft had crashed into the Gorky, world's largest land plane, a motion picture operator lost his head, leaped upon him in an attempt to strangle him and pull him away from the controls.

"I lost command of my ship, it went into a spin, and there was nothing for me to do but strike my companion in the face," the pilot said.

It was not disclosed whether the operator filmed the crash in which 49 persons lost their loves before he became panic-stricken but no pictures of the disaster have been published.

Rybushkin said he heard Ivan Mikhaeff, one of the Gorky pilots, warn Pilot Blagin, operating the craft which caused the crash, against stunting before the planes took off.

"Don't try any loops," Mikhaeff was said to have admonished. "You would certainly crash into my ship."

Blagin, offended, as described as retorting, "I am not a child; I have been an aviator 15 years."

"After the Gorky completed a short flight and as we were returning to the field, Blagin began making barrel rolls. Then Blagin began looping," said Rybushkin.

Plows Into Right Wing

"Coming out of the second loop, he lost speed and crashed into the Gorky's right wing near the motor mounted above the fuselage. Then the small plane fell away in pieces. The Gorky's right wing fell off and then the tail part of the fuselage buckled and fell away.

"The rest of the plane turned on its back, continued forward for a moment, and then plunged to earth. It crashed into some trees before hitting the ground."

Despite the calamitous crash the Soviet was determined to build three more planes of the same type.

Tokyo, Japan, had snow in April for the first time in 43 years.

FINNISH WOMAN HAS THROAT CUT

fight any man in the house.

"This is no place to fight," protested David Rinne, husband of the dead woman. "Let us go outside."

Scarcely were the words out of his mouth when an empty beer bottle came whirring through the air to strike a glancing blow on the head of Jukkarainen. It broke into fragments and one of the pieces flew at an angle and pierced the throat of Mrs. Rinne. With blood pouring from her neck, the woman screamed and staggered to the kitchen. Her husband wrapped a towel about her neck and she fell into a chair and then tumbled to the floor.

Trail of Blood.

Sight of the blood which left a trail from the living room to the kitchen, sobered the celebrants and Mrs. Kaivola ran out to the street and stopped a motorist, Leo Silvenius, 399 Dundas Street West. With assistance, the almost unconscious woman was placed in a blanket, carried out to the auto, and driven to the hospital. She succumbed in the emergency ward.

"Yesterday was Lempi day — my name is Lempi—so I gave a party," said Mrs. Kaivola to Detective-Sergeant Frank Crove and Detective Lawson Mumberson who were assigned to the case. "Some of the men started to quarrel. One of them wanted to start a fight so I decided the party was getting bad and asked them to leave. Then an argument started in the living room and someone threw a bottle. Ida Rinnie fell with her hand on her neck."

Einar Jukkarainen, who resides at 110 McCaul Street, displayed no head injury to the police but was unable to give much information to the authorities. He remembered being struck on the head but nothing more.

"I was drunk when I went to the house and still more drunk after drinking beer," he explained.

David Rinne, husband of the victim, said he did not remember "very clearly." His story was substantially the same as the others. His wife came to Canada seven years ago. They were married a year ago last March. There are no children.

A search for Rama was made throughout the ward and he was finally located in a Richmond Street rooming house. He was taken to detective headquarters and later to the jail.

Coroner Dr. Julian Louden ordered the body removed to the morgue, where an autopsy was performed. Last night he announced an inquest would be held on a date to be fixed later in the week.

FIREMAN CAREY IS A VICTIM OF GAS POISONING

Simcoe street. She was suffering from eye trouble, it is stated, and had been ordered to rest.

Fireman Carey's mother, Mrs. Mary Carey, lives with her son George and daughter Mary at 202 Westcott street, and the deceased had been in the habit of taking his meals at his mother's house since the new arrangement in his domestic affairs had been enforced by his wife's health.

Found By Sister.

He had been expected at his mother's house for breakfast yesterday morning prior to going on day platoon duty at the fire hall, and when he had not showed up at his mother's house, his sister went across the road and upon entering the house to call her brother, found him lying face downward near the kitchen door. He was unconscious from the gas fumes that filled the kitchen.

With great presence of mind, Miss Carey turned off the gas at the cooking stove, and after opening doors and windows, phoned the City Police Department.

The call was immediately relayed to the Fire Department, and it was only a matter of minutes before the fruitless efforts at resuscitation were being undertaken by the secue squad.

Fully Dressed.

Fireman Carey was fully dressed with the exception of his tie, it is stated, that article of his apparel being at his mother's house, along with his topcoat and uniform cap.

Indications pointed to the possibility that Fireman Carey had been preparing an early morning cup of tea, and that he had been overcome by gas as he was doing so. One of the gas taps was turned on full, while the door connecting the kitchen with the living-room was open. A window in Fireman Carey's bedroom was also wide open.

A Distinct Loss.

Chief George Gimblett, who stated that Fireman Carey entered the Department on October 21, 1928, spoke of him as having been very conscientious in the performance of his duty and referred to his death as a distinct loss to the Department.

He stated that Fireman A. McDonald, J. Masters, and George Gimblett, Jr., comprised the rescue squad that responded to the original call, and added that when they reached the house Fireman Carey still showed signs of some life. The men worked in relays under the direction of Dr. Young and Dr. S. Y. Walsh until it was declared by the medical men that further effort was useless.

Born in 1903.

Fireman Carey was born in Otonabee Township on March 12, 1903, and prior to entering the service of the Fire Department he was employed with Peterborough Bus Lines as a driver.

Besides his invalid mother, Mrs. Mary Carey, he is survived by his widow and two children, Isabel 7 and James 4, also two brothers, Provincial Constable William Carey of Cobourg, Constable George Carey of the City Police Department (who is convalescing after an operation for appendicitis), and a sister, Miss Mary L. Carey.

DOUKHOBORS AIM TO MOVE COLONY INTO CHACO AREA

Leaders of Canada's Russian Sect See Paraguay Official in New York.

SAIL SOON TO PICK SITE

NEW YORK, May 20 (C.P.). — Plans for migration of Canada's 25,000 Doukhobors to the wild but rich lands of the Paraguayan Chaco were to be discussed to-day by Dr Enrique Bordenave minister of that South American republic, and spokesman for members of the Russian sect living in Western Canada.

"Religious persecution" was given as the chief reason the Doukhobors wish to quit the Canadian homeland they adopted 35 years ago. It was said the negotiating delegation would sail shortly for Paraguay to select a site for a colony, already assured religious liberty there and freedom from taxation for 10 years.

Source of Trouble.

The Doukhobor colonies have been the scenes of frequent clashes with authorities.

Failure of Doukhobors to send their children to school, in conformity with Canadian law, have been the source of much trouble. Most demonstrations against enforcement of his law took the form of nude parades. One means of combatting such displays was the scattering of itch-powder over the demonstrators.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

In a rush of selling that resulted from the heaviest general rains witnessed in months, wheat, rye and oats all broke season low price records Saturday.

Downpours were reported as biggest in the dust-bowl region, long the country's champion drought centre. The rains suggested notable fresh improvements of the wheat crop outlook, but also pointed toward new delays for corn planting.

Wheat values closed nervous, ½c to ¾c under Friday's finish: July 91⅝c to 91½c; corn, ¾c to ⅞c up, July 82¼c to 82⅝c; oats unchanged to ⅛c off, an provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Wheat fell quickly, 1½c a bushel but afterward made considerable recovery owing to more or less strength which developed in the corn market. The sudden drop of wheat prices however, forced into execution numerous stop-loss selling orders. Weakness of wheat here was in the face of comparative strength shown by the Liverpool wheat market, where there were increasing complaints of ill effects of unusually cold weather in European countries, with Italy and Yugoslavia especially reporting croo damage.

Corn prices moved up sharply after transient setbacks that were due to sympathy with wheat weakness.

Provisions paralleled the action of corn.

Metal Sales Tax Tokens Are Used As Poker Chips

SEATTLE.—The good citizens of Washington State rose in anger when the Legislature imposed a sales tax payable in metal tokens. Now they are laughing about it. They've cornered the market and are using the tokens for poker chips. "The round aluminum tokens are cheaper than regular chips," said one pool-hall poker player, "and besides, they don't click. The people took the tokens out of circulation so fast the tax commission, despairing because it would collect no two per cent. tax, printed paper tickets instead.

WITNESS TELLS OF MYSTERIOUS CAR AT SCENE

Soldier Claims Desert Hero Swerved to Avoid Boys on Cycles.

TRAVELLING 50 M.P.H.

Lawrence Would Have Been Paralyzed if He Had Lived, Doctor States.

WOOL, Dorsetshire, Eng., May 21.—(AP)—A coroner's jury of seven men today decided "Lawrence of Arabia" met death accidentally.

The verdict was returned after the jurors heard testimony the victim, Col. T. E. Lawrence, was dashing along a Dorsetshire country road on his motorcycle at a speed of from 50 to 60 miles an hour before he collided with a butcher boy on a bicycle.

Conflicting testimony concerning a mysterious black automobile which one witness said Lawrence swerved to avoid before the collision enlivened the hearing.

Corporal Ernest Catchpole said after the war-time hero left the Bovington military camp en route to his cottage mate, he passed an automobile and then swerved in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid two youths on bicycles.

Lawrence was thrown from his motorcycle and rolled over the handlebars, he testified.

Speed Too Great

Asked by the coroner, Neville Jones, whether there was sufficient room for Lawrence to pass between the automobilist and the cyclists, Catchpole said: "There would have been if the motorcyclist had not been going at such speed."

Frank Fletcher, 14, companion of Albert Hargreaves, 15-year-old butcher boy injured in the accident, testified he did not see the automobile to which Catchpole referred. Hargreaves said he heard the motorcycle overtaking him from the rear and remembered nothing further until he awoke in the hospital.

Both Lawrence's motorcycle and the bicycle were brought into the tiny vacant ward in the military hospital where the inquest was held.

The bicycle was considerably damaged; the motorcycle only slightly.

After Hargreaves also testified he saw no automobile, police Inspector Drake said attempts to trace the

Lad Torn To Death By Pack Of Huskies

THE PAS, Man., May 21 (C.P.).—Torn by a pack of bush-bred huskies on the outskirts of The Pas, Mike Seginovitch died in hospital last night. The animals were owned by a local trapper, and were brought in from the bush north of here a short time ago. The cause of their attack is unknown.

Mrs. Kryschuk found four dogs swarming over the child on the ground, and, driving them off, carried him to her home nearby. The animals followed her as she carried the mangled boy along the trail.

What police action will be taken was not announced to-day. An inquest will be held.

Former Weeps at Sentence, Claims He Never Had Chance —in "Pen" Since 16.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 21.—(CP)—Leo Dionne, recently liberated from Kingston penitentiary, to-day was given six years in the penitentiary for armed robbery and for escaping from the county jail here.

On charges of having unlawful possession of a revolver and of theft of a car at Cornwall he was given two and one year sentences to run concurrently with the other terms. Five years for armed robbery and one year for escaping are not to run concurrently.

Wilfred Lilley, companion of Dionne, was given five years for armed robbery and one year for the theft of the car at Cornwall, both to run concurrently. Lilley was liberated from the penitentiary several months ago.

"Never Had a Chance."

Dionne wept as he stood in the box and was sentenced to return to the institution, claiming he had never been given a chance and he had been sent to the penitentiary when he was 16. He claimed he did not carry the revolver but Merle Polk, owner of the service station which was held up by Dionne and Lilley, identified Dionne as the man with the revolver.

Lilley, in his evidence, admitted

EXPORT TOTALS UP $15,732,000

Wheat Jumps From $2,3... 000 to $4,288,000—Cattle $301,000 to $1,067,000.

MORE CARS SENT ABROAD.

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP) — With striking increases in wheat and cattle, Canada's total domestic export during April totalled $47,314,000 against $31,582,000 in the same month last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics announced to-day.

Wheat exports rose from $2,3000,000 to $4,288,000, due largely to an increase to the United Kingdom from $1,323,000 to $3,817,000. The exports to the United States rose from $1,000 to $91,000.

Cattle exports again increased, rising from $301,000 to $1,067,000. The striking jump was due entirely to United States requirements, the bureau stated, increasing from $23,000 to $1,004,000. The United Kingdom received no cattle during April as against $276,000 a year ago.

With the United Kingdom increasing her supply from $171,000 to $600,000, a considerable increase was shown in automobile exports in April, when they stood at $2,774,000 as against $1,460,000 during April, 1934.

Decreases were shown in exports of fruits, vegetables, wheat flour, unmanufactured leather, planks and board, copper, raw gold, lead fertilizers, soda and compounds.

$2,000 INCOME INSURANCE TAX PLAN DEFEATED

Dandurand Proposes All With That Salary or Over Pay 25c Per Week.

YIELD $1,131,000 YEARLY.

Include Good Risks With Poor to Aid Industries With More Unemployment.

OTTAWA, May 21 (C.P.). — The Senate Banking and Commerce Committee to-day defeated an amendment which would compel all persons in Canada receiving net annual incomes of $2,000 or more to contribute 25 cents per week or $13.00 a year to the Dominion Unemployment Insurance Fund. Moved by Senator Raoul Randurand, Liberal Leader, it was declared lost on a call for "ayes" and "nays" following a short but warm discussion.

Meighen Opposed.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Senate Leader, strongly opposed the amendment. (Protest against the proposal came also from Senator James Murdoch (Lib., Ottawa) who considered the amendment illogical.

"I may renew my effort later on," Senator Dandurand observed when his amendment was declared lost.

The proposal would bring contributions from approximately 85,000 additional persons and would strengthen the fund by $1,131,000 yearly, the Liberal Senator claimed. The basis of the plan was to include good risks with poor risks so as to assist those industriets where unemployment was greater than in others.

Why, therefore, should not all persons in receipt of net yearly incomes of $2,000 contribute $13 per year to support the fund when paying their income tax? he asked.

"We are being asked by this amendment to enact a new income tax in another form—those paying to get no benefit whatever," Senator Meighen declared. The word-

FIRE IS CAUSED BY EXPOSION OF COAL OIL STOVE

Peter Gettas is Painfully Burned By the Explosion of the Stove.

COOKING DINNER.

Room Was Sprayed With Flames and Nothing Could Save Building.

The dance pavilion at Chemong Park was completely destroyed early this afternoon by fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove at which Peter Gettas, one of the proprietors, was preparing dinner.

Painfully Burned

Mr. Gettas was painfully burned about the hands and face. Friends drove him into the city where his injuries, which were found to be superficial, were dressed.

The explosion of the oil cooking stove occurred a few minutes after one o'clock in the kitchen of the pavilion at its northwest corner. The room was sprayed with flame, and Mr. Gettas suffered the severe burns in an attempt to extinguish the fire. He was helped out of the burning corner of the building by Harry Gravelle and Robert Edwards of Bridgenorth.

A brisk northwest wind from across Chemong Lake gave swift wings to the flames which soon spread to the roof and to the outer open structure of the pavilion. It was reported that a telephone call for help was sent in to the Peterborough Fire Department, but the fire was left with a free hand to sweep through the wooden structure.

Wind Saved Cottages

The direction of the wind toward the main road leading into Bridgenorth saved the neighboring cottages from danger.

Within ten minutes after the explosion the pavilion was obviously doomed, and shortly afterward it was wrapped in flames. By two o'clock nothing remained of the popular dance resort except the stone fire place, a pump, and the

LAST MINUTE NEWS FLASHES

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP)—The action of the Ontario government in passing legislation declaring void power contracts "completely destroyed" Canada's credit in the United Kingdom, Premier R. B. Bennett told the House of Commons today. The government attempted to launch a refunding loan in the United Kingdom last fall but had to abandon it.

LONDON, May 21.—(C. P. Havas)—Hundred per cent increase of the Royal Air Force will be announced tomorrow to the House of Commons by Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, it was forecast here tonight. Lord Londonderry, minister of air, will make the announcement in the Lords.

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP)—If British Columbia authorities fail to maintain law and order and prevent anarchy in that province it will only be because they neglect to ask the Federal government for assistance, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett told the House of Commons today.

Cat Adopts Red Squirrel

Already Has Two Kittens And Old Gray Tabby Is Quite Puzzled Over Her Latest Addition To Her Family.

Most cats treat squirrels the same as any other member of the rat family—but not Fred Kiff's cat. The old gray tabby has just adopted one into her litter.

The squirrel, a frisky little red fellow about as big as a peanut, was found fleeing for its life from another cat outside Mr. Kiff's home, 585 Division Street, the other day. Mr. Kiff's tabby already had two kittens to look after, but, when the squirrel was brought in, accepted the new member to her family quite complacently. The squirrel gets the same loving care as the kittens, even receiving a frequent tongue-licking.

But the tabby is plainly puzzled. She can't understand why her new baby hops around like a Mexican jumping bean while the two kittens lie quietly at her side. The squirrel moves like lightning with the energy of a jack-in-the-box, forsaging on the tables and in the cupboards of the house even after it has had its regular meal along with the kittens. When the tabby goes to collect her brood, the squirrel is generally hiding behind the back taking playful nips at her tail or her ears.

Some fear that the cat will eventually lose her patience and disown the little red urchin. But, so far, she has acted with great forbearance.

480 UNDERSIZED TROUT BAGGED

Catch Ranging From Two to 6 Inches to Result in Prosecutions For 5 Men.

MINISTER ANGRY.

TORONTO, May 21.—Termed the worst example of illegal fishing he has yet seen, D. G. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, yesterday exhibited to newspapermen at Queen's Park no less than 480 speckled trout under seven inches in length, taken by five men in the Gallander area, near North Bay. The men, the Deputy said, will be prosecuted.

The trout, which in a year's time would have grown to over ten inches, were laid out in the cold storage plant at the Parliament Buildings and looked more like a display of sardines than speckled beauties. One of the catches contained 169 fish varying in length from two to six inches.

"I've never seen a worse example of illegal trout-taking," the Deputy Minister declared indignantly. "The men will certainly be prosecuted."

WHEAT ACREAGE BEEN REDUCED 10 P. C. IN WEST

Moisture Conditions in Dry Areas of 3 Provinces Best in 5 Years.

SOWING SEASON LATER.

WINNIPEG, May 21 (CP)—A ten per cent. reduction in wheat acreage, the best moisture conditions in years, and a sowing season ten to thirty days later than usual were shown yesterday in the first Winnipeg Free Press crop report of 1935.

Best in Years

Not for four or five years have moisture conditions been as satisfactory in the "dry" areas of the three Prairie Provinces as this Spring, says the report, penetrating to a depth of 18 to 24 inches, enough for immediate needs.

An acreage reduction of 10 per cent. was estimated, chiefly in the dried-out areas of Southwestern Manitoba, Southern and Central Saskatchewan, Northern Saskatchewan, and North-Central and Northern Alberta. It was estimated the acreage seeded to wheat would be reduced 2,339,000 acres, from 23,326,000 to 20,986,400 acres.

The report, based on information from 300 strategic points, was computed on May 18 conditions.

Coarse grains, the report continued are taking the place of wheat, particularly in northern areas, due to lateness of the season.

Wheat Seeding Done

Wheat seeding is practically completed in Manitoba, the reports say, and, with the exception of Northern districts, most of the coarse grains seeding had been done.

The percentage seeded varies widely in Saskatchewan. About 70 per cent. of the entire wheat crop is seeded, with Crop District Three in the south the least advanced, and Crop District Five in the east-centre the furthest ahead.

Wheat seeding in Alberta was reported 55 to 60 per cent. completed. A much larger acreage of coarse grains is indicated generally over the Province.

U. S. CLAMPS LID ON NEXT MOVES IN SILVER PLAN

New Embargo Forbids Importation of Foreign Silver Coins.

DONE IN "COOPERATION."

Designed to Halt Embarrasing Countries Having Trouble With Monetary Value.

WASHINGTON, May 21 (A.P.).—After taking a step designed to prevent a drainage of silver coins from other nations to the United States the Treasury to-day clamped down the lid of secrecy on the next move in its silver program.

A "spirit of co-operation," the Treasury said, prompted it to issue its embargo order last night prohibiting the importation of foreign silver coins except under license.

The Treasury policy of silver buying, which has led to a rise in the world prices, has caused difficulties in several countries. Coins of some of them became more valuable as bullion than as money, leading to wide movements to melt them down and sell them.

Among the nations that have experienced silver trouble are Italy, which declared an export embargo, China which has an export tax, and Mexico which called in silver coins.

Under the embargo order, silver coins of a monetary value equal at the time of entry to 110 per cent. of the market value of their silver content may be imported without license.

"As the price of silver has risen," the Treasury said, "the silver content of the coinage of some countries has become more valuable as bullion than in the form of coins, tending to cause its destruction and sale as bullion.

"A usual method of dealing with this problem has been to call in silver coins and change the silver content. An embargo on the export of the old silver coins is usually a necessary supplemental measure. Those participating in the importation into the United States of silver coins covered by such embargoes are aiding the violation of the laws of the country in question."

Choice weighty steers sold at $7 to $7.50, with mediums at $6 to $6.50. Butcher cattle sold mostly between $5.50 and $6.50, with a few choice at $6.75 cwt. Good cows ranged downwards to $2.75. The hog market was still unsettled in early afternoon trading.

Butter prices were narrowly higher on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market yesterday with cheese firming slightly, eggs remaining unchanged and potatoes easing. No. 1 grade butter in cartons or less was quoted mostly at 20¾ to 21 cents a pound, up ¼ cent, from Saturday. Small lots to retailers brought 21 cents a pound for solids and 22 cents for prints. Arrivals totalled 285 boxes.

No 1 current Ontario cheese rose ½ to ¼ of a cent to sell at 9¾ to 9¾ cents a pound. Receipts were 94 boxes.

Graded shipments in cartons or less of eggs were generally quoted 19 cents a dozen for A-large, 17 cents for A- medium, 16½ cents for B. Receipts were 1,661 cases.

Old potatoes brought 35 to 40 cents per 80-pound bag of Quebecs, 42½ cents for New Brunswick and 45 cents for Prince Edward Islands.

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 87c to 89c; oats, 32c to 33c; barley, 43c to 45c; corn, 59c to 61c; rye, 53c to 54c; buckwheat, 47c to 49c; malting barley, 60c to 66c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Abnormal scarcity of corn available for delivery on Chicago May contracts resulted yesterday in such corn being quoted at one time higher than May wheat.

Incidentally May wheat established a new low price record for the season. Heavy rains beneficial to the domestic winter wheat crop, southwest and west in particular, tended decidedly to increase bearish sentiment as to wheat.

Corn closed firm at the same as Saturday's finish to ¾c higher. July 82¼c-82⅝c; wheat ⅝c-1⅛c down, July 86c-86¼c; oats, ¼c-⅜c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 17c.

To-day was the first occasion since 1931 that any corn future had sold above wheat. With Chicago corn contracts totalling 8,380,000 bushels that must be settled inside the next ten days, traders who are short of corn are exhibiting a good deal of nervousness over talk of a possible squeeze in prices.

Bearish advice about wheat included word that moisture conditions in much of Western Canada are the best since 1928, with acreage curtailment thus more than counterbalanced. Deferred deliveries of rye emulated May wheat and sold at a new low price record for the season. Oats reflected absence of selling pressure.

Provisions rose with hog values.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 21. — Canadian wheat moved abroad more freely last week, but little new business was reported yesterday. As a result, wheat prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange fluctuated narrowly, closing ⅛c lower to unchanged.

Net losses of 1⅛ cents at Chicago and yesterday poor exports induced light selling locally, May closing at 85⅞c and July 86⅞c. Foreign sales totalled only 200,000 bushels, sold chiefly for shipment from Vancouver.

Last week's statistics were more encouraging, but had little effect marketwise. World clearances were 10,500,000 bushels, of which Canada exported 4,177,000 bushels, 1,000,000 bushels more than the previous week and the largest so far this year.

Further reports of damage to Italy's wheat crop were received, and advices of additional sales of Southern Hemisphere wheat to the Orient. The new Chinese crop it was estimated, would be smaller than last year, suggesting the demand for foreign wheat would be maintained.

Big Pickerel Caught Trent River Resort

TRENT RIVER, May 21.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The largest pickerel caught in Trent River for some time was landed Friday night, weighing ten pounds, length 33 inches, girth 17 inches, width across mouth 6 inches, and 11 inches from gill to gill. Mr. John A. Ruttan, in company with Mrs. Ruttan, landed the fish, while fishing from the centre pier, using a roach live minnow for bait.

Although natural history books limit British snakes to 28 inches, four adders recently killed near Ardnamurchan, Scotland, were each 47 inches long.

RELIEF STRIKE IS DEADLOCKED AT VANCOUVER

Women Drop Picket Duty When Assured Sons Have Sufficient Food.

MASS MEET TO-DAY.

VANCOUVER, May 21 (C.P.).—Vancouver's relief problem was deadlocked to-day. And into the activities of the striking relief camp workers entered again 75 women who last night picketed the Vancouver city police station until assured by Police Chief W. W. Foster the men had sufficient food to last until noon to-day.

With this assurance, the women, all mothers of single unemployed strikers, left the station.

The men have been promised use of a hall to hold a mass meeting later to-day to decide whether they will return to the relief camps as advised by federal provincial and civic authorities.

At a glance, the present situation is:

Two thousand relief camp strikers gathered here since April 4, still refused to go back to the camps unless their demands for more pay and improvement of relief conditions were met.

Mayor G. G. McGeer denied responsibility of maintenance of the relief strikers and warned no more relief will be given and no further parades or demonstrations will be permitted.

Stirling Washes Hands.

Hon. Grote Stirling, Minister of National Defence, informed Mayor McGeer in a telephone conversation from Ottawa the relief strikers left Federal folds when they quit camps and went to Vancouver. The Federal Government would have nothing to do with the strikers, the Mayor quoted Mr. Stirling as saying.

Possibilities of serious trouble and bloodshed were pointed to by Mayor McGeer, and he added there was a danger of martial law and possibility the coming Dominion election would be suspended. "In that event," he declared, "prison camps would take the place of relief camps and the right of self-government might cease to be the privilege of Canadian citizenship."

Mayor McGeer issued a written statement. He blamed the co-operative commonwealth federation and the Communist party for the disturbance in First United Church Sunday night when, giving the evening address, he was alternately booed and cheered.

TRAVEL CLUB CANDIDATES STAGE EXCITING RACE – SPECIAL OFFERS

Special Offers Prove Great Incentive to Travel Club Race.

CONTEST IS CLOSE

Two great offers in The Examiner Travel Club closes this coming Saturday night. The five beautiful "Aeropack" bags, the 200,000 EXTRA votes for every $12.00 worth of subscriptions and the regular votes decrease in values. Both offers close on Saturday night at midnight and candidates are in the keenest of competition at this stage of the Travel Club. In several cases less than a one year subscription separates candidates for first place in the Club. It will be interesting to see the results of the special "Aeropack" prizes appearing next week announcing the winners of the five travelling bags for the most subscription money turned in up to Saturday night.

The entire contest is a very close one for a number of the candidates and if the trips had been awarded last Saturday the race would have been a difficult one to decide as many of the candidates were running neck and neck. Less than four weeks remain to secure votes and subscriptions before the winners of the free trips are announced, and

A SAGA OF THE STORM

THE wind roars with cyclonic force out of a black sky. Over city and countryside sweeps the worst storm of the season. High above the ground, two figures cling perilously to a pole amid driving sheets of rain. A wrong move might mean death. One of the men shouts something in the ear of his companion—

"This power line supplies the county hospital."

Just a couple of Hydro linemen—the unsung heroes of many a desperate battle with the elements—and part of an organization that maintains a 24-hours-a-day, day-in-and-day-out service to prevent even the slightest inconvenience.

Crews of such men must battle with sleet, ice and electrical storms so that you may sit comfortably in your home while your Electric Range cooks the dinner, your Electric Refrigerator protects your food, or your Electric Water Heater supplies instant hot water.

Stop and think. How many times in the past ten years has there been any interruption in your Hydro service? You will admit, after consideration, that such interruptions are rare indeed.

NAZARETH, May 21.—Palestine has always been a land of contrasts. All the civilizations of antiquity rubbed elbows here. Egypt, Assur, Rome, Hellas and the Ottoman successively left their mark. This country was the melting-pot of races and cultures, a fiercely stewing and seething cauldron from which in the end emerged the world-storm of Christianity. To-day I stood in the place where a man once walked, who came out of Nazareth. He stayed but a brief moment, but when he was gone his words were remembered with a strange unrest. That was the first signal of the coming storm.

From Nazareth you can look into the valley of Esdraelon, the great centre of Jewish colonization in Palestine. This is the new melting-pot, a new human laboratory which will ultimately, as we believe, distil a new civilization. I watched huge monsters of steel, dragons with a hundred iron joints and pistons, splitting flames and steel, rumble and crash into the same fields where Saul and Jonathan died fighting the Philistines, where the gleaming scimitar of the hosts of Islam flashed in the midday sun, where Maccabeans fought. Crusaders struggled, Romans marched, where Alexander thirsted, where Sennherib led his spoil-laden hordes of bowmen and where the Twelve went with their Master talking of the Kingdom.

Striking Contrasts

Here on one side is modern agricultural machinery to remind us that a new era ha sdawned. Over there long strings of softly padding camels, primordial, silent, moving noiselessly toward the Jordan river, their drivers dreaming and sleeping on their backs, forming a grotesque silhouette against the fading light, the phantom reminders of the tumultuous past of this land. On the one hand nearly 60 villages, new settlements where a people coming from the west are building modern schools, houses, small factories, libraries and dairy farms. On the other hand Arabs plowing with a stick, threshing grain by having oxen trample upon the sheaves. Here a newly dug well and steel sprinkling geysers watering a huge stretch of newly planted orange-trees, there a donkey and camel hitched to ropes which pull up pigskins that spill muddy liquid from a crevice in the earth. Here modern, though simple homes, equipped with radios, refrigerators, telephone and central heat. Over there hovels of mud, without a stick of furniture, but a pile of evil-smelling goatskins serving as bed, table and chairs to a family of Bedouins. Still a land of contrasts.

The majority of Palestine's Arabs live in such mud-hovels. They are fellaheen, illiterate, incredibly backward, diseased, poverty-stricken, but fanatical. Five or six feudal families whose members reside for the most part in Damascus, Alexandria and Paris, own 60 per cent of all the land in Palestine. Their holdings are administered by agents who live in the large Palestinian cities. The fellah (peasant) is a tenant-farmer, who pays his landlord with one-third and in many cases with half of his crop. In addition most of the fellaheen are head over heels in debt to the Arabic money-lenders.

Buy Out Owners

The land which the Jews have acquired in Palestine at exhorbitant prices is bought from the landlords, who are known as effendis. These men, as a class, have naturally been greatly enriched by the Jewish influx. The value of the land they still hold has gone up to undreamed-of figures. But at the same time it is they who are the most determined opponents of Jewish settlement. To the poor peasants the purchase of land by Jewish organizations and individuals is presented as an attempt to rob them of a living and to drive them ultimately out of Palestine altogether.

When, however, the Jews buy a parcel of land and there happen to live on such a parcel of land a number of peasant-tenants, these latter are not evicted. They remain in their old homesteads, if I may use that word, until they have found a place elsewhere. In many cases the Jews actually buy land for those fellaheen elsewhere, say in Transjordania, and furnish them the means of transferring their belongings. The new land which those Arab peasants then go to occupy is not the property of a new landlord to whom they must again pay a heavy tribute. It is given to them outright in possession, so that they become independent farmers for the first time in their lives.

Landlords Oppose

The charge which frequently crops up, but for which there never has been the slightest foundation in fact, namely, that the Jews are systematically evicting the Arabs, is a malicious slander. The Jews, who know full well that every act of theirs in the New Palestine is subjected to the most critical scrutiny of a none too friendly world-opinion, are so scrupulously just and careful in their dealings with the Arabs that if the situation existed anywhere else one would be inclined to call it ridiculous.

Nevertheless, the anti-Zionist propaganda of the effendi class goes on unabated. Why? The answer is: they are losing their hold on the Arabic masses, on the fellaheen, who have been docile creatures in their hands for ages. The fellah is finding work in Jewish industry and receiving wages, which although lower than those paid to workers of European origin, represent a fortune to him. The fellah in many places comes into direct contact with men and women of European culture and upbringing. The contact is revelational to him. Slowly it begins to dawn upon him that his own masters, the effendis, have been unscrupulous exploiters. He begins to wonder inevitably why his masters have never thought of endowing him with schools and hospitals and why they have done noth-ing for his uplift or comfort.

When the masses begin to think it is always a harbinger of trouble for the master-class. And, as is usual too, the master-class seeks to divert the growing dissatisfaction into other channels, in order to escape the disagreeable but logical consequences of the thinking process.

Are Working Together

Before a wholesale reconciliation between the Arab masses and the Jewish newcomers becomes an established fact, as it would if no new obstacles were put in the way, the effendi-propaganda seeks to keep the old animosity alive by introducing a nationalist-Arabic movement. This propaganda was effective for a few years, but is now also waning.

One Arabic newspaper has come out openly for a Judeo-Arabic rapprochement. It has turned resolutely against the effendi-class with the slogan: "The effendi is our money. The Jew wishes us well." That is a happy beginning, promising the dawn of a better day.

But before a full harmony and collaboration between the two races, which are really one and the same race, can blossom forth in Palestine, many other things must happen. And one of these things is mixing together. The two sections of the population are still too much apart. There should be more joint undertakings. A joint strike of Arabic and Jewish chauffeurs did wonders not long ago in bringing them together. Labor has shown the way, as usual.

ADMITS DOCTORS URGED HIS REST

question of the day—whether he could continue to lead the Conservative party through the election campaign.

Gallery seats were at a premium at the opening and the prime minister was greeted with wild acclaim from all sides. His two political opponents, Liberal Leader Mackenzie King and Progressive Leader Robert Gardiner welcomed him back and expressed hope his health would continue to improve.

Hailed By House

When the prime minister rose to reply his opening words were interrupted for many seconds by desk-pounding from Conservatives, Liberals and Progressives alike. He said London doctors had told him he might recover full health if he took care of himself and he also warned the House he might not be able to grapple with public affairs with his accustomed vigo, and zeal. But that was as far as he went.

Although Mr. Bennett said he must have rest, his actions appeared to belie his words. A few minutes later the Liberal leader asked questions concerning Canadian-Japanese trade, directing them to the minister of trade and commerce. Although the minister rose to reply it was the prime minister who answered the question.

Referring to the London heart specialists he interviewed, Mr. Bennett said: "The opinion that I received is that if I were able to proceed with a certain amount of leisure and rest and avoided too much effort, in the fullness of time I might recover my wonted strength and health."

The doctors, he said, urged him not to return to Canada at this time and to continue his holiday. He felt he could not follow their advice, considering the re-opening of parliament and the important legislation to be enacted.

"I may not be able," Mr. Bennett proceeded, "to give to public business that measure of attention and that strength of purpose that sometimes have characterized my conduct but I shall do my best while I am here to make clear what my appreciation of the situation may be with regard to the legislation that will engage the attention of the House during the balance of the session."

Jubilee Statement.

Mr. Bennett promised a statement shortly on the celebrations of the King's Jubilee in London which he attended. He said in discussions with the British Government the Dominions were not asked for any commitments regarding international affairs and made none. The United Kingdom has disarmed to the point of danger, and was now taking steps to improve its defences but had asked the Dominions for no undertakings.

A whole chorus of suggestions were advanced as alternatives to the Toronto tunnel project. Hon. J. L. Ralston (Lib., Yarmouth-Shelburne) urged the money be spent on a bridge to connect the mainland of Nova Scotia with Cape Sable Island, instead of in Toronto. Dr. J. P. Howden (Lib., St. Boniface) thought it would be better to spend the money on a sewage disposal plant for Winnipeg.

The one Toronto Liberal member Samuel Factor, thought the money should be spent in Toronto, but not for the tunnel. He suggested a court house, subways under level crossings, ar slum clearance as suitable works for Toronto.

For five hours the House debated the matter yesterday and the argument continues to-day. Much of the discussion relates to what the City of Toronto wants. The Opposition claims the city does not want the tunnel. Conservative members from Toronto claim 90 per cent. of the people favor it. Opinions of Toronto aldermen were cited for and against it at length.

Prefer Slum Clearance

Opposition to the island tunnel scheme was expresse dby Hon. W. D. Euler, Liberal from Waterloo North and Ross Gray, Liberal, West Lambton, urged the vote be switched to a slum clearance scheme.

Mr. Gray asked each Toronto member across the floor if he recommended the tunnel vote was the most urgent and essential in Toronto to provide work. Only one answered—J. R. MacNichol, Conservative, Toronto Northeast, who said he had recommended the tunnel to the Minister of Public Works.

Hon. Hugh Stewart Minister of Public Works, said the development of a port like Toronto was of national concern. So far, the Dominion had observed only part of the 1913 agreement carrying out that principle.

Mr. Stewart said a housing scheme must be of general application, asking by what right the Dominion could walk into Toronto and aimounce it would start building new houses. It could not start a special housing scheme for Toronto.

The Government had no reason at all for spending $1,000,000 on this tunnel in Toronto, said Mr. Ralston. The Government should not bother fulfilling a promise of 1913 when it had broken so many other promises.

Minister of Health D. M. Sutherland said no city of Toronto's size on the continent had worse air facilities. There were several airdromes, but they were third-rate and did not have the facilities to take care of American business by seaplane or land machine.

Local Oxford Group Visitors At Dartford

DARTFORD, May 21.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The Golden Links Young People's Society had as their guests the Oxford Group of Peterborough on Friday evening. The president Mr. Leslie Hardy spoke a few words of greeting to the visitors.

Following the opening hymn, Rev. J. R. Cooper led in prayer. The Scripture reading 1st Samuel 16: 15-23, was read by Miss Marjorie Diamond. The roll call was answered by each member giving the name of a favorite hymn. A solo was sweetly rendered by Miss Margaret Atkinson, after which Ewart Hardy gave a reading, entitled "That Something." Instrumental selections by James Bailey and Margaret Atkinson; a reading by Stewart Hardy; "A Prayer" by Miss Nellie McClelland; a vocal selection, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," by Rev. C. D. Daniels; a hymn, "Tell Me the Old, Old Story," and followed with a short address by Rev. Mr. Daniels. A vocal duet was then given by Misses Margaret Agnew and Marie Ferguson, "Drifting Over Life's Sea." A prayer was offered by Rev. Daniels, and Dr. Cooper made pleasing comments on the good work the Oxford Group were carrying on.

Been Unable to Speak

"Had he lived" the doctor replied, "he would have been unable to speak. He would have lost his memory and been paralyzed."

The army physician said his postmortem disclosed a fissured fracture nine inches long extending from the left side of the head backwards in addition to a smaller fracture and other injuries.

The brother later said Lawrence's will bequeathed him an estate consisting of about £200 (approximately $900, some investments, his little cottage at Moreton, the motorcycle on which he was riding at the time he was injured, and some books and private papers.

The film rights to Lawrence's "Seven Pillars of Wisdom" and "Revolt in the Desert" have been acquired by London film productions but Alexander Korda, the company's managing director, said the pictures would not be produced if Lawrences' family or friends object.

The rights were purchased from the trustees of the trust fund for the widows and orphans of men of the Royal Air Force, to which Lawrence gave his copyrights.

Acid Stomach Often Caused By Weak Nerves

Few of the many thousands of stomach sufferers who down indigestion with soda or harsh acid-forming antacids in a vain attempt to obtain relief from sour, acid risings, gas, bloating, nausea, heartburn, other acids and other stomach disorders, realize that probably their weakened nerves are the cause of it all. ROTARY HEARS REV. S. BLACK

"The Deadline," Subject of Interesting Address at Campbellford.

WEEKLY LUNCHEON.

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 21.—Campbellford Rotarians had as their guest speaker at Monday's luncheon the Rev. Simpson Black, B.A., B.D., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Mr. Black's subject was "The Deadline". He opened his address by stating that he liked the spirit of these Rotary Clubs, especially the good fellowship that was the great part. "In a world such as ours there should be no deadline and its wonderful how you all seem to agree and I commend you for it. A man is as old as his arteries. A very interesting conclusion. Some men grow old early in life and others late. If a man is as old as his spirit, then some seem to grow old at an early age.

Too old at forty? Sometimes this is even applied to the ministry—it just means that at forty the best has gone out of us. So there is a problem for the man who has reached middle age. Then there is the point where men just stop growing. It may be at 40 to 50, 60 or 70 frequently it happens to men at 50 but sometimes between 20 and 30 years. It is not a matter of one's age, but of the spirit. A man is as old as he feels. Hardening of the arteries takes place when a man loses his eagerness of spirit or pep. A point somewhere where a man begins to desert his best ideals and his eyes no longer search the horizon. A feeling which comes over us when we slow down altogether, but why should we let it slow down and reach the deadline. Why should we allow youth's freshness to fade away and go down hill? Why should a person not try to avoid the so called deadline?

For one thing we could keep better tab on these physical bodies of ours. The physical basis of life is of the very greatest importance but the trouble with most of us is when it comes to translating unto deeds, broad principals of life and translating them into action. When men reach 50 they are not equal to the strain of 10 or 20 years ago, and to that we must agree. They can't go on playing football, hockey or tennis. You never hear of a man breaking any records whether it be wrestling or boxing because when he reaches middle life he just can't. Yet we hear men of that age say "I am just as good as I ever was" but the man in middle life is not observing sane rules of living. When men are under a hard strain, with the excitement and worry of today, not enough rest, overeating, overdrinking, the shady side of 50. The man when he comes to this awkward period of life thinks he can stand the strain as well as he ever did.

Men reach their mental deadline much sooner than they should — some men simply wont be forced to do anything new—they have closed minds—and these unfortunates are finding that the younger people are coming along on the main track with the speed of an international limited, but it's never too late to learn, no matter what your daily occupation may be. Have a hobby of some kind; take up botany, or fishing, go in for art or music, but do something. We should lift our noses from the grindstone. The man who goes around with a sad look all the time, well he may go to heaven, but the sanatarium will run a close likely be the half-way station. You'll never reach the deadline. You men of Rotary if you always keep the motto, service above self.

Acting President Williams conveyed the thanks of the club members to the speaker for his excellent address.

Dinner guests included Mayor Frank Long, Dr. Alex. Hall of Hornell, N.Y., Mr. H. Robb of Norwood and Mr. Glen Thompson.

AN IMPORTANT DUTY.

The fact that one of the local political parties has considered it desirable to open committee rooms—even before it has a candidate in the field—in order to facilitate the checking of lists and making it easier for electors to take advantage of the revision machinery in case their names have been omitted, should serve to impress upon the public generally the need of attending to this important matter.

There is to be a federal election, one involving very serious issues, later in the year, and no citizen surely wants to find himself in a position when polling day comes along wherein it would be impossible for him to express his opinion as to Canada's next government, or as to the policies that should be followed in dealing with the country's problems.

Yet that is precisely the position in which many people may land if they do not make sure their names are listed while the opportunity remains to have any omissions corrected.

After the revision proceedings are concluded it will be, of course, too late to do anything about it, so that the whole thing is up to the individual voter; he is given ample time to protect himself, the necessary machinery is provided, and those who do not take advantage of these facilities now will have no one but themselves to blame, should it ultimately develop on election day that they are not entitled to a vote.

A LEGENDARY HERO.

A hero as romantic as any that Sabatini and Oppenheim ever put into their stories of intrigue and adventure has gone in the passing of that legendary figure, Lawrence of Arabia, the mysterious Englishman whose influence snatched Arabia from Turkish control during the World War and paved the way for Allenby's conquest of Palestine.

This strange personality, who faced death on many fields with undaunted courage, but who dreaded publicity and tried to hide himself under an assumed name as a private in the Royal Air Force crowded into his career enough stirring deeds to make a dozen exciting volumes.

He was the man of destiny in the operations against Turkey, for his intimate knowledge of Arabian character and customs enabled him to bring the Arab chieftains to support the British cause, and with their allegiance won success was assured.

It was always a source of keen disappointment to Lawrence that in the peace settlement the promises of independence he had made to the Arabs had been ignored.

A queer person indeed, this fame-shunning Englishman, and yet to him the British Empire owes much.

His death brings to an end a career that would be difficult to duplicate in the pages of British history.

THIS WOULD BE WELCOME.

Motorists will be a unit in hoping that there may prove to be some truth in the report that a one-cent reduction in the gasoline tax may be a compensating feature of the new taxation proposals to be launched by the Hepburn Government.

The rumor has it that when the provincial income tax comes into effect there will be authorized at the same time a slash in the gasoline tax, which most certainly would be welcome news to the car-owners of the province who have been carrying a heavy burden.

Premier Hepburn, it will be remembered, recently refused to entertain a proposal from Quebec that the two provinces should simultaneously raise the gas tax from its present six-cent rate to seven cents, and it is said that he regards the existing levy as too high.

Therefore, the intimation that when additional revenues are made possible by the provincial income tax the gasoline tax will drop to five cents a gallon should not be surprising under the circumstances.

If this development does take place it will be the first reduction in the tax on gasoline since this method of raising provincial funds was adopted, and there are many people who declare that rather than decreasing the provincial revenue the effect will be to stimulate the consumption of gasoline and eventually bring more money into the coffers of the Government.

However that may be, the army of motorists in Ontario would undoubtedly do some enthusiastic cheering over the issuance of an official notice from Queen's Park of a slash in the gas tax.

NOT THE BEST WAY.

The story of a Buffalo man coming all the way back to Preston to face a charge of speeding, on which he was acquitted, suggests that this is the wrong way to encourage tourist traffic.

This visitor, who had been in Ontario on a motor trip, was greeted on his arrival home with a summons, charging him with having exceeded the speed limit at Preston, and instead of letting the case go by default, as is generally done, he made the return trip to Ontario and faced trial, with the result that the magistrate declared him not guilty of the offence.

The first thought occasioned by this story is that the authorities used very poor judgment in taking action against a visitor from another country on what must have been weak evidence.

The second is that, while tourists cannot expect to be allowed to turn our highways into speedways or to drive in reckless disregard of our traffic laws, there should be some more direct way of dealing with offenders than merely to take the number of the car and then mailing a summons to the motorist's home address, which compels him either to plead guilty or to go to the trouble and expense of the long journey back to defend himself.

The same condition, of course, applies to our own motorists, who have found themselves faced with the problem of deciding whether it would be better to make a long trip to some other municipality in Ontario to face a speeding charge or to let the thing go by default and cheerfully pay the fine and costs.

The Kingston Whig-Standard charges this practice is a racket with some municipalities, and perhaps it is not far wrong in that complaint.

THE OLD SCHOOL DESK.

The Easter vacation is the time when thoughts turn to education. The Ontario Educational Association convention usually attracts many individuals who are interested in moulding youth so that the rising generation be better equipped mentally to fit in the present scheme of things. Probably there will be reminiscences. And who is there who doesn't at times like to recall school days?

For instance, do you remember the little desk you sat at, back yonder in the past? Next time you are in the old home town hunt up the old school house and sit—or try to—at your former desk. You will get the shock of your life, and you'll wonder how you ever managed to squeeze in. It will seem ridiculously small, that little desk. And it will impress you with the vast and mysterious changes that take place in us humans during life. Doesn't it start you thinking—the inkwell with a chip out at the top, the gum stuck under the desk, the place you carved your initials, blackboard erasers, teacher's pointer and the cloakroom where the bad boys were sent? The old school house, in many cases, has long since disappeared at the hands of the wreckers. But it cannot be torn down in memory.

It is good that we can keep the old school-room and its associations in memory, and that we can turn to them occasionally. The recollection is refreshing, for many of us left the best part of our real selves back yonder. Time has mellowed some, soured and hardened others. It is rather startling when you think back over those days and make comparisons with the present. How many of your childhood ideals, ambitions and illusions have you managed to cling to, despite repeated attacks by that arch-robber—the grim reality of mature life?

And what wouldn't you give to know what's become of those little lads and lassies who "learned their letters" with you? If there is anything more pathetic and heart-rending than the battered little old school desk, we have yet to hear of it.—Kitchener News-Record.

HOPING FOR BALANCE OF POWER.

When J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., spoke at Barrie recently he made the prediction that the C.C.F., at the close of the federal election, would probably hold the balance of power in the Canadian House of Commons. He did not state his party would win, but he did anticipate that other form of authority known as the balance of power. That is neither Liberals nor Conservatives would have a working majority in their own right. It would therefore be necessary for either of these parties to negotiate for the support of the C.C.F. if it were desired to form a government to carry on business. The election of 1925 will serve as an illustration. Liberals came back with 101 members, Conservatives with 116, and Progressives with 24. By putting the Progressive support behind the Liberals there would be more members in that combination than the Conservatives possessed, although the Conservatives were the largest unit in the House.

There is nothing to prevent such a thing taking place, but we know of no single reason for believing that such an outcome is desirable. The party holding a balance of power is enabled to exercise an influence out of all proportion to its numerical strength, that is if it can find another party which will do business with it. Being a minority party, the balance-of-power group is enabled to name terms on which it will lend support to enable another party to carry on. That dictation of policy is accompanied by no corresponding assumption of responsibility, for responsibility rests squarely upon the party which consents to the working agreement.

Would either the Liberal or Conservative party consent to an arrangement with the C.C.F. if that party did return sufficient memers to be in the balance-of-power position? We have seen that question discussed several times, and the conclusion seems to have been that the Liberals and Conservatives would unite in opposition to the C.C.F. rather than elect to assume power with its support and under terms which the C.C.F. itself would dictate. That, of course, is the written opinion of political observers and not the stated policy of political leaders.

Political leaders would probably deny it, but the feeling is growing that the difference in policy between Liberals and Conservatives in the federal district is not large. That feeling had been strengthened rather than diminished by events of the first instalment of the last session of the present Parliament. The reform measures of the Bennett Government have not been opposed by the Liberals. True, they may not have been loudly praised, but they have not been confronted with opposition or hindered by the suggestion of an alternate policy. That is why there is growth of that feeling that Liberalism and Conservatism as we have them to-day are not sharply defined. There is not the feeling that Liberalism goes this way and Conservatism sharply the other way. That is the reason why the feeling persists that these parties might merge rather than exercise the option of retaining their identity by bargaining with the C.C.F. should that organization come back with considerable numerical strength.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Sporting organizations are protesting against the new amusement tax, but it is not probable their complaints will receive any more consideration than that accorded the motion picture proprietors' brief.

It has been ruled that the old New England law in regard to common scolds no longer holds good. A: that it had much to commend it.

For the first four months of this year building permits in Canada were nearly three times as many as during the same period last year. Construction generally must be coming back faster elsewhere than in Peterborough.

Cool weather seems to be fairly general. In England it has been so chilly that serious damage to corn crops and fruit trees is feared.

The Globe is asking if any political party has a real cure for unemployment. Come on, gentlemen, the line forms on the right!

May we again remind electors generally that they make sure they are on the voters' lists while there is time to make corrections.

Mrs. Richard Dix, the mother of twins, says she's twice as happy as she thought she'd be. Still, Papa Dix is probably just as glad they don't take from the same stork as the Dionnes.—Border Cities Star.

SHOVING ON PUPILS

The Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—Just a line regarding entrance examinations. I think children are allowed to write much too young. I have two, aged ten and eleven who are supposed to write in June. I think it is too bad an age is not set, say thirteen or fourteen years. When building a house we plan for a firm foundation. Why not do the same with the children's education? There seems to be a craze for speed in the rural schools that is entirely needless. The teachers for the last four or five years seem to think it absolutely necessary to rush and push. We did not have this useless speed a few years ago. Ten years ago my eldest son wrote his entrance at fourteen and he surely is now a successful teacher. I sincerely wish the inspectors would think the matter over and prohibit them from writing so young. Even this year it is not too late.

When they write we do not like to see them fail as it seems to rob them of confidence in their ability and it is an added expense getting them ready and they usually board out during these few days.

I have always found that the most important part of a child's education are the years spent in third and fourth book work.

Your Health

by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Superstition seems to be like one of the blind forces of Nature—as much a part of man's equipment as his skin. One thinks of it as an attribute of primitive man or of ignorant man, but, indeed, no sooner is the most modern triumph of civilization produced than it is found already encrusted with a heavy load of superstition.

I have striven for twenty years with the superstition that eating food cooked in aluminum cooking utensils is harmful. There is not a single shadow of a fact to substantiate it, yet people once hearing it from the lips of some ignorant corner store philosopher, cling to it against the advice of the best informed chemists and nutrition experts in the world. And thus they cheat themselves out of an inexpensive and convenient metal for cooking purposes. Such ideas act like a foreign body in the stream of consciousness; every thought impinges against them. The sort of evidence I get on the subject is that somebody's pet goat refused to drink milk out of an aluminum pan: so the goat's instinct is better than the exact knowledge of the professor of chemistry at Harvard.

Here is the airplane. That is modern enough so that you would think it would be free from any associations that belong to the cave man period. But I find there is a deeply rooted idea that if the mother of an unborn child goes up in an airplane, the baby will be born deaf and dumb. I am not advocating airplane rides for prospective mothers, mind you, but what nonsense.

Superstitutions Never Die

And those things never die. There is always somebody to repeat them. Think of the misery that has been caused by the idea that children can be marked by something the mother does or something that happens to her. What utter rot. The only connection between the mother and the unborn child is the exchange of gases and nutritious material through a membrane. How could an injury to the mother's left arm possibly be communicated to the child's left arm?

Not only is it not theoretically possible, but there are billions of instances to prove, that it is not true. The people now living in the United State spent, if the time is totalled up, a billion years inside their mothers. Now, suppose a person lived a billion years. That would go back to the time when the earth was largely gaseous. Don't you think plenty of things could happen to that person during that billion years? Don't you think plenty of things happened to all mothers while they were carrying us? Yet there are very few "marks" to show for it.

And yet people will pay no attention to the possibility of really marking their children. Instance the recent marriage of the Infanta of Spain. She knows—the whole world knows—that she carries an hereditary taint likely to mark her sons with a horrible and crippling disease. She saw it in her own brothers. The disease wrecked the Russian empire and the Spanish monarchy. Yet she deliberately runs the risk of dumping a new load of hemophiliacs into the world. She is a woman trained to exercise self-control and denial. But even when her example is one that will be seen by everyone, she deliberately sets herself against laws far more inexorable than the laws of any church—the laws of Nature. No wonder men got rid of kings.

He was not asked to plead and no evidence was adduced. It is alleged a drunken brawl took place at the accused home late Saturday night and Mrs. Abbott was injured.

THE BROWSER

Along come a couple of hot days and the Browser collapses. Can't read good books, doesn't want to read them, MUST read something because he is so incurably a bookworm and therefore flees to trash. ....But even in hot weather he finds it pleasant to recollect in humidity the pleasures that were his in more stimulating weather... So his memory goes back to those two Maine novels the Macmillan people have published: Rachel Field's "Time Out of Mind" and Gladys Hasty Carroll's "A Few Foolish Ones"....Two good books, not of the hard-boiled proletarian school (but please don't misunderstand the Browser; he likes that hard, crisp school of writing, too) ....The books have some similarity. The heroine of each is named Kate. Neither Kates marries. Each is left alone at the end. But Rachel Field's Kate's Jake was a lumbering lad who thought more of collecting pieces of land than he did of her. While Mrs. Carroll's Kate's Stephen thought less of her than he did of wandering the earth collecting frail bits of experience. So the first Kate is the servant of her love, while the other Kate is mistress of herself. (Not Kate and duplicate, you see).....Time Out of Mind" is being highly praised. "A Few Foolish Ones" may not meet with such critical approval. But it pleases the Browser more.

He prefers the people in it, and he leans more toward Mrs. Carroll's way of writing. Take this sample: "Foolish ones, Gus called the birds, these left behind when all the rest had flown off to some place where picking was easier than here. Tough little fellows; they dipped and soared as if it were summer, or bit and tore at the bushes in a frenzy of industry, or sat dully on an icy branch with foot tucked in among their feathers, depending on the kind of spirit they had. Foolish ones, perhaps, to hang on here, the few of them alone, just because this was the place they had pricked the shell; but they seemed to be making out." ....Very nice, don't you think?

The Browser is here in the heat, peeking at a typewriter—another foolish one—but that Ernest Hemingway had finished another book and has gone fishing again, the smarty.....Christopher Morley's "Hasta La Vista: or a Postcard from Peru" is a pleasant thing. He boasts he didn't fly over the Andes or acquire any new opinions on the Inca civilization....One fellow applied for a Houghton-Mifflin literary fellowship so he can write "A Book on Human Relations: How to Meet the Confusions and Perplexities of Day-to-Day Living." He wants to quit his job, leave his wife and live in Mexico, thus severing instead of meeting his confusions and perplexities....No good fellowship in him; therefore no fellowship....If he does go to Mexico he should take along Frances Toor's "Spanish for Your Mexican Visit" (Frances Toor Studios, Apartado 1994, Mexico City). A small pocket book packed with useful phrases like "Shave the neck, please, "Please sew on the buttons", "Don't get gay", "How much is gasoline?" and "There is a mistake in the bill"....If the Browser ever does tour Mexico, he will take the Frances Toor book along and give thanks toor many a time. ....What an idiot! is

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A MONTREAL ELECTION RIOT

On this date (May 21) in 1832 Montreal had one of the hottest election riots in all its troubled political history. Feeling ran very high between the supporters of Tracey the Reformer and Bagg the Tory, which was not lessened by a flood of beer which was taken even to the doors of the polling booths. After fighting broke the civil authorities appealed to the military. The riot act was read but the crowd taking no notice, the troops fired. Unfortunately the bullets found billets in innocent spectators away from the actual fighting. Three were killed and two wounded, all French Canadians. The military officers were arrested but freed when a coroner's jury failed to agree. D. B. Viger who was in London protested to the colonial secretary, who ordered an investigation. Eventually the magistrates and military officers were again arrested, arraigned, tried and acquitted, but this did not end the clamor in Lower Canada, and the incident was made the text of one of the famous 92 resolutions. Lord Glenelg, who had become colonial secretary, protested against the description of the affair 'as a sanguinary execution of the citizens by the soldiery"; the matter was long a political issue and in the mass meetings which heralded the rebellion of 1837 the supporters of Papineau harangued the habitants upon "the massacre of May 21, 1832."

TOBACCO BLINDNESS

A variety of poisons is capable of producing this condition. Example: Tobacco, alcohol in its various forms, felix mas (male fern) and quinine. In this country tobacco or in combination with alcohol is the agent chiefly responsible. It is a much more common condition than is usually supposed.

AGE. — Uncomplicated tobacco blindness is rare under forty years, but in association with alcohol it does occur. It is then difficult to treat, and, owing to the presence of cardio-vascular (heart trouble) and other degenerations, may prove fatal.

DIABETICS have a low tolerance to nicotine poisoning. So have subjects of focal infection, such as bad teeth, tonsils, etc. All three conditions, excessive smoking and drinking, diabetes and focal infection may be combined.

The usual age period is the fifth and sixth decade. Often the patient gives a long history of smoking, forty to fifty years.

There are three species of tobacco:

1st—Havana, American, Algerian.
2nd—Turkish, Latakia.
3rd—Persian.

The brands of tobacco most often responsible for tobacco blindness have a certain geographical distribution. In Scotland black twist is associated with tobacco blindness; in the north of England, brown twist; in London, Shag. Among cigars chief offenders are Burma, Cheroots. Cigarettes apart from Algerian scarcely ever cause tobacco blindness. All types of tobacco have two things in common: 1st—They are all products of Havana, American and Algerian and 2nd—They have a high content of nicotine. The higher content of nicotine is found in Algerian and American tobacco and varies from 1% to 8%. Nicotine is a highly volatile alkaloid as well as some of its products. Example: Pyridine, Collodin and lutidin.

Clinical evidence of its action is furnished by the characteristic rise of blood pressure induced by smoking, probably a result of stimulation of the vaso-constrictor ganglia causing adrenalin to be discharged from the suprarenals.

SYMPTOMS.—The effect of tobacco absorption is a chronic poisoning. So the symptoms are of a very gradual onset. But certain topic blindness are of sudden onset. Example, wood alcohol and not unknown in this country. The first symptom of tobacco blindness is a slight but progressive fogginess of central vision later associated with a central color blindness for red and green. The fundus or black part of eye when examined looks normal, as well as the peripheral visual field. The patient sees better at night. Day vision is depressed; night vision is unaffected. Tobacco poisoning has a selective action of certain fibres running in the optic nerve (the papillo mocular bundle or 2nd there is a lesion of ganglion cells of the reins (two pathological theories)

TREATMENT.—The use of tobacco in any form must be stopped immediately and absolutely. Elimination of poisonous products by purgatives, diaphoretics and fluids, hot baths and nervine tonics will gradually bring about a complete cure.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns?

by FRANK H. WILLIAMS

BEDFORD, QUEBEC

This town has its position in a quiet rural setting on the Pike river and, although boasting a population of 1,800, it has only one industry—a needle factory, but this provides a living for a goodly number of the population.

Incorporated in 1890 and populated largely by English-speaking folks, it took its name from a town of the same name in Wales.

Roseneath

Mr. and Mrs. John Linton and son, Earl, of Plainville, were visitors with their aunt, Mrs. Leonard Brisbin, on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor and little son, of Oshawa, were recent visitors with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Taylor, and his sister, Miss Hildred Taylor.

Mrs. Wilbert Smith entertained the Women's Association of Centenary at her home on Wednesday, and also their guests from the Roseneath Women's Association.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart and daughter, Miss Evelyn Stewart, of Hastings, were visitors with their daughter, Mrs. Charlton Grigg, Mr. Grigg and Joan, on Wednesday.

Messrs. Keith Brown and Ednel Blodgett, who have been trueking for the Gull Lake Lumber Company, Coboconk, are home for this week.

The Women's Institute are planning a big time for May 24th. A ball game in the afternoon; a play, "Dotty and Daffy," by the Baillieboro Dramatic Club, assisted by the five-piece orchestra of Havelock, under the leadership of Doug. Hutchinson, who also will provide music for the dance following the play.

TRAVEL CLUB RACE IS KEEN

the lucky ladies chosen to participate in a tour that will remain a life-long memory of happy days spent in a beautiful land where springtime is perpetual. Bermuda is, without doubt, one of the most attractive resorts in the world, its beauty isincomparable, the climate ideal and the congenial atmosphere of this wonderful land leaves its visitors impressed with a new appreciation of the glories of beautiful Bermuda.

So far its anybody's race. The next few weeks, however, will determine the winners, but between now and then there can be many changes in the standing of the candidates. The winners will be those who are not easily discouraged, not willing to accept defeat before they are defeated and who are willing to keep on gathering votes and subscriptions with the full knowledge that "the best man wins." The Travel Club office has been a busy place during the past two weeks and many millions of votes have been cast in the ballot box by the loyal supporters of the different candidates. It is difficult to realize without actually being present at the club office, how splendidly The Examiner subscribers have turned out in support of their candidates. On last Saturday night the Travel Club office had to be kept open for a full hour after the set closing time to handle the votes that kept pouring in. Those who were present, the voters, will do well to call earlier next Saturday and avoid having to wait in line to cast their votes.

FREED PRISONER GIVEN SIX YEARS

Dionne had carried the revolver. The latter, arrested with Dionne at Napanee following the holding up of the service station and the stealing of some $80 and a gold watch, was not in the party as the sensational break was made from the county jail here Sunday morning when Dionne, Archie Hyatt and Bernard Leavey escaped. The latter two are still at large.

All for Nothing

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21 (C. P.).— Miss Iowna Russell went to Court in an unsuccessful attempt to collect a $10 cheque given as an unasked reward for restoration of two diamond rings after payment had been stopped.

"I went to considerable trouble to locate the owner and asked no reward," she told the Small Claims Court. "But when the cheque was tendered, I accepted. Then to find it worthless made me angry."

The court held there was no legal obligation.

NEW HIGH MARK IMPERIAL OIL

Measure of Buoyancy Features Trade in Toronto Industrials.

LIQUORS ACTIVE.

TORONTO, July 21. — (CP).— Measure of buoyancy marked the trade in the Oil, Food and Steel stocks on the industrial section of the Toronto exchange to-day and they enlisted a sufficient following to give the board a slightly higher price level at the close. Imperial Oil, Russell Pfd. and Canada Packers Pfd. sold at new highs for the year. Trade was substantial in the liquor stocks and the metals but aside from a gain of a couple of points for Consolidated Smelters these issues did not better than hold their ground.

Imperial Oil closed with a gain of about ⅝ at 21⅝ while British American was firm and International Petroleum held a gain of a small fraction.

Smelters closed with in a point of 150. Brazilian and Ford A closed on the up side. Losses of ⅛ to ¼ were showing in the liquor group.

Consolidated Bakeries, Packers Pfd., Canada Vinegars, Canada Bread "B" and Honey Dew Pfd closed higher. Brantford Cordage and Cockshutt Plow added ⅛ to ¼ each.

Strong spots in the Steel and Construction group were Dominion Tar Pfd., Canada Dredge, the Bridge stocks, Pressed Metals and Steel of Canada.

INDIGENT GRANT AGAIN IN FORCE

Ontario to Allow Hospitals 60 Cents Per Day Per Patient.

HEPBURN INTERVIEWED.

TORONTO, May 21.—(CP).—Restoration of the government grant of 60 cents a day per indigent patient to Ontario hospitals was announced to-day by Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, after a deputation from the Ontario Hospital Association stressed the necessity of the grant being renewed.

The former government cut the grant by seven and one half per cent. and provision for the reduction was contained in this year's estimates. Dr. F. C. Routley, secretary of the Association, estimated restoration of the grant would mean an increase of $300,000 in the government's contribution to hospitals.

For the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1934 the grants totalled $1,116,535. In estimates for the new fiscal year ending March 31, 1936, provision was made for a grant of $1,000,000.

Premier Hepburn, who received the delegation along with Hon. J. A. Faulkner, Minister of Health, and Dr. B. T. McGhie, Director of Hospital Services, was told the average cost of maintenance of indigent patients was $2.97 per day and the amount paid by municipalities, supplemented by the government contribution, totalled only $1.75 a day. As a result the hospitals lost $1.22 a day on every patient.

Mrs. Perry Awarded $875 And Costs

TORONTO, May 21 (C.P.). — Judgment of $875, and costs, was awarded Mrs. Mary Jane Perry, of Peterborough, against the Robert Simpson Company, Limited, by Judge Honeywell in County Court to-day.

Mrs. Perry sued for $1,000 for injuries received when she fell on the floor in the Simpson store last February 5. She suffered injuries to hip and head.

In his judgment, His Honor remarked that the floor was marble and that evidently the process of drying it after washing had not been complete, so that it was damp at the time of the mishap. He found the defendant company negligent in this regard.

Mary Pickford Hailed In Return To Stage

SEATTLE, May 21 (AP)—The applause and cheers of an enthusiastic audience echoed again to-day in the ears of Mary Pickford.

Miss Pickford's eye glistened with tears as she was given repeated curtain calls after she had played in "Coquette" before a packed house at the Metropolitan Theatre last night—her first appearance in a full-length legitimate stage drama since she left her Toronto home and acted in David Belasco's "The Good Little Devil."

Her audience refused to leave the theatre until she said a few words telling of her happiness at the reception accorded her return to the stage.

"This is the only way I can repay the years of loyalty you have given me when I was on the screen" Mary told her audience.

Companies from 18 theatres will tour rural districts of Russia.

Siamese Twins

ST. PAUL, May 21 (C.P.)— St. Paul has its Siamese twins. The twins are sparrows, less than a week old. Found lying on a sidewalk, one was injured, apparently by a fall from their nest. The other was unharmed and sprightly. The birds are joined together at the lower parts of their bodies, a leg of each being united to the other by flesh.

FIVE CANUCKS ADVANCE INTO THIRD ROUND

Farley, Innes, Donovan, Black and Moore the "Lucky Five."

BRITISH AMATEUR.

U. S. Contingent Headed By Lawson Little Cut Down From 11 to Seven.

ST. ANNES ON SEA, May 21.— (C. P. Cable). The seven Canadians out of an original entry of 10 from the Dominion scored all along the line as the British amateur golf championship progressed to-day, five of them winning their second round matches and two others winning belated first-round encounters.

Going into the third round to-morrow will be Phil Farley, of Toronto, Edward Innes of Montreal, Bud Donovan of Winnipeg and Ken Black and Dick Moore of Vancouver Black and Farley scored 5 and 4 margins.

Meantime the U.S. contingent headed by Lawson Little Jr., of San Francisco, defending champion, was whittled down from 11 to seven, the latter including two entrants who have not been called to play until the third round to-morrow.

In a sharp form reversal, contrasting yesterday's floundering exhibition, Little gave a spectacular performance in eliminating Eric Martin Smith, former titleholder, in the second round. Little won 5 and 3.

Survive Second Day

The husky Californian was one of four Americans who survived the second day of play. Four other invaders from the United States were sent to the sidelines.

Besides Little the United States winners were T. Suffern Tailer, Jr. of piping, L.I., who shot the last six holes in two under par to eliminate Andrew Jamieson, Jr., former Scottish champion; Captain A. Webster-Bullock of Monterey, Calif., and Robert Sweeney, a former New Yorker now living in London.

The defeated United States contenders were John Forsman of New York; Robert W. Knowles, Jr., of Brookiin, Mass., Guy Hayes of North Andover, Mass., and Robert Stranhan of Toledo, O. Three others were not scheduled to play to-day.

Flin Flon Gold Mining Synd.

Flin Flon Gold Mining Syndicate has shipped equipmen to it's Beda property in Northern Sask. and will start shaft sinking to an objective at 250 feet immediately, according to northern advices. The shaft has been put down to about 30 feet by hand steel and a head frame is being erected. Diamond drilling during the winter is said to have indicated an ore body 900 feet in length extending under Douglas Lake.

Ascot Gold Mines

Ascot Gold Mines is said to have let a contract for 2,000 feet of diamond drilling to be done at it's property in the Malartic section of Quebec with possibilities that a more extensive drill campaign will follow later. Previous work on the claims was confined to surface exploration and it is stated that favorable showings were uncovered by trenching and stripping.

LEBEL ORO.

Milling operations at the Long Lake property of Lebel Oro Mines will be resumed on June 1st when the 200 ton mill will be started to treat the 140,000 tons of tailings left from former milling operations. The tailings dump is estimated to run $3 to $3.50 per ton in gold at the present price. According to an official of the company construction of the mill building to house the new ball mill is under way with cement foundations now being poured. Meanwhile, the program of diamond drilling is continuing below the first level and holes are being drilled into the footwall and hanging wall. The drilling is being carried out from the "Glory Hole" from which the previous owners mined around $1,000,000 in ore when operations were in progress a number of years ago.

GRANADA GOLD.

Granada Gold Mines, the shares of which were actively traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, selling to a new high for the year of 40c, is understood to have practically completed negotiations which will provide the treasury with ample finances to carry on an extensive campaign of development. It is expected that an official statement will be issued later.

NORLAKE

Norlake Mining Corporation with original property located in Rouyn Township, Quebec, is reported to have completed a deal from a well-known mining company who were desirous of acquiring two properties in the Chicougamau district. The deal is said to have called for the formation of a new company with an authorized capitalization of 3,000,000 shares; 1,500,000 of which would be given to Norlake and an option taken on the remaining 1,500,000.

BASE METALS CLOSE HIGHER

Siler Shares Only Mildly Disturbed By Drop in Price of Silver.

GOLDS FINISH STRONG.

TORONTO, May 21 (C.P.). — Gradual improvement in the copper picture gave Noranda a smart advance to-day and other base metal listings of the Toronto mining section trailed along, the whole group closing higher. Silver shares were only mildly disturbed by the drop in the price of bar silver, and the golds, following a slow and barely steady morning, displayed more strength than weakness in the afternoon. The balance of price changes over the board was up at the close.

Noranda pushed up to 42.25, a new high for the year, and the close at $42 showed a gain of 1.10 for the day. Sherritt Gordon closed off, while Hudson Bay Pen Oreille, Base Metals Corporation, Big Missouri and Sudbury Basin all closed on the up side.

Silvers firmed and the close was just under the level of the previous close.

Selling down to 14.90, Hollinger erased part of its loss. Wright Hargreaves, Teck Hughes, Pioneer and McIntyre had narrow gains and Lake Shore closed down about 50 cents.

Magistrate's Court

Three transients and a local resident pleaded guilty to charges of intoxication before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to-day and stiff penalties were handed out by the bench in each case.

Chief Constable Samuel Newhall said that when in the cells the men were very rowdy and quarrelsome.

Two transients who gave their names as Frank Lambert and John Connolly had paid a previous visit to this city, because they pleaded guilty as second offenders, and were both fined $50 and $4.50 costs or one month's imprisonment. Third of the trio of transients said his name was John Harris. He was ordered to pay $15 and $4.50 costs or in default 15 days' imprisonment. Michael Roddy, local resident, who was stated by the Chief to have been the "worst of the bunch" was similarly penalized.

Magistrate's Court was cleared of the public spectators when Reginald 'Buck' Winch made another appearance today for preliminary hearing on a charge of procuring women for immoral purposes.

Reserving his defence and declining to make any statement relative to the charge the accused was committed for trial on the evidence of four witnesses for the Crown.

"Grapevine Telegraph"

During today's brief proceedings two local girls unfolded a story in which was revealed the "grapevine telegraphic" system of inter-communication between prisoners in the male and female blocks of the Peterborough County Gaol.

It was while serving brief terms for vagrancy that the two girls first got in touch with 'Buck' Winch, who was himself in custody early in April. They were quartered in the female cell block above the cell in which Winch was confined in the male block, the girls testified, and a method of intercommunication was established by the simple expedient of passing notes on a piece of string. Both girls admitted having served terms in Mimico Reformatory prior to their last sentence in the County Gaol.

Evidence was given by the two girls that in his notes 'Buck' promised "to take us to Montreal and put us over the top and dress us like ladies. If we double-crossed him in the racket he threatened to put out our lights".

Mrs. Margaret "Mitzi" Freedley, 169 George street, Toronto and her sister Mrs. Agnes Nolan also of Toronto, Ont., also charged on the "procuring" count gave evidence.

bird houses and benches around the grounds.

The inner fringe of pine trees was badly charred by the fire, the last embers of which were flickering as they finished their destruction of the wood building and its floor shortly after two o'clock.

The pavilion was owned by N. Douros and Mr. Gettas, both of whom were former restaurant proprietors in Peterborough. Several dances had been held at the Park already this season, the final one being last Saturday night.

Value of the building was estimated at $7,000, and it was reported to be uninsured.

40 P. C. ONTARIO RELIEF SPENT CASH FOR LABOR

Croll Expects By August Over 50 P.C. of System Will be on Cash Basis.

CLAIMS SYSTEM SUCCESS.

Points to Fact No Demonstrations Been Staged Where Plan in Operation.

TORONTO, May 21 (C.P.) — More than 40 per cent of relief distributed in Ontario during the last nine months was in cash in return for labor, Minister of Welfare David A. Croll said to-day in announcing approval of cash relief projects with a total cost of $691,540. The first experiment with cash relief was made in the middle of last August and by next August Mr. Croll expected more than 50 per cent of relief in the province would be on a cash basis.

In the period since cash relief was started $7,500,000 was spent by the province and municipalities on cash relief program which the minister said provided a total of 4,000,000 work hours.

Claiming success for the cash relief system, Mr. Croll said there had been no relief demonstrations in municipalities where the cash relief system was in operation.

The system in the past applied only to food allowance, but recent experiments with cash relief for food clothing, fuel and shelter have led the minister to indicate there might be further extensions of the system.

HITLER FLAUNTS GERMANY'S AIM

fectly openly,' 'Hitler told his audience—an audience which was multiplied by millions through radio. 'The German nation has the right to demand this from me and I am determined to obey this demand.

"If the Germany of to-day favors peace, it favors it neither out of weakness nor cowardice. National Socialism (the Nazi Party) dogmatically declines to entertain the idea of national assimilation. We give no instructions for the Germanization of non-German names. We decry every war for the subjugation of foreign people."

Speaks Bluntly.

Then he directed his attention bluntly toward other nations, saying:

"If the nations are so concerned about numerically increasing their population, they can accomplish this through an increasing readiness to bring forth offspring and can, in a very few years, present their nation with more children of their own people than they could foreign peoples vanquished by war."

Again voicing his oft-repeated contention that Germany desires peace, Hitler declared:

"Nazi Germany wants peace from a primitive realization that no war would be calculated to alleviate the essentially general European distress but would tend, on the contrary, to increase it.

"Germany of to-day is immersed in the tremendous work of repairing its domestic damages. None of our subjects of a factual nature will be completed before ten or twenty years. None of our tasks of an ideal nature can find its fulfillment before fifty or ever one hundred years.

"What else could I desire but quiet and peace?"

BUSH FIRES ARE RAGING IN NORTH

Scollard from Camp 2, near Apsley at 3 p.m.

"One fire is west of the village and another is four and a half miles away." Mr. Scollard said, "and apparently the men are unable to check them. The bush and woods are very dry, and unless we get rain right away the situation may become serious."

Mr. Scollard said he could not accurately place the different locations of fires, some of them visible from Apsley, and the others reported from farther sections of the townships.

Men Joined Settlers.

"The fires broke out in several places last Saturday," Mr. Scollard said. "The men from the camps joined the settlers in fighting the flames all day Sunday and Sunday night. The attempt to check the fires seems to be getting nowhere. There are only a few of us left in the camp this afternoon, and all the settlers in this neighborhood are out in the woods trying to stop the progress of the fires. There must be two hundred or more all told, including the forty men from Camp No. 2.

There has been very little rain all spring, and those of us who know the north country realize that the woods were rarely as dry as they are right now."

SYDNEY, N.S.W.—(CP).— The body-line bowling controversy that arose over Harold Larwood's fast deliveries in Australia in 1933 has its humorous side. A mechanical device employed at a park to tear out tree stumps was nicknamed "Royal Larwood" by a local wag.

Moscow Displays Mechanical Military Strength

Moscow's May Day dressed with the spirit of militarism. One of the features of the day, in Red Square—the political stage of Red Russia—was a great tank parade, during which hundreds of lumbering forts on caterpillars rolled through the square, and aeroplanes circled a deafening roar in approval, with wide-open motors running at full load, as they flew over the procession. In this view of the tank parade, the giant propaganda aeroplane "Maxim Gorki" is seen flying above the square, escorted by two "Gad-fly" two-seaters.

"Down With The Gas-House Gang"

This is another version of the little old lady who lived in a shoe. In this case the balloon is substituted for the shoe and the circumstances surrounding its use are rather grim. If Paris should ever be raided by gas bombs the family would crawl into the balloon on the top. Fresh air would be pumped in through a filter and gas masks would be dispensed with. The lower photo shows a family rehearsing its actions on rushing to the balloon when the alarm is sounded. Notice the girls on the right playing on a table inside the inflated structure.

Countess Barbara On Honeymoon With Danish Nobleman

Dancing in dress, married in haste, the former Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani, was a Countess Tuesday night as she mingled with the gay dancers in the fashionable Mark Hopkins Hotel ballroom in San Francisco. Hardly had the heiress to the $40,000,000 Woolworth five-and-dime store fortune and her brand new husband of half a day reached San Francisco after a 200-mile automobile ride from Reno, than the couple repaired to the gilded dance hall of the famed caravansary atop Nob Hill. She divorced Prince Alexis Mdivani of Georgia Monday on grounds of "extreme cruelty". Speeding to San Francisco in a limousine, the couple arrived at the hostelry at 9 o'clock. Less than an hour later they were seen, as depicted in the above photo, seated at a table in the ballroom, and gaily joining in the dancing from time to time as the swirling throng of fashionable folk stared persistently at the unembarrassed newlyweds. In the background is the butler specially assigned to the titled honeymooners.

Boy Revived After Death

According to physicians of General hospital in Stratford, Ont., four-year-old Bruce Chesell was restored to life after being apparently dead for one and one-half minutes. The child was revived by artificial respiration and a transfusion of the child's own blood. The boy had been crushed under the wheels of a coal wagon. Dr. Bruce Gillis attended.

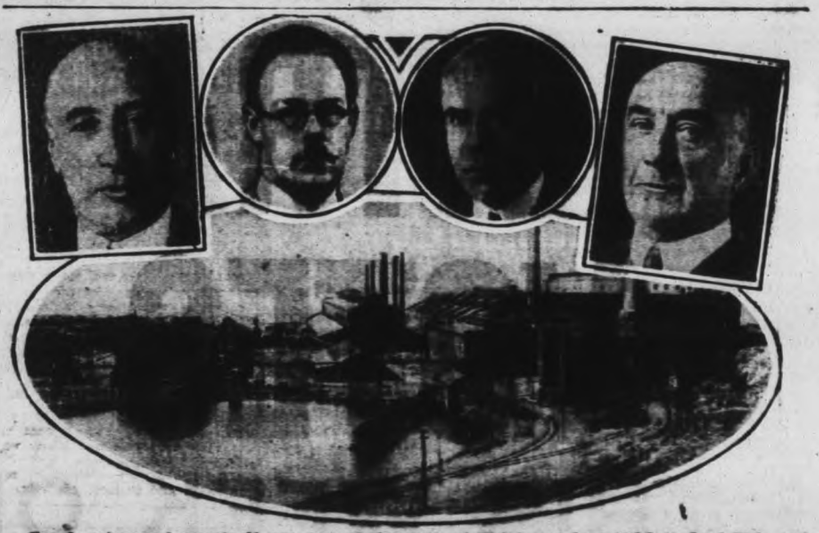
Canadian Pilots For Antarctic

Map shows the region that Lincoln Ellsworth, noted explorer, shown in inset, hopes to explore in the Antarctic from the air next fall. Ninety per cent. of the continent, as large as Europe and Australia combined, has never been explored. The solid line above indicates the route of the projected flight and the dotted line represents the route of the expedition's supply ship, the Wyatt Earp. Sir Hubert Wilkins will accompany Ellsworth, who has made two other expeditions to the Antartic. Two Canadian fliers, Hollick-Kenyon and Lymburner will be chief pilots.

Canada mines and exports 90 per cent of the world's nickel.



Nickel is used in the manufacture of armaments, both projectiles and armour plate. Thus International Nickel Co. comes under censure of united peace advocates, notably Lord Cecil of Chelwood in England, and J. S. Woodsworth in Canada, who would have Canada place a ban on export of nickel. Meanwhile, R. C. Stanley, president of International Nickel, and Lord Melchett, Lord Weir, and Sir Harry McGowan, director of Mond Nickel, parent company in England, deny International Nickel is fostering war, Stanley stating war is bad for his business and pointing out many and various uses of nickel other than armaments. International Nickel plant at Coppercliff, Ont., is shown above. Germany is chief buyer of Canadian nickel, both mined and raw.

It Takes Three Men To Fill Pilsudski's Shoes

PETERBORO' IN AREA.

OTTAWA, May 21 (C.P.).—With various branches of the cheese industry represented, the proposal to regulate marketing of cheese produced in Ontario was the subject of two conferences in camera yesterday before the Dominion Marketing Board. Discussions revolved mainly on interpretations of the provisions proposed to be incorporated in the scheme.

"No decision has been made on the plan which has been submitted to the board for approval," a spokesman for the cheese industry stated last night.

The scheme, it was learned, would regulate marketing of Ontario cheese, both for domestic sale and for export. Under the plan a local board would be set up to be known as the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Marketing Board, with a personnel of five, and located at Belleville.

Five Districts.

A representative would be chosen from each of the five districts: One to represent Toronto and the district west of Toronto; one to be chosen for the area included within the Counties of Peterborough, Hastings, Prince Edward and Northumberland; a third to represent the Counties of Lennox, Addington, Frontenac, Leeds and Lanark; one to represent Grenville, Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry Counties, and one for Prescott, Russell, Carleton and Renfrew Counties.

Personnel of the first board would be: R. H. Mayberry, Ingersoll; E. J. Fryer, Stirling; George Gardiner, Sealey's ay; A. W. McIntyre, Pinch, and F. Bertrand, Hammond.

Included in the representatives who appeared before the board were: E. H. Hodgson, T. G. Hodge, J. Freeman and A. A. McKergow, representing the Montreal Provision Trades Association; W. B. Nolan and J. Wring, on behalf of the Napanee Cheese Board; W. C. Morrow and F. R. Mallory, for the Belleville Cheese Board; A. A. McDougald and A. J. McDonald for the Alexandria Cheese Board; R. F. LOCK COMPANY BUYS PROPERTY

Not Contemplating Plant Additions, Says Vice-President.

50 YEARS IN BUSINESS

While confirming reports that his company had recently acquired the former McBain property on Hunter street from the Toronto Saving and Loan Company, Ernest H. Howson, vice-president of Peterborough Lock Company told The Examiner the transaction held no significance of the company's intention to make additions to their plant.

Stating that the company now owns an entire strip of property extending from Simcoe to Hunter street, Mr. Howson said: "We learned the property was for sale and we secured it." It was handy he added, to have access to a back way into the plant, and there was also the dim possibility, depending upon the future prosperity of business, of the firm at some time building an addition to the existing plant.

"Conditions have shown a decided improvement in our business recently," Mr. Howson commented, "but they have not yet improved sufficiently to justify any additions to the plant."

The Peterborough Lock Company is this year completing a half century of activity in this city, and Mr. Howson intimated that the company was considering some plans for an observance of the occasion.

Jap Troops Launch Drive On Bandits

TOKYO, May 21 (A.P.).—Japanese military leaders in Northern China were reported in despatches to-day to the Rengo (Japanese news agency) to be meeting at Tientsin to consider measures for maintenance of what the Japanese regard as a suitable degree of peace and security in the demilitarized zone south of the great wall.

These reports followed upon earlier advices Japanese troops were moving upon the great wall with the intention of entering Northern China on an "anti-bandit expedition."

The War Office asserted there was no intention of occupying Chinese territory and the troops would be withdrawn to Manchoukuo as soon as the "bandits had been punished and dispersed."

Adjourn Jarvis Case Until Wednesday

TORONTO, May 21. — (CP)— With the contention the Crown should not have proceeded in 1924 with the trial of Aemilius Jarvis until Andrew Pepall, member of Jarvis' Toronto investment firm, who was residing in California, could be present, Salter Hayden launched his case to induce Attorney-General A. W. Roebuck to recommend Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Federal Minister of Justice, grant Jarvis a new trial.

After an all-day hearing in the library of the Attorney-General's Department yesterday, occupied largely by Hayden reading evidence at the trial when the Toronto broker and Peter Smith, provincial treasurer in the former Drury government were convicted of conspiracy to defraud the province in bond transactions, the hearing adjourned until to-morrow.

International Night Observed By Kiwanis

Failure to get satisfactory radio reception of an International Kiwanis broadcast from San Antonio, Texas, last night, necessitated a last-minute change in the plans of Peterborough Kiwanis Club for their observance of "All-Kiwanis Night" at Lakefield.

The first part of the program which included supper at Lakefield United Church was completed without a hitch, but when the Kiwanians adjourned to the Town Hall to listen-in to the radio broadcast from the International Convention in the South, interference from the power-house nearby necessitated the party making a forced move.

Kiwanians and their ladies abandoned the Town Hall, climbed aboard their motor cars and hastened into Peterborough, where at the home of L. J. Pettit, they were in time to tune-in on the convention proceedings and to receive the program satisfactorily.

President Ivan T. Lillico presided at the supper meeting, and extended a vote of thanks from the club to Bandmaster B. Smith, Ph., D., of the Salvation Army Staff Band, Chicago, who featured on the program as cornet soloist. A gifted and outstand instrumentalist, Bandmaster Smith was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Stan. Richardson of the local Salvation Army Corps.

At Mr. Pettit's home, Carl S. Browne took charge of the meeting, and the radio broadcast address by Roe Fulkerson, editorial writer for the Kiwanis International Magazine was generally considered to have been an inspiring and practical message.

Sign-posts

IMAGINE YOURSELF on an unfamiliar highway at night in the country. You want to go to Allison. You come to a forked road. No signs! Which way? You turn left and come to a cross-road. No signs. You turn right. You come to a town. It proves to be Liberty. You go back to the fork and turn left. A mile or so farther on you come to another cross-road. A sign pointing right says "Allison three miles."

But for that sign-post you might have travelled miles—spent hours, and come short of your destination.

Imagine yourself in need of hosiery, clothing, breakfast foods or anything else, and this newspaper without advertisements!

Advertisements are sign-posts. They are information. They save you from wandering aimlessly from store to store. They keep you advised of the newest products; of the latest values. They save you time, and put greater buying power in your dollars. They assure you of quality and service in merchandise, for only honest goods honestly advertised can stand the spotlight of publicity.

KIWANIS COMMUNITY SERVICE HELPS MEET BUSINESS PROBLEMS

Club Officials Warns Economy Needed and Gov't Wild Wasting Stopped.

ALL-KIWANIS NIGHT

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 21.—"Kiwanis clubs in the U.S. and Canada have never done more worthy work than during the past year," declared Dr. William J. Carrington, of the Atlantic City, N.J., president, to-day at the 19th annual convention of the service organization being held here. "Kiwanis achievements in community work are real constructive efforts in meeting business, educational and citizenship problems. The 1,847 clubs on the North American continent completed thousands of community and welfare activities," he said.

The following results were shown in a statistical survey of club work on the North American continent during the past year:

	Clubs Engaged
Assistance to Under Privileged Children	1,264
Agricultural Projects	390
Aid to Business and Industry	1,087
Improvement Civic Cond.	1,809
Vocational and Educational Work	1,461
General Charity Work	1,812
Juvenile Work	1,087
Playgrounds, Recreation and Athletics	1,302
Health, Sanitation and Hospitals	548
Citizenship and Patriotic Endeavors	1,302

All-Kiwanis Night

A great army of Kiwanians has struck its tents, Dr. Carrington explained last evening to 85,000 Kiwanians in a coast to coast meeting. "Beyond the confusion of these tangled times Kiwanis has caught a vision of a fairer land," he said. "We see the under-privileged forever banished. But the trails to this fairy land are not red blazed. The way is blocked by waste, ignorance and idleness. with the faith of our liberty-loving forefathers, the strength of a united purpose and the spirit of pioneers, Kiwanians now face new social frontiers, beset with the wild waste of government extravagance, ignorance and idleness. Without economy and efficiency in government, without adequate educational facilities and without directive education for the new leisure, we can never hope to capture the land of our dreams. But with enthusiasm and increased membership, we are on our way," he said.

Roe Fulkerson, of Washington, D. C., in an address "Home Work," made an apeal for parents to earnestly establish harmony and understanding with their children. "Vocational guidance," said Mr. Fulkerson, "like charity must begin at home. When you have established a perfect understanding with your own children, then will you have the needed experience, the needed sympathy to help in the guidance of less fortunate children. Having established this sympathetic relation we need to do two other things. We must get away from our false standards of success. Money does not bring happiness and we should encourage our children to develop their natural talents regardless of compensation! This way happiness lies. Then, too, we must not try to live our lives over again in our children and graft on to their little lives our own defeated hopes and ambitions. We have lived our lives, have failed or succeeded, and we should permit our children to live their own lives and realize their ambitions," he said.

International Hour

The convention observed international hour during the morning program. Speakers representing the U.S. and Canada, while praising the friendly relationship between the two countries, explained that service and good-will alone could eliminate the fear of war. Henry C. Heins, of Atlanta, a past president said, "Kiwanis accepts as an axiom that every citizen should be loyal to his country, honor its flag and institutions and co-operate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion which makes possible the increase of justice and patriotism."

DISTANT COUSIN COL. LAWRENCE

Mrs. Elizabeth Graham of Lakefield Claims Distant Relationship.

STUDIED LAWRENCE'S LIFE

Dsitant relationship with Colonel T. E. Lawrence ("The Mystery Man of Arabia"), who died at a little military hospital in Wool, Dorsetshire, England, from injuries received in a motorcycle accident, is claimed by Mrs. Susan Elizabeth Graham, of Lakefield.

Mrs. Graham, an old and respected resident of Lakefield for many years, though loath to discuss the matter for publication, expressed great pride in claiming to be a distant cousin of the late Colonel Lawrence.

"I first learned of the relationship through the 'Fourth Column' of the Mail and Empire about ten years ago. I came upon a history of this young man, written by J. V. McAree, and it made it quite clear to me that he was connected with my family," Mrs. Graham stated.

Her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Graham said, was named Susan Lawrence. Her people were of Irish descent, and Mrs. Graham's father, the late John Finlay, emigrated to this country from County Wicklow with his parents and family.

Mrs. Graham was born in Huron County seventy-four years ago, and came to this district when her father returned to his old home located between Peterborough and Lakefield when forced to discontinue farming on account of ill-health.

The old lady, who lives at Lakefield with her daughter, Miss Blanche Graham, discussed the life of the late Colonel Lawrence with an amazing knowledge of detail. She has read extensively about the life of "The Mystery Man," including "With Lawrence in Arabia," by Lowell Thomas, and "Lawrence and the Arabs," by Graves.

Reports Presented.

The secretary read a report of the institute's work for the year. Twelve regular meetings were held, with an aggregate attendance of 226. There were eighteen papers and addresses given. Relief work was carried on by sending bales to the north, as well as helping wherever there was need at home. Fruit and flowers were sent to the sick, as well as a number of aged persons remembered at Christmas. A choral class was held in Cavan last winter, music was sponsored in the schools, assistance was given towards the scholarship, and medical inspection in the schools is advocated. MOTHERSGUESTS OF DAUGHTERS AT ST. PAUL'S

Mrs. John Williams of Toronto Addresses Mother and Daughter Banquet.

LESSONS LEARNED.

An interesting program was presented in the Sunday School auditorium of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last night where a Mother and Daughter banquet was held under the auspices of the Young Women's Auxiliary of the church, with about one hundred and seventy-five people in attendance. The guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. John Williams of Toronto, corresponding secretary of the Ontario Provincial Board of the W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church.

Seated at the head table were the guest speaker; the president of the Young Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Walter Perks, in the chair; Mrs. James Dutton, president of St. Paul's W.M.S.; Mrs. A. T. Barr, Miss E. MacVannel and Miss Elizabeth Walker.

Mrs. Perks welcomed the guests and also proposed the toast to "The Church," with a response in one verse of "The Church's One Foundation," sung in unison. The toast to "Our Mothers" was voiced by Miss Margaret Morgan, with response by Mrs. Barr, and Mrs. T. H. Jackson proposed the toast to "Our Daughters," which was responded to by Miss Dorothy Morrow.

Mrs. Dutton introduced Mrs. Williams, who gave a very apt and beautifully-worded brief address based on the experiences of an emblematic "Mary Alice," a young girl who, after joining the Young Women's Auxiliary, was led in spirit through the countless endeavors of those who labor in the cause of missions in far-off lands.

"Your choicest gift is the gift of choice," Mrs. Williams told her listeners. "And you can't wrap that gift up and put it away. Your character is just what your choices make it."

Thinking and reading of the work carried on in foreign lands, Mary Alice thrilled to the difficulties encountered by missionaries in Formosa and the hot, dry land of India, and, nearer home, she thought much of the efforts made in Canadian provinces by dauntless-hearted women.

Lessons Learned

"And she learned the lessons of iron courage, of unflinching loyalty, of sincere and gladsome service. She learned the value of real work well done, of purity of thought, of kindliness, and of service. And you, too, may learn these lessons and how to do work that will stand the test of time, even though you may often ask 'Is it worth while?'"

"You are living in a time that seems almost like fairyland, in an age of action and speed, filled with the wonders of science, when many things seems almost unbelievable. It is a time of great opportunity. Every day is a new beginning and it is a challenge of youthful enthusiasm, to quickness of thought, to a widened and practical efficiency.

"Are you eager to catch the vision of opportunity that lies beyond—the need to serve? Who knows what young woman might go out from Peterborough to work in the cause of Christ in far-off lands?"

The appreciation of Mrs. Williams' address, also an expression of thanks to all who assisted in any way during the evening, was voiced by Miss Lily Kay and seconded by Mrs. G. B. Bailey.

The music of the evening added to the interest of the program. Community singing was led by Mrs. L. Mitchell, who also sang "To a Hilltop," in rich soprano tones, with Mrs. G. Wilson Craw accompanying the solo and the community singing. Miss Ruth Fisher played with expert skill and from memory a violin solo entitled "Molly on the Shore," accompanied by Miss Marguerite Rome.

The banquet was served at tables prettily arranged with vases of lovely white calla lilies, pink carnations and gypsophila. Assisting in serving were members of the Ladies' Aid and the W.M.S. of the church, while Miss Mary Greer was general convenor.

Miss Elizabeth Walker voiced a very beautiful prayer at the conclusion of the evening's program, which was followed by a verse of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Suspect 3 Skeletons May Be Of Canadians

BURLINGTON, Vt., May 21 (CP)—Vermont authorities to-day considered examining the missing persons' lists of Canadian police in an effort to identify three skeletons found last week at the side of a Middlebury, Vt., roadway.

Sheriff Ralph C. Sweet of Middlebury said he believed it "conceivably possible" the family came from some place in Canada.

States Attorney Paul K. Fennell, meanwhile, requested Burlington police to be on the lookout for an "automobile bearing Indiana plates" which, Fennell said, has been following Vermont authorities in Middlebury during the investigation.

Fennell said he wishes to question the driver of the machine "for possible connection with the discovery of the three skeletons in Middlebury."

Expecting a "Blessed Event"

It will probably be their last for some time since it is reported that the Duchess is soon to present King George and Queen Mary with their fifth grandchild.

VICTORIA TORIES RALLY ON JUNE 3

Some Talk of Third Candidate Entering Victoria-Haliburton Riding.

LINDSAY, May 21 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Federal political pot is simmering in the riding of Victoria and Haliburton, with the prospects of a three-cornered fight. The Liberals some time ago nominated Bruce McNevin of Heaboro as a Liberal-Progressive candidate. The Conservatives are calling a convention for June 3, to nominate a candidate. The chief speakers will be Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and Denton Massey, Conservative organizer. It is a foregone conclusion that the present member, T. H. Stinson, K.C., M.P., will receive the nomination. There was some talk of a candidate representing the northern portion of the county being thrown into the fray, but this movement has died. There is, however, a movement among the straight Liberals or an element that is not satisfied with the Liberal-Progressive alliance, to bring out a third candidate—either a straight Liberal or C.C.F. The latter movement, it is said, has considerable support in the northern part of the riding where the dissatisfaction prevails. It is announced that a meeting of certain Liberals was held in Fenelon Falls on Friday night when the question of a third candidate was considered.

Given Fifteen Days

A resident of Minden, named Tucker, faced Magistrate Gee today on two charges: assaulting a police officer in the discharge of his duty and of having liquor in an illegal place. The assault took place in the village on Friday when Provincial Constable Evans undertook to place Tucker under arrest. Accused was given fifteen days on the assault charge and two years' suspended sentence on the liquor charge, a bottle of beer having been found in his possession when arrested.

Mrs. F. Coombs of Tory Hill was the victim in an automobile collision in Londsay Monday morning. A car driven by S. McColl, of Tory Hill, and having Mr. and Mrs. F. Coombs as passengers collided with a car driven by B. L. McLean town. The McColl car landed on its left side, and Mrs. Coombs sustained severe cuts and bruises and is also suffering from shock. Both cars were badly damaged.

Store is Entered

Thieves were busy in the northern part of Victoria County during the week-end. They entered M. A. Cook's store at Cobocunk and carried off goods and a quantity of cash. They also entered the post office, where they got about $15 in cash. Bryant's service station was also entered and supplies carried off. A service station of Foyles' Corners and the Hevie general store at Cambray were also entered. The Provincial Police are investigating.

MILK VENDORS ARE SUSPENDED

Dr. Murray Fraser Reports Suspension of Two Members For One Week.

MILK WAS 'DIRTY.'

Licenses of two milk vendors were suspended for one week and warnings were issued to three, Dr. G. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., reported to the Board of Health this morning in his review of the Department's activities since the April meetings.

Their samples were found to be 'dirty' and showing a high bacteria count.

Board Been Lenient

"We have been very lenient with the vendors in order that they might have every chance of complying with regulations, and a warning was given a month ago," Dr. Fraser said. "In future, no more warnings will be given to any milk vendor whose milk is not up to the standard of butter fat, total solids and cleanliness. There is no excuse for dirty milk. It is mainly due to carelessnes, and any man who takes up this work knows that he has got to be on the job seven days in the week."

Dr. Fraser said that the first convalescent case had been received at the Queen Mary Hospital—a girl of fourteen years who had been removed to the institution for the care and attention that should promote her recovery of health.

The hospital registered only one patient during April, and at present there are two.

A Vigilant Doctor

"Two diphteria carriers were reported to the Department during the month. Both these cases occurred in the same family. The necessary precautions were taken to avoid further spread of the disease. The occurrence of these two cases furnishes a typical example of the difficulties experienced by health authorities in the control of communicable diseases. Were it not for the expert care of one of our medical practitioners in having a swab examination from one of these patients, the presence of this disease would not have been discovered, and the patient would have spread it throughout the community. Carriers of the disease, while they do not suffer many symptoms, are a grave menace to the public health and require more strict supervision than active cases."

Of the thirty-four deaths during the month six were from diseases of the heart, four from cancer and malignant tumors, three were caused by cerebral hemorrhage and three were due to senility.

Two cases of chicken pox were reported, five of measles and eight of whooping cough. Sixteen placards were placed and six removed. Forty-five complaints were investigated, and there were 191 investigations.

FOUR LEGS, FOUR WINGS

YARMOUTH, N.S., May 21.—(CP)—A four-legged and four-winged Rhode Island Red chicken was hatching on a farm here by Mrs. George Mitchell and lived seven days. The fowl will be preserved in alcohol.

One in every 20 persons in England suffers from sleeplessness.

May Day Queen Is Crowned At Normal School

PRESENT EMPIRE PAGEANT IN COMMEMORATION OF SILVER JUBILEE OF KING

Queen of the May is Crowned by Students of the Normal School.

BEAUTIFUL PAGEANT.

Whole Entertainment Extreme Fine and Quite Unusual.

"We give our hands, our hearts, our heads, to God our King, our country; one flag, one empire, one throne."

Fresh young voices uniting in a graceful tribute from youthful, patriotic hearts, repeating the words quoted above, made an impressive finale to a lovely Pageant of Empire that featured a most pleasing program that was presented yesterday afternoon in the large assembly hall of the Normal School by this year's class of students, the program combining a May-Day ceremony in which the young people crowned their Queen of the May, and a patriotic pageant designed to commemorate the Silver Jubilee year of Their Majesties. The whole entertainment was quite unusual and extremely fine, with special supervision by Miss M. R. Rannie, assisted by Miss E. MacVannel and the staff teachers.

The students entered into the program with a great degree of careful attention and concentration to detail, in a manner that helped to make the presentation worthy and dignified in the extreme. Special guests of the afternoon were the staff members and thir wives, the school inspectors, and the critic teachers.

The crowning of the Queen of the May (Miss Evelyn Wight), was an impressive episode. Escorted by the principal, Dr. J. A. Bannister, and attended by her retinue, the May Queen, in pale gold, with a long, flowing train, came to the platform to the sound of bright music and was there crowned with flowers after Dr. Bannister explained her as the choice for the honor "because of her standing in the school work, her careful attention to her duties and the modest way in which she has conducted herself."

The stage was decorated lavishly with palms, ferns, evergreens, spring flowers and apple blossoms, with a number of Union Jacks and Canadian ensigns. The queen sat in a bower of blossoms, attended by her train bearers in gowns of rose and blue (the Misses Paterson and Wyley); her flower virls in pretty frocks (the Misses Walsh and Parker); her crown bearer (Miss Judge), and the very efficient Mistress of Ceremonies (Miss Muriel Austen).

Rustic Visitors

To greet the Queen of the May in proper rustic fashion came first the romantic dwellers of Sherwood Forest, Robin Hood, (Mr. Blackburn), in his hunter's green suit and feathered cap, to explain his system of taking from the rich and giving to the poor. He was accompanied by Maid Marian (Miss Carruthers) and Littlejohn (Louis Prim) and a Friar Tuck (Mr. Nickle), who was not quite so fat as in the old tale. And the group, after brief speeches, sings of Robin Hood and Littlejohn and their exploits, the students joining in, as in other choruses of the afternoon, which was featured by melodious music, sung to the piano accompaniments of Miss Rannie.

Then followed a very finely-presented Pageant of Empire that brought, in every section of the great British Commonwealth of Nations, depicted by young people, many of whom were attired in costumes appropriate to the land represented, while trim middy blouses and navy skirts were used by the young girls delineating various sections of Canada and her provinces.

Each in turn recapitulated the resources and the loyal sentiments of the land represented, and each was introduced by the firm-voiced Page, (Mr. Rutherford) in his black knee breeches and long coat and white ruffles.

Brittania (Miss Dunkleman), in long red robe and gilt crown, carrying a trident spear and shield, receives each visitor in turn, receives their gifts and listens to their protestations of loyalty, and musical emphasis is lent the scene by the rendition of "Let us Sing unto Their Majesties" especially composed for the Silver Jubilee, the singing of an old toast to the King composed in 1670, and of "Land o'Mine" al in keeping with the patriotic spirit of the pageant.

Taking part are the following: Ceylon (Mr. Little); India, (Mr. Walters); South Africa (Miss St. John); Australia (Miss Traynor); New Zealand (Miss Young); Newfoundland (Mr. J. Owens); Canada (Miss Hagerman); Ontario (Miss Bedal); Quebec (Miss H. Austin); New Brunswick (Miss Hewitt); Nova Scotia Miss Burke); Manitoba (Miss Mende); Saskatchewan (Mr. Moyer); Alberta (Miss Lesnick); British Columbia (Miss Milburn); Yukon (Miss Hart); Prince Edward Island Miss McQuarrie).

For the very impressive finale to the Pageant, eight young girls (the Misses Brown, Anderson, King, Grant, Elliott, Devlin, Collet, Hobbs), do a flag dance, then stand in double lines, with large flags held behind and at either side by Messrs. Coyle Emerson, Campbell, Harrison, while Mr. Holmes gives the salute.

Taking part in this presentation also are the spokesmen for the rest of the world: the Misses Grey, Davey, Hawley and Leak, the historian who recounts the glories of the Empire (Mr. Hampton), and a quartette of young girls (the Misses Pillsworth, Whittington, Real, Wilkins), who present an old-time folk dance in flowered gowns and pantelettes, and white fichus.

And not the least impressive moment of a very beautifully-presented Pageant was the splendid rendition, in M. H. Park's fine tenor voice, of Kipling's "Recessional" as a period to the scene.

Fine Valedictory

Roy Dunford gave the Valedictory for the school year which will soon end, picturing in well-chosen words the pains and pleasures of the school year, referring to the ideals of a profession which aims to direct the minds of the young, and encouraging his associates to enthusiastic endeavor in their chosen line.

The same sentiments were echoed by the May Queen in her closing words, voiced in gravely dignified terms and reminding her fellow-students of the qualities of courage and enthusiasm necessary to success.

Prior to this closing speech, an octette of prettily-dressed girls (the Misses Hutton, McMillan, Lasher, Menzies, McKague, McKeown, M. McEachern and J. McEachern) presented a gay May Pole dance around a real Maypole, set up on the floor beneath the platform. The yellow and green ribands depending from its peak matched the green sashes and hair bands of the white-frocked maidens.

The presentation of a lovely bouquet of flowers, tied with pink-gold tulle, was made to Miss Rannie on behalf of the students, by Miss Hadigan, who voiced their appreciation of "your untiring efforts in our behalf." Miss Rannie made an appropriate rejoiner.

And a very entertaining afternoon program ended with the choral singing of an Alma Mater song, with the refrain: "To-morrow's the Future Still; This is To-day."

Menu Hints

Tomato Juice Cocktail
Broiled Cube Steaks Baked Potatoes
Fresh Green Salad
Chocolate Ice Box Pudding Coffee

This is a guest dinner which may be prepared in a hurry, say when the hostess and guests have been attending a ball game or matinee. The tomato juice is put in the refrigerator in the morning, the dessert is prepared the day before and is all ready to serve. The potatoes may be scrubbed, greased and made ready to be put in the oven. Or they may be boiled for 10 minutes and then put in the hot oven to bake—a method which hastens the process considerably.

Today's Recipes

Chocolate Ice Box Pudding—Whip half a pint of cream stiff. Spread a thin layer on a small plate, lay on small unfrosted chocolate wafers, and repeat. Good on Shrimps

One-fourth cup tomato ketchup, one-fourth cup chili sauce, juice of one-half lemon; one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon grated horseradish, dash tabasco or cayenne. Combine ingredients in order named, chill and serve over oysters, clams, shrimps or other sea food.

Chocolate Tarts

Three squares bitter chocolate, one cup irradiate evaporated milk, one cup sugar, one-fourth cup flour, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one cup boiling water, two eggs, one teaspoon vanilla, chopped nuts (walnuts or pecans), individual tart shells. Melt chocolate in milk in top of double boiler. Mix sugar, flour and salt. Add boiling water and stir this into chocolate mixture, stirring to keep smooth. Cover and cook about 15 minutes, stirring frequently. If chocolate lumps remain beat smoot with rotary beater. Beat eggs. Add hot chocolate mixture slowly to eggs, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook until thick, about three minutes. Remove from heat, add vanilla, cool and pour into cold baked tart shells. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. If this mixture is used for one large pie it should be chilled thoroughly before cutting. Yield: Eight tarts or one large pie.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

As you probably know, chorus girls and dancers practice general limbering exercises before learning or executing actual dance steps or routines. They must do this in order to keep their muscles and joints limber and flexible. It is the contention of Elenore Wood, dancer, that every woman should practice such exercises. Elenore says that when any woman permits her muscles and joints to become stiff and rigid, her movements generally are awkward and gauche.

Elenore certainly is right about that, for dancing is beneficial from the standpoint of both health and beauty. But for the woman who has neither the means nor the time to take dancing instructions, limbering exercises provide an admirable substitute. They keep the body firm, lithe and supple, thus inducing grace and harmony of movement. And because they are so beneficial, I shall describe a number of them for you here.

Leg Exercises

Stand erect and grasp one thigh with both hands just above the knee. Pull in short, quick jerks upward, and kick downward again, so that the loosely held leg swings back and forth like a pendulum. Repeat with the opposite leg.

Place a very thick book on the floor near the side of a wall, and stand on it with one foot. Then, steadying yourself by resting your nearest hand against the wall, swing your loosely-hanging leg vigorously backward and forward. Kick the leg up both in front and in back as high as you can. Then relax, and reverse your position, doing the swinging with the other leg.

Stand erect, feet about the foot apart, arms raised overhead, palms together. Bending at the waist, and keeping the knees stiff, swing the hands down between the legs. Return to first position and repeat.

Stand erect, with feet about two feet apart. Then stretch your arms sidewise and, keeping your abdomen flat and your knees stiff, try to touch the finger tips of your right hand to the toes of your left foot. Return to first position and repeat on the opposite side.

HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL.

The regular monthly meeting of the Home and School Council was held in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. last evening, and took the form of a business and social evening.

Mrs. C. E. Spicer, president, presided over a large audience in which all the eight schools of the Council were well represented.

In the absence of the regular secretary, Mrs. H. Turner, the minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Telford. The financial report was read by Mrs. T. Hendry. Mrs. Ross of Queen Mary School was appointed treasurer.

Reports of convenors were given as follows:

Mrs. H. H. Graham, for League of Nations; Mrs. E. Wand, for Music; Mrs. V. R. Henry, for Better Films and Visual Education. Most of the speakers based their remarks on the reports given at the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, who was present, reported that a new council constitution for 1935 had been passed at the convention.

Mr. A. Mowat, who was also present, made a few remarks on the radio programs in the schools.

A hostess tea and handicraft exhibition was planned to be held in the autumn. Arrangements will be in the hands of the recreation convenors, Mrs. T. Hendry and Mrs. Roy Farnell.

Mrs. Spicer gave an interesting report of the sessions of the Home and School convention which she attended at Easter. This report was extremely interesting and much appreciated by the meeting. Among the various items mentioned by the speaker was the fact that twenty-six new associations and one council had been added during the year. Mrs. E. Wand was appointed to the membership committee to represent Peterborough County. The quilt first prize went to Windsor and second to Stratford. Three Peterborough schools held the honors for membership.

The President intimated that this would be the last meeting held till the Fall.

At the close of the business session a pleasant ceremony took place when Mrs. E. Wand, retiring president, after four years of service, was presented with an address and the Federation "Presentation pin," the gold emblem encircled with sapphires. On behalf of the Home and School Associations and the Council, Mrs. C. H. Stanton read the address and Mrs. W. R. Morris, who presented the pin, paid a glowing tribute to the work achieved by Mrs. Wand, and also to the great esteem and affection in which she was held by all the members. The Home and School emblem which formed a frontispiece of the beautifully worded address was the art work of Mr. E. Glover. Mrs. Wand fittingly replied.

Dainty refreshments were served by the social committee at the close of the meeting.

Macphail Protests At Lack Of Lawyer

OTTAWA, May 21. — (CP) — When Judge E. J. Daly begins his inquiry into charges made against penitentiary officials by Agnes MacPhail, Member of Parliament for Southeast Grey on Wednesday, he will hear a protest from Miss MacPhail because she is not being provided with counsel.

The woman member said she had been informed the Government would not provide counsel for her and she would make her objection first before the Commissioner and later, possibly, in the House of Commons. R. H. Greer, K.C., of Toronto, has been named Commission counsel, and Miss MacPhail believes she would have the right to name a competent lawyer to represent her at Government expense.

The inquiry is into the truth of charges Miss MacPhail made in the House. She said a high official of the penitentiary branch had spoken of her in disparaging tones in interviewing convicts.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The vogue of candlewicking has reached a high altitude for today it is being introduced as a design element in carpets and rugs. The actual work is found in upholstery covers, draperies, sofa cushion tops, footstool upholstery, valances and curtaining, bureau scarfs and table covers, as well as bedspreads, and bolster and pillow shams. Candlewicking is a decorative stitchery of significance in interior decoration.

* * * * * * *

CANDLEWICK CARPET DESIGNS

The simulation of candlewicking in carpets and rugs is the latest fancy in floorcoverings that are woven. The patterns are the matters of moment as, of course, anything that would be so uneven to walk upon as actual tufts of cotton or wool on a smooth textile, would be unsuitable. Moreover there would be difficulty in positioning furniture, so that it would be perfectly steady if a design were in such tufts. So in the floorcoverings the pile between the tufted designs is of equal height as the pattern. Any pile woven floorcovering lends itself to candlewick designs. They are distinctive and different from other carpet or rug patterns.

* * * * * * *

APPROPRIATE DECORATION

There is a quaint simplicity about these new carpetings which makes them delightful for certain rooms in a house, especially those in which antiques, or reproductions of Old Settler furniture, or certain types of peasant furniture are found. The candlewick designs is excellent for bedrooms, being especially appropriate since the outstanding use for this stitchery has always been for bedspreads.

* * * * * * *

EXCELLENT ENSEMBLE

There is a charming ensemble effect in decoration where candlewick work and designs are carried out exclusively. A carpet in candlewick pattern, a bedspread in the actual work, with window hangings and valances carrying out the same stitchery in the identical pattern, make a room of distinction. It is in advance style although in the stitchery of more than a century ago.

* * * * * * *

COVERS AND COLORS

For a main room in a house plain one toned material embroidered in a simple candlewick pattern makes handsome chair and davenport covers. The stitchery may be self-toned, or in darker hue than the foundation, or it may be in a contrasting color. For upholstery covers, the self-toned work is recommended. For a between-meal dining room table cover, a border is sufficient. Let the top of the table, whether a dining room or one in a living room or chamber, remain plain except for the border which should be rather narrow. If wide it should fall over the table's edge.

* * * * * * *

SUMMERTIME DECORATION

Candlewick decoration is decidedly appropriate to summer homes and houses decorated for the hot weather. The covers, cushion tops, etc., are all quickly put on and off, and have the advantage of laundering excellently.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

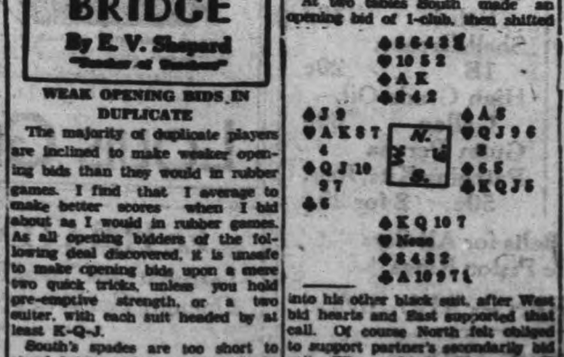
By E. V. Sheppard

WEAK OPENING BIDS IN DUPLICATE

The majority of duplicate players are inclined to make weaker opening bids than they would in rubber games. I find that I average to make better scores when I bid about as I would in rubber games. As all opening bidders of the following deal discovered, it is unsafe to make opening bids upon a mere two quick tricks, unless you hold pre-emptive strength, or a two suiter, with each suit headed by at least K-Q-J.

South's spades are too short to stand being ruffed by heart leads. His hand also is too weak for an opening bid. West lacks too many high honors to open the bidding with hearts. Yet the deal was passed out at only one table. Only East and West were vulnerable, but that gave opponents no excuse for opening the auction.

At two tables South made an opening bid of 1-club, then shifted into his other black suit, after West bid hearts and East supported that call. Of course North felt obliged to support partner's secondarily bid suit. Who wouldn't, with an Ace-K of the unbid suit and five of partner's suit? The contract soared to 4-spades and was doubled by East.



The [illegible] end of a heart was ruffed by the declarer, taking one of his four precious trumps. Dummy was put in with a diamond. When a trump was led through East, he ducked and the Q held the trick. Fearing East might still hold the Ace-J, dummy's last diamond was extracted to again lead a trump from the declaring hand by ruffing Ace. Another trump was pulled from the declaring hand by ruffing him with a heart lead. Two leads of hearts and two ruffs left South trumpless. Fortunately dummy still held three low trumps. Dummy ruffed a diamond, and led back a club. East's J forced declarer's Ace. South led and lost a club to East's Q, and opponents took their last heart trick, as dummy now was able to ruff that suit, but East was able to win his second club trick with the K, putting the game contract down a trick doubled, for a tied bottom score.

At four tables West opened the bidding with 1-heart, which East jumped to 3-hearts. South did not want to push opponents into a game call, by bidding 4-clubs, so he passed. Only two of the four bidding 4-hearts were doubled. Those took bottom score East and West, tying for that honor. Opponents won 1 spade trick, 2 diamond tricks and 1 club trick. Six out of seven tables going down on light opening bids should have afforded an excellent lesson on its danger.

ROBERTA'S CHAT

A column conducted by a reader of The Examiner for her other reader friends. Address all mail to Roberta in care of The Examiner.

"If we could read the secret history of our enemies, we should find in each one's life, sorrow and suffering enough to disarm all hostility."

—Longfellow.

Dear Friend:

Have you ever felt, that all the hard knocks were coming your way, and that the other fellow was having such a good time, especially someone whom you thought was your enemy?

Something like this cropped up in my conversation with a woman the other day.

Her income had been cut considerably, yet she still has a very liberal one. She was fussing and fuming, and said "look at so and so, going serenely on, with never a trouble or care, and they are no better than I am. It takes money to keep up that large house, pay a maid, run a car. Things are very unequally divided." I asked if she knew them intimately, and she replied "not now. We were friends once." So I told her not to judge them too harshly, as doubtless they had their troubles also.

Now, I knew for a fact, that these people were living under a terrible strain. The big house was a liability, and they were having a hard time to pay taxes. The maid was an absolute necessity, as the woman was really ill.

The car and their whole mode of living was a courageous attempt to stave off failure in his business.

If the man could show a semblance of success, he might weather the storm, and avert the possibility of a number of employees losing their jobs.

You know it is often necessary to look successful, to keep on being successful.

All of this man's employees knew and respected him, for the good fight he was putting up, yet because he did not go around crying "poor," and looking poor, this former friend decried him. The curious thing was, this woman had never worked for a penny she owned. It had been left her, by father, brother, husband.

How often we misjudge others. We see the outside of their lives, but never see the struggle that goes on within. If we could we might come away feeling thankful to God, that we did not have the burden they carried so quietly.

There is a pride which makes us polish our shoes, fix over last years hat or dress, and show our best face to the world. The really hardup person does not always look poor. I've heard it called "dirty pride," but to me, it is the highest form of courage.

My own troubles occupy my time so fully, that I do not wonder about my enemies, but strive instead to help someone less fortunate than myself.

Your friend,
Roberta.

To "In the Wilderness":

It was so nice of you to let me know how much you liked my letters to "our" page. Your poem is lovely, and I hope your small daughter (my namesake), grows up to be as talented as her mother. Your letter makes me wish I knew you. Thank you, and do write again.

Your friend,
Roberta.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"PRIVATE WORLDS"

Here is something so different to the ordinary run of moving pictures that it is difficult to write about. It centers about the people who operate a mental hospital, and the psychiatrists, if one may say so, turn out to be just about as screwy as the patients. At least, they seem at times to be on the verge of becoming mental cases. Helen Vinson, for instance, in the role of the superintendent's sister, Claire Monet, gives an impression of mental unbalance at all times.

"Private Worlds" alludes to the private existences wrought in the fancy of the main actors in the piece: Claudette Colbert as Dr. Everest, Joel McCrea and Joan Bennett, as Dr. McGregor and his wife, and Charles Boyer in a very real piece of acting, as Dr. Charles Monet.

There is something rather extraordinary about the very "real" acting that animates this picture. Every actor seems to be living the part. Claudette Colbert has dispensed with many of her usual mannerism and gives a splendid portrayal of the woman physician who takes mental cases as a relief from the strain imposed upon her by a discovery that the man she once loved was a thorough failure and coward.

There is one horrible little bit, the place where Sally McGregor, waiting for her husband on a storm-filled, lonely night, hears voices calling through the rain and storm—the voices of her imagination, insistent, compelling.

It is a marvellous piece of acting as a whole and there is plenty of interest in the unfolding of the plot of "Private Worlds."—Jeanette.

NEW PLAYERS SENIOR PETES 1935 SEASON

Johnson Motors Sponsoring Local Club in Central Ontario Race.

A SMART OUTFIT

The Petes—bearing a new name, carrying new players and wearing new uniforms—open their 1935 C.O.B.L. schedule against Oshawa here May 24th. Johnson Motors is the name of the team this year, the local company sponsoring and outfitting the club. Hugh Campbell, president of the Peterborough Baseball Club for four years—who is general manager of the Canadian Johnson Motor Co.—is the man responsible for the renovated club this summer.

Snappy new uniforms will be worn under brilliant red leather windbreakers and the '34 Central League champions will present a colorful picture in the opening ceremonies. Several new players to local fandom will be seen in action this season. Three of last year's squad—Deyell, Batten and Murray—left town since the last campaign, but their places should be ably filled by some outstanding Toronto talent.

Art (Lefty) Lapper, Charlie (Red) Kearns and Eddie (Jigg) Murphy are the three Toronto players brought in this spring. Lapper is a classy southpaw flinger with a sizzling speed ball. Kearns is a good outfielder noted for his steady and hard hitting. Murphy is rated a great shortstop and a good hitter. Frank Whitehouse, former local star pitcher, is back home again and will see action from time to time in the field or in the box. Gord (Big) Smoke, rookie Alderville Indian pitcher, shows much promise and may be of real service locally before autumn. Eddie Starr, nifty minor league catcher here, is carried this year as a relief catcher and will see action. Cliff Cadd, another newcomer, is a local intermediate player whose fielding and hitting have earned him a senior berth.

Hollingsworth May Play

Red Hollingsworth, who hopes to get his transfer in time to play the 24th, is a local boy who was with Oshawa last year. Sig Konopka of Detroit, local shortstop last season, has had his transfer refused this summer. Oy Whatley, Russ Kitchen, Scook Scriver, Fred Ash, Bill Calladine, Tommy Poley, and Les Burton remain from last year's team. Whatley will likely catch Friday with Kitchen, Scriver and Lepper all available for pitching. The infield may be: Ash, 1b; Kearns, 2b; Murphy or Hollingsworth, ss; Calladine, 3b. If both Murphy and Hollingsworth play, Kearns will be in the outfield. Otherwise Poley, Burton and Cadd will patrol the garden.

Knotty Lee has a smard squad this season, young, peppy, and good both defensively and offensively. The veteran coach hopes to march through to another league championship and possibly go on to cop the Ontario senior pennant. With a canny coach, classy team and a hard-working executive, local fans can look for a fine baseball season and they will no doubt support the game here again as they have always done in the past.

Lindberg Riding 'Hard'

Seagram Rider is Sensation of Young Canadian Racing Season.

DARK MISSION SHAPING UP.

YESTERDAY'S crowd looked rather meagre after Saturday's record turnout at the Woodbine but still there were enough on hand to make us think that this is going to be a banner year in Canadian racing circles. This young Lindberg who does the riding for the Seagram stable looks and acts like a comer. They picked him up down south and this past winter he was a sensation and since coming to Canada he has been keeping up the good work. He has a good pair of hands and is a wonderful judge of pace and veteran horsemen predict a brilliant future for this lad providing of course that the bugbear of all jocks, increasing weight does not overtake him. The Seagrams are always noted for having smart riders such as Bourrasseau who was killed in a fall at Baltimore. Pichon, Nick Wall, Whitey Abel and several others.

Too bad Horometer, last year's King's Plate winner pulled up very lame on his last workout. He has been bothered with bad underpinnings for the past year and it looks as if he will be on the shelf for most of this summer . . . Dark Mission is showing a lot of class these days and it won't be long now until he gathers in a purse . . . Boscobel is also coming to hand very nicely and will be properly spotted one of these days and if the track happens to be muddy it will suit this flchester right down to the ground. He just revels in sloppy going and has been a noted mud runner around Maryland for the past few years.

STAND PAT, the Seagram ace is the envy of all the horsemen around Woodbine these days. It is too bad there are not more horses of his calibre around our tracks and it looks as if he will have to be shipped back across the border in order to get any competition. Whitey Abel has a nice horse called Orthoprism and also one called Marmion. He does the training and also the riding and when they win, as the owner he collects the purse money so you can see Whitey is a pretty busy man these days

This pair Donstick and Chickpea from the Harry Hatch stable are in great shape and will not be very long in gathering in some oat money . . . Starter Nipper Rowe is having a fine year so far inasmuch as he is getting them away in fine fashion with no squawks from the owners, jockeys or public and that is all that is asked from a starter. Trainer Thorpe of the Seagram stable reports that Young Kitty is rapidly rounding into shape. This mare is now ten years old but don't think she is too old to cop a heat or two yet. Remember what she accomplished just one year ago. Conny Smythe's Shoeless Joe does not seem to have what it takes. He has been tried in all spots but always finishes up the track.

CARL HUBBELL NO "MYSTERY" TO CORSAIRS

Giants' Southpaw Batted From New York Box in Four Innings.

CHICAGO WINS 5-0.

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Despite a patched up infield consisting principally of a lot of guys named Floyd, Pittsburgh Pirates have driven themselves above the .500 mark in the standings for the first time since the opening day of the National League season.

With Floyd Herman at first base in place of Gus Suhr, Floyd Young subbing at second for Harry Lavagetto, and Floyd Vaughan at short as usual, the battling Corsairs rattled Forbes Field fences with a home run, five triples, two doubles and six singles yesterday, and walloped the league leading New York Giants 11-4.

Knocked Out in Fourth.

Carl Hubbell, usually a Pittsburgh nemesis, started for the Giants, but retired in considerable disorder after four innings, during which the Pirates thumped him for five runs and six hits. Allyn Stout and Frank Gabler followed, but they all looked alike to the Bucs.

Meanwhile Red Lucas, making his first start of the campaign, blanked the Giants with three hits for eight innings. He folded up a bit in the ninth and gave up five hits and four runs, but they served only to make the score a trifle more respectable. Woody Jensen led the Pirate attack with a home run and two singles, while Young kicked in with a pair of triples. Suhr, suffering from a split finger, went to right field in the ninth and thus kept his string of consecutive games played intact. He now has appeared in 506 in succession.

Pirates in Fifth Place.

The victory left the Pirates in fifth place a half game behind St. Louis Cardinals and only four games out of first place. The Giants lead over Brooklyn was shaved to a game and a half. In the only other National League game, Bill Lee held Boston Braves to six hits and Chicago's third place Cubs won 5-0 to draw to within a half-game of the Dodgers.

BARNEY WANTS JACK DEMPSEY REFEREE MATCH

Ross Camp Protests Against Donovan as Third Man in the Ring.

FAVORS McLARNIN.

NEW YORK, May 21.—(CP). — Raucous shouts of protestation disturbed the quiet of the Catskill Mountains to-day.

It was Sammy Pian and Art Winch, co-managers of Barney Ross, crying to the countryside what would happen if Referee Arthur Donovan were used for the May 28 clash of their boy and Jimmy McLarnin, king of the all the welterweights.

Donovan was the third man in the ring last September when Jimmy outpointed the stylish Chicago Jew to regain the championship. He cast the decisive vote in favor of the Vancouver Celt to a chorus of "robbery" by Messrs. Pian and Winch.

Vacations were the vogue in the mountain training camps of McLarnin and Ross yesterday when unofficial word got around that the State Athletics Commission favored Donovan as referee for the third fight of the gamecocks. Jimmy and Barney contented themselves with roadwork and calisthenics, leaving the news corps at the camps pretty hard up for excitement. Perhaps that was the reason the report about Donovan started.

"Over my dead body Donovan will referee the fight," blurted Pian.

He had to stop for wind and Winch broke in:

"Why Donovan is just plain incompetent, and not only that he favors McLarnin. What saps we'd be to let him in there again."

Pian had regained his breath and suggested they have Jack Dempsey, one-time Manassa mauler and now successful restaurateur, to referee.

Bumps Hadley, Senators — Limited Browns to five hits.

BEARS DEPEND ON HOME STAY REGAIN LEAD

Back in Newark After Road Trip of Eight Setbacks Against 7 Victories.

FACE NO EASY TASK.

(By The Canadian Press)

Their substantial lead in the International League pennant race having vanished during a three-week tour of the "northland" Newark Bears returned home for a long stay to-day with hopes they would again hit a winning stride.

With only seven victories as compared to eight setbacks to show for their road trip, the Bears found themselves in second place, a full game back of Toronto Maple Leafs and only 1½ games in front of the fast-travelling Buffalo Bisons.

Bob Shawkey's men face no easy task, however, as both the Leafs and Bisons also will be at home for the greater part of their remaining games this month. Since returning to their home park May second, the Leafs have climbed from fourth place to the top in winning 13 of their 19 games.

The Bisons boast of even better home record with 10 triumphs as against only four setbacks—a record that has carried them from sixth place to within striking distance of the top.

Following an off day yesterday, the Syracuse Chiefs will visit the Bears to-day while the Senators are playing the Orioles at Baltimore, the Redwings meeting the Leafs at Toronto and the Royals engaging the Bisons at Buffalo.

World's Most Colorful Foursome Matched

Champions To Match Strokes

Match Brings Together Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen, Joyce Wethered and Glenna Collett Vare.

LONG ISLAND, MAY 30

Greater golf foursomes might be picked than that which is slated to meet May 30 in a four-ball match at Glen Head, Long Island, but none more colorful.

The match will bring together Joyce Wethered and Bobby Jones, who will play against Glenna Collett Vare teamed with Gene Sarazen. It will mark the beginning of a national tour of Joyce Wethered. British star who in a decade, from 1920 to 1930, was to women's golf just about what Jones was to the men's game during his long supremacy.

In Glenna's Path.

If it had not been for Miss Wethered, in the years following the world war, Glenna Collett might have gone on to become the greatest woman golfer in the world. The English girl who stood off the stoutest of American challenges in the days when Glenna was driving along toward the top, has been regarded as the American girl's superior, just as Suzanne Lenglen's shadow dims that of Helen Wills Moody.

Those who have watched golf since these four players started blazing historic paths on many fairways must find much in this match to stir the memory. There was the time, for instance, when Joyce came within a whisker (or a couple of blades of grass, at least) of beating Emperor Jones himself. The occasion was in 1930 at St. Andrews after Jones had won the British open. Jones, Dale Bourn, Miss Wethered, her brother Roger competed in an exhibition foursome. Jones won with 75, and Miss Wethered scored a 76. After that Bobby called the English girl "the finest hitter of a golf ball I ever have seen."

Memories of Troon.

Glenna Collett Vare has met Miss Wethered, also. Ten years ago, the girl from Providence, R.I., was the queen of American fairways. That year she won the women's national at St. Louis by overwhelming Mrs. A. S. Fraser, 9 and 8. She won the French championship also that year.

But at Troon, in the British open, Joyce Wethered turned back her brave march with a 4 and 3 defeat. But for Miss Wethered, the world golf crown might have been worn by the pretty girl from Providence.

Again in 1929, when Glenna invaded Great Britain, Joyce defeated her in the finals.

Joyce Wethered was winning English golf titles when Jones was still fighting the hot temper that hindered his youthful game. She took the British women's closed title from 1930 to '24, and in 1922 '24, '25 and '29 won the British women's open.

Jones Runner-Up.

Jones might have started his championship career earlier but for one marvelous shot by Sarazen that won for Gene the national open in 1922 with a score of 288 to Jones' 289 at Skokie. And Sarazen might have been a greater golfer in the ensuing years had it not been for Jones, who turned him back in several battles.

The four have won between them more than 50 titles here and there, counting Jones' more important victories. They still shoot interesting golf — especially Sarazen, who showed in the recent Masters' tournament in Augusta that his game was just as good as ever.

Thus the four-ball match will bring together four golfers who can well be called the pick of the world's men and women clubswingers. Miss Wethered will be starting her first tour as a pro. The match should be a brilliant battle ever if some of the principals have slipped.

OMAHA THRILLS TRAINER.

NEW YORK.—(CP)— Omaha's triumph in the Kentuck Derby and Preakness gave Trainer Sunny Pitzsimmons his greatest thrill, and he is now confident the Woodward horse will go on to capture the Belmont stakes. Sir Barton and Gallant Fox, sire of Omaha, are the only horses in the history of the American turf to accomplish the triple. Omaha also will start in either the Withers or Suburban.

JACK NASH FOLLOWS CANUCKS INTO SECOND ROUND OF PLAY

Young Londoner Wins Belated First-round Match From Hawke.

IN BRITISH AMATEUR.

ST. ANNES ON SEA, England, May 21 (C.P. Cable).—Jack Nash of London, Ont., to-day followed five other Canadians into the second round of the British amateur golf championship. The young Londoner won a belated first-round match with J. S. T. Hawke of Bowdon by four and three.

Nash's opponent was a Cambridge blue, a nephew of Lord Hawke, famous cricketer. Nash took four of the first six holes and lost the ninth, making the turn three up. He picked up his second shot on the last of the outgoing holes when he found himself hopelessly bunkered. That was his only serious error of the round, however.

At the 13th the Londoner played a great iron shot for 150 yards, but he failed to sink a four-foot putt for a win. He was still three up going to the 15th, however, and there he laid his approach dead to win the hole and the match.

The last of the 10 Canadians, Gordie Taylor of Montreal, like Nash, was among the hold-over first round contestants. Of the eight others, five had successfully passed the first test and three, including Somerville, had failed. Those ready for second round matches were Edwin Innes of Montreal, Phil Farley of Toronto, Bud Donovan of Winnipeg, and Ken Black and Dick Moore of Vancouver.

Lawson Little, defending champion, was up against Eric Martin-Smith, title winner four years ago, and needed to have all his shots in better working order.

Stand Pat To Start In Gold Cup Race Seagram Horse Among Best Of Gallopers

Trainer Frank Gilpin of the Seagram stable has decided to start Stand Pat in the King Edward Gold Cup event at Woodbine Park to-morrow, the distance being a mile and a sixteenth, and the fans are going to see a stellar performer in action.

In the opinion of some well-informed racing authorities, among them Jimmy Lucas, who knows what he is talking about, Stand Pat is the outstanding galloper in the Dominion, and he isn't going to have any trouble crossing that finish line well in advance of the rest of the field.

In winning the Philadelphia Handicap at Havre de Grace, value $7,500, Stand Pat defeated, among others, the highly rated Head Play.

Another interesting announcement made yesterday was that Sally Fuller, winner of the King's Plate, will carry the Seagram silks in the Breeders' Stakes, which will be run to-...

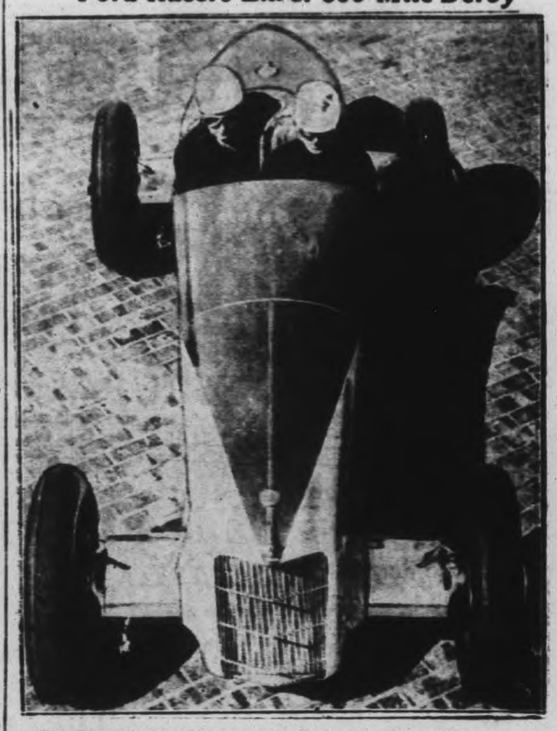
Ford Racers Enter 500-Mile Derby



This Ford V8 special is one of the fleet of ten Ford racing cars which will be entered in the 500-mile Indianapolis auto race on May 30. The racing fleet will be entered by Harry Miller, of Detroit, and this model will have Cliff Bergere, Hollywood stunt man and consistent race-money winner, at the wheel. If you remember the old model "T" Fords, you may find it hard to believe that this streamlined powerhouse was turned out from the same factory which produced the ancient models.

Preparations Made Omemee Field Day

OMEMEE, May 21. (Examiner Correspondence). — There was a splendid turnout for the Athletic Association's meeting on Friday evening in the council chambers with the president, L. M. Curtis, in the chair.

A request from the ladies of the Women's Institute for permission to run a booth on the grounds at Coronation Hall on May 24th was carefully considered and finally by a unanimous vote the request was refused.

A request from a pop-corn vendor in Lindsay for permission to operate on the athletic grounds on the 24th of May was granted at a fee of $10.

The softball committee were authorized to buy bases and to purchase the necessary wire to finish the cage behind home plate. R. Williamson who very kindly made a splendid home plate last year is to be asked to do the same again and if unable to do so a home plate will have to be purchased before the holiday.

A further donation of $15 for prizes for amateur contest in Coronation Hall in the evening was authorized.

A motion was passed to the effect that all ball players be charged the regular admission fee of 25 cents and after the game the manager of each team be refunded the admission price of 12 players. This motion was passed to do away with the confusion and overlapping of players and supporters of teams entering in cars.

The convenors of the softball committee reported a fair entry list so far but many more are wanted, particularly girls' entries. Splendid prizes and trophies are offered as an inducement in each series.

MEAT DECREASES

OTTAWA, May 21 (C.P.)—Export of meat from Canada in April was valued at $1,561,181, recording a decrease from $1,766,904 last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics announced to-day. The largest item as usual, was bacon and hams, which was valued at $1,267,762.

YANKEES BEAT CHICAGO SOX

Pale Hose Sock Broaca For Nine Hits But Fail to Gain Verdict.

TIGERS DOWN ATHLETICS.

Chicago White Sox's 7-2 beating from the New York Yankees, coupled with Cleveland's 4-1 conquest of Boston Red Sox, cut the White Sox's lead over the Indians to a game and a half in the American League. The Pale Hose solved Johnny Broaca for nine hits but the ex-Yale star was effective in the pinches. Carl Fischer, making his first start for Chicago was reached for 10 hits by the Yankees.

A home run was all that save the Red Sox from a shutout at Cleveland's hands as Oral Hildebrand kept eight other hits well spaced.

The champion Detroit Tigers mowed down Philadelphia's Athletics 8-6 in 10 innings and now trail fourth place by one one percentage point. Washington, another game to the rear, trounced St. Louis Browns, 8-2 as Russ Van Atta, former Yankee, failed in his debut for the Browns.

Pickerel Plentiful Local Anglers Say

Pickerel are plentiful this year, local anglers report. A bag of about thirty-five fine specimens was the catch of a party at Rice Lake over the week-end.

The party, numbering ten men from different parts of the district, was headed by Harry Lacheur, Charles Lacheur and Tom Hooper of this city. Caught on Friday and Saturday, the thirty-five included a number of three and four-pounders.

The Otonabee, above and below the city, has been visited by many anglers since the pickerel season opened Thursday.

IT'S A SCREAM, FOLKS!

CUBS' YOUTHFUL CAVARETTA NOT THE FIRST 'BOY WONDER'

Ott and Lindstrom, Now Veterans, Though Still Youngsters Phil Gets Big Chance at First—Grimm Ready to Retire.

(By Central Press Canadian)

CHICAGO, May 21.—There's a lad sporting the uniform of William Wrigley's Chicago Cubs who may well look to the careers of two other baseball stars with a thoughtful mien. He is Phil. Cavaretta, who at 17 with a regular berth as Cub first-baseman beckoning, is the youngest player in the major leagues.

At the moment youthful Phil, whose 18th birthday does not come until next July, is something of a phenomenon, but it happens that there are two other players in the majors who could tell him a thing or two about baseball prodigies.

"One is Mel Ott of New York Giants, a ten-year man at 26, and the other is Freddy Lindstrom, another Cub, who is in his twelfth year in the majors at 29.

Ball players who reach the majors before their twentieth birthday are not exactly a sensation. Ball players who reach the zenith while still in their 'teens and manage to stick there for a decade, however, are as few and far between as octogenarian stunt-fliers. Ott and Lindy are among the few who made the grade.

Lumbago Gets Grimm

Just now Cavaretta, a native of Chicago, is basking in the generosity of Manager Charley Grimm an old firstbaseman himself. Grimm decided that he had seen his best days as a first sacker and that the Cubs needed someone who could go to right or left with equal facility and who was laying no tribute at the door of Old Man Lumbago. Hence, Cavaretta.

It is entirely possible that Cavaretta may go on playing first base for the next ten years. His current batting average, .365, is not exactly a figure to call for eight column scarheads but the boy may do better as he grows older. Few youngsters his age ever have been given such a wide-open shot at a regular berth as the 17-year-old Phillip.

McGraw Tagged Ott

When Mel Ott first reported to the Giants in 1925, he was a 16-year-old with piano legs and a hankering to be a catcher. John McGraw took one look at his perfect stance and rhythmic swing and decided then and there that whatever else Ottie might be, he certainly was going to be a hitter. When it was obvious that Mel was something less than a riot as a catcher, Mac promptly made him into an outfielder, and at the moment Ott is as good defensively as he is offensively, which is complimenting him plenty.

Lindstrom was a precocious kid, with a fine burst of speed and plenty of fielding polish when the Giants grabbed him from Toledo in 1924. He wasn't quite 19 when he batted .333 in the world series that year, and he succeeded Heinie Groh as the regular third baseman of the Giants before he reached his twentieth birthday.

Homered First Game

Cavaretta is getting a break similar to Lindy. Freddy, up as a third baseman, got his chance through an injury to Groh, who was on his way out at the time. Ott, on the other hand, had to hang around with the Giants until his powerful bat found a place for him. Grimm, with eighteen seasons in the majors behind him, is bedevilled by lumbago and ready to call it a career. The gate is open for young Phil.

Phil himself recently explained that he started playing softball with Lane Tech. high school in Chicago His coach, Percy Moore, induced him to change to regular baseball He played on Chicago's American Legion championship team in 1933. Professional scouts liked his work, and he was sent to the Peoria club last season. When that outfit blew up, he shifted to Reading, Pa., and then the Chicago Cubs brought him up for the last seven games of 1934. In his first game with the Cubs he made a homer that won the game. He has played in all but two of the Cubs' contests this season.

Manager Grimm says Cavaretta is a grand first baseman, and he is sure the lad will make good. This would enable Grimm to manage from the bench.

Big Score Features St. John's Victory

In a deluge of hits, including lots of homers, St. John's Bantams smeared All Saints' with a 48-22 score in a wild Church Softball League game last evening. St. John's unloosed a murderous attack and repeated line-up changing by All Saints' failed to help matters. Both sides hit the ball hard and often Ackford, Gibbons and A. Lacey were all mauled unmercifully while Crowter managed to survive on the other mound. The win puts the Saints in second place instead of All Saints'. The teams:

St. John's—Lomas, c; Lewis, ss; Morley, 1b; L. Clark, 3b; Howell, 3b; Dyer, 2b; Crowter, p; Land, rf; Castle, cf; R. Clark, lf.

OMEMEE MOUNDSMEN HIT HARD IN FORD'S BATTING ONSLAUGHT

Winners Pile Up Hits and Runs in All But Three Frames.

20 SAFETIES IN ALL.

The remaining two teams in the Men's Softball League swung into action last night at Central with Hood and Cumming walloping Omemee to the tune of 15-1. The winners commenced early to bombard the slants of T. parsons and kept pecking at his delivery till they forced his retirement in the eighth in favour of Shine who was also hit freely. They had one big inning, the third, when they scored seven runs which proved to be more than enough to take the contest.

Naish, doing the elbowing for the Motor men, kept eight hits well scattered and won in a walk, sending seven opponents back to the bench via the strike-out route and issuing free transporation to five. Freddie Scates' boys put on a nice showing at the plate, banging out 12 safeties which they managed to convert into 15 tallies and send Omemee home talking to themselves.

Board, picking up where he left off last year, again supplied the fire-works at bat for the victors, bagging himself three safeties out of six attempts along with Caccavella who did likewise, the pair of them accounting for half of their team's total.

Omemee, held to eight safe blows, looked rather weak from a slugging standpoint but no doubt will improve and be heard from later on in this department. Adams and Pogue each notched tow safe blows and were the only two who could partially solve the deliveries of Naish.

Omemee looked sloppy afield but it was in this respect that the V-8's shone. Each outfit completed one double play, Omemee's coming in the second, going from Reddick to Prince to Adams; Hood and Cumming came in the seventh, McCarroll doing it all alone to completely spike a rally on the part of Omemee.

The teams:

Hood and Comming—Dorrington, 3b; McCarroll, 2b; Board, 1b; Gillespie, cf; Caccavelld, rf; Hartley, ss; Goodson, lf; Magee, c; Naish, p.

Omemee—Adams, 1b; F. Parsons, 3b; Brooks, c; McQuade, cf; Rehill, lf; Stevenson, lf; Pogue, rf; Prince, 2b; T. Parsons, p; Reddick, ss.

Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Hood and Cummings	...127 100 202—15	12	2
Omemee	000 000 010— 1	8	6

Umpires—Galbraith at the plate, Prick on bases.

Marathons Doomed

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 21 (C.P.).—The dubious distinction of being able to dance, run, walk, leap, skip, glide, roll or crawl longer, harder and farther than an ordinary mortal will lose much of its financial value if Governor Frank F. Merrian signs the hunt bill passed by the Senate to-day.

The measure would prohibit all marathon contests in California except where permitted specifically by local ordinance or where conducted on an amateur basis.

Protests Reviewed In Church Softball

A protest from Trinity Juniors re the All Saints Juniors using a baseball first baseman's mitt was not acted upon at an executive meeting of the Church Softball League last night in the "Y." The Trinity club seemed to have misinterpreted the rule as it is possible to use any style of glove for catching, and the Trinity protest failed to name which player used the glove. The Murray St.-St. Luke's juvenile game of May 16th will be replayed if it affects either team at the end of the schedule.

The St. John's-St. James' bantam game of May 14th was referred to the next meeting when a full attendance will be on hand. George St. Juniors' application for permission to use J. Watson was granted but not until the second half starts. The second part of the schedule will be out Saturday. Changes in the first-half schedule are as follows: All Saints'-St. John's junior game will be played May 23rd instead of the 22nd; Trinity-George St. senior game of May 23rd has been postponed at both teams request; two games of the second half will be played this week, George St. vs. Murray St. Juveniles Wednesday at Queen Mary, and St. John's vs. Park St. Bantams at King Edward Thursday. Games to-night, Trinity vs. Knox Seniors at King Edward Park; Mark St. vs St. Luke's Juveniles at the Oval, and St. James' vs. Knox Bantams at Queen Mary.

Premier Larroux of Spain recently witnessed air raid defence exercises at the Getafe Aerodrome near Madrid, during which men wore gas-proof masks and clothing while spraying the ground with anti-gas chemicals.

FOUR GRAPPLERS FROM EAST WIN CANADIAN MAT CROWNS

While Three From Prairie West Gain Honors at Edmonton Meet.

FOR AMATEUR TITLES.

EDMONTON, May 21.—(CP). — Four grapplers from Eastern Canada and three from the prairie west wore Canadian championship wrestling crowns to-day. Meanwhile 74 boxers from coast to coast held final workouts before stepping into the squared circle to-night to battle for honors in the Canadian boxing championship.

Two 1934 champions—Terry Evans and Joe Schliemer, both of Toronto — retained their titles last night as the action-packed string of 30 wrestling bouts was brought to a close. Eight of the bouts were decided by falls.

The 1935 championship slate

118 pounds—Les Hillis, Windsor Ont.

123 pounds—Vern Blake, Montreal.

134 pounds—Vern Pettigrew, Regina.

145 pounds—Jack Garry, Edmonton.

158 pounds—Joe Schliemer, Toronto.

174—Terry Evans, Toronto.

Heavyweight—Pat Meehan, Edmonton.

Blood flowed in the final heavyweight tussle when Meehan, burly Irish policeman, threw a Regina constable, Jimmy Lyttle, in 6:16 with a half Nelson and further arm lock.

Meehan, succeeding to the title held last year by Evans along with his 174 pound class crown, threw Lyttle out of the ring twice in the first minute, but when he tried it a third time Lyttle pulled him along as well. Both were bleeding from the nose as they slammed each other around.

Evans provided the best wrestling displays of the program. He threw Howard Pender of Grand Prairie, Alta., with an arm scissors and body press in 6:40 in his semi-final bout and used a body slam and press to pin Joe Effa of Victoria to the mat in 6:10 in the final.

Jack Garry of Edmonton succeeded to the 145-pound title, held last year by Jim Allan of Toronto, by defeating Tom Gagen of St. Thomas, Ont., by decision. Gagen had eliminated Paul Tsaruk of Myrnam, Alta., and Cliff Parker, Edmonton, to get into the final. Garry, the stronger, made sure of the award by keeping Gagen in trouble during the last two minutes of the nine-minute bout.

Protege of Jimmy Trifunov, Regina's oftimes Canadian featherweight king, Pettigrew earn the 134-pound class title held last year by Wally Meyers of Toronto. Gordon Garry, brother of the 145-pound titlist, was Pettigrew's victim in the final. In his semi-final bout, Pettigrew threw Bert Jolly, London, Ont., Y.M.C.A. instructor, who earlier in the evening had tossed Alex Siddons of Alix, Alta., in 30 seconds for the shortest bout of the night.

Montreal's lone champion was Blake, who succeeded Ted McKinley, Toronto, as champion of the 123-pound class. McKinley was among the champions not defending this year. Blake obtained a bye in the preliminaries, earned a decision over James Goodman of Medicine Hat, Alta., in the semi-final and defeated Mike Swiatkowski of London Ont., by decision in the final. Swiatkowski moved into the final with a decision over Jack Douglas of Medicine Hat.

Les Hillis, 118 pounds, was the first champion to be crowned. Hailing from Windsor, Ont., Hillis received the decision over Jimmy Park of Edmonton in the only bout of the class. There was no champion in this class last year.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

(By C. J. P.)

Jack Deannard has called a meeting of the City Baseball League for eight bells in Duffus' tonight when bantam and juvenile squads wanting in should be on deck for their certificates. Bantam section is oke but more juvenile teams are needed. Rotary is playing in the Junior Lakeshore Loop. King Edward School Bantams are practising hard these days for their sudden-death game in Waterloo this Friday to settle the '34 O.B.A.A. championship.

• • • • • • •

A Peterborough team is entered in the Lakeshore Intermediate Baseball League along with Port Hope, Cobourg and Bowmanville. The local squad, in process of organization now, will be managed by Doug Moore and is practising nightly till the 24th at six p.m. in the Exhibition Grounds. All players wanting a tryout are invited. Here are some of the prospects: Fetter, catcher; McIlwaine, Masterson, Vannest, Billingsley, Barry and Field, pitchers: Rooke, Padgett, Jay, Mein, Nicholls, Houston, Corbett, infielders; Moore, Hope, Wilson, J. Bailey, B. Bailey, Pryde, Mowry, Len Hollingsworth, Dallin and McGillen, outfielders. Others are invited, too. They open in Bowmanville the 24th of May and play Cobourg here a twilight fixture the 30th.

• • • • • • •

As for the Raybestos, they seem to want to join the Trent Valley League. This loop held its organization meeting last week but failed to notify the local club. However, they decided to invite a local and a Belleville team to enter along with Coe Hill, Marmora and Havelock. P. Yuill of Havelock is president; C. Rollins of Coe Hill is vice-prexy; Bill Regan of Deloro is secretary-treasurer; and the committee has two delegates each from Marmora, Havelock and Coe Hill. Seems to us they should have first invited Peterborough and Belleville—if they wanted them—and then did their organizing. Well, we'll give you the dope as we get it.

• • • • • • •

The Omemee Athletic Association is holding its big tournament Friday, May 24th, and is putting up some fine prizes for the softball winners. They've got quite a few entries so far but want more, especially girls' teams. Entry fee is a dollar a team; apply to Dr. McPhee, Omemee. A street dance will be held in the eve. All ball players will be socked for two bits each going in but after the game, the managers will be refunded the admission charges of 12 players—thereby eliminating the hangers-on.

• • • • • • •

With Ted Naish hopping 'em across the platter a mile a minute and his teammates hitting and fielding to beat the band, Hood and Cummings took a 15-1 opening bow at Central last night, Omemee supplying the background. The O's didn't look so hot, the outfielders in particular having butter all over their fingers whenever a fly was knocked. Tommy Parsons hurled pretty fair ball but would have looked better with more support. At that, the Motormen have some nifty clouters aboard and will be no setup this season. We expect Omemee will, as in the past, improve as they go along. Messrs. Galbraith and Frick umpired, no doubt practising up for their heavy schedule as umps in the gals' circuit.

• • • • • • •

Herb Ralph's Rotary juniors of the Lakeshore League will hold an important practise at the Exhibition Grounds at six tomorrow eve when certificates will be issued and players signed. These must be sent to the loop secretary by May 25th. These players are asked to be on hand: Lesurf, McIlmoyle, Mowry, Kingdon, A. Clark, G. Clark, Vitarelli, Williamson, Galvin, Connelly, Caccavella, Thorburn, McKinley, Dunkley and Giardino. Other teams in the circuit are Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa and Bowmanville. Schedule opens June 1st, but Rotary isn't elated to play till they go to Cobourg June 12th. However, efforts are being made to have the locals start off early in June if possible and the schedule may be revised somewhat.

• • • • • • •

Johnson Motors had a good workout in Riverside last e'en with Art Padgett, Jerry Corbett and Deb Hillier on hand for the first time along with the regulars. While Murphy's finger isn't broken, it's very doubtful if he'll be in the lineup for Friday's game here with Oshawa. Our infield is proving a severe headache to Knotty Lee and no wonder! Aside from Ash on first and Calladine on third, there is no infield yet. Murphy is injured, Konopka has been refused a transfer and Hollingsworth's transfer has been held up. Sig won't be passed now and you can bank on that. And we hear that Red won't get his transfer unless he proves that he has not worked anywhere but in Peterborough since leaving Oshawa. So we have no second baseman or shortstop at present and the opener just three days away.

• • • • • • •

Local club officials are plenty warm under the neckband about Konopka and Hollingsworth. They point to half a dozen fishy-looking transfers which have been passed in other towns, but just because the Petes seemed to be getting too many, they're stopped up cold. After all, it should be remembered that the seniors here didn't get as many imports as plenty of other places—and besides that, we lost three regulars from last year. We got Lepper, Murphy and Kearns in. We haven't got Owen, and Whitehouse—who will only be available part-time—is a former local boy who never played amateur elsewhere. Lesurf will be playing junior here. How comes it that the O.B.A.A., which said sometime ago that no more U.S. imports would be allowed, has given Napanee a nice smart Buffalo player? Does Ernie Gibbard's position on the O.B.A.A. help some? Sunny Morgansen is right in his Monday column when he says that body takes the prize for something or other.

From Long Line

TORONTO, May 21 (C.P.)—Sally Fuller of the Edward F. Seagram string, who led the way home in the 76th running of the King's Plate at Woodbine on Saturday, comes from a distinguished plate-winning family.

South Shore won the King's Plate in 1922, and South Shore happens to be Sally Fuller's dam. But before South Shore threw Sally Fuller, she gave birth to Shoreline, who was the King's Plate winner in 1929.

Rumors that Italy is building a 3000 horsepower car to compete against Sir Malcolm Campbell's "Blue Bird" for the world's speed record, have been denied.

George St. Seniors Take Softball Win

George Street Seniors took a 28-21 decision over St. Paul's' in a Church Softball League slugfest last night, the win putting Leo Copp's crew in second place and the Saints back in fifth. George Street got 11 runs in the sixth off Fleming to put it on ice. Shortt and McKee hurled for the winners in fair style but had good support. Barnard, Weir, R. Kingdon, McIntyre, Marsh and Barr led the hitters. The teams:

George Street—Barnard, c; R. Kingdon, 2b; Wells, 3b; Weir, 1b; Dart, ss; Northup cf; T. Kingdon, cf; Shortt, p; McKee, p; Miller, lf.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER PICTURES

CHAPTER 31

There was no answer from the white man and so Consuelo smiled to herself. "Now he knows what I want and he will help me." When she came out of the bedroom she flung her arms around him.

"I am so sorry to fight with you, my darling. I will take your dancing lessons and I will learn those gorgio songs and I will be the whole cheese of that fat Goldberg's show. Do you believe me?"

Stewart kissed her lips for answer.

"And I love these gorgio clothes that Douglas takes me to buy and says are from you. You have been ashamed because I am a gypsy, but you need not be ashamed longer. If ever Girtza saw me dressed like this he would kill me. Is it not good to know that I am doing it for you? I would do anything for you, white man, if—" she did not finish the sentence. "Ah, I will get my hands on her again and tear out her hair!"

"L'Ville? Now, Cofiuelo, that's another one of your funny gypsy notions you've got to get rid of. They won't stand for that sort of thing backstage—one more fight and out you go. You just leave Louise alone and you'll get along much better."

"I hate her! She called me a dirty gypsy!"

"She can't do that any more—not with all of your pretty new clothes. Come along, it's nearly curtain time."

They had no sooner gotten to the theater and Consuelo gone to her dressing room, when Louise's maid informed Stewart that the blonde star wanted to see him immediately.

Louise was finishing her makeup when he entered. He kissed her on the back of the neck and sat down.

"Well, my dear, what's on your mind?"

She headed an eyelash before she dared answer.

"Stewart, I'm so mad I could just cry! That horrid gypsy took the star off my door and put it on hers and now everybody's laughing about it. I was never so humiliated! I, the premiere danseuse of the Follies, and then a dirty low gypsy comes along and does a thing like this to me. Stewart, I don't like her at all. In fact, I can't stand the sight of her. She's so common and—and—well, you know what I mean. I wish, my dear, that you would tell Goldberg to let her go at the end of the week. You'll do just this little thing for me, won't you?"

"Mustn't be jealous of the gypsy. The show needs a good peppy act." Inwardly he was quite amused.

"Stewart, darling," she slipped to his lap and rumpled his hair, "who's behind this gypsy?"

He smoothed down his hair.

"You know I don't like that." He shook himself free of her arms. Now he was annoyed. "You read the papers, Louise. Goldie saw her dance—"

His answer struck a wrong note. Like magic it served to drop the cloak of Louise's cultivated refinement. She sprang up and faced him angrily.

"Listen, big boy, I wasn't born yesterday. I want the low down. Who's behind this gypsy?"

"I haven't the slightest idea." He got to his feet to go. "You're forgetting yourself a bit, aren't you?"

She paid no attention to the last remark.

"Oh, Lord, but you can be dog-gone dumb when you want to be. All you have to do is to put that ritzy look on your face and start freezing. Well, I don't care. I want to know who's behind that girl and when I do they'll be plenty fireworks! And don't you go hanging around her as you were last night, either!"

Stewart opened the door. Instantly the woman went to him and drew him back into the room.

"I'm sorry, big boy, I didn't mean to be so coarse and rough. I know I promised and I won't again and I do appreciate all you've done for me. I'm not myself to-night, that's all. I'm a bunch of nerves. Honey, you haven't been a bit nice to me since you came back from that last trip to the west. Won't you break that engagement you said you had for to-night and come home with me?" He shook his head. She clung to him. "I'm acting like a fool, I know, but I'm in an awful slump. It's the hardest thing in the world to listen to applause for someone else—and a dirty gypsy at that! Oh, I won't cry—" her voice broke. "I won't cry—I can't cry—I'll spoil my makeup! Kiss me, honey, and say you love me and help me get that gypsy out of this theater before I lose my mind. Please, honey, please! Stewart, if you love me—"

The call boy came.

"Ready, Miss L'Ville."

—"make Goldberg tear up her contract!"

"L'Ville—L'Ville—" call from down stairs.

"Oh, damn!"

In the meantime, for Consuelo—there were no more lazy days of riding in the country with Doug. There were no more leisurely strolls on the fave-nue. No more shows at night. New York had reached out its arms and caught Consuelo in that maddened pace that was "hurry—hurry—hurry—"

There were rehearsals now every morning for the new act. They were working doubly hard to put it on before the first peak of her popularity had worn off. Under her guidance they made the setting for the gypsy camp as real as possible. Here was the van and the trees behind it and here was the campfire with an iron kettle over the glow and over in the corner was chained a little honey bear. And there were people, Spaniards mostly, who wore their gypsy clothes with good swagger and sang their songs loudly.

From the front the camp looked well, but to Consuelo it was a tawdry imitation. How different it would have been if they had only gotten real gypsies; how good to hear sweet Romany again. But these make-believe gypsies knew no sweet Romany. These singers and dancers were not her own and she hated them and treated them like dogs under her feet.

Of the entire setting only the little bear seemed good to her. She made friends with him and he would sit up and beg when she came on the stage. She thought of Honey and Yoda and for the moment she was lonesome, but she did not have time to be lonesome long.

When she was through with rehearsals she was taken to the studio for her dancing lessons. Her body was as supple as a green reed, but she chafed under the discipline of doing what another said. She hated the slowness with which the teacher worked and the constant repetition of an exercise. This learning of the technique—bah, what was the use of it anyway? How difficult it was for her to make her feet obey him and not go dancing off in her own fashion.

But even as through the years she had held to her ideal of dancing before the world, so now she set for herself this task of learning to dance the way L'Ville did. She went to it with grim vigor as if it were a thing to be accomplished in a week. She worked until her body ached and her muscles cried out at the injustice and the teacher was the one who had to say: "This is enough for now. Go home and rest."

Going back to the hotel she would fall asleep in the taxi, her head against Doug's shoulder.

All of this work and hurry did not seem like a gypsy, and indeed the girl had changed so in this short time that one of her own people would hardly have recognized her. She was like a wild flower that had been transplanted and the change of soil and surroundings had given it new life and it had blossomed into new rare beauty. But it was only the blossom that had changed and not the heart of the flower, for through it flowed the wild life that had been its own and would always be its own and it would deceive only the one who looked with his eyes and saw no deeper.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, May 22

According to the planetary configurations, this should be a rather fortunate day in some respects. However, certain signs of treachery, fraud, or shrewd transactions call for wariness in making contracts or in connection with other papers or documents. In social, domestic or romantic affairs, there is promise of pleasant surprise of a curious or intriguing nature.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have fair success during the year, but much depends on wise judgment and wariness against fraud or duplicity. The purely personal relations may develop a novel or intriguing state of affairs.

A child born on this day may be gifted with clever talents in business and have interesting phases of a private nature. It might be a fine poet or musician.

RENT! Through the WANT-ADS

Just a Reminder of a springtime custom

There is a great host of people,
From coast to coast of this great country,
Who join in saying
"I always use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in the spring."
At this season more than any other
The blood is thin and watery
And the nerves seem to be on the ragged edge.
You find yourself nervous and tired and irritable.
Appetite is fickle and digestion fails,
Because the nerve force required for digestion
Is wasted in cares and worries.
This is just a reminder
Of what this nerve food has done for you in the past;
And of what it will do for you to-day.
By making the blood rich and red
It instils new energy and pep into the system,
And lifts you out of the valley
Of fatigue and weakness and low spirits.

CHIEF GIMBLETT HAS AUTHORITY TO HIRE AND FIRE

Only Courtesy to Consult Chairman of Committee is View Taken.

FRIENDLY DISCUSSION.

Trouble Arose Over Appointment of New Man at the Fire Hall.

Authority of Chief Gimblett to engage and dismiss firemen, according to the regulations of a city by-law defining his duties and responsibilities, was affirmed by the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night in a friendly discussion regarding the recent appointment of Edward Wigg as a probationary member of the Department succeeding Frank Shearer.

"At the same time," said Mayor Denne, "while Chief Gimblett has the responsibility of taking on a man or letting one go, I think that as a matter of courtesy to the chairman of his committee he should consult the chairman, show him the list of applicants and tell him why he is selecting a certain man."

"This is the first time in my thirteen years here that this question has come up," Chief Gimblett said, "and if I have interpreted wrongly the rules of the by-law I am sorry."

Mayor Denne remarked that it was not exactly a question of the strict application of the regulations.

"It is a matter of courtesy to the chairman so that he will know what is going on, and not learn it from some one on the street," the Mayor continued. "The Chief has certainly had the fullest co-operation from all of us."

"Yes, I'll say that. You have," Chief Gimblett acknowledged.

"I never try to interfere with any of the chairmen," His Worship declared. "If any citizen speaks to me about any question of that kind I refer him to the chairman of the particular committee. It wouldn't have hurt the Chief to have said something to Alderman McIntyre about taking on a new man and letting Shearer go."

Alderman Cotton: I'd leave this question to the Chief and Alderman McIntyre.

Ald. McIntyre: I want to know whether this new man is going on. I don't feel like supporting him if he came here from Toronto.

Mayor Denne said he did not know all the particulars of the case, but he understood that Edward Wigg was working in Toronto for his brother-in-law. The latter was appointed to a government position and Mr. Wigg took his place.

Many Unemployed Here

"If he had a job in Toronto I'd say let him go back to it," Mayor Denne commented. "We've got lots of Peterborough boys who are unemployed and finding it hard to get work."

Alderman Macdonald said he understood that Mr. Wigg was born in Peterborough, and he knew that he had worked here in a number of jobs.

"I'd like to see more co-operation in all these matters," Mayor Denne said. "We've got enough difficulties without making any more."

Alderman Tuggey: I understand that Shearer was at the fire hall about four months altogether on relief duty. Then the Chief decided to take him on to fill a vacancy. I can't see why the Chief didn't find out sooner that Shearer was not efficient as the Chief tells us. Why did the Chief have to wait fourteen months to find out. If the man was not up to the mark, why didn't the Chief find out in the six months of probation."

Alderman McIntyre explained the circumstances leading up to the special meeting of the committee last night. Shearer had told him that he was a nervous type whenever the Chief called him into the office. He said he did not know why he was let go, that the Chief was "riding" him, but he did not know why.

Ald. McIntyre said Shearer was dismissed on only four days' notice, and the chairman did not think that was fair. The new uniforms arrived for the members of the brigade, but nothing had been previously ordered for Shearer.

Cause of "The Friction."

"I wasn't notified about any of it," Ald. McIntyre said. "When I went down to the fire hall I was taken back to find the new men there. As the new uniforms were in for the men, Mr. Sloane of Tip Top Tailors asked about getting a suit for the new man. I told the Chief that he had better wait until the Committee met. That was where the little friction came in. Later I heard that Mr. Wigg had not been here for three months, and that he was here only a day or two before being taken on. I telephoned the Chief when I got home and told him that he had better send the new man back. The Chief told me: "You are overstepping my head." I said yes perhaps it is time some one did.' If the committee thinks I have overstepped the mark I am willing to apologize, but I don't think it is in the interests of the city and of the firemen to let the Chief abuse his authority. I felt that he should have taken this matter up with me."

Chief Gimblett said he didn't know that Mr. Wigg had been working in Toronto.

Alderman Macdonald recalled that the question of the Chief's authority had been discussed by the committee on another occasion, and it was then decided that the appointment of the assistant Chief should be in the hands of the council.

"As far as me 'riding' him is concerned, a man is never on the carpet unless the assistant chief or the captain is present. So they ought to know about that."

Chief Gimblett said he had kept Mr. Shearer on longer than the usual period of probation because he was off duty for two periods of illness, one of typhoid fever. Later, he decided not to let him go during the winter. The Chief agreed that Shearer was clean living and willing to do his work about the hall, but that he failed to learn principles of facts such as the duties of a fireman as set out in the rules, the duties of the Chief and so on.

Ald. Tuggey remarked that the main question to him was whether the man was becoming an efficient fireman.

Chief Gimblett said he had rather come to the conclusion that Mr. Shearer would not make a fireman, and that six months ago he had so reported to Alderman McIntyre.

Ald. Cotton: Apparently this man was kept on longer than the usual time to give him a real chance.

Ald. McIntyre: The Chief spoke to me about him six months ago, and I pleaded for him then to get a chance.

Mayor Denne: Wasn't Shearer working when he was taken on?

Chief Gimblett: Yes. He was on the books. He came to me and asked to be taken on the Department.

Replying to the comments of Mayor Denne and several of the aldermen that the Chief should have shown the chairman of the committee courtesy in consulting him about the change in the staff, Chief Gimblett said: "It will not occur again."

Discussion of the incident closed on Alderman McIntyre's expression that he had always shown every kind of co-operation with the Chief, that he had not tried "to hew to the line with him", and that he was not in favor of retaining a man who had come from Toronto to take Shearer's place.

HOME FOR SALE

Georgian Design Charming and Dignified

A truly beautiful Home situated among Peterborough's finest surroundings and constructed along lines that blend with the district the builder has chosen for the location of this lovely Georgian Home of Seven Rooms.

Situated on Homewood Avenue, just around the corner off Monaghan Road, close to Queen Mary School, and with a splendid view, the solid brick construction with a lovely porch will appeal to all.

Entering the house you come first into a small vestibule with travertine walls. This vestibule is separated from the rest of the house by a glass panelled door which serves to keep out the cold and leads to the main hall with its beautiful winding stairs having quarter-oak steps and walnut balustrade, and there is also an extra cloak closet behind mirror panelled doors.

To the left of the hall is the living-room with its grained finish, here we have the beautiful fireplace with tiled hearth, quarter oak hardwood floor, radio plug in the wall, and five other base plugs.

The dining-room has the same finish as the living-room, with recess for buffet.

The breakfast room and kitchen adjoin the dining-room, and here again, in both these rooms, the same air of charm is present—the kitchen with its tiled sink and overhead cupboards is laid out in the latest modern manner.

Back to the front hall, with its winding stairway, we trace our steps to inspect the upper part of this charming home; half-way up we come to a mezzanine landing off which is constructed a lovely sunroom, with glass panelled doors and casement windows.

A short flight of stairs leads from the mezzanine to the main bedrooms, of which there are three. A lovely bathroom is also constructed here, with tile walls and floor and a built-in shower. In the upper hall is a linen room, also an extra cloak cupboard fitted with glass doors. A wide easy stair, leads to the attic.

There are many features, one of which we have not mentioned is the large heated garage, its newly oiling doors open on to the graveled drive leading direct to the street.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES! By ALEX J. MORRISON

Number 609

Nine out of ten players think they have their heads in the right position when they have actually moved up and down or turned forward.

I'm always harping on this part of the swing because without the proper head position the whole swing is what might be expected from a chicken with its head cut off. There's no sense to it. It can't be timed nor controlled.

Most players don't know how to keep the head in the right position. They think that all they have to do is to hold it over the ball. That's all, but doing it is something else.

In order to keep it in the right position you must try to turn your chin to the right as you swing down.

Number 611

Advice that is impossible to follow is poor advice. You can't swing slowly unless you swing properly. By properly I mean having your left side in control.

The slow backswing is one in which the left side dominates the right. When the right side dominates the action is hurried. The left side just can't be hurried and it won't act quickly. That's its main advantage.

You can think as fast as you act with your left side. So, if your instructor doesn't tell you something about the things which make your swing slow, his advice to slow up your swing is a waste of time. You can bank on this rule.

LINDSAY LOSES PART OF PLANT

Castle Motor Company to Make Lighter Products in Windsor.

OPERATING A YEAR

The Castle Motor Company, Limited, of Lindsay, is transferring part of its plant to Windsor.

J. E. Castle, secretary and general manager of the company ,is a son of C. H. Castle, Peterborough.

Most of the light machinery is being moved to Windsor where dies will be made and light production carried on, but the heavier products will be turned out at Lindsay.

According to a Windsor report Mr. Castle explained that in manufactoring for the Ford Motor Company it was necessary to confer with engineers and other officials at the East Windsor factory, and then deliver the finished parts to the Ford assembly plant in Toronto. It is now planned to make tools and dies in Windsor, and manufacture most of the parts at Lindsay for easier delivery to Toronto. The company expects to employ fifteen or twenty men in the Windsor branch.

GREAT RELIGIOUS WAR PREDICTED FROM ITALO-ETHIOPIAN DISPUTE

New Yorker Reveals Col. Lawrence's Confidences in Years of Friendship.

HATED WORK ABROAD.

Editor's note: Among Americans there are few who knew "Lawrence of Arabia," who died Sunday better than did Colonel Ralph H. Isham of New York. Colonel Isham has written the following account of his friendship with the British hero for The Associated Press.

By COL. RALPH H. ISHAM
Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 21—I met Lawrence in 1918 when he came to England for the peace conference. He came with Emir Feisal, who was representing his father, King Husin of the Hedjaz. That was the beginning of an association between us which lasted throughout the rest of his life.

He came to London to spend the day with me less than two months ago.

Although we had corresponded frequently I had not seen him since he finished his magnificent translation of the Odyssey in 1932. I got him to start this in 1927. It is now being recognized as the foremost translation.

A week before he came to see me in London I had gone to visit him at his cottage in Dorset. His neighbors told me photographers and reporters had besieged him for interviews and pictures which he refused to grant. When he came to see me in London he told me he had had no peace since leaving the army service.

20 Years of Exploring

I asked him on that visit about his plans and it now seems tragic to recall that he answered, "Well, I figure that I have 20 good years of life ahead of me and I'm going to spend them in my cottage with my books and exploring the English countryside on my bike."

He expressed for years an inexpressible love of England.

In 1927 he wrote me from Karachi, India: "I hate the east. It holds bad memories for me and I begrudge every hour of my existence away from England, where, only, I feel at home.

"This is my 15th year abroad but I had to ask the airforce to put me on foreign service for the publicity unavoidable in connection with 'revolt in the desert' would have rendered my life intolerable and my presence a cursed nuisance to my commanding officer in any camp in England.

"I am exiled till the fuss about my book has died down in the press."

I proposed in London that he come to America to visit me and see some of the country.

He said: "No, I haven't time. There's too much of England I want to see before I die. You who dash about England in motorcars never get to know the beauty and peace of the byways. In them I shall lose my bad memories of the east."

I think that his death is an incalculable loss, for I believe that in a crisis in the east, which he believed imminent, he would have been the man of the hour.

Great Religious War

He spoke to me at great length of his fear that the Italian-Abyssinian trouble might precipitate a great religious war. He felt that that would be far more dangerous than any European conflict might be.

Knowing and appreciating fully his remarkable qualities and genius, I like to think of him as an enthusiastic young man. I know of few, if any, men who have achieved equal success in such various and opposite directions.

He achieved greatness as a scholar, a soldier, and as an artist.

There have been four biographies published about him during his life. He was the most simple of people—sympathetic, spontaneous, enthusiastic. But he was always incredibly shy with strangers.

The last time I saw him he said to me—we had been speaking of women—"most men are fundamentally honest. Few women are. Their emotions are too strong and varied to permit them to hold to a course of absolute honesty."

Outstanding as Artist

I believe that with all his achievements in other lines he will in the appraisal of posterity seem most highly celebrated as an artist and I know that would be his main hope.

He once said of the Arabian episode, "I look upon what I did in Arabia as morally indefensible and I only ask to be forgotten by my friends."

But his friends will never forget him.

He gave his life, in the end, as a gallant soldier in saving a life. We will not see his like again.

He cited instances where a correct set of teeth had broadened the patient's social activities. "One woman couldn't close her lips over her natural teeth," he said. "She couldn't mix socially. She had her teeth extracted and artificial teeth corrected the defect."

Once Feared For Skaters Motorists Get Sympathy

HAMILTON.—A while ago members of the city council were worried for the safety of children roller skating on the street. Now Mayor Wilton is worried for the safety of the motorists. It wasn't so bad when the young skaters merely swore at passing motorists, His Worship conceded. "They've started riding horseback up and down the street, not to get anywhere, but just to join the carnival. The skaters bring musical instruments and wail and strum far into the night. Then the skaters rub their roller skates on mail boxes to liven things up. Can a motorist pass them? Let him try."

EIGHT BUSH FIRES UNDER CONTROL IN APSLEY AREA

Worst Fires Since Blaze of 1923 Ranger Reports.

15 FIRES IN HASTINGS.

One Thousand Acres of Woodland Burned Over—Believed Incendiary.

A belief that most of the eight bush fires which have laid waste over one thousand acres in Anstruther and Methuen townships are of incendiary origin, was expressed by Fire Ranger Dan Whitmore of the Apsley station today. The fires are apparently all under control, he reported.

"They all started in out-of-the-way spots where few people pass," Ranger Whitmore said. "I think they must have been started by someone. Fires started accidentally by campers and fires which start by themselves are very unusual this early in the year."

Worst Since 1923

Giving a word picture of the battle which has been fought on more than a half-dozen different fronts during the past four days, the official declared, "These are the worst fires I've ever seen so early in the year in all my twenty years' experience. We've had some big fires in August and September in past years but rarely a big one in May. The last fire in this district big enough to compare with these was in August, 1923."

Mr. Whitmore said between eighty and a hundred men have been battling the flames since Sunday.

FORD RESTORES $6 MINIMUM

General Increase in Wages is Announced For Canadian Employees.

AFFECTS 7,700 WORKERS.

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., May 22 (C.P.).—Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., in announcing today restoration of the $6 minimum wage, paralleling action of the Ford Company in Michigan, said 7,700 employees in Canada would benefit.

There are 6,500 of this total in the Border Cities plant and 1,200 in branches in Toronto, Montreal, Saint John, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver.

Mr. Campbell said the company's action was a "constructive move" and it was hoped to "improve purchasing power and thus to increase industrial production gentually by stabilizing labor employment and further re-establishing labor income."

A minimum wage of $5 a day was set in the East Windsor plant in 1914. This was raised to $6 in 1919 and to $7 in 1929 "to stem the tide of depression by increasing purchasing power." In 1931 there was a reduction to $6 and in 1932 another decrease to $4. The $5 rate was restored in March, 1934.

GUELPH, May 22.—History was made at the annual convocation at the Ontario Agricultural College yesterday when for the first time in the history of the college a girl student carried off the general proficiency award in the graduating year.

SEES TREATY REVISION.

Blomberg Named Minister of War—First Since Defeat in 1918.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Havas News Agency.)

BERLIN, May 22 (C.P.-Havas). — The Third Reich to-day threw its army program into high gear as the Chancelleries of Europe weighed Chancellor Adolf Hitler's new historic 13-point program of foreign policy stressing his government's will to peace while defending Germany's rearmament and forecasting treaty revision.

While the country re-echoed the applause with which 600 Nazi Reichstag deputies received their leader's address, the government promulgated the laws re-establishing compulsory military service in the Reich and providing for an army of at least 500,000 men. A mere 25 per cent. of the British Fleet in size or 15 per cent. below the French Fleet will be constructed.

At the same time General Werner von Blomberg, Reichswehr Minister, was named Minister of War, re-establishing a ministry that has been non-existent since 1918.

The Government issued a law last night compelling all Germans between the ages of 18 and 45 to serve one year in the army. It is effective at once.

Persons over 45 will form reserves, and "during war every German man and woman will be obliged to serve the Fatherland," the decree said.

LONDON, Ont., May 22 (C.P.).—Vincent Foley, former prominent London lawyer, pleaded guilty to three charges of conversion and fraud when his trial was resumed to-day, and was sentenced to an extra year in Portsmouth Penitentiary. He is already serving a four-year term.

Closes Second Trial.

The sudden development brought to a close his second trial.

Foley admitted guilt on two charges of conversion involving $6,700 belonging to the Bruce family of Delaware Township, former clients of his.

The third charge was securing $1,500 by false pretence with intent to defraud, $1,500 from Mr. B. and Mr. C.; two out of town business men, complainants in the previous extortion case.

Three other charges involving conversion and conspiracy were dismissed.

Foley took the sentence calmly.

Dan Ryan Missing

Dan Ryan, 14, of 291 Rubidge street, has been missing from his home since last Friday. He left for St. Peter's School after dinner, and when he didn't return that night it was thought he might have gone to his uncle's house in the country. Later it was learned that he was not there, and search made by the parents and the police turned up information that the boy had been seen in the city. He is dressed in a gray cap, blue sweater and blue pants. His hair is brown. It is thought that some family has been sheltering the boy. Any information will be gladly received by the parents, or may be reported to the police.

PREMIER ADOPTS SON 2 AND HALF, PETER HEPBURN

Sets Example to Province For Hon. D. A. Croll's "Adopt a Baby" Week.

SEEKING DAUGHTER.

TORONTO, May 22.— (CP).— Master Peter Hepburn, fair-haired, blue-eyed 2½ years old son of Premier and Mrs. Mitchell F. Hepburn, whose adoption of the youngster was announced to-day by Hon. D. A. Croll, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare. And in a few days, said Mr. Croll, Peter will have a sister for officials of the Children's Aid branch are looking for the second child the Hepburns wish to adopt.

Peter went to the Yarmouth farm near St. Thomas with his Daddy to-day. He went from an unnamed Children's Shelter, where he had a different name. He is a stronf, sturdy youngster, said Mr. Croll, "with a mind of his own."

Several little girls have been tentatively selected as Peter's sister by the Children's Aid workers, and Mrs. Hepburn will probably make her choice next week.

Week Starts May 28.

The "Adopt a Child" Week, announced by Mr. Croll for the week in which the Dionne quintupiets celebrate their first birthday May 28, appealed to the Premier when it was first suggested, said the Minister.

Before any announcement was made of the "week," Mr. Hepburn and his wife made known their wishes to Mr. Croll.

For three weeks Children's Aid officials combed the province for children to fit the new parents' specifications. Last Friday a likely boy was found. The Premier and Mr. Croll motored to the Shelter Saturday where Peter was busy playing.

"I'm taking that boy home today and his name is Peter," said Mr. Hepburn.

The Welfare Minister hesitated.

Brother Hijackers Are Given Sentences

TORONTO, May 22. (CP).—Two men were sentenced to-day on charges of receiving and retaining stolen goods arising out of the "hijacking" of a truck and its $15,000 tobacco load near Napanee several months ago.

George Prince, 26, was sentenced to four and a half years in Kingston penitentiary, and Robert Prince, brother, received two years less one day definite and one year indefinite in Ontario Reformatory.

Crown counsel charged George was more responsible than his brother. George himself said: "I believe I influenced him."

$21,000,000 Bubble Bursts

Scarcely $82,000 Is Now Available To Meet $16,000,000 Invested In Seaboard Utilities.

BOSTON, May 22 (A.P.).—Bursting of a $21,000,000 securities bubble apparently left thousands who invested with less than $100,000 today.

Attorney-General Paul A. Dever said a rough survey of assets indicated scarcely $82,000 now is available of $16,000,000 invested in Seaboard Utilities Securities, while only about $6,000 of $5,000,000 invested in Railroad Shares Securities remained.

The securities were purchased by thousands of New Englanders through the bankrupt C. D. Parker & Company, Inc., one of several firms now under investigation by alleged bucket shop practices.

Roosevelt's Bonus Veto Overridden, U.S. House

Members Flaunt President's Warning $2,200,000,000 Bill Invites Disastrous Consequences.

VOTE GOES 322-98 ISSUE UP TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(A P) — Flaunting President Roosevelt's personal warning that the Patman $2,200,000,000Bonus Bill invited "disastrous consequences," the United States House of Representatives thundered the necessary two-thirds to override his veto today.

The vote was 322 to 98.

The vote by which the Patman Bill passed the House in March was 318 to 90.

The issue then was placed squarely up to the Senate. There the administration was counting on a few votes margin to sustain the Roosevelt objections.

Should the Senate refuse the two-thirds majority necessary to override, early work on a compromise partial bonds payment was expected.

The Roosevelt position today was construed by some as indicating he would not veto a plan whereby veterans could cash in their certificates at current instead of full value.

The Democratic leadership in the Senate planned an effort to fix a time for a vote when it received the bill an hour later. Several speeches were in prospect, with a possibility a vote would go over until tomorrow.

500 Men In Kitchener Under Hitler's Edict

KITCHENER, Ont., May 22 (CP).—About 500 German-born men between the ages of 18 and 45 in Kitchener and Waterloo come under the terms of Hitler's latest edict concerning military training for expatriated Germans abroad. How many of them might go back for a year of goose stepping with the brown shirts could not be learned to-day.

Ernst Woelfle, president of the Canadian Society for German Culture, said to-day he believed the majority of his club's 75 members would return to Germany if Hitler wanted them to. His information, however, is that only men born in Germany in 1915 are expected to return.

Prominent Germans didn't think there would be much of an exodus.

Sudbury Seeks Homes 50 Relief Families

SUDBURY, Ont., May 22 (C.P.).—Fifty relief families will be evicted from their homes by June 1 and the city of Sudbury will be faced with providing shelter for approximately 300 persons.

The plan to purchase 25 box cars for accommodation of evicted relief families has been abandoned by the City Council, according to Mayor W. J. Cullen, as a result of a communication from Hon. David Croll, Minister of Public Welfare, who stated definitely the Provincial Government would not entertain the plan.

In the meantime city officials are examining the possibilities of procuring accommodation in outlying districts, the Provincial Government having endorsed this plan.

WATCH FRENCH GERMAN FORCES FOR TWO YEARS

Measures if Necessary to Halt Profiteering, Baldwin Promises Packed House.

NO NEED FOR PANIC.

Labor Party Opposes Program —Urges International Disarmament Meet.

BY GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON, May 22.—(C.P. Cable) — Within two years Great Britain will raise her first-line strength in the air to 1,500 planes. That will bring the British air strength to parity with France. It is also the figure which, according to Adolf Hitler's declarations, is the German objective.

The British program was announced by Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, in the House of Commons today and simultaneously by Lord Londonderry, Secretary for Air, in the House of Lords.

580 Planes Today

This figure is to be compared to the actual military air strength at home today of 580 airplanes, excluding the fleet air arms and planes in the Empire overseas.

Promptly the Labor party declared its intention to oppose the increases, Clement Attlee, their spokesman, demanding as an alternative the summoning of an international disarmament conference.

Mr. Baldwin spoke for almost an hour. Other points of his speech were:

Rapid production of the increased air force is to be organized.

Measures, if necessary, against any profiteering will be taken.

There is no need for panic.

The British government welcomes Adolf Hitler's speech of last night as a "help to general settlement" and will give it the closest attention in a spirit of sympathy.

At the outset of his speech Mr. Baldwin referred to Hitler's address

JUNE ELECTION IS CHALLENGE FROM LIBERALS

Duff Demands Immediate Dissolution Over Public Works Bill.

HARBOR VOTE OPPOSED.

Bennett States Trip to London Will Show How Power Deal Hit Canadian Credit.

OTTAWA, May 22 (C.P.). — A challenge to an immediate general election was before the Government to-day as Liberal members of the House of Commons continued their opposition to the Public Works Bill. The measure calls for expenditure of some $33,000,000 on government works and railway equipment with a view to giving employment.

No sooner has a long battle over a vote of $1,000,000 for a tunnel under the entrance to Toronto Harbor ended yesterday with its passage through the committee stage than the Oppositionists concentrated their fire on a vote of $2,500,000 for "harbors and rivers generally." They demanded precise information from Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, as to how the money would be spent. . . .

Mr. Stewart's answer was he could not give the information wanted. He said the vote was a customary one. It was proposed to make improvements where they were most needed and where men

SENATE PUSHES INSURANCE BILL

Committee Approves Excepting Players Engaged in Professional Sport.

GETS SECOND READING.

OTTAWA, May 22 (C.P.).—The Unemployment Insurance Bill was being pushed forward to-day by members of the Senate. Expectations were the measure might emerge from the Banking and Commerce Committee in time to be reported back to the Upper House when it reconvenes late this afternoon.

Committee members met again shortly before noon for further study of the bill. About a dozen clauses remain to be passed upon.

Players employed in professional sport were placed in the excepted classes under the Dominion plan by an amendment approved yesterday in the committee. The plan was for the purpose of taking care of unemployment among genuine labor and not for paid athletes in off period or between season unemployment, the committee considered. In England, professional soccer players are included under the British plan.

Another action of the committee was to defeat the amendment of Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, which would make it obligatory for all persons with net annual incomes of $2,000 or more to pay 25 cents per week to bolster up the insurance fund.

Given second reading in the Senate yesterday, the Minimum Wage Bill will be considered shortly by the Senate Banking and Commerce Committee.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, May 22 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables as supplied by White and Co., were reported unchanged today.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, May 22 (C.P.) — Trade speeded up on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon with cattle more active and prices a shade firmer. The calf, sheep and lamb divisions were steady and hogs showed gains of 10 to 15 cents. A holdover of 900 head was expected to be cleaned up by the close.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle, 360; calves, 600; hogs, 870; sheep and lambs, 220.

A light cattle offering found prices slightly higher on handyweight cattle and steady on weighty steers and cows. Choice weighty steers sold at $6.75 to $7.50 with plain downwards to $5.75. Choice heavyweight butcher cows were firm at $6.25 to $6.75 and a few medium butchers sold down to $5. Cows were barely steady at $4.25 to $4.75 for choice. Bulls were slow at $3.50 to $4 cwt. Fed calves went steadily at $5.75 to $8 according to quality.

The calf division was firm and choice vealers sold at $6.50 to $7, with a few tops up to $7.50. Common to medium calves sold mostly at $3.50 to $5.50.

Truck hogs sold steady at $9 for bacon, while car hogs advanced 10 to 15 cents at $8.75 f.o.b. and $8.60 off cars.

Spring lambs were easier at $7 to $8 for choice, weighing from 70 to 80 lb. Others sold from $3 to $5 each. Sheep were steady at $1.50 to $3.50 cwt.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Prices ruled steady in quiet trading on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday. On the butter market prices for No. 1 grade in carlots or less ranged from 20½c to 21c a pound, with small lots to retailers bringing 22c for solids and 23c for prints. Receipts were 132 boxes.

Graded shipments in carlots or less of eggs were quoted at 19c a dozen for A-large, 17c for A-medium, 16½c for B and 16c for C. Arrivals totalled 2,418 cases.

New potatoes sold at $1.50 to $1.75 per 50-pound crate of new Bermudas, with South Carolina No. 1 at $5.25 to $5.50 per barrel and No. 1 at $2.50 to $2.70 for 100-pound bags. New Floridas sold at $2 to $2.50 for 100-pound bags. Old potatoes were again quoted at 35c to 40c per 80-pound bag of Quebecs, 67½ for New Brunswicks and 45c for Prince Edward Islands.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

A short covering movement developed in the wheat pit toward the close of the session yesterday, and sent prices higher. Corn, which had sagged with wheat earlier in the day, failed to find a restorative, and was further affected by sales against purchases of wheat, and so closed lower.

Wheat closed firm, ⅛ to ⅝ of a cent above Monday's finish, July 90⅛c to 90⅝c, and corn closed ½c to 1⅛c down, July 81¼c to 81⅝c. Oats closed ¼c to ½c lower, and provisions were 8c to 15c higher.

May wheat established a new seasonal low at 88⅜c before the rally began. Shorts resisted the rise as long as possible, although an oversold condition had been noted in the market before the opening. The firmness in stocks and persistent commission house buying forced them to cover, and prices rose quickly. News otherwise was mostly bearish.

The corn trade was largely local and professional. Oats were featureless, following corn mostly, with no news and only favorable crop reports. Rye took its cue from wheat, closing ⅝c to ¾c higher.

Provisions responded to the rise in hog values.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 22. — Sharp declines at Liverpool and failure of Canadian wheat exports to improve left the price structure undisturbed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday. Values closed unchanged, May 85⅝c and July 86⅞c.

Some buying credited to important holders of wheat sufficed to hold futures steady throughout a quiet session, easily taking care of the selling that trickled into the pit, supplemented by moderate support from outside interests.

Reports indicated no wheat was sold for foreign shipment yesterday, but seaboard ports were actively shipping wheat sold some time ago. Loadings from Vancouver were substantial, and St. Lawrence River ports cleared two or three full cargoes.

No business was reported done in cash grains. Coarse grains were somewhat erratic in a quiet market, rye dipping 1½c before recovering near the close. Flax also showed early weakness, down 3c before rallying.

Pageantry Marks Event

Traditional pageantry marked the convocation exercises which attracted prominent educational dignitaries of the province, many graduates of the college and visitors from all parts of the province. In the absence of Right Hon. Sir William Mulock, who was unable to attend the exercises for the first time in nine years, Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, conferred the degrees at a ceremony in Memorial Hall.

The candidates, including four young women, were presented by Dr. G. I. Christie, college president, and prizes were awarded by Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture.

At a luncheon which preceded the graduation ceremonies Mr. Marshall spoke briefly, and members of the graduation class took occasion to present to the minister an emblem designed in the form of a plowshare, which in future will be worn by all graduates of the college.

FRESH WORLD WHEAT CRISIS NOW FORECAST

Canadian Sees "Act of God" or New Export Restriction, Only Solution

MORE EUROPEAN ACREAGE.

LONDON, May 22 (A.P.).—A new crisis in wheat production more serious than that of 1933 unless an "act of God" intervenes or a new export restriction agreement is adopted, was forecast in a report presented at the opening of the international wheat conference today.

The report was submitted by Andrew Cairns, Canadian secretary of the wheat commission.

Salient features of Cairns' summary of present conditions and prospects were:

The world glut of stocks on Aug. 1 despite the 1934 drought, will be about 800,000,000 bushels compared with the 1922-28 average of 625,000,000 bushels.

European countries have slightly increased their acreage, their crop prospects are above normal and their tendency to self-sufficiency has greatly restricted the markets for the big exporters, Canada, the United States, Australia and Argentina.

Canada, which reduced acreage nearly 20 per cent. last year, is expected to reduce another three per cent. this year, and her carryover is estimated at 163,000,000 bushels on Aug. 1.

The average price of wheat parcels imported into England during May has been 46 gold cents a bushel compared with the goal of 65 cents average for 16 weeks contemplated in the 1933 agreement as the basis for tariff reductions.

FAMILY SHAKEN AS CAR OVERTURNS

LIFFORD LINE, May 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. and Mrs. Noel Gill and family of Toronto were victims of a motor accident on Lathangue's hill, near Ballyduff, on Saturday while motoring in a new car from Toronto to spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Preston of Lifford Line.

The scene of the accident was a freshly gravelled hill, and while descending, the car swerved from side to side, finally landing upside down in the ditch at the foot of the grade.

The occupants were able to crawl out through a window and wait for assistance. In a short time helpers managed to overturn the slightly damaged car and get it in working order. Beyond minor injuries, including cuts, bruises and a severe shaking up, the driver and his family were unhurt and proceeded to their destination.

CROLL BECOMES LABOR MINISTER

Is Sworn Into Office as Successor to Attorney-General Roebuck.

PLANS RE-ORGANIZATION.

TORONTO, May 22.—Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, was sworn in as Minister of Labor at Queen's Park yesterday and will immediately take over these duties which have been relinquished by Attorney-General Arthur Roebuck.

Tribute to the work of Mr. Roebuck was paid by Premier Hepburn and Mr. Croll in an interview with the press, at which the Attorney-General was also present. The Premier referred to Mr. Roebuck's arduous work in connection with the Labor Department, particularly the Industrial Standards Act. As far as his position on the Hydro Commission was concerned, the Attorney-General would retain his seat, along with Hon. T. M. McQuesten, Minister of Highways.

It is understood Mr. Croll will put into effect immediate reorganization plans which may include the abolition of the name welfare and the inclusion of this department in the labor portfolio.

Attorney-General Roebuck expressed regret at the fact that pressure of other duties kept him from retaining the labor portfolio. He praised the ability of the new Minister of Labor, declaring that he had the executive ability and knowledge of labor matters to carry on the work of this department in a fitting manner.

Tourist Camp Opens Near Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22 (Examiner Correspondence). — Campbellford's new tourist camp, located on the east side of the Trent River across from the Fair Grounds, is now open for the season. One of the modern cottages is already occupied, and aside from the pleasure of residing along the water front, the new tenants were amazed to find their summer home fully equipped with an electric fireplace, two-plate cooking outfit, an ice box and even an electric radio, to say nothing of beds which were fitted with the mattresses which contain so many thousand springs.

About one hundred and fifty trees of the poplar and willow variety have been planted on the grounds, water main extensions are well under way, even the children have not been forgotten, as hundreds of loads of sand are being hauled to the beach for playground purposes. In a very short time the new park will be one of the beauty spots along the Trent River and a long-felt want fulfilled.

Unseen Poisons May Upset A Child's Health

WHEN food wastes are not regularly removed from the child's body the blood starts absorbing them and thereby fouls or poisons the whole system. The result is autointoxication. The child turns a yellowish color, gets indigestion, becomes bilious.

In cases of autointoxication, the use of Baby's Own Tablets is advisable. These tablets contain two simple substances used by child specialists to safely stimulate the liver and intestines. This stimulation of the liver and intestines filters the poisons from the blood and removes the wastes from the intestines, restores the skin to its normal color, indigestion disappears and appetite is restored.

Baby's Own Tablets may also be used as a preventive of autointoxication by giving them every few days, just often enough to keep the bowels moving regularly.

"The glowing health of my three little ones is due to Baby's Own Tablets", says a Toronto mother. "When little bowels were constipated these grand little tablets moved them without griping and kept their breaths sweet, relieving any feverish symptoms. My children's health is absolutely safe while I have Baby's Own Tablets in the house."

These sweet-tasting, harmless little tablets are safe for the most delicate baby, and are so inexpensive it is an economy to give them to older children up to 12 years of age, too. Keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand to use promptly for autointoxication, diarrhoea, colic, simple fevers, teething troubles, disturbed sleep, colds and croup. Full directions in each package. A certificate of safety, signed by an independent analyst, is given with each package. Your druggist has them.

STORE IS BURNED AT FLEETWOOD

Neighbors Manage to Save Contents of the Attached Dwelling.

NO INSURANCE.

FLEETWOOD, May 22.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—The unusually high wind on Monday was responsible for a disastrous fire at Fleetwood about three o'clock in the afternoon. It was thought that a spark from the chimney of the dwelling connected with Fleetwood store, alighted on the roof and in a short period of time the entire building was completely wiped out.

The store had not been open to business during the last few months as the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Vertie Staples, had moved out of the village to a farm. Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sutton, formerly of Peeterborough, have been living in the store dwelling since that time, Mr. Sutton being at work cutting wood in the bush for Mr. Bruce Parker at the time of the outbreak of fire.

Helpers Save Furniture.

Fortunately a number of helpers rallied to the scene of action and were able to save the entire contents of the building. Sparks were carried by the high wind to neighboring buildings which were prevented from going up in flames by the most careful vigilance.

The destruction of the store and dwelling by fire was particularly unfortunate owing to the fact that the insurance thereon had expired only a short time ago.

JUNE ELECTION IS CHALLENGE

were in need of work. H could not specify works in advance, and this had never been done in the past.

Dissolution at Once.

The challenge was hurled across the floor by William Duff (Lib., Antigonish-Guysborough), after the Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, had accused Liberals of blocking a Bill which would give work to unemployed. Mr. Duff said Dr. Manion should go to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett at once and get him to dissolve Parliament and bring on the election in June on the issue of the Public Works Bill.

"The only reason we voted against that tunnel is because it is for Tory Toronto," said Mr. Duff in a parting shot before the House adjourned.

Prime Minister Bennett was confronted with a number of questions when the House met in the afternoon.

A question about the Vancouver relief camp strikers drew from him the declaration the Federal Government had always been and was now ready to discuss with the British Columbia Government any matter connected with the strike and to provide any assistance the Province needed in maintaining order. If conditions developed into chaos and disorder it would be because the Province had not asked assistance.

Only Awaiting A Call

Under the law, he said, the Dominion could do nothing without a request from British Columbia. It could neither enforce the criminal law nor take steps to preserve order. Additional police had been asked by the province and had been provided.

Communications had come from Mayor G. G. McGeer, of Vancouver but the Dominion had no right to deal with a municipality except through the Provincial government. The chief suggestion emanating from Mr. McGeer and Premier T. D. Pattullo had been an intimation the federal government should provide work and wages by means of an inflation of the currency.

Five new bills will be introduced in the House this week, Mr. Bennett said. Some of them arise out of the Price Spreads and Housing inquiry and there is another one to enable the government to deal in exchanges of countries with depreciated currency exporting goods to Canada. It is understood the measure is aimed at adjustments of trading conditions between Canada and Japan.

Answering another question Mr. Bennett said the government would proceed with the bill to establish a grain board when other pressing business had been attended to.

Credit Hard Hit

Action of the Ontario Legislature in annulling the Quebec power contracts had all but destroyed Canada's credit in London, said Mr. Bennett. Had it not been for that the Dominion could have refunded a loan of £28,000,000 maturing in England at an annual saving in interest charges of $700,000.

When he was in London last fall, Mr. Bennett said the government's brokers considered the time was ripe for a conversion loan. But, he continued, "the public credit of Canada was injured to some extent in London by the Vancouver incident, so-called, but whatever was left was completely destroyed by the action of the Ontario legislature.

"We were prepared to carry out the conversion of the $28,000,000 which will mature at an early date but in consequence of the passing of that particular legislation the matter had to be abandoned. Anyone who has an opportunity of visiting the city of London will find the condition which now prevails there with respect to our credit and will realize the situation is extremely difficult.

$700,000 Loss Yearly

"The loss involved to the Dominion of Canada through the necessity of abandoning the conversion which had been provided for will amount to $700,000 per annum for the next 20 years."

The wheels of parliament dragged to a stop for an hour last night while members discussed a divorce bill. Instead of debating tariffs, inflation, construction bills and blue-sky legislation, the members talked about private detectives, and co-respondents.

To enliven the proceedings, there was a division with two members voting twice, getting balled up in the roll call. It provided the biggest laugh in days.

Bill Dies Last Death

It was a Montreal divorce bill, passed by the Senate but thrown out by the private bills committee of the House. It died its last death last night when the House voted 65-35 against re-opening the case.

Humphrey Mitchell (Lab. Hamilton East) embraced the occasion to suggest parliament should stop hearing divorce bills and hand them over to the courts where provision could be made for alimony and the care of children.

The case had the inevitable private detective mixed up in it, wading the Hamilton Laborite to remark: "I would not believe the word of a private detective—having had some knowledge of them in labor disputes—if he stood on a pile of bibles as high as this House of Commons."

Fleetwood Team Bolts From Mill

JANETVILLE, May 22. (Examiner Correspondence).—While Mervyn Sutton of Fleetwood was loading lumber at J. R. Burn's sawmill here on Monday, his team became frightened and ran away. Mr. Sutton followed but the horses were soon lost to view.

Charles Deyell, who was working in his garden nearby, hurried into his car, and, picking up Mr. Sutton, soon overtook the frightened animals about a mile east of the village.

Fortunately no one was hurt and apart from the lumber being scattered all along the way little damage was done.

AIMS AT ARMY OF OVER 500,000

Army under the recent conscription law, it was said it would consist of thirty-six divisions. The strength of a division was not stated.

Jews, apparently, will be barred from Military service except in special cases.

One year of labor service is a prerequisite for military service, but young Germans will not be called to arms before the age of 20.

Catholic clergy with the rank of subdeacon and higher, and persons declared physically unfit after an examination, will not be drafted.

"Aryan defense," the law asserts, "is a prerequisite for active military service."

Exceptions to this rule will be made by a special board. Aryan members of the army and reserves were forbidden to marry non-Aryans, and obligations of Jews during war will be subject to special regulations.

Germans with foreign citizenship in addition to other German citizenship must serve in Germany, even if they have had military training in a foreign army.

Germans living abroad must serve their terms in the Reich. The beginning of their period can be postponed for two years, and only in very important cases will exceptions be made.

Persons sentenced for political reasons and prisoners or other persons who have lost their citizenship will not be drafted.

Hitler's Outlook

With vigorous but adroit strokes Chancellor Hitler, supreme head of the army under the new law, painted the Nazi "Weltanschauung" (world outlook) in the present European crisis before the brown-clad Reichstag members.

He announced the Nazi Government's willingness to join in European peace efforts with definite conditions regarding any concessions Germany might make and defence of her re-armament.

He vehemently rejected the League of Nations' condemnation of Germany's re-armament and justified the Reich's military move by charging other countries refused to follow her lead after the war in scrapping arms.

Renouncing all "wars of conquest" he pleadged German adherence to the Locarno Treaty and his government's willingness to sign non-aggression pacts with all its neighbors, with the exception of Lithuania.

This exception was made, he said, because of the treatment accorded to Germans in the former Memel territory. He added, however, this exception "can be made non-existent at any moment" by the guarantor nations to the Memel Statute.

The Nazi chieftain blamed Woodrow Wilson far having "passed the death sentence on international collaboration" with the Versailles Treaty. France, he blamed for disarmament failure despite projects offered by Great Britain and Germany.

The Reich was placed on record once more as "diametrically opposed" to Bolshevism because National Socialism lays stress on the German people while the Soviet mission is "International."

Will Not Annex Austria.

He said Germany is ready to sign an International non-interference pact "if non-interference is defined" and that Germany would not annex Austria.

Germany, he said, welcomed collective security but considered treaty revision necessary by peaceful means. She would sign an "air Locarno" but demanded parity with Europe's strongest air force.

All territorial clauses of the peace treaties would be respected by Germany, he went on, promising her participation in all efforts for practical arms limitation, but said the figure for Germany's new army will not be reconsidered.

The Reich's opposition to mutual assistance clauses in treaties was reiterated.

"I believe it is incompatible with my responsibility as chief of the nation and chancellor of the Reich to express the slightest doubt as to the possibility of maintaining peace. The peoples want peace," said Hitler.

"It must be possible for the governments to maintain peace. Whoever brandishes in Europe the incendiary torch of war can only want chaos. For our part, we firmly believe our time will not see the death of the west, but its resurrection. May Germany make its imperishable contribution to that work! That is our proud hope and our steadfast faith."

No After Thought Ideas

We shall in the future take part in no conference in the formation of whose program we have not participated from the beginning. We do not propose, when two states concoct a pact dish as a third party to be the first to taste that dish. I do not mean to say by that we won't reserve to ourselves the right afterwards to agree to treaties and affix our signature to them because we were not present when they were formulated or when conferences were held concerning them. Certainly not. It is well possible that a treaty, although we did not participate in its formulation or the conference which gave its effect for a number of states nevertheless in its final language may be agreeable to us and seem useful to us.

We must reemphasize, however, the method seems to me to be wrong to offer draftsof programs for conferences that bear the superscription 'everything or nothing.'

Guarantee Frontiers

Germany has solemnly guaranteed France her present frontiers, resigning herself to the permanent loss of Alsace-Lorraine. She has made a treaty with Poland and we hope it will be renewed and renewed again at every expiry of the set period. We want to spare the German people all bloodshed but we will not spill any of our blood for foreign interests or risk it in pacts of assistance of which one cannot foresee the end.

There are certain things that are possible and others that are impossible. As an example I would like to refer briefly to the eastern pact suggested to us. We found in it an obligation for assistance which we are convinced can lead to consequences that simply cannot be measured. Much as we ourselves love peace it is not within our power to prevent the outbreak of conflicts between states, especially in the east. To determine who is guilty is infinitely difficult in such a case. Once the fury of war rages among peoples the end begins to justify every means. I fear at the beginning of such a conflict an obligation for assistance will be less calculated to lead the way for recognizing who is the attacking body than it will to support the state that is useful to one'sown interests.

Free State Only System

We are convinced the happiness and achievemnts of Europe are indissolubly tied up with the continuation of the system of independent and free national states. Bolshevism preaches the establishment of a world empire and recognizes only sections of a central international. Bolsevism destroys not only private property but also private initiative and the readiness to shoulder responsibility. It has not been able to save millions of human beings from starvation in Russia, the greatest agrarian state in the world.

National Socialists and Bolshevists both are convinced they are a world apart from each other and their differences can never be bridged. Apart from that there were thousands of our people slain and maimed in the fight against Bolshevism. If Russia likes Bolshevism it is not our affair, but if Bolshevism casts its nets over Germany, then we fight it tooth and nail.

Nothing to Gain From War.

Germany has nothing to gain from a European war. What we want is liberty and independence. Because of these intentions of ours we were also ready to negotiate non-aggression pacts with all our neighbor states. If we except Lithuania, this is not due to the fact we desire war there, but because we cannot enter into political treaties with a state which disregards the most primitive laws of human society.

Germany has neither the wish nor the intention to mix in internal Austrian affairs or annex or unite with Austria. The German people and government have, however, from a simple feeling of solidarity and common ancestry, the wish that not only to foreign people but also to German people shall be granted the right of self determination. I don't believe any regime not anchored in and by the people can be enduring.

The Reich Position

If I now turn from this general consideration to a precise fixation of actual problems before us, I arrive at the following statement of the position of the German Reich government:

First: The German Reich government rejects the Geneva resolution of March 17. It was not Germany that onesidedly broke the Treaty of Versailles but the dictate of Versailles was one-sidedly violated in the points known thereby and rendered ineffective by the powers that could not bring themselves to let their own disarmament, agreed to by the treaty, follow in the wake of the disarmaments demanded from Germany.

Second: The German Reich government herewith declares most solemnly these methods (denunciation of the articles of the Versailles Treaty) refer exclusively to points which morally and textually discriminate against the German people. Therefore the German government will unqualifiedly respect the other articles which refer to arrangements by which the nations are to live together, including territorial clauses, and will bring about revisions that are unavoidable as times change only by way of peaceful arrangement.

Third: The German Reich government has the intention of signing no treaty which she deems unfulfillable. It will, however, adhere scrupulously to each voluntarily signed treaty even if its conclusion occurred before this government seized power. Particularly it will adhere to fulfill all obligations resulting from the Locarno Pact as long as the other contracting powers on their part are ready to stand behind this pact.

Fourth: The German government is at all times ready to participate in collective cooperation for securing the peace of Europe, but it then considers it necessary to meet the law of eternal evolution by holding open the possibility of revision of treaties.

The Main Song

Fifth: The German Reich Government is of the opinion a new building up of European co-operation cannot take place within the forms of one-sidedly imposed conditions. It believes it is right, in view of the fact that interests do not always coincide, to be satisfied with a minimum instead of permitting this co-operation to come to naught because of the unfulfillable maximum demands. . .

Sixth: The German Reich Government is ready in principle to conclude non-aggression pacts with its individual neighor states and to supplement these by those provisions which aim at isolating belligerents and localising war areas. . .

Seventh: The German Reich Government is ready to supplement the Locarno Pact by agreeing to an air convention and entering into its discussion.

Eighth: The German Reich Government has announced the extent of the reconstruction of the German army. Under no circumstances will we depart therefrom. It sees neither on land nor in the air nor at sea any threat to any other nation in fulfilling its program. It is, however, ready at all times to undertake such limitation of armaments as other states also are ready to undertake.

Ready to Restrict Arming

Ninth.—Germany is ready to participate actively in any efforts for drastice limitation of unrestricted arming. She sees the only possible way in a return to the principles of the old Geneva Red Cross convention. She believes to begin with, only in the possibility of the gradual abolition and outlawry of fighting methods which are contrary to this convention, such as dum-dum bullets and other missiles which are a deathly menace to civilian women and children. To abolish fighting planes, but to leave the question of bombardment opens seems to us wrong and ineffective. But it believes it is possible to ban certain arms as contrary to international law and to outlaw those who use them. But this, too, can only be done gradually. Therefore, gas and incendiary and explosive bombs outside of the battle area can be banned and the ban extended later to all bombing. . . .

Tenth.—The German Government is ready to agree to every limitation leading to abandonment of the heaviest weapons which are especially suitable for aggression. These comprise first the heaviest artillery and heaviest tanks.

Eleventh.—Germany declares herself ready to agree to the limitation of calibre of artillery and guns on dreadnoughts, cruisers and torpedo boats. Similaly the German government is ready to adopt any limitation on naval tonnage and finally to agree to the limitation of tonnage of submarines or even to their abolition provided other countries do likewise.

Poisoning Public Opinion

Twelfth.—The German government is of the opinion that all attempts effectively to lessen tension between individual states through international agreements or agreements between several states are doomed to failure unless suitable measures are taken to prevent poisoning of public opinion on the part of irresponsible individuals in speech, writing, in the films and in the theatre.

Thirteenth.—The German Government is ready any time to agree to an international arrangement which will effectively prevent and make impossible all attemps to interfere from the outside in affairs of other states. . . .

I cannot better conclude my speech to you, my fellow fighters and trustees of the nation, than by repeating our confession of faith in peace: . . . whoever lights the torch of war in Europe can wish for nothing but chaos. We, however live in the firm conviction our time will see, not the decline, but the renaissance of the West. It is our proud hope and our unshakeable belief Germany can make an imperishable contribution to this great work.

NO SYMPATHY.

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., May 11.—(C.P.).—Communists of East Windsor, seeking funds to stage a "hunger march" to Toronto, received scant consideration when they applied to the City Council for permission to hold a tag day.

"I don't think anyone in the Border Cities is starving," Ald. Charles Caple said. "The name 'hunger march' doesn't seem very appropriate," he added.

WORTH CONSIDERATION.

While Mr. Hepburn has declared that there will be no change in the new amusement tax schedule coming into force on June 1, a suggestion made by the Inter-County Baseball Association seems so very reasonable that The Examiner believes that the Government would do well to give it serious consideration.

The members of this well-known baseball organization asks that the present scale of amusement tax on amateur sport attractions be retained, and that instead of extending the tax to cover lower admission prices the additional revenue sought by the province should be secured by placing a graduated surtax upon gross receipts aggregating more than $200 at any single sporting event.

This plan would spare the clubs who have to get along on very little revenue, and would place the burden where it can be most easily carried, upon the shoulders of organizations which handle substantial revenues thrcughout the season.

Certainly such a method would be preferable to collecting amusement tax from patrons of slimly attended athletic events in the minor series, would be more easily operated, and for other obvious reasons would be an improvement over the schedule announced by Mr. Hepburn some weeks ago.

The principle that those who can afford to attend amusement events should help pay for relief is sound enough generally, but it can be extended to cover too much territory, and we believe that the Government is making that mistake in clapping a tax even on a five-cent admission charge.

ENCOURAGING FIGURES.

In the trade returns for April, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Canadians should be able to find some substantial reasons for optimism; certainly an increase of $15,722,000 in exports in that month as compared with April last year would seem to give the lie to the wailing about the Dominion's trade being completely shattered.

A rise in one month from $31,582,000 to $47,314,000 is a betterment that gives ground for confidence, while the fact that this gain is largely explained by striking increases in the export of wheat and cattle, should be a source of comfort to Canadian farmers.

One significant feature is that the increase in cattle shipments is entirely due to exports to the United States, which country absorbed $1,087,000 of Canadian cattle last month, as against only $23,000 a year ago.

Scarcity on the other side of the line, causing higher prices for cattle, enabled Canadian cattle to jump over the high tariff barrier to the tune of over a million dollars, a development that means much to Canada at the present time.

Welcome, too, is the jump in wheat exports largely to the United Kingdom, from $2,360,000 in April last year to $4,260,000 last month. It is worthy of note in this connection that there was also a considerable shipment of wheat to the United States which took $91,000 last month, whereas in April a year ago only $1,000 of Canadian wheat went to Uncle Sam.

The automobile industry also shares in the larger exports, for Canadian cars to the value of $2,774,000 were shipped out of the country last month, as against $1,460,000 a year ago.

CHEAPER FARM LOANS.

The reduction of the rate of interest on loans by the Farm Board to five per cent. should unquestionably prove of considerable assistance to the farmers in all parts of the Dominion.

The loans that are to be provided at this rate should afford relief to a large number of farmers who are in financial difficulties because of mortgages at a high rate of interest.

Most of these obligations were undertaken at a time when farm products were bringing high prices and they are an onerous burden under present conditions with the farmer's dollar badly depreciated and with their interest payments remaining at their former high level.

The action of the Federal Government should therefore be welcome among Canada's farmers.

There is, however, another side to the question which is brought to attention by the Brantford Expositor, which remarks that the point will arise as to why farmers should be allowed to borrow money at five per cent., while residents of cities pay much higher rates.

"For example," asks the Expositor, "why should industrial workers and others, who perhaps wish to build homes, pay six or seven per cent. interest while farmers can obtain money at five per cent.?"

Undoubtedly this angle of the problem will occasion some criticism.

It may be argued, for instance, that if the Government can come to the aid of the farming community it should be able to do something for the construction industry, which has been more or less demoralized throughout the depression, throwing thousands of workers out of employment.

PARLIAMENT'S TRIBUTE.

Once in a while politicians succeed in shaking off their customary party garb and showing that they are human.

There was such an occasion in the House of Commons on Monday when Premier R. B. Bennett returned to his duties in Parliament after his long and serious illness.

For the moment political strategy and party fortunes were fogotten while the members of the House cheered the head of the Government as he arose to acknowledge the most gracious welcome extended to him by the leaders of the Opposition parties.

It was a tribute such as few men have been given in Canada's Parliament, for it carried with it not only a very human satisfaction over the convalescence of a statesman who has long been a dominating figure in the House, but also a general recognition of the fact that Mr. Bennett was a casualty of the depression that his condition was caused by zeal and industry, carrying out his responsible duties unequalled in the history of Canadian politics.

There are many who disagree with some or all of Mr. Bennett's policies, who believe that he has made some serious errors in judgment during his term of office, but few Canadians will say that the Premier has not during the past five years set up a record for faithful attendance to the duties of his position such as has never been duplicated.

It is undoubtedly the case that he has carried more of the load on his own shoulders than it was wise for him to assume, but Mr. Bennett is built that way; he has been used to working at top speed for long hours every day, and his ability to do so has long been the wonder of those who knew just how great the strain must be.

Monday's ovation was Parliament's tribute to the Premier's personal achievement.

ENCOURAGING NEWS.

It is encouraging to note that reports from the West are not lacking in optimism.

Never at any time could it be said that the people living in the Prairie Provinces were cast down by the financial losses and privations they suffered as a result of the protracted drouth which ruined the crops in wide sections of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba for several successive years.

The westerners thrive under adversity. The entire population in some sections of the areas in which crops were a complete failure was compelled to exist on Government aid. But nothing daunted by the trials and tribulations through which they passed during the five lean years, the long spell of blistering heat withered their crops, they retained their faith in the land, their belief in a change that once more would bring their acres into fruitful production.

Recent dispatches from the West are to the effect that rainfall throughout practically the whole of the menaced area has been copious, and that there is adequate moisture at the present time.

It is true that seeding operations on the prairie are behind-hand as a result of a late spring. This, however, is unlikely to adversely effect the crops. Under a beneficient sun, once warm weather sets in, growth is rapid and all sorts of crops mature quickly. Lack of moisture, under intense heat, with its accompaniment of dust storms, attack of insect pests and fungicidal blights is what is to be feared.

Nothing would hearten the West more than a bountiful crop this year. It would put new life into the people of the prairies. It would enable the farmers in stricken areas to contribute in at least some extent to their own support, and would permit of them paying off some of the pressing financial obligations they contracted during the non-productive years. Even the low margin of profit obtainable in these days of lean prices would put money in circulation, which would be a factor in stimulating business and in drawing away from the depression that has hurt the three western provinces to a much greater degree than has been the case in the central and eastern portions of the Dominion.

This promise of improving conditions in the West is encouraging news to Canadians generally.—Chatham News.

THOSE CHAIN LETTERS.

A lot of people have been telephoning this office about the chain letters that are flooding Vancouver just now.

It seems that some of these addlepates don't know just what to do with them.

We have always been very good at figures, so we will endeavor to make it clear.

You see, when you get a chain letter, there are five—or is it six?—names on the top of it.

You send just one thin dime to the name at the top of the list and then in the five letters you send out, you include your name at the bottom of the list, leaving the top name off.

Do you get that?

Alright then.

Now all you send out is one-ten-cent piece. What you eventually get is $1,500.50.

That is what puzzles people. They can't see where the $1,500.50 comes from, the ninnies.

And it's all so simple.

You see, there are five names on the list. And each one sends a dime. You multiply the five by five and add—

No, that's not it either.

Oh, yes. There are five names on the list and each one sends his uncle a dime. . . . Now, wait a minute—and you multiply the uncles. . . .

But that doesn't seem to make sense either.

Now we'll take it very slowly.

There are five names on the list. Remember that, five. Each one sends a dime—the tenth part of a dollar. You multiply the five dimes by the total number of the Dionne babies' teeth as of the 23rd Ultimo. . . .

What's that? What have the Dionne babies' teeth got to do with it? You don't know?

Well, you darn fool!

Alright then, for the benefit of the slower members of the audience, we'll try it again.

There are five names on the list. Each one swallows a dime. That is, each one sends a dime. That makes fifty cents.

Now we're getting somewhere.

Everybody gets fifty cents and buys five beers.

Hold on a second, that's not right. No, everybody gets fifty cents and you multiply that fifty cents by the number of angels that can dance on the point of a needle almost any Whitsuntide. Then from that figure you subtract your income tax and add the number of feet in a mile, or a dash of paprika or whatever you think best. Then you divide by the number of yards Aunt Marigold can spit without her plate. Then you multiply again by 325 and immerse the whole thing in a bucket of cider vinegar matured in a waning moon on the lee side of a squint-eyed paperhanger's root house. . . .

Just how do you get that money anyway?—Vancouver Sun.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT

Premier Bennett is defying medical advice in taking over his duties once more, and the majority of Canadians will regret his decision to take this risk.

Those who do not make sure of getting on the voters' lists while there is still time should not utter a word of complaint later on if they discover that they are not entitled to a vote.

Among the baffling features of the federal election campaign may be mentioned J. H. Burnham's epistles, "To the People."

Surely there cannot be any truth in the report that Mayor McGeer of Vancouver will be a candidate in Ontario for the House of Commons. Vancouver's chief magistrate has about all the trouble he can handle in his own municipality, it would seem.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People Column must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m. on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 600 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

CHORAL CONCERT

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir,—The Choral Society that gave a concert in the Collegiate Auditorium on Friday the 17th, was the best chorus I have ever heard in Peterborough. Just think 18 altos and the parts balanced.

I would certainly have liked to hear the choir, for that is what it seems to me, sing Cardinal Newman's "Abide With Me." I am sure that would have been a treat indeed, although the numbers rendered were all good.

Would it be possible for the management of this chorus to give the program in the Opera House after church on Sunday for city relief purposes. This would give a large number of our citizens the chance to hear this splendid combination at a nominal cost and at the same time aid a worthy cause.

I sincerely hope this may be so at a very early date.

One who was there,
M.C.B.

PUBLIC VS PRIVATE OWNERSHIP

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—At the present time we are confronted with a wide-spreading attempt to show that public ownership and operation would be a much more satisfactory and economical way of doing business than private enterprise. A congressional investigation shows in the U.S.A. that the American Telephone Company and Telegraph Company furnishes much cheaper and more efficient and equally extensive system of communication than the government owned and managed Post Office.

Sending money also through the Post Office is impossibly expensive while it is done through the banks at about one-twentieth Post Office rate, a saving of hundreds of millions a year to the public. It will be remembered that after the war when the railways were returned by the government to their owners the loss to the government had been nearly a billion and that too in spite of all the advantages from other government services, in their management and the unusual volume of business.

J. H. Burnham.

SAW SELF IN PICTURE

To the Editor,

Dear Sir,—I recently had the unique experience of seeing myself in the act of firing an 18-pounder field gun at the Battle of Vimy Ridge (April 9, 1917), in the moving picture "Lest We Forget" at the Capitol Theatre.

I was one of the first with the Batteries that entered Mons at Armistice, and was also the recipient of a medal from the Burgomaster and citizens of Mons in recognition of our victory in relieving them from the hands of the enemy.

With the passing of the anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge, the thoughts of many of us who played some part in the conflict naturally turn into reminiscent channels.

What memories does April 9th recall for you? Is it the old towers of Mont St Eloi? The billets at Villers-au-Bois: The Swishen-Stelling, or La Eloie Farm?

Who can ever forget the stupendous bombardment kept up night and day for a week along the entire Western Front prior to the attack; Who can ever forget the sharp bark of the barrage as it opened up on that cold raw Easter Monday morning, preparatory to the "Ring Boys" advance across the snow-covered ridge.

To many of us who went forth to this great adventure there comes stealing across them at this time that old homesick feeling. It is not the desire for war, nor for the mud and filth, but for the comradeship. The comradeship of the men we met and loved and lost, who were over there in their tens of thousands.

It is this priceless comradeship that is lost, and is only revived with such anniversaries. It is certain such memories will ever remain among the most cherished with those who were privileged to wear the Maple Leaf.

Albert Heather,

And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom, that God had put in his heart.—II Chronicles 9:23.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Mastin.)

THE BROWSER

The Browser heard and saw Gertrude Stein and he's glad he did....Not that the experience was quite equal to seeing Shelley plain or to Keats' first peep into Chapman's Homer, but the lady is intelligent and when she talks you listen....The Browser will not soon forget the quaint figure on the platform. She wore a brown vest, and as she was reading her right hand was busy pulling it down in front and then down in back. And when she talked her right hand would move across the top of her head and stroke the left side of her close-cut head forward. And when she had finished her talk, the audience applauded, not politely but gratefully, and she grew all pink with pleasure and perhaps surprise.

The idea of her talk was that it's a pity the Americans use the same language as the English because the language developed in a tight little island and it not suited to life on a continent where men live like nomads and wander like the wind.

She'd say things like this: "England lived its daily life every minute of the day from day to day in a daily island way. But while England lives a daily daily living, America has no daily daily life which it lives daily every minute of the day from day to day in a daily island way."

And then she explained and you understood. First you hoped you understood and then you thought you did....She said it takes about a century for people to realize that things have changed and then they resist the change. For this reason a nation never fights a war until after it has already been lost....An upsetting person, that Gertrude Stein. She doesn't like adjectives and doesn't use commas when writing. But she uses them when she talks.

Thomas Wolfe, author of "Of Time and the River," only 35, is already a legend. Ann Preston Bridges, in the Saturday Review, says that according to that legend Tom Wolfe is an enormous fellow who "eats enormously, drinks magnificently, talks incessantly, and writes for a week at a time without food or sleep."....Which is quite true. He is six feet six, weighs over two hundred pounds, eats mightily, talks on and on and on, and works without sleeping. When he writes a novel the manuscript fills a trunk. He is genial and witty and is as irresistible as an oil truck.

Want to read an eye-opening book about the things that affect our civilization more than all the words in the dictionary can? Then read Jonathan Norton Leonard's "Tools of Tomorrow". All about machines, metals, radio, television, airplanes, streamlining, housing, geophysical prospecting, and such—with statistics, excitement, and commonsense, lightly seasoned with prophecy.

Joseph Agor of the Shamokin News-Dispatch, quite properly and politely sets the Browser right on the subject of Pennsylvania coal bootleggers. He wrote his Mercury article on them long before Louis Adamic wrote his for the Nation, but the Mercury didn't publish it in time. So Adamic didn't scoop the country as the Browser said; and perhaps Adamic got his idea from articles Agor wrote for the Philadelphia Ledger in 1932 and the Philadelphia Ledger in 1933....But not one harsh word from Mr. Agor for

THE BROWSER.

A Thought

Once I made a little jingle,
'Twas not all truth—just rhymed.
A critic wrote, and said I had
A criticizing mind.
I would to him most kindly say,
For my sake criticize.
But for your own, do not judge men,
I'm sure that is not wise.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

FORT NIAGARA AMERICAN AGAIN

On this date (May 22) in 1815 old Fort Niagara was restored to the United States by the provisions of the Treaty of Ghent. It had been captured by the British in 1813 when Drummond was cleaning up the frontier and had been under the British flag for two years. Probably no other spot in America except perhaps Louisbourg was more fought for than was old Fort Niagara. Established by LaSalle in 1678 it was burned in 1680, to be partly rebuilt in 1726 by deLery, and completely in 1749. Captured for the British by Sir William Johnson in 1759, it was by the treaty of Versailles given to the United States, but it was not until 1796 that it was handed over by the British.

Today if you visit Fort Niagara you will find three old flags flying—the French blue field with three golden fleur de lis; the English (not the Union Jack we use, but that which combines the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew) and the American flag of 1796 with 15 bars and 15 stars. This is the flag which inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." It was not until April 4, 1818, that Congress decided to return to the original design of 13 stripes but place 20 stars in the field with a further stipulation that a star should be added to the field for each new state but that the stripes were to remain unaltered.

Fort Niagara is one of the chief points of interest along the border to those interested in history and the restored fort which was formerly dedicated last September should have many Canadian visitors this summer.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Perhaps the most important thing for the prospective mother's health is for her not to worry about it too much. Nature will take care of things pretty well: she has done so many times before. If she has been assured by her physician that her general condition is normal, there are only a few simple rules she need follow.

Sleep is more important than even exercise or recreation, and every such patient should sleep at least eight hours a day. Nature usually attend to this also, and a tendency to be sleepy frequently is a natural accompaniment of the condition. It should be indulged.

Plenty of fresh air, especially in the sleeping room, is imperative.

Bathing is even more important than under normal conditions. The skin is an organ of elimination and of heat regulation, and should be kept in the pink of condition now that the individual has two to eliminate for and to regulate temperature for.

The advisability of exercise is largely a matter of circumstances. For some, it is essential. For others, it is hazardous. If the patient feels well, and feels like exercising, it is always desirable to let her try. If the first attempts are refreshing and not tiring, they should be continued. The best form of exercise is walking, and it should be continued only to the point of pleasant and reasonable fatigue.

Under special circumstances, special exercises and postures, such as the kangaroo walk (walking on all fours with the knees stiff) and the knee-chest position, are beneficial, but only when medical advice has suggested them.

Special Diet Unnecessary

Diet needs no elaborate supervision. Sometimes a special diet is necessary, but not often. The important thing is to eat enough, and not try to stuff, on the theory that the mother is now eating for two. The second one isn't very big, for a long time, and doesn't require very much. A general wholesome diet is all that is necessary. Extra minerals, especially calcium, is advisable, but this can easily be supplied by extra milk. Raw fruits, especially oranges, are also helpful in supplying the accessory food factors.

The following diet, published in a recent sensible book of advice on this subject, is an indication of modern ideas:

"We suggest a diet as follows, with no intention that it includes everything permissible or that it is all necessary, but that it is sufficient. Selections may be made from it with safety.

"Fluids: Any kind, freely.

"Raw foods: Milk, cream, butter, oranges, bananas.

"Bread and cereal free from bran.

"Meats: Any kind: Steaks, chops, roast meats, fowl, bacon, eggs, cheese, etc.

"Fruits: Cooked fruit of any kind. As much of the peeling as possible should be removed. Add sugar if desired.

"Vegetables: Potatoes, tomatoes, peas, beans, corn. Cook all thoroughly. All of the coarser vegetables should have the peeling and the fiber removed as much as possible, and should be thoroughly cooked if they are used."

An abdominal binder or support and well fitting brassieres are advisable and comfortable.

In the rare cases where there is a great deal of headache, blurring of vision or vomiting at an abnormal time, the attending physician should be immediately notified.

What's in the Name of Canadian Cities and Towns

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

MAITLAND, NOVA SCOTIA

The Indian name for this district was "Meemaatang," meaning "healing waters." Before receiving its present name it was known as Beaver River Settlement.

The name Maitland was given in honor of Sir Peregrine Maitland, who was governor of the province from 1828 to 1834.

After the French deportation the first land grant was to William Putnam and Luke Upham, dated January 20, 1771. It was once the site of important shipyards and the great ship, W. D. Lawrence, one of the largest vessels ever built in Canada, was designed and constructed there.

More than 12,000 Hovuths emigrated to Manchuria in the last year.

DURHAM JUNIORS PLAN FIELD DAY

Harry McCamus of Ida is Elected President of Junior Farmers.

MEET IN PONTYPOOL

The Durham County Junior Farmers' Association held its annual meeting at Pontypool recently, with the president James Tamblyn of Orono in the chair, and with about thirty members present, every township was represented.

E. A. Summers, Agricultural Representative reviewed a very successful year's work. In competitions with other counties the Durham Juniors made an excellent showing as evidenced by the following: in potato, grain and swine clubs our teams represented Ontario in the Dominion competitions at the Royal Winter Fair winning a first and two seconds; in the Inter-County Stock Judging Competition at the Royal the Durham team were second with three boys standing in the first eleven of the ninety-three competitors and a team of three won first at the Quinte District Seed Fair.

The plans for this year showed that about ninety-three boys are taking part in the following clubs, Junior Grain, Senior Potato, Swine Club, Beef Club, Holstein Club and Foal Club. The Annual Livestock Judging Competition will be held at Millbrook some time during October.

The association is also planning to hold its Annual Sports Field Day at Bethany on Saturday, June 15th. This event in the past has developed keen interest with its girls' and boys' softball tournaments, standard events, hardball game and in the evening the annual junior dance.

The election of officers found the honors distributed as follows: Past president, James Tamblyn, Orono; president, Harry McCamus, Ida; vice president, Weston Banister, Campbellcroft; secretary-treasurer, George McKnight, Millbrook.

Mr. McKnight has filled this position very capably for the past four years. In recognition of his services the members voted him an honorarium of five dollars.

Cavan — Harry Kennedy and Stanley Theobald.

Manvers — Lorne Bowins and Robert Sisson.

Darlington—Garnet Rickard and Wesley Yellowlees.

HASTINGS

30,000 LUNGE FRY PLACED IN TRENT

Many Visiting Orangemen Present at Hastings Lodge Meeting.

HASTINGS, May 22.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Arthur Fleming received on Saturday morning from the government hatchery at Belleville four cans of maskinonge fry, approximately 30,000, which he released in the Trent River in the vicinity of his island, west of the village. The hatchery manager informed Mr. Fleming that these little fish grow from five to six inches the first season. These in about three years' time should greatly improve the musky fishing in these waters.

L.O.L. No. 558 Meets

The regular meeting of Hastings L.O.L. No. 558 was held on Thursday evening. Many visitors were present from Norwood, Belmont, Westwood and Havelock lodges. Following the regular business County Master Robert Leeper took the chair for conferring the Royal Blue degree. Arrangements were made for the members of the lodge to attend Divine service on Sunday evening, June 9th, at Trinity United Church when Rev. F. W. Newell will deliver the address.

Winners Announced

The winners in the recent Congoleum rug contest have been announced, Miss Patricia Collins winning the rug at McMechnie's store and Mrs. Chamberlain at Perdaile the rug at Margins' store.

$6,000 Fire Loss At Sturgeon Point

(Special to The Examiner)

LINDSAY, May 22.—The summer home of Capt. Gray at Sturgeon Point was completely destroyed by fire this morning at 5.30 o'clock, along with contents. A second cottage, close by, used as a storage and warehouse, was also destroyed, the loss being estimated at between five and six thousand dollars at the time Capt. Grey was in the stable milking when he saw flames break through the roof around the chimney. Very little was saved. Capt. Grey is widely known to cottagers having been Commodor of of the Steamer Lintonia for many years. It is expected he will rebuild.

BASE METALS CHALK UP GAINS

Silvers Do Better on Smaller Turnover While Golds Hold Ground.

WAIT WASHINGTON WORD.

TORONTO, May 22 (C.P.).—Interest centred in the base metals today on the mining section of the Toronto Exchange and the group chalked up a row of substantial gains while the silvers did better on smaller turnover and the golds merely held their ground. Price gains for the metals, including silver and gold, helped the market the veto proceedings at Washington evidently dig no damage.

Noranda advanced to $43 before encountering offerings which pushed it back to around 42.65, where it closed holding a gain of 55 cents. Sherritt Gordon closed with a small advance, while gains were registered for Mining Corporation, Sudbury Basin, Big Missouri, Pend Oreille and Coast Copper. Closing prices for the silvers, including Eldorado, Bear, Premier, Peterson-Cobalt and Bear, were slightly higher.

Little Long Lac Gold registered a loss of about 25 cents. Hollinger weakened slightly and Wright Hargreaves sold down 25 cents to 8.50.

Oils were sluggish, with prices off narrowly. Royalite at $26 was off 50 cents.

METAL ISSUES SHOW ADVANCES

Steels, Food and Miscellaneous Shares Have Fair Sprinkling of Gains.

VOLUME ABOUT SAME.

TORONTO, May 22. (CP). — While awaiting developments at Washington over the bonus measure, the industrial section of the Toronto Exchange slipped in spots to-day and the price level at the close was off slightly. The oils had a good day, led by Imperial which again pushed strongly forward, metals were up and the steel, food and miscellaneous groups had a fair sprinkling of gains. Volume was about on a level with the last several sessions.

Consolidated Smelters responded to the advance for silver by moving ahead about four points to its high mark in more than a year. Nickel registered a fractional advance and Brazilian chalked up a net gain of about ⅝. Ford A recovered a morning sag and the liquor shares finished the day with fractional losses.

Imperial Oil's advance of ¼ encouraged the rest of the group and narrow gains were boarded for International Petroleum, Superior Ordinary, and McColl Common. Higher prices ruled for Massey-Harris and Consumers Gas.

Firm to higher prices were registered in the steels for the Steel of Canada issues, United Steel, and Page Hersey.

PREMIER ADOPTS

"There is routine to be observed," he told the Premier.

"When do I get him?"

"We could manage it by Wednesday."

New Clothes and a Kiddie Car.

Since then, said Mr. Croll, telephone calls between his office and that of the Premier have been frequent. To-day Mr. Hepburn started early for the shelter after telephoning his wife. All was in readiness at the farm, but the Hepburns later went shopping to buy Peter a kiddie car and a ball and new clothes.

In making the announcement, Mr Croll said, 'It is not usual to give publicity to adoption. In this case we realize that it is inevitable. The Premier has only one request to make—that is, that no press photographs of the boy be taken for one year. The reason is obvious."

OFFICERS WORK FOR HOURS EVICTING TORONTO WOMAN

TORONTO, May 22 (C.P.).—Mrs. Betty Summerville was evicted from her East York home and the sheriff's officers to-day are trying to carry out the order. They worked for six hours yesterday and continued to-day removing the widow's belongings.

There will be at least six loads of furniture. Mrs. Summerville also has four chow dogs, three Boston bulls, two Persian cats, some pigeons, and some chickens.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES.

TORONTO, May 22 (C.P.). — Bacon hog prices showed an upward movement at reporting market points to-day. Barrie and London prices were up 15 cents. Kitchener showed a 25-cent gain. Brantford rose 20 cents, and Peterborough 10 cents. Chatham Stratford, and Hull hog prices were unchanged. To-day's prices:

Barrie $8.65, Brantford $8.65, Chatham $8.25, Hull $8.75, Kitchener $8.70, London $8.65, Peterborough $8.60, Stratford $8.50.

FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

IMPROVEMENT IN PAPER TRADE

With the closing of the fourth month of business for 1935, the various paper producing firms say that, on the whole, the increase in tonnage is slightly over the corresponding period of last year. January and February were well ahead of the first two months of 1934 so far as book and writing papers are concerned, but March showed a falling off. With some mills this decline was greater than with others and it is believed April sales will not come up to last year's total. Executives, however, look for a considerable improvement in May.

There is no doubt that business of late weeks has been spotty and not altogether satisfactory owing to the fluctuations both in price and demand. So far as the wholesalers are concerned, there is a feeling of optimism in that printers are figuring generally on some large contracts which are expected to break at any time and give impetus to the industry. Stock with consumers are very low and need replenishing. When there is more "life" and buoyancy to business there will be freer buying and larger turnovers.

CONSOLIDATED SMELTERS

The floating supply of Consolidated Smelters is very small, which often makes for wide movements in the security. The reason for this, of course, is due to the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway holds a majority of the outstanding stock and a material proportion of the shares in the hands of the public are closely held for investment purposes. With the exception of the bank stocks, "Smelters" is the highest-priced stock on the Montreal Stock Exchange.

It has ofte been pointed out that any worthwhile improvement in the market for lead and zinc would add substantially to earnings of Consolidated Mining and Smelting. It is worth noting that in 1926, when the company reported an all-time record of net earnings at $12,027,600, equivalent to $23.67 a share after depletion, production of lead and zinc and silver was on a considerably lower scale than in 1934.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—The stock market digested the President's bonus veto speech to Congress to-day and apparently found little disturbing in its anti-inflationary context.

Gains of fractions to around a point were recorded by Liggett and Myers "B," Du Pont, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Chrysler, Westinghouse, U. S. Smelting, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Amerada and Standard Oils of New Jersey and California. Profit taking brought declines of 1 to 2 points in Columbia Pictures, American Can and Allied Chemical. The late tone was steady. Transfers approximated 1,150,000 shares.

FOLEY IS GIVEN ONE YEAR EXTRA

His wife was in the courtroom as he was sentenced.

Foley's term is increased to five years. He has already served some seven months of this sentence.

Judge Wesley expressed the hope the former lawyer would not become embittered in prison, but would "keep his chin up" and resolve to build a new life when he was released for the sake of his wife and three children.

Acting in the absence of Col. R. G. Greek, K.C., chief defence counsel, B. L. Smith of Toronto pleaded justice be tempered with mercy in Foley's case.

Arena In Toronto To Be Movie Studio

TORONTO, May 22 (C.P.).— One of the largest talking picture corporations in the United States has just completed arrangements for producing films in Toronto.

Burt Kelly of New York, representative of Columbia Pictures, has contracted to take over the Ravina Skating Arena, in the West-end of the city, as a studio.

The move was made by Columbia in order to comply with British film quota regulations, requiring United States companies exhibiting films in Great Britain actually produce a certain portion of their screen dramas on British territory.

Johnson Paints Task Great Jigsaw Puzzle

NEW YORK, May 22 (AP)—Edward Johnson, newly-appointed general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, describes the task that confronts him as "the greatest jigsaw puzzle ever invented."

"It is a big picture," he said, "a picture not only of New York but of the whole United States and I am trying to fit the pieces together."

Johnson said he had not yet had time to consider a suggestion the opera company go to Montreal for week-end performances. "It is not impossible," he said.

He told of his conviction the great Lyric Theatre would emerge triumphant from its present difficulties. He hoped to make the Metropolitan more accessible to American artists.

Earle Lewis, secretary of the Met., said in the event of invitations coming from Canada the Opera "would likely give performances in such cities as Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, and Winnipeg."

Britain Using More Meat From Dominions

LONDON, May 22 (CP Cable).— Figures indicating imports of foreign meat into Britain had declined between 1932 and 1934, while imports from the Dominions had risen, were presented before a joint meeting of government and overseas representatives.

It was made clear to the overseas representatives the policy of a levy on meat imports stood. It was also intimated a regulation scheme for mutton and lamb would have to be continued. Discussions were not concluded and the meeting will resume at an early date.

Foreign imports of meat into Britain fell from 11,850,000 hundredweight in 1932 to 10,690,000 in 1934. In the same period, imports from the Dominions rose from 692,000 hundredweight to 887,000.

KIWANIANS PLAN ACTIVITIES FOR 1,847 CLUBS COMING YEAR

Canada Urges Government Control of All Instruments of War.

NO PERSONAL PROFIT

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 22.—Kiwanis from all parts of the U.S. and Canada attending the 19th annual convention of the service organization were this week planned to-day for 1935-36 community and welfare activities.

The annual report of the agricultural committee urged diversified farming, concentrating especially on food-stuffs. Campaigns were suggested for consumption of home-grown products and to barter food surpluses if necessary. Urban and rural leaders will soon be brought together to discuss sectional agricultural problems and land-use planning. Other activities, the report stated, are the promotion of farm institutes and scientific projects, dairying and pure-bred stock raising, sponsoring grain and stock shows, county fairs, and 4-H boys and girls club work. Over 890 clubs are now engaged in this agricultural work, the report stated.

Child welfare work for the next year will include medical and dental service among school children, orthopedic clinics, supervised playgrounds and juvenile court assistance. It was urged that all character building agencies and schools be used by Kiwanis in an effort to secure parole for delinquents who are first offenders.

In vocational guidance work each Kiwanian is to aid young people interested in his business or profession. Character training, back-to-school movements, health education and planned use of leisure time are all included in community-wide programs.

Public Affairs

A five-point public affairs program for clubs in Canada was presented by Gordon S. Dodington, of Toronto. "Our aim is to bring, not only to Kiwanians, but to all people, proof that war is the world's greatest menace and urge greater support of the League of Nations, of which Canada is a member," declared Mr. Dodington.

"In this day of armament race supremacy we cannot sit idly by and permit engines of destruction full play. As fathers and citizens it is our duty to see that manufacture of instruments of war is not for personal profit or gain. These death dealing weapons should be manufactured and sold under government control," he stated.

The five-point program for the Dominion, beside fostering goodwill, includes national health, a study of restricting barriers in international trade, education of Canadian youth in respect for established law and order and a comprehensive survey of problems contingent upon national recovery.

Dr. Benjamin W. Black, of Oakland, Calif., chairman of the committee on public affairs for the United States, urged old fashioned patriotism as good medicine to cure present day problems and for the promotion of Americanism. "The secret archives of the federal and state governments will reveal many individuals classified as communists," he declared. "Let's get busy and see that uprisings and strikes fomented by radicals and communists are not allowed to gain a foothold."

Canadians also urged that the youth of their land be given a true appreciation of the historical background of the country. "This will give them a respect for established law and order," said Mr. Dodington. "In the question of distribution of relief funds, Kiwanis clubs can best serve their communities by studying the problem locally," he said.

T. N. McILMOYLL

SOUTHEY, Sask., May 22.—Funeral services for Thomas Nichols McIlmoyll were conducted in the United Church here recently by Rev. Mr. Laing. The Orange lodge, of which deceased was a member for 65 years, conducted services at the graveside.

Pall-bearers were D. S. McIlroy, M. T. Jones, T. Phipps, John Malcolm, R. W. Harris, J. J. Gamey, of Bulyea lodge. A. P. Schultz grandmaster of the lodge, W. Munroe and B. Peterson, of Earl Grey lodge attended. John Hales and Walter Hales, of Moose Jaw, who attended the same lodge as deceased in Ontario also attended the funeral with H. Parker, of Southey, another former Ontario member. Mr. McIlmoyll died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ed Thomas, during a stroke about noon on Sunday from which she never regained speech, but was practically unconscious all the time. Martha, widow of the late Orin Riley Jones, passed away at her home in Marmora at 9.30 a.m. on Tuesday.

Deceased, who was born at Glen Ross on Dec. 13, 1865, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Green. During her long residency in Marmora she was known as an ideal hostess, being always ready to place her home at the disposal of the church or the fraternal society to which she belonged for a meeting or social gathering.

She was a member of the United Church and was a member for some years of the Ladies' Aid before its name was changed to St. Andrew's Women's Association. For some years she also belonged to the Marmora Women's Institute. She was a member of Marmora Council No. 279 C.O.C.F. for over twenty years. Her husband, who was a county constable, predeceased her in 1923.

She leaves four children to mourn her loss: Clifford and Murvis of Marmora, Ray of Wellington, and Mrs. Norman Mitchell of Toronto. She is also survived by two brothers, Manson Green of Rochester and Smith Green of Trenton.

The funeral will be held from her late residence on Matthew street on Thursday afternoon. The service at St. Andrew's United Church will be taken by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth. Interment will be made in the family plot in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

THIS MUST STOP!

ONTARIO

THIS MUST STOP!

In Ontario, during 1934, there were nearly 10,000 automobile accidents.

512 people were killed
8,980 people were injured

... a considerable increase over 1933. It must be evident to all thinking people that this must stop.

Hon. T. B. McQUESTEN,
Minister of Highways.

IMAGINE HOW YOU'D FEEL IF YOU HAD BEEN RESPONSIBLE!

UNNECESSARY, selfish, foolish haste causes nine out of ten automobile accidents. Haste in going around bad curves ... passing cars on hills ... ignoring stop streets ... cutting in ... snatching seconds at lights ... driving too fast at night.

Senseless speed is a form of crime. It can lead you nowhere but to cancellation of your driver's license ... to a cell ... to bodily injury or death. Make safe driving a habit! They say the "courtesy of the road" is gone. Help bring it back!

3-TEAM ENTRY SEYMOUR LOOP

West Seymour, Menie and Petherick's Likely Softball Prospects.

OPEN MAY 28th

BURNBRAE, May 22.—(Examiner Correspondence).—With the rush of spring work pretty well past, interest in the Seymour Softball League is again in evidence, and on Saturday evening the league executive met in Campbellford to make plans for the year. In all probability there will be just three teams again this year, West Seymour, Menie and Petherick's. There is a rumor that Fred. Kelleher may enter a team from the district south of Hastings road, but nothing definite was forthcoming at Saturday evening's meeting. The schedule has not been completed as yet, but Menie and Petherick's open the season on Tuesday evening, May 28, at the Campbellford High School grounds.

West Seymour will hardly use any town players this year as they have a fine bunch of young fellows to choose from and can field a team that should win the group. Irvine Russell, last year's pitching sensation, is going better than ever, while Anderson, the regular west-side hurler, and McKenzie, a newcomer are also available for mound duty. Otherwise the personnel of the team will be much the same as in 1934.

Menie will likely rely on the same gang which won the title last year, though they may have difficulty with the receiving end as Jeffs and Little are both reported among the hold-outs this season.

Petherick's recently re-organized, with Harry Ewing as manager and Thomas Fry as coach, the latter to have full power in forming and training the team. It will undoubtedly be necessary to rebuild the Petherick's outfit. Don Kerr, regular centre fielder, is out with a broken leg. Grant Kerr, curve ball hurler for several seasons, has not as yet stated definitely that he would play, and his absence would almost wreck the pitching staff. Others of the former regulars are not keen on trying for positions as a revamped outfit of old-timers and juniors may take the field.

At any rate, the class of ball as played in the Seymour League will be kept up to standard and the fans who have supported this league in the past can look forward to another exciting season this year.

MILLBROOK

FATHER AND SON SERVICE IS HELD

Young Men's Bible Class of Millbrook Church Sponsors Service.

SPECIAL CHOIR

MILLBROOK, May 22—(Examiner Correspondence). — A special 'Father and Son' service was held in St. Andrew's church on Sunday at 7 p.m., with the Young Men's Bible Class, W. A. O'Brian, teacher, taking charge through the evening. The class president, Johnston Rowland, welcomed the congregation on behalf of the class, which has a membership of approximately forty. Gerald Todd, past president, led in the responsive reading, Grant Henry read the New Testament lesson, and prayer was offered by the teacher, Mr. O'Brian.

The young people's choir led in the worship of song, contributing an anther, and Orville Wainman's solo was a helpful feature of the service. The past president of the senior Men's Bible Class, Jas. H. Might, spoke on behalf of the fathers, stressing their responsibility particularly along the line of leadership for their sons, and of becoming companions with their boys rather than trying to rule by arbitrary measures. Kenneth Fallis made response on behalf of the sons, mentioning especially the joy that results from harmony of understanding between 'boys and their dads', and the consequent happier life all around in the family circle.

The address, by special request of the class, was given by the pastor, Rev. A. L. Siscoe, who continued the 'father and son' theme, with particular reference to example, since boys are undoubtedly more influenced by the example of their fathers than by all their instructions and restraints. "Indeed it is the want of good example more than anything else that so often defeats parental precepts, and a father's habitual conduct will have far more influence on his boys than his most positive rules and instructions."

HASTINGS

BETHANY NURSE IS DEDICATED

Miss Ruth Hamilton, R.N., is Honored by Congregation of St. Paul's.

GOING TO ARCTIC

BETHANY, May 22.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A large congregation was present on Sunday evening in St. Paul's Anglican Church when the rector, Rev. A. Holden, dedicated Miss Margaret Ruth Hamilton, R.N., who left on Monday for missionary duty, under Bishop Fleming of the Arctic, among the Eskimos and Indians at Akaviki, where there is a small hospital.

The service was most impressive. The rector presented Miss Hamilton with a beautiful set of books on behalf of the congregation as a slight token of the high esteem in which she is held. Each gift was inscribed with the recipient's name in her rector's hand-writing and bearing a verse message and prayer. The companion prayer and hymn book were encased and beautifully bound in Morocco. The larger teachers' Bible and organ hymn book will be constantly used in the mission work.

Miss Hamilton gave thanks in well chosen words, and after the close of the service took personal farewell of those who had not visited her at her home.

About sixty-five per cent of the ratepayers cast their votes as follows: In favour of the by-law, seventy-six; against the by-law, thirty-seven.

THREE FAMILIES HAVE NEAR CALL

Carried to Safety By Firemen as Hamilton Apartments Burn.

MANY ARE ASLEEP.

HAMILTON, May 21 (CP).—Three families narrowly escaped death when fire broke out in the apartments at King and Mary streets early to-day. Through the efforts of police and firemen all the occupants of the building were carried through swirling smoke down stairways and ladders to safety and the flames later extinguished after heavy damage had been done. Constables Harry Allen and Tom McCurrie dashed into the building to waken the tenants and only with great difficulty were they able to remove Mrs. Betty Jackson her 16-months-old baby and her sister, Miss Teresa Brown, from the second floor.

In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Neil Beaton who also lived on that floor were awakened by the noise, and were rescued by Fireman Eddie Parr who was off duty and passing the building at the time.

The fire department responded to the alarms with eight pieces of apparatus and other inmates of the building, Mrs. J. Hope, her two daughters and Alex Gushue, made their way to safety. Windows blew out when the heat and flames streamed across the street. Damage was limited largely to the apartment of Mrs. Jackson, where the blaze originated, however.

Arrested on a theft charge, a sixteen-year-old boy of Doncaster, England, was stated to smoke 100 cigarettes a day and sometimes to drink 10 glasses of beer at a time.

ANNUAL REPORTS REVEAL YEAR OF MUCH PROGRESS

Miss Elizabeth Walker Addresses Annual Meeting of Y.W.C.A.

200 TAUGHT TO SWIM.

Life Saving Awards Are Presented by the President, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner.

Miss Elizabeth Walker, deaconess of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was guest speaker last evening at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association, when reports were presented of the year's activities, followed by a pleasant social time.

Speaking from the text: "I am the Vine: ye are the branches," Miss Walker divided her interesting talk under three headings, taking the worker as the foundation in each instance.

Working at a task without a vision makes one a drudge; a vision without a task results in a visionary; but a vision combined with a task makes the worker a missionary.

True Christians are undoubtedly missionaries, showing by their life and living that they love Christ. . . . And the greatest commandments to love God and one's neighbor, cannot be separated. To-day there is much talk of service, but in many cases philanthropic work is nearly all task and no vision. In many instances, they are divorced from each other, and there is a need of blending the task and the visition. Let us remember to gratefully we owe our glorious heritage and through Who's influence of works of charity and mercy are stated. God does not need to complain us into a different field, each where we are, with just the circumstances that surround us. He can transform the very things that seem hindrances, into the chiefest and most blessed means of growth.

Devotion to Christ as Lord and Master includes everything. The motive which lies behind all service and efforts should be love of Christ. . .

The president of the Board of Directors, Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, was in the chair and took the devotional period, also welcoming the guests and giving brief opening remarks.

COL. STUART WED FIFTY YEARS

Col. Stuart Was Eighteen and Wife Sixteen When They Were Married.

RESIDED IN NORWOOD.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. J. Stuart, reeve of York township, and Mrs. Stuart celebrated on Monday the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. Former residents of Norwood, Colonel Stuart was eighteen years old at the time of his marriage, and his wife was sixteen.

"Young people used to marry earlier in the old days, and it is the best thing to do to be happy," Col. Stuart said in an interview on his golden wedding anniversary. "Of course economic troubles hinder the young people of today. But I believe the youth of today is every bit as good as fifty years ago, and I would say that in many ways the world is getting better all the time."

Colonel Stuart's last visit to Peterborough was to attend the funeral of the late George Sherry, local registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, an old friend of former Norwood associations.

Colonel Stuart was born north of Port Hope, and his wife was of Norwood. They celebrated their golden wedding Monday when they were at home to a host of friends in the Blue Room at the King Edward Hotel. Mrs. Stuart was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. W. A. McKay, in the reception of guests, and also, among others, by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. J. Stuart of Lakefield. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hency, Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Macaulay and Senator and Mrs. James Spence.

EIGHT BUSH FIRES UNDER CONTROL

Most of the men have been recruited from Apsley village and the farms in the district. Yesterday, an additional force of thirty-five volunteers was recruited from the road camps. The battle has been made particularly hard by strong northwest winds which have fanned the district throughout the week. Carrying water in buckets, sucking it from streams and ponds with hand pumps and digging trenches with shovels, the fire fighters have concentrated their efforts toward isolating the blazes. At noon today it seems that the progress of the worst of the fires had been halted.

Blaze Near Village

Residents of Apsley received a scare yesterday when a new blaze broke out near Jack's Lake, almost within sight of the village. The fire was not a big one, however, and the despatch of a unit of fighters to the scene resulted in its control within a couple of hours.

The three worst fires are blazing north of Serpentine Lake in Anstruther Township. One is centered two miles north of the lake, another about four miles to the north and the third about six miles to the north-west. Each fire has ravaged from two to three hundred acres. They are believed to have started on Sunday, but it was not until late yesterday that the firefighters felt they were making headway against them.

Bad Fire Under Control.

One bad fire in North Methuen, near Devil Lake, is definitely under control, and is now burning itself out. The stubborn conflagration has covered more than one hundred and fifty acres, nevertheless. Three fires which broke out around Oak Lake yesterday are under control and a fourth which started at Beal's Lake during the day has been put out.

Luckily no dwellings or barns and no valuable timber have been destroyed by the fires, Mr. Whitmore stated. Most of the blazes have been confined to areas of scrub poplar and white birch. Milton Brough, from Bancroft, chief fire ranger of the district, has been in charge of fire-fighting operations at several different points, while Mr. Mr. Whitmore and R. E. Watson, deputy chief, have shared the task of directing operations on other fronts.

Residents in the district were needlessly alarmed to-day by a radio broadcast to the effect that the fires are out of control, Mr. Whitmore reported. He stated that the report was unfounded and highly exaggerated the dangers even though the fires are unusually serious.

Fire rangers and farmers in North Hastings County are also having their troubles according to reports from that region yesterday. Fifteen separate outbreaks in Dungannon and adjoining townships were sighted during the day. None of the fires is believed serious.

Woodlands throughout the region are in an unsually dry condition for this time of the year. Lack of rain and steady, high winds are responsible for the condition.

Mrs. Margaret "Mitzi" Preedley of Toronto was committed for trial following preliminary hearing of a charge of procuring two local girls for immoral purposes.

The Crown offered no evidence against her sister, Mrs. Agnes Nolan, also of Toronto, who was similarly charged, and the accused was discharged after her counsel, T. J. Carley, K.C., had moved for dismissal on that ground.

Cheap $750

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., May 222. (CP).—The thrill of an impending Christening fresh upon him, Louis de Costerio, roadhouse waiter, rushed into a candy store and ordered 25 cents worth of peanuts. The clerk shoved a bag forward and De Costerio deposited his quarter.

At home, he put his hand into the bag and pulled out $750 in bills. The clerk had given him a bag containing the day's receipts.

De Costerio went back and exchanged the $750 for 25 cents worth of peanuts.

WATCH FRENCH GERMAN FORCES

as a striking declaration. Parts of it were evidently intended as a reply to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's speech of May 2 in which he appealed to Germany to make a contribution in specific terms to the solution of the difficulties and dangers now overshadowing security and confidence—difficulties and dangers which could only be removed by a concrete agreement.

Indicates Plans.

The British Government recognized Hitler had made more precise the German attitude in several directions of the greatest importance, and in a number of respects had indicated what Germany was prepared to do.

"We regard these declarations as of the greatest consequence" said Mr. Baldwin. "They deserve the closest and frankest study from all of us. His Majesty's Government will devote to them their closest attention in a spirit of sympathy and candor... We shall not fail to do our utmost to bring about in all directions all that is possible by international agreement."

In one respect Hitler's speech had a direct bearing on the topic specially before the House—that of air defence, said Mr. Baldwin. Hitler had declared Germany intended to limit her air force to parity with individual Western powers.

Possible to Cut Limit

"That," commented Mr. Baldwin, "is the confirmation of the basis on which our airplanes are founded. Hitler went on to point out that upon a ratio of parity as distinct from an arithmetic total without regard to what others do it would be possible by agreement between the powers specially concerned not only to fix but to reduce the limit.

"That is a very important reflection. It is the one we have had in mind throughout."

Hitler had also said that Germany would be prepared to discuss an air pact supplementing the Locarno Treaty, and Hitler's declarations in this regard were more important, Mr. Baldwin went on, because he had indicated that negotiations for such a pact could be accompanied by limitation.

Another matter the British Government regarded as of the greatest importance was the indication from Hitler the air pact might be bound up with an effort to safeguard the civilian population against indiscriminate attack from the air. "That is a very important consideration," said Mr. Baldwin.

"We welcome Hitler's contribution in the matter as helping to that general settlement which was the object of the Anglo-French declaration of London."

Consideration had been given to co-ordinating all the three defence services under one Minister, but on that the Government had no decision to announce as yet.

Two Defence Grounds.

The defence requirements were based on two grounds: national defence, and the ability of Britain to fulfill her obligations under the League of Nations covenant, Mr. Baldwin continued:

"I say that when the House supports the Government at the present time, it is reinforcing not only national security but collective security, because we all know that our armaments will never be used except in restraint of aggression. It is my earnest hope they will never have to be used. But if collective security had to be invoked, it would be little comfort to offer an innocent party our goodwill."

He referred to the estimate of Germany's air strength he submitted to the House last November. He had no reason to believe the figure he then submitted was wrong at the time.

Slip In His Estimates

But he frankly admitted he was wrong in his estimate of the future. In that he was "completely wrong," he said, because he then had no idea of the rate at which production of aircraft in Germany could be speeded up and actually was speeded up in the subsequent six months.

"It made me almost physically sick to think that I and my friends and statesmen in almost every country—two thousand years after our Lord was crucified—have to consider ways and means how women and children may have to be taken to hospital suffering from poison gas."

But there was some light in Hitler's speech, Mr. Baldwin said. All must work and make the further resolve that even on the 11th hour, knowing that the darkest hour comes before the dawn, "we may banish from the world the most fearful terror and the worst prostitution of man's knowledge ever known."

Will Keep Peace

Lord Londonderry told the House of Lords:

"Under no circumstances would Great Britain accept a position of inferiority to Germany. If the present program is insufficient, it will be increased regardless of cost.

"We shall require 2,500 more pilots and a total of nearly 22,500 additional personnel."

The present personnel is about 33,000 men, including 3,000 pilots.

INTERESTING DECISION MADE

Magistrate Records Conviction in Game and Fisheries Case Here.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

An interesting decision of major importance to local fishermen, was handed down by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., here yesterday afternoon when he recorded a conviction against Jesse Airress, 571 Reid street on a plea of "not guilty" to a charge of unlawfully fishing for yellow pickerel on April 26 last.

The defendant, well-known local angler and dealer in various kinds of fish bait, was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and $7.30 costs.

Witnesses Decline Costs

Sidney James Black, past president, and Wallace Harvey, vice-president of Peterborough Game and Fish Protective Association, declined costs as witnesses for the prosecution, and furthermore offered to make representations to the Provincial Department for the return to Airress of his casting rod and reel, which was confiscated by Inspector Fred Marshall, by whom the information was laid.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., conducted the prosecution and W. J. Arthur Fair the defence.

Had Rod and Reel

Defendant was seen by Inspector Marshall below the locks on the evening of the day in question in possession of a casting rod and reel. He had been casting with live minnow bait, and when spoken to by the Inspector who had told defendant, "He ought to know better than to fish for pickerel out of season," was stated to have replied, "Well, everybody else is doing it."

Airress denied fishing for pickerel when testifying in the witness box, and offered the explanation that he had been fishing for mudcats. There were several varieties of fish in the Otonabee River he told the court, and they included yellow and blue pickerel, bass, rock bass, suckers and mudcats.

Spawning Ground

The Inspector and the officials of the Game and Fish Association stated in evidence that the pickerel came up the river from Rice Lake each year in large quantities, and being unable to get upstream any further on account of the locks, used the rapid-flowing water below the locks in which to spawn.

Each year in the spawning season there was a great deal of illegal fishing done below the locks, with the resultant destruction to fish life.

All witnesses for the prosecution, when recalled in reply were of the opinion that the bait used by Airress and the place he had chosen to fish for mudcats, was most unlikely in view of their lengthy experience as fishermen themselves.

Announces Decision

In announcing his decision Magistrate Langley observed, "notwithstanding the very strong assertions made by counsel for the defence and the forcible manner in which he expressed them, I do not feel any doubt that it is the duty of the court to find upon the evidence."

His Worship had reference to remarks previously addressed to him by Mr. Fair in which counsel urged that his client could not be found guilty of the offence charged unless he had actually caught the species of fish mentioned in the charge.

"There is no regulation that says a man cannot fish. And until he pulls out a fish I maintain that he has not committed an offence," Mr. Fair maintained.

He told the Magistrate that any conviction could only be based by the court on the assumption that the defendant had been fishing for pickerel, and by the refusal of the court to believe the defendant's explanation.

"Unfair" Says Fair

"It is unfair that this man or any other man should be called upon to appear before this court until he has actually been caught taking fish out of season," Mr. Fair argued.

Granting that the evidence before him was mainly circumstantial, His Worship remarked there was the defendant's statement to the Inspector which convinced him that Airress had been fishing for pickerel.

"In that connection I believe the evidence of Inspector Marshall. The defendant made statements that rather shook my confidence in him. It was sworn to by the Inspector and also by Mr. Black and Mr. Harvey that the explanation given by the defendant that he was fishing for mudcats in that unusual place was most improbable. I have very little confidence in the defendant's assertion that he expected to get mudcats in the cold and turbulent waters below the lockz, and on the evidence I have no reasonable doubt that he was fishing for pickerel."

"I find the defendant guilty on the facts, but I do not propose to inflict a severe penalty as I have every sympathy with these men who are trying in these difficult times to eke out an existence by saving on grocery bills through any fish they might be able to catch or by other means," His Worship concluded.

FLANDIN ASKS SPECIAL POWER

Hopes to Regulate Financial Situation as Poincare Did.

NEW TAXES COMING.

PARIS, May 22. (C. P.-Havas).—The Flandin Government will ask Parliament to grant it special powers to regulate the financial situation, comparable to those granted Premier Raymond Poincare in 1926, it was learned to-day.

Poincare stabilized the franc in 1926 by creation of a special sinking fund and balanced the budget by sweeping tax increases.

Announcement the Government of Pierre-Etienne Flandin would seek equivalent powers from the chamber and senate was not accompanied by any hint as to whether similar steps are contemplated.

Poincare, "strong man of France" decreed new tax measures boosting revenue by 9,300,000,000 francs. Reforms in the administrative system reduced expenditures, and the budget was balanced. The franc was gradually raised in value until by December 20, 1926, it stood at 25.19 to the dollar, where it was given de facto stabilization.

Government circles stated the cabinet would ask special powers fully as extended as those asked and obtained by Poincare at the next cabinet meeting, scheduled for Monday or Tuesday.

The depressed price of farm products is a problem with which everyone is familiar, but on the 1913 basis farm product prices have never been as low as gasoline. Between 1913 and 1920 gasoline did not rise in price to nearly the same extent as farm products, yet since 1920 its price has almost continuously declined. The data for the above graphs are based on figure published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A FAIR DEAL POLICY

In the fifty-four years of its existence, Imperial Oil Limited has always welcomed legislation in the interests of labor and the basic industries. It has never had a labor dispute. It has always paid fair wages. To the greatest extent possible it has provided continuous employment and it has given its workers increasing leisure so as to expand employment. It has sickness and death benefits and old age pensions because it believes that the worker and his dependents are entitled to such protection.

Imperial Oil has always tried to deal fairly with collateral industry and with its competitors. Its success in this connection is indicated by the fact that it has never had a major lawsuit. It has always recognized the principle that the only satisfactory business transaction is the one which affords a fair profit to all parties concerned. It has fulfilled all its undertakings. It has enforced no onerous claims on others.

Imperial Oil has always tried to deal fairly with the consumer. It has continuously improved the quality and steadily reduced the prices of its products. It has invested millions to make those products always available wherever they may be needed.

In 1934 Imperial Oil earned $3,023,400.12 from its Canadian manufacturing and marketing operations. This, you may say, is a lot of money, but to earn that amount Imperial Oil had to make and market goods to a value of $82,841,311.15. The storekeeper who in the course of a year sold $8,280 worth of goods and made a profit of $300 would not be regarded as enjoying an undue measure of prosperity. But his ratio of profit to the total volume of his business would be the same as Imperial Oil's.

It has been Imperial Oil's practice to "make wisely, measure truly, trade justly" for this it believes to be the secret of success.

MANY CHILDREN ARE ELIGIBLE FOR ADOPTION

Those Thinking of Adopting a Child Urged to Visit Shelter Offices.

MAKE YOUR HOME HAPPY

During Past Eight Years Seventy-one Children Placed in Local Homes.

A plea for Peterborough people to do their share in the movement which is to be signalized in the "Adopt A Child Week" May 26 to June 1, was expressed by authorities of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society to-day.

"Do not wait until Adopt A Child Week if you are thinking of adopting a child," John Edgar, superintendent, urges. "Come to the office of the Children's Aid Society at once and talk the matter over. It may be that we can fill your requirements at once and, if not, we will do all we possibly can to find the child you want.

"During the last eight years, seventy-one Peterborough homes have been made happy through the adoption of a child, and seventy-one children have been placed in homes where they are receiving every care and training that would be given if the child had been born in that family.

"There is nothing in all the world that makes the home so happy as a little child, and there are so many children just waiting for someone to take them in their loving arms and say, 'Dear little one, in God's name I will do all I can to make you happy and myself too'."

"Wanted a Mother"

The following poem entitled, "Wanted a Mother," should be a source of inspiration to every one thinking of adopting a child:

A baby, who wants him, the darling?
So dimpled and cunning and sweet
As pure as an angel in heaven
From his small curly head to his feet.

What's that, Mrs. Brown, you're too busy?
Yes, bridge takes one's time, so I've heard,
But you, Mrs. Green — hear him laughing—
The sweetest thing ever you heard.

You're afraid that he'd be a trouble
And might turn out badly some day?
Sure, babies always need minding
But who wouldn't have them that way?

Of course he may wake you at midnight
He'll be wanting his bottle the dear,
But as for his turning out badly,
He'll never do that, don't you fear.

For a child will be just what you make him
Just feel of his wee dimpled hand—
She's gone, baby dear—selfish creature—
And she with a house on the Strand.

Ah, well, perhaps it is better.
'Tis not riches you're needing, but love
Sure, Jesus himself has been homeless,
And isn't He watching above?

So I know there is somebody waiting
With a heart full of love, warm and true,
And a mother who's aching to cherish
A bonnie wee laddie like me.

For full information respecting adoption, Peterborough people are invited to call at the office of the Children's Aid Society in the City Hall. Mounting public interest in the Adopt A Child Week, inaugurated in connection with the celebration of the first birthday of the Dionne quintuplets has roused widespread curiosity as to the initial steps to be taken by prospective parents.

"It's simplicity itself," states Hon. David Croll, Minister of Welfare. "The first thing anyone wishing to adopt a child should do is to go or write to the nearest Children's Aid Society. An application form will be provided. Both this application and the subsequent negotiations are treated in the strictest confidence."

"Of course it is the bounden duty of the societies and the department to see that children are adopted into suitable homes. This involves certain friendly and confidential enquiries. The financial stability of the prospective adoptive parents is of course considered. It is not a matter of wealth, but simply a provision that the child can be looked after. The other main considerations in these enquiries, are the health and character of the adoptive parents and a decent home environment."

"The other side of this picture is the baby. And quite as great pains are taken to assure prospective parents as to the qualities of the child. The children are passed upon by competent baby specialists and psychologists and these opinions are available to the adoptive parents as well as all records as to background and heredity."

"The whole idea is to reach an adjustment whereby the adopted child and the new parents and home will be as mutually harmonious as possible."

"To insure that this new relationship is at least approximated the home is visited by representatives of the aids and the department from time to time over a period. But this is not in any sense an officious 'investigation.' On the contrary, experience has shown adoptive parents are eager to talk, and as bubbling over with news of their child's exploits as any proud mothers and fathers."

In addition to Emelie, Cecile, Annette, Yvonne and Marie Dionne, there are aproximately 9,000 children who are "wards" of the province. Eight thousand of them have foster-homes and foster-parents, but the others are still housed in public "shelters." Mr. Croll wants all the suitable babies in these shelters adopted the last week of May.

"When we are thinking of Annette, Marie, Yvonne, Cecile and Emelie Dionne, we might spare some attention for children who are forgotten." the minister states.

"They have no homes but the white walls of an institution, no mother or father to turn to, none of that freedom which belongs to youth.

"Let us try to take these children out of the shelter and give them a chance for normal, happy home lives. Make them not wards, but sons and daughters."

Obituary

REV. MOTHER LOYOLA.

Rev. Mother Loyola, mother superior of St. Joseph's Convent in Cobourg, and formerly of St. Joseph's Convent here, passed away following a long illness at the convent in Cobourg yesterday. She had spent 44 years in this Catholic community.

The deceased was Miss B. McCabe, born in Perth and later residing at Grafton, Ontario. She had served as superior at Cobourg during the past six years. She is survived by a sister, Mother Millbrook, of St. Joseph's Convent, Campbellford.

High Mass was celebrated at St. Michael's Church in Cobourg at 9 a.m. this morning, and the remains were borne to Mount St. Joseph Convent here early this afternoon. The funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock, interment being made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

RAPS BAILIFFS.

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., May 22 (CP)—Magistrate W. A. Smith in court yesterday ruled a bailiff in impounding goods must do more than just say "I seize these goods." He dismissed a charge of theft against Edwin Hazell who is alleged to have secreted his furniture after Bailiff Thomas W. Yocum had taken possession of it for rent arrears.

"There are ways of impounding goods seized by a bailiff," the magistrate declared. "Just saying 'I seize these goods' and then leaving them is a loose-jointed way of doing business."

FIREMEN ATTEND CAREY FUNERAL

Fire Department Was Manned By a Staff of Volunteers.

REPRESENTATIVE FUNERAL

Peterborough Fire Department was manned by a volunteer staff yesterday afternoon, while nineteen of the twenty firefighters were in attendance at the funeral of their comrade, Fireman J. Henry Carey, who was a victim of an accidental gas fatality at his own home while preparing for duty on Sunday morning.

Not only was the Fire Department fully represented by Chief George Gimblett, Assistant George Smith and Captain William Jones, and other members, but there was also in attendance a string representation from the City Police Department, under Inspector James Reid, as well as a representative of the Provincial Police.

Services were conducted by the Rev. A. E. Moorhouse, pastor of St. James' United Church, while pallbearers were: Firemen Joseph Finney, William Osborne, George Gimblett, Jr., Victor Barry, James McFarlane, and Stuart Foster.

Although convelescing from a recent operation, Police Constable George Carey insisted on attending the funeral, and was at the graveside of his brother.

Besides his aged mother, Mrs. Mary Carey, the deceased is survived by two brothers, William (of the Provincial Police, station at Cobourg), and George, and a sister, Miss Mary L. Carey. He also leaves his widow, formerly Helen McBride, and two children.

Interment was made at Little Lake Cemetery.

Why DOCTORS warn you against the Cathartic Habit!

Compare these TWO WAYS of fighting constipation

OLD

YOU TAKE any one of the laxatives or cathartics on the market. In one average drug store alone, there were 312 such items on sale.

WHAT HAPPENS: If the cathartic or laxative you take is potent enough, it irritates the delicate lining of your intestines, draws water from your tissues—or otherwise promotes an "unnatural" bowel evacuation.

RESULT: You may get a partial or complete "cleaning out"—perhaps accompanied by griping. Such results are purely temporary . . . and may ultimately weaken your entire digestive system—lead in time to the "cathartic habit."

NEW

YOU EAT 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily, half an hour before meals or at bedtime—plain or in water. You get it at grocery stores, drug stores, or at restaurants or soda fountains.

HOW IT WORKS: It starts your digestive juices flowing and strengthens your entire intestinal tract . . . promoting a healthier, more active condition all through you.

RESULTS: You feel better. Your appetite and digestion improve. Food does you more "good." And as you continue with the yeast, your evacuations become entirely regular and natural . . . you don't need to take harsh cathartics.

Read about this remarkable "digestive activator" method which corrected 93% of constipation cases in one hospital

No longer need you be satisfied with violent methods of fighting constipation. For a remarkable new way to treat it is now in use . . . a way that is giving truly phenomenal results in correcting it.

It is called the "digestive activator" method because it supplies to your stomach and intestines a vital tonic substance these organs themselves produce, when healthy.

This substance almost immediately "tones" your digestive system, strengthens it. Food inside you is softened. Bowels have an easier time in disposing of their waste.

In one great Eastern hospital, 93% of cases of chronic constipation were corrected by this method . . . in others, 83% of cases of indigestion and 89% of skin cases of digestive origin got relief!

To get these results which Fleischmann's Yeast is giving, just eat two or three cakes (or more) of it daily—cutting down gradually on cathartics as the yeast strengthens your bowels.

But—don't look on Fleischmann's Yeast as a medicine. It's a food, and should be eaten right along.

START eating it today!

THE OPINION of doctors on the "cathartic problem" is expressed by Dr. Erwin Pulay (left) of Vienna:—"These remedies (cathartics) have a purely artificial action," he says, "—harsh and harmful to delicate tissues . . . Their use cannot be too emphatically condemned . . . I recommend fresh yeast . . ." Dr. Pulay is a member of the Austrian Society of Physicians.

FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST is not only the richest natural source of the "digestive activator" mentioned . . . it is also the richest food in the group of 4 vitamins (Vitamins A, B, D and G) needed by everyone to build up a reserve of health and strength.

ROBERTA'S CHAT

A column conducted by a reader of The Examiner for her other reader friends. Address all mail to Roberta, in care of The Examiner.

"Everyone has within themselves an undiscovered continent of character. Happy is he, who acts the Columbus to his own soul."

—Sir J. Stephens.

Dear Friend:

How well do you know yourself? Seems rather silly to ask that, but if you will think it over, you will realize that you know others pretty well, may even be a good judge of character, but you don't really know yourself.

How would you act if there was a fire, if you lost your income, if one of your family was hurt?

You may think you would do such and such, and so and so, but until you come up against these things, you don't really know.

It is very easy to say people are not having such a bad time, as the papers would make us believe, if we eat when we want to, and are warm and comfortable, and have no debts.

You know if you like a person, when you meet them, but, do they like you. You don't know. It is a fascinating study, finding out about yourself.

Do you take offence easily and keep thinking of how you were slighted? Then you don't believe in yourself, and let other people's opinion bother you too much.

If you haven't tried any of the arts such as music, drawing, writing, designing, you might get a pleasant surprise, and find out that you were a very talented person. Do you retire into your shell, and remain quiet? Yet you might be a brilliant talker if you knew yourself.

We do not know why we like certain things or people, and why we dislike others; and no hard and fast rule can be set down, as we all react differently as any psychologist will tell you.

Some of us can make "snap" decisions, and some have to think things over.

But this I will say that the better we know ourselves, the better we can understand others.

You can readily understand, that if our lives are all cluttered up with thoughts of what others will say or think of us, it is as if we fettered ourselves with a lot of little chains.

But when we know ourselves, these things will be clarified, and we will be able to discard false values, and retain the real ones.

I have found a great help in asking myself "why"? Why did I like this one, and not that, why was I hurt, why was it so important?

It's a marvellous experience and makes life seem more of an adventure. So stand back and look at yourself, and see what makes you tick, and what makes you stop. Make the best of yourself. No one else will.

If you are discouraged at what you see, don't lose heart, but build up the best in you, and tear down the worst. You help and cheer others. Help and cheer yourself. Make yourself look as lovely as possible, so that when you look in the mirror, you won't be ashamed of what you see there. Go on from that point and each day you will see more and more to admire. I am judging you to be a person of intelligence, and know you will not carry this self-analysis too far.

Your friend,
Roberta.

COMMUNITY HEALTH

A column Conducted by the Department of Public Health, Peterborough, in the interests of Peterborough citizens.

Since the organization of the Department of Health in Peterborough considerable interest has been aroused in public health. There are, however, many people in the community who are unfamiliar with the work of the department and some who do not even know that it exists. To acquaint the public with the efforts of the department in the prevention of disease and the agencies through which these efforts are directed is the purpose of these articles.

The Health Association

The Peterborough Health Association was organized in 1911 with the object of providing a nursing service for tuberculous patients in the community. The association raised money by public subscription and "Made in Peterborough" Fairs and employed a visiting nurse. While her duties at first were intended for sufferers from tuberculosis, it was found that her time was being requisitioned for home nursing service and as a result this phase of activity was undertaken. A second nurse was employed to assist with the increased work but due to lack of funds during the war her services were dispensed with in 1916.

A summer camp for underprivileged children was organized in 1915, discontinued in 1916 and reorganized after the war with the help of the Kiwanis Club.

In addition to the nursing service, eggs, milk and sick room supplies were provided by the association to those in need.

Two years ago a Chest Clinic was established for the diagnosis of tuberculosis. Suspected cases or contacts may be referred to this clinic by their physicians and will receive a thorough physical and X-ray examination by a chest specialist. Doctors F. C. Neal and C. B. Waite are in charge of this work. Early diagnosis of tuberculosis and regular examination of those exposed to the disease will do much to lower the number of cases in our community and save many lives from this white plague.

The Peterborough Health Association is still actively engaged in the campaign for better community health. The nursing service, health camp, milk and egg fund and Chest Clinic are all financed by public subscription and are given freely, regardless of race or creed, to our citizens.

NOTE—This is the first of a series of weekly articles from the Department of Public Health, Peterborough.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Now that almost every conceivable edible has been used in the making of salads, literally from soup to nuts, the glorifying of their appearance is becoming a feature.

• • • • • •

If you wonder how soup can be included in ingredients, let me remind you of clear consomme which is used with a little gelatine to form an aspic for molded salads. As for nuts they have been used for many a long year. There is not a fruit that comes to mind that has not been included in salads and meats and fish with few exceptions have proven substantial elements.

• • • • • •

Pickles and curry, macaroni and parsnips are among the later ingredients, with ginger ale as a novelty, the last being hardened with gelatine, as is the case with soup.

• • • • • •

Since the gamut of combinations seems to have been nearly run, attention, as mentioned, is turned with culinary vigor to adding decoration to the dish. Here is an ornamental salad which can be composed of fruits, or fruits and vegetables, with or without ginger ale jelly. Put the salad on a salad plate (not a bowl) and surround it with crisp lettuce leaves. Make small radish roses and dot the lettuce leaves with them. Top the salad with the well washed head of a pineapple. On many of the green spiked leaves affix a rose of pink tinted cream cheese with a fleck of carrot for the centre. Or a simple and almost as attractive floral bouquet top, consists of firm red and white canned cherries substituted for the cheese roses. Or maraschino cherries may be used.

• • • • • •

A very simple and yet dressy salad consists of well shaped round tomatoe from which the tops have been cut off and centres scooped out. These tomato bowls should be on ice sometime before using for baskets so that they will be very firm. Arrange asparagus tips to stand up in these bowls. Centre the asparagus with slender sticks of carrot cooked just long enough to be tender but not soft. Serve with French dressing passed. Or marinate the asparagus and carrots while they are chilling, as well as passing the dressing. Place each floral tomato bowl on a bed of crisp watercress, preferably, or of lettuce.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's United Church Women's Missionary Society was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church parlours.

Miss F. Dixon presided over the business part of the meeting which was opened with the singing of a hymn and prayer.

Reports of the treasurer and the various secretaries were read and approved. Mrs. M. A. Kerr's group had charge of the devotional meeting in which Mrs. E. P. McNeely read the scriptures and Mrs. A. H. Allen led in prayer.

Mrs. W. Zeihr, who recently attended as a delegate the Bay of Quinte Branch conference held at Belleville gave a very interesting report of the meetings of the conference. A paper on India prepared by Mrs. C. M. Scott was read by Mr. H. M. Ross.

Mrs. Davidson sang the solo, "My Task" very acceptably with the piano accompaniment by Mrs. A. Redford.

At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served by the members of Mrs. M. A. Kerr's group.

MONTREAL FIRE

MONTREAL, May 22 (CP) — A fireman was injured and five sheds were destroyed when fire broke out in a block in the north end of the city yesterday. Fireman A. Descoteau suffered a deep cut in the foot and was taken to hospital.

NEIGHBORLY NOTES

Please Phone Items to 1000 or 1001

A very pleasant event took place on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Gobeen of Colborne, in honor of the latter's mother, Mrs. James Morrow of Hastings, to celebrate her eightieth birthday anniversary, which was attained yesterday. Over fifty of the relatives and friends of Mrs. Morrow assembled for a sumptuous dinner, in the preparation of which the octogenarian herself took an active part. Later, a peasant social time was held, when past events were recalled by the senior members present. Mrs. Morrow received many gifts and messages of congratulation ,among the gifts being a special one from her sons and daughters, which was presented Mrs. Will Morrow of Peterborough, accompanied by the following address, read by Mrs. Ray Morrow, also of this city: "Dear Mother: It is a matter of great joy and thanksgiving that we, your sons and daughters, grandsons and grand daughters, and great grand daughter, have been permitted to share with you the joy of another birthday. We give thanks to Him who, in His kind Providence, has so safely guided us throughout the past year, enabling us all to meet in happy re-union here to-day, enjoying a large measure of health and prosperity. We are particularly thankful that you have been accorded a measure of health which permits you on this, another birthday, to enjoy the company and good fellowship of this large family circle. We wish to leave with you to-day some little token which will often remind you during the coming year of this occasion and we would, therefore, ask you to accept this little gift. We hope that it may remind you of the host of good wishes, on the part of those you love, for your future health and comfort. In the light of many lives, you are still young. We are sure that your present health and strength will afford you many more birthday parties such as this and we eagerly look forward to them." A suitable response was made by the guest of honor, Mrs. Morrow, who is widely known throughout the northern portion of Northumberland County has lived in the vicinity of Hastings all her life. Her husband, the late James Morrow of Hastings, passed away nine years ago, since which time his widow has lived in retirement on the farm where she spent almost all of her long life, and amid the friends and neighbors she loves. Always very active, Mrs. Morrow still takes much interest in the community life around her. She is still an active participant also in the work of her home and her ambition and interest in daily affairs mark her as one with a long period of usefullness ahead of her. She has a family of eight children—Mrs. Irving Gobeen of Colborne, Mr. Harold Morrow of Roseneath, Messrs. Fred and Clarence Morrow of Hastings, Messrs. Will and Ray Morrow of Peterborough, Mrs. Erle Gillespie of Campbellford and Mrs. Highsmith of Miami, Florida. All but the last-named were present at the gathering on Sunday, together with their husbands and wives, twenty grand children and one great grand daughter. Also present were two nephews—Mr. Eldred Frise and Mr. P. E. Harvey, of Toronto, with their wives and families, and a brother of Mrs. Morrow—Mr. Alfred Bailey of Roseneath.

The following item has been received for publication in this column: "'Pin' Meeks' 'Wee Duck' Inn at Pigeon Creek was the scene last week end of a very congenial gathering of kindred souls. 'Pin,' and the other limb of the Fish and Game Laws, Fred Marshall, were there to see that there was no violation of the sanctuary which is enjoyed by the lunge at this season. There was a euchre contest in which Pat Carroll carried off the honors and George Fox came a close second. Musical numbers in the form of cowboy songs were rendered by E. L. Ainslie, Chas. Evans and J. Law, in a manner calculated to bring tears to the eyes of George Wade himself. The rest of the party consisted of William Stansbury, R. Humber, Mose Yokom, O Gorman and Mat Clancy, who, as a culinary expert, proved himself almost second to none."

The frozen salad recipe may be modified to suit. You can use fresh vegetables that you have on hand with the tomato. Or you can use the same recipe and, instead of freezing the ingredients, you can mould them in gelatine.

Today's Recipes

Pancakes—Two eggs, separated and well beaten; two cups milk, two cups flour sifted with one teaspoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt and two teaspoons baking powder; one tablespoon of melted butter. Beat the egg yolks, add milk and beat on beating, then gradually, add dry ingredients, then melted butter, and lastly fold in the stiffly-beaten whites.

Frozen Tomato Salad—One and one-half cups canned tomatoes, one and one-half tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon onion juice, one-half cup salad dressing, two tablespoons chopped green pepper, one-fourth cup chopped celery, one-fourth cup chopped cucumber. Cook the tomatoes, sugar (salt and pepper to taste) and onion juice for five minutes. Rub through sieve, cool and add to remaining ingredients. Freeze, stirring twice. Serves six.

Angel Ginger Bread—One-half cup sugar, one-fourth cup shortening, one-fourth cup molasses, one cup flour, one teaspoon soda, one egg, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup boiling water, pinch salt. Mix sugar, shortening and molasses, add egg slightly beaten, then flour mixed with soda and salt. Add vanilla and ginger. Add boiling water last. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in moderate oven 350 degrees. This may be served with whipped cream or a spoonful of jelly.

Celery Curls

To make celery curls, cut inner stalks into three or four-inch lengths. With a sharp knife cut each piece down into thin strips, stopping when within an inch of the end. Drop into ice water. Strips will curl up as they become chilled.

FLOOR WAX

I KNOW I can't buy as fine a wax for less—nor a better wax for more—
THAT'S WHY I ALWAYS BUY HAWES'!
NOW I buy floor wax on the same basis as everything else on my household list. I buy on VALUE and SERVICE—not on price. I've had enough of ordinary waxes—they have proved to be cheap in price only—and really cost more in the long run. When I used ordinary wax I used more wax and could never get my floors to look right. I now buy HAWES', the better quality wax, which keeps my floors well polished and well protected with less work, and at lower cost. HAWES' is the true standard of value in floor wax—it is needless extravagance to pay more.

NORWOOD PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH CELEBRATES 89TH ANNIVERSARY

Dr. Hilton Campbell Was the Special Preacher at Both Services.

SOCIAL EVENING.

NORWOOD, May 22 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Sunday the congration of St Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Norwood, celebrated their 89th anniversary. The altar was beautifully banked with spring flowers and foliages.

Rev. Hilton Campbell, Ph.D., was the special speaker for the occasion. He read the sixth chapter of John, starting at the forty-seventh verse, and choose for his text the 67th verse, "Then said Jesus unto the twelve, Will ye also go away?" Dr. Campbell stressed the fact that there was too much freedom in the religion of to-day and the failure to appreciate one's position in life. The consequences of this is the moral declination of religion and the inevitable weakening of its cause.

"Heavenly Bells" was sung by the choir, with Mrs. Porter and Miss Lottie Slater taking the solo parts.

Mrs. Porter also sang, "Lord for to-morrow."

The evening worship was well attended, as the congregations of the United and Baptist Churches were present. Rev. G. E. Downing pastor of the Baptist Church, led in prayer. The subject of Dr. Campbell's message was "The Disciples' Vision." The disciples perhaps at first did not understand the meaning of prayer, but prayer is opening ourselves to God. The disciples followed Jesus; they did not set us an example to be like Him that is impossible, but to follow Him and try to be willing, and He will make us like Him. We received santification by faith.

Roger McMillen chose for his solo "I shall not pass again this way." Six of the lady members of the choir sang "Beautiful Message." A trio consisting of Mr. and Mrs. M. Calender and Miss Evelyn Godin sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

Social Evening Held.

The annual anniversary, social was held on Monday evening. Rev. W. G. Reeves, pastor, was in the chair, and called on Dr. Campbell, who brought greetings from the Hastings congregation. Misses Florence Scott, Jean Webb, Evelyn Godin and Margaret Burgess sang "Whispering Hope."

Rev. Duncan of Warkworth gave an illustrate travelogue of Victoria, Vancouver, and as far east as Sicamouse. Mr. Duncan has taken all the pictures, both developing and coloring them.

Mrs. Perrin Rork favored the audience with a piano instrumental, "The Waters of Minatonque."

Rev. Preston, in a few well-chosen words, brough, best wishes from his congregations at Warsaw, Keene, and Westwood.

Mr. Roger McMillen sang for the closing number, "Summer Time at Fredon."

Lunch was served by the ladies.

Be Beautiful

By GLADYS GLAD

People think that ostriches are funny creatures because, when they bury their heads, they think that they are completely concealed from sight. But according to Jean Muir of the movies, many women are a great deal similar in one respect. They take excellent care of their faces, but because their pocket mirrors seldom reflect their necks, they believe that no one else notices this portion of their anatomies. According to Jean, any girl who desires to achieve true beauty can not afford to neglect her neck. For no matter how lovely her face is, if her neck is wrinkled, flabby or sallow, it will decract from her appearance.

Scrub Fellow Creaming

The base of the throat is the proper starting place for all facial creamings and cleansings, and not the chinline. Dirt and grime, exposure to the elements, and the friction of coat collars, all tend to roughen and discolor the neck. Before cleansing the face and neck, the hair both in front and back should be rolled up and banded so that no cream will be able to get into it. Then a good cleansing cream should be smoothed over the entire face and neck and massaged over the skin.

After a short time, the cream should be wiped away with cleansing tissues, then a thorough scrubbing should be administered with a bland soap and tepid water. An upward stroke only should be used in the creaming and scrubbing, for the elastic muscles of the face and neck are continuous, and must not be stretched. All soapy lather should then be rinsed away, and cold water dashed over the skin to tone it. If desired, a mild astringent may be used for toning purposes in place of the cold water.

All specific blemishes, of course, must be treated individually. If the neck is dry and wrinkled, a good skin food should be applied to it after the nightly cleansing. If the skin has become darkened or sallow, a lemon juice or peroxide bleach should be used to restore the skin of the neck to its natural creamy hue. And if the neck is scrawny or fat, or marred by a double chin, exercises like the one described in my 'New Figure' booklet should be practiced daily.

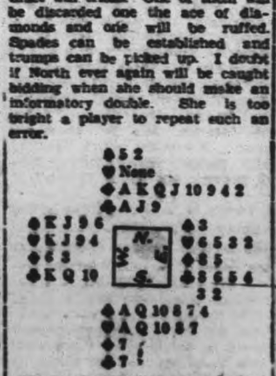
CORRECT INFORMATION VITAL TO SUCCESS

Correct information is vital to partnership success. Last evening I saw an easy game missed because North misled her partner and thereby suffered a needless penalty.

South dealt and passed. West made an opening bid of 1 no trump, on the common 4-3-3-3 division of suits. One of the most important things for partners is to play a hand at the call giving their side the greatest possible number of trumps. The joint holdings of North and South were, in this respect: 6 spades, 6 hearts, only 5 diamonds but 9 clubs, making the latter call vastly superior to any other. It was North's business to think of this, but she fell down. Instead of an informatory double, announcing her 5-4-4-0 holdings, she announced a two-suiter, which South had to believe. North bid 2 spades, which South properly shifted to 3 diamonds. When North went 3 hearts there was nothing for South to do except pass. North had distinctly stated that she held a strong two-suiter, even a 5-5-3-0 is better for a double than an immediate bid. The precise play of the hand is unimportant. North went down a trick, which was not bad, had it been necessary.

Suppose North had doubled the 1 no trump. Bidding then should have gone: South, 2 diamonds, as anticipated by the doubler; North, 2 spades; South, 3 clubs; North, 3 hearts; South, 4 clubs; North, 5 clubs.

West must make the opening lead, which will be difficult. Any lead will help establish something for the declaring side. West may as well lead a trump. Probably the only trick South will lose at clubs is a single spade trick. South always can gain entry to his own hand by ruffing a second round of spades. Two of North's hearts must win tricks. One of them will be discarded one the ace of diamonds and one will be ruffed. Spades can be established and trumps can be picked up. I doubt if North ever again will be caught bidding when she should make an informatory double. She is too bright a player to repeat such an error.



North plays 7 diamonds, doubled by West. Before tomorrow, see if the contract can be fulfilled against any defence.

PEOPLE'S LOBBY COUGHLIN'S AIM

Will Attack Bankers, Veto of Bonus Bill in Madison Square Garden To-night.

PARTY HAS NO CANDIDATES

(By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, May 22 (CP) — To-night the mellifluous tones of the Radio Priest, Rev. Father Charles Francis Coughlin, will fill Madison Square Garden and neighboring streets where loudspeakers have been set up.

A few years ago an obscure cleric in Detroit, the rosy, rotund wizard of words, will tell thousands of New Yorkers about his National Union for Social Justice. Most of his audience will have paid a dollar or 50 cents to hear what he has to say about the union having 8,000,000 adherents, the iniquity of a veto of the Soldiers' Bonus Bill, the perfidy of bankers, the power of petition in a democracy, and the like.

Father Coughlin arrived in New York yesterday, and almost immediately saw the press.

"Do you pray for President Roosevelt?"

"Every good Catholic prays for those in authority."

"For whom should the Russian Catholic peasant pray?"

"Not for a government wholly without morality."

"The German . . . for Hitler?"

"They should pray that he be given some common sense."

Bars World Politics

Father Coughlin does not care about the United States mixing in world politics.

He does not believe in "modern capitalism," he is distinctly strong for machinery. As to technological unemployment, he would have a fund of $10,000,000,000 to be expended on public works.

The Union for Social Justice has no candidates for office and proposes to act through power of petition in bringing into effect the government principles which it advocates. A "people's lobby," he has called it.

"A very enjoyable hour," said Father Coughlin as the interview broke up.

APSLEY

Messrs. C. S. Windsor and James Rosebush, the lay representatives of St. George's and St. Andrew's respectively, attended the Synod meetings in Toronto last week with the Rev. C. A. G. Spence.

Local settlers who have been laid off road work for some time are hoping that the news which is being circulated, to the effect that they are to be engaged on the highway north of Apsley after the camps are closed on Wednesday, will prove correct.

Returning Israelite Race Building New Palestine at Frenzied Pace.

WONDERS IN DECADE

Battle of Armageddon Being Fought With Wilderness as National Enemy.

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Central press Canadian Writer

JERUSALEM, May 22—Am Israel Chai! The people of Israel lives! The dream is coming true. The ancient longing is being fulfilled. The seemingly impossible is being achieved. Across all the difficulties, obstacles, dark situations and vexing problems which still obstruct the building of a Jewish commonwealth in the Holy Land, one fact stands out with surpassing clarity: the Jewish people are not exhausted and doomed to extinction. Israel has still a mighty vitality, still possesses a marvelous creative strength, still has a role to play in the world. If the Jewish people could do in the last ten years what they have done under most unfavorable circumstances and with the tables set against them, there is no telling what the future might bring.

"Tell me in a few words your impression of Palestine!" said a young reporter of a Jerusalem newspaper to me as I was about to board the steamer at Haifa for Brindisi.

"Ness gadol haja po — a great wonder has happened here!" said I in my hurry, and that is the simple truth.

Tremendous Change

Consider the facts: when the Balfour Declaration was issued there lived in Palestine a few thousand Jews. The land was poor, worthless. The Zionist hope of building a national home for the Jewish people in that territory seemed a chimera, a mirage in the brain of some fantastic dreamers. Even in 1920 it was not safe to travel from one place to the other in the Holy Land. Pilgrims who ventured out of Jerusalem dreaded for their lives. The old cities were slowly crumbling to pieces. The soil, poorly tended, was becoming a desert....

To-day as I traversed the country once more from south to north the air was filled with the perfume of orange blossom. Millions of orange trees were in bloom. The train was so crowded that I had to stand up all the way. Everywhere you could see men and women working in the fields. Caravans of trucks, loaded with merchandise, sped along the asphalt highways in both directions. Everywhere houses are going up and the workers are singing.

Jerusalem Enlarged

On the shores of the Mediterranean, where the silent wilderness prevailed a decade ago, arises a city which approaches the 200,000 figure. A dense automobile traffic passes in its streets. Banks, hotels, commercial houses, innumerable shops, displaying the most up-to-date in fashion, modern comfort and adornment, have obliterated the red sand dunes that were here but a short time ago. A city with theatres, movies, concert halls, museums, club houses, co-operative stores, an opera and even a Hebrew political cabaret.

Jerusalem has spread out to three times its former size. Great solid buildings, towered edifices, scientific institutions, homes, churches, hotels, dot the hills around the old city where formerly was desolation. Every minute the air is shattered with the blast of dynamite as some new site for a new building is being prepared. They build night and day. Outlying suburbs a few years ago are now lying in the centre of the city, so to speak.

As the train rolled on I had a last glimpse of the Valley of Esdraelon. I could see the old fort of Megido in the distance illuminated by an oblique ray of sunlight. That was the centre, I knew, of an area which prophecy indicates as the battle-ground of nations. That battle is in full swing: more than a hundred flourishing agricultural colonies are in existence now. It is the battle with the soil, a hard fight, but it is won not with weapons of war, but with tenderness and love. One of the most gruesome swamps in the east only a dozen years ago, a veritable deathtrap of malaria and typhus for wandering Bedouins, who perished by the thousands, this valley has been turned into one of the healthiest spots in the country by Jewish pioneering enterprise.

Build Aerial Railway

Surveyors were signalling to each other from the hill-tops, mapping out the course an aerial railway is to take from the Dead Sea to Haifa harbor from where the sea's products, asbestos and salpetre, are to be shipped to the four corners of the earth. Then the train roared into the Haifa railway station in a pouring rainstorm which drenched me to the bone but which made everybody happy as it will nourish the plantations throughout the land better to withstand the heat of summer.

Twelve trans-oceanic steamers were being loaded in the harbor of Haifa. Seven million cases of oranges were shipped from this point last year. This year it is hoped to surpass the ten million mark. A ship of immigrants was discharging its dishevelled cargo from Lithuania. "Hatikvah," song of hope, burst forth over the quays. Other songs: "Beschuw Adonai et Schiwath Zion"....I saw one man upon descending the gangplank kiss the ground of Palestine. Others wept with emotion—A homecoming after two thousand years!

"We expect three thousand more immigrants in the next month or so," said an official.

"There is room for millions," challengingly put in a young pioneer in a brown shirt, who overheard the remark.

"That's a question of faith," said another man.

One does not dispute questions of faith, especially when one shares that faith. A great wonder has happened here. Other wonders will follow. Le hitrauth! Till we meet again!

Spare the Car

CHICAGO, May 22, (CP).—A judicial ruling handed down yesterday ruled it was bad form for a divorced woman to place stickers on her husband's automobile reading:

"My ex-husband owes me $750 alimony."

Superior Judge Rudolph Desort, replying to a complaint from Edward Moores, 37, told Mrs. Vira Moores, 29:

"I'm in favor of branding a man with a hot iron for failing to pay alimony but I don't think his automobile ought to be brought into it."

They Share "Jack Tar" Between Them

The McCurdy twins, Anne and Joan, granddaughters of the privy councillor of Halifax, are arriving on the liner Lady Hawkins as it docked in Boston. The girls were sunburned from a vacation in Bermuda. Pictured with them is "Jack Tar", who lost his hat overboard during the voyage.

Millbrook

This section of Durham County was well represented in the prize winners at the annual Musical Festival held in Port Hope last week with more entrants in a greater number of classes than at any previous time in the history of the county organization.

Tom McCamus, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. McCamus, and a pupil of Mrs. L. H. Winslow, won the gold medal in the boss solo class, being awarded eighty points; Joan Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Shield, of Mount Pleasant, and a pupil of Mrs. (Canon) Allen, was awarded the gold medal in the open class for sopranos; and little Peggy McNeil, daughter of Mr. Leonard McNeil, of Cavan, and a pupil of her aunt, Miss Helen Staples, of Peterborough, won the silver medal in the elocution class for girls under seven years. Peggy was tied for first place with another girl and had eighty-four points to her credit, but apparently did not understand the "why" of the repetition of her selection, thus not doing quite so well the second time, and taking the silver rather than the gold medal. Lillian Crocker, who had some coaching from Mrs. Winslow, and who is an accomplished pianist, won the bronze medal in the open class for piano, taking third place at her initial entry into the Festival competition.

Word has been received by friends locally of the death of Everett Stewart Scott, of Englehart, following pleuro-pneumonia, husband of Margaret Needler, formerly of Millbrook, and youngest daughter of Mrs. Charles Needler, and the late Mr. Needler of Toronto. Miss Helen Needler, R.N. is with her sister, and besides his bereaved widow, deceased is survived by two boys, Robert and William, aged ten and eight years, respectively. Interment was at St. Thomas, Ontario, where Mr. Scott's home formely was located.

St. Thomas' Anglican church will observe its golden jubilee on Sunday, June 16, with special services, and by a garden party on the church grounds on Tuesday, June 18, with a suitable program including an outline of the church's history during the fifty years since its erection.

The annual 'Service of Remembrance' of St. John's church, Ida, will take place this year on Sunday, June 9, at 3 p.m., Rev. Principal McSherran, D.D., of Wycliffe College, Toronto, to preach the sermon. All who have friends buried in the beautiful cemetery in which St. John's stands are invited to be present, and to decorate the graves of loved ones previous to the service in the church. R. McCamus is people's warden, and H. Seney, rector's warden for St. John's, and the Rev. William Simpson, B.A., rector of the parish.

Rev. William Simpson was in Toronto last week attending the Synod meeting. Miss Margaret Simpson accompanying her father to the city, return being at the week end.

Councillor P. I. Bentley is chairman of the committee appointed to arrange for the big Jubilee celebration being planned for June 3rd, the King's birthday. Martin Turnbull, Junior, supervisor of music in the schools of Millbrook and Cavan, expects to have three hundred and fifty to five hundred of the pupils on hand to represent a pageant, the local Cadet Corps will also have part in the program, the Lindsay Boys' Band, the local bugle band, and the Port Hope Bugle Band. H. A. Kenner is secretary-treasurer, and there is a strong committee to assist Mr. Turnbull with the big project which will conclude with a street carnival the same evening.

NASH OUSTED BRITISH PLAY

Canadian Field Reduced to Six as London Eliminated in Second.

LOSES TO KYLE.

ST ANNES ON SEA, May 22 (CP Cable).—Canada's challengers in the British amateur golf championship were reduced to six to-day when Jack Nash of London, Ont., was eliminated in a delayed second round match by F. P. Kyle, 3 and 2.

Gordie Taylor of Montreal, also still in the second round, was beating none other than Cyril Tolley, twice former champion. Canada's five other remaining contestants were in third round matches later in the day.

The weather was fine, in contrast to the two preceding days, as the second round was cleaned up and the third round commenced. By to-night the field will be reduced to 32 in the same procedure, 18 holes of match play.

Kyle won the first hole from Nash in par three, but Nash squared at the second, where Kyle nearly lost his ball from a bad drive. Kyle recovered as the game went on and had a three-hole lead at the turn.

Coming back, Nash, a little unsteady on his approaches, won the 11th, where Kyle netted three putts, but Kyle went three up again at the 12th. He should have won four and three, but missed a two-foot putt on the 15th. A half at the 16th gave him the match.

Double Sitting Of Magistrate's Court

So heavy was the press of business to be handled that for possibly the first time in local experience two magisterial courts were held simultaneously here to-day. Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., presided over his usual court, while Magistrate A. E. Gee of Lindsay conducted another session in the Council Chamber, where he dealt with cases under the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act.

SWP has GREATER HIDING CAPACITY

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS paint covers more surface and covers it better. It contains, in good measure, the high-grade white lead and other valuable ingredients necessary to produce a tough protective film—tough enough to stand up to the extreme rigours of the Canadian climate. Over fifty years' service on property all over the Dominion has proved it.

SWP won't crack, chip or peel. Its colours stay fresh and clear for the life of the paint. It costs less per job because of its exceptional covering capacity. Its long life cuts out the expense of frequent repainting, thus making it by far the most economical paint to use.

King Edward Gold Cup To-day

THE WOODBINE is sure enjoying superb weather conditions and the attendance has been wonderful. Sally Fuller, the King's Plate winner will make her next appearance this afternoon when she will attempt to annex the Breeder's Stakes. This race is practically a renewal of the Plate and with a few exceptions the same horses will contest it. Shady Well from the Seagram barn will today attempt to grab off the King Edward Hotel gold cup and they will rely on Stand Pat to try and lift the Toronto Cup which will be run on Saturday which is closing day of the meeting.

It looks as if when the secretary makes out the cheques at the end of the week, distributing the purses, Eddie Seagram's will be in five figures with the rest of the owners collecting chicken feed. This Finesse who was only beaten by a whisker the other day should win on his next attempt. He is a better than average Canuck bred. The halter men are very busy these days with numerous claims being dropped in the box and several horses changing owners as a result.

Celeritas who won the Steeplechase on Monday is a former flat racer who has been converting into a jumper. Dude Foden used to generally ride him on the flat. By the way the evergreen Dude has started his eleventh season in the saddle, and one thing he does to perfection is guard his age as religiously as a maiden lady nearing forty summers. He still knows the shortest way around any man's race track and any day now should see him riding into the winners circle. Old Granite Rock is coming around very nicely and it won't be long now.

THORNCLIFFE opens on Tuesday next which is one day later than usual, but the idea is to give the horsemen an extra day to van their horses over from Woodbine. Billy Woollatt reports that there will be no shortage of horses the way the requests for stabling room are coming in, and as usual this track will be noted for its large fields and generous prices. The popular daily double and one-two forms of betting will again be in vogue and if they get weather like the Woodbine has had the popular Leaside oval should again go over the top in a big way. This horse Desert Call is a real sprinter when in shape and after his good race on Tuesday under his belt should be ready for a winning canter at the next asking. Harry Giddings has not had much luck with his large string so far, but do not sell this well known trainer short as he is a lot better than a green hand when it comes to fitting race horses. At the close of the year he will as usual be right up with the leading trainers of the year.

Racing in Montreal opens on Friday of this week and we will endeavor to give you a little dope on that later on.

Ross Picked To Trim Vancouver Jimmy

WALTER STEWART

BELVE BEAN

A trade that may help Cleveland Indians to win the pennant they seek was concluded when Belve Bean, young right-handed pitcher, was sent to Washington in exchange for Walter Stewart, veteran southpaw. For years Stewart has been a thorn in the side of the Cleveland club, winning four games from the Indians last year. Now they hope they have "bought" out their jinx.

McLARNIN SEEKS NEW TITLE IF HE BEATS YOUNG MR. ROSS

Would Take on Middleweights and Likely Win—But Barney Picked by Experts to Trim James—Joins Ring's Greats.

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright 1935 by Central Press Canadian)

NEW YORK, May 22.—Barney Ross is picked by many of the boxing experts to flatten Jimmy McLarnin when they meet on May 28.

Jimmy McLarnin

The fight carries with it the welterweight championship of the world, Ross having temporarily farmed out his lightweight title to Tony Canzoneri, who was twice whipped by Ross before the Chicagoan went after the welterweight title.

He beat Jimmy McLarnin, and thus became the first man ever to hold the lightweight and the welterweight titles simultaneously. Then he lost the welterweight title back to McLarnin.

At the moment Ross is without a title, but if he whips McLarnin, as the experts confidently predict, he will have been three times a title holder.

He resigned the lightweight title on the ground that he can no longer make the lightweight limit with any comfort, which is perhaps true. Ross has always been a biggish lightweight. But it is probable that he can make it with discomfort, which is the way nearly all the old-time lightweights had to make it.

Ross is undoubtedly a great fighter, his feat of winning the lightweight and welterweight titles, and holding them both together, fixes his place in lightweight history.

McLarnin's Title Delayed

Had Jimmy McLarnin won the welterweight title about five years ago, he would have been accounted the greatest welterweight in ring annals, because in those days Jimmy was fighting often, and outclassing opponents so far he rarely ran into a real contest.

Probably because his manager, 'Pop' Foster, felt that Jimmy could not get the split on the gate receipts to which he was entitled as the drawing card, McLarnin never got a chance at the welterweight title when he was at his peak.

He fought Sammy Mandell for the lightweight title, but McLarnin was still on the way up then, and he got a boxing lesson for his pains. Then he outgrew the lightweight division, or at least he did not care to make the weight, and he spent several years slaughtering lightweights and welterweights just the same.

The welterweight title was bandied about among fellows who couldn't tie Jimmy's shoes, pugilistically speaking. It was finally won by Young Corbett III., of San Francisco, and McLarnin belted him out in short order, winning his first title.

He held it just about a year, long enough to permit himself to acquire so much ring rust that when he ran into fresh, confident Ross, the Vancouver boy got licked.

McLarnin does not seem to have learned anything from his first experience, and has again idled over a year while Ross has kept fighting. This would seem to be in Ross' favor, had not Gene Tunney once demonstrated that a good fighter, McLarnin, like Tunney when he was active in the ring, does not abuse himself.

But Tunney after his long layoffs can lay off a year, if he behaves himself, and still be a good fighter, did not meet any Barney Rosses in the matter of youth, and general fighting ability. He met two comparatively old men in Dempsey and Heeney. There is a big difference.

Will Jimmy Retire?

For several years it has been said "McLarnin wants to get married and quit fighting. His next fight will be his last."

Now, as a matter of fact, McLarnin expects to keep on fighting just as long as he feels that he is able to give a good account of himself in the ring, and he has never seriously considered quitting.

Jimmy himself has stated he will get married, a most laudable ambition for a good looking young fellow like McLarnin. Jimmy has the girl picked out—Lillian Cupit, of Vancouver, to whom he has been engaged for some time. But it does not follow that matrimony will end his pugilistic career. He makes good money at the game. He has never been hurt, or punched around to any extent. He knows no other business. He has been fighting since he was about fifteen years old. He has some years of pugilistic activity before him regardless of the outcome of his battle with Barney Ross. Why, then should he think of retiring?

If he whips Ross and retains his welterweight title, McLarnin expects to broaden his field of activity. He wants to take a crack at the middleweight title.

DIZZY DEAN ESCORTED FROM BALL PARK BY POLICE SQUAD

Second Players' Battle in National League in Five Weeks.

BABE HITS CIRCUIT.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The graybeards who sit close to the fireside and mutter about the "good old days" had better start reading the sports pages. Here the major league season is only five weeks old and already two near-riots have enlivened—or marred, depending upon the point of view—proceedings in the National League where young Fued Frick is serving his first term as president.

Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs were the combatants the first time; now it's the Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals with Jerome "Dizzy" Dean occupying the spotlight as usual. The Phillies won a 7-6 victory over the Cardinals yesterday but only after two hours and 44 minutes of furious scrapping that finally subsided when the last man was retired.

The disturbance began in the first when Bill Delancey, Card catcher, was chased off the bench for making "unpleasant remarks" and flared out again in the fourth when Hans Lobert, Phillies coach, charged Paul ('Daffy') Dean with throwing a bean ball at Lou Chiozza.

Paul dropped his glove and squared off and brother Jerome rushed from the bench to join him. Before any damage could be done, however, the umpires intervened.

Ill-feeling cropped out again in the fifth when Al Todd, Philadelphia catcher, was hit by a pitched ball. Todd dropped his bat and started for the pitcher's box. Again Dizzy, perhaps remembering his encounter with Todd in the Texas League a few years ago when the catcher floored him, leaped out of the dugout. A few punches were exchanged but order was restored when Dizzy was escorted from the premises by police. Before the sixth inning was over, Lobert had been ejected for a too vehement protest.

Otherwise the National League program saw New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves make a clean sweep against the west. The Giants, leading the league, scored seven runs in the sixth to wallop the Pirates 9-4 and the second-place Dodgers scored seven in the first to trounce Cincinnati 9-1. Boston, aided by Babe Ruth's third home run and fine pitching by Fred Frankhouse, downed Chicago Cubs 6-1.

Ray Radcliff, rookie outfielder who has been burning up the American League, rifled one of Johnny Murphy's offerings into the left field bleachers and Chicago White Sox nosed out New York Yankees 3-2 and strengthened their hold on first place. Ted Lyons, veteran right hander, went the route for the winners and held the Yankees to seven hits.

In the only other American League game, Boston Red Sox got good pitching from Fritz Ostermueller and downed the second place Cleveland Indians 7-2.

LEAFS RETAIN TOP POSITION

Ike Boone's Homer in Late Inning Gives Toronto 6-5 Victory.

NEWARK SKIDDING.

(By the Associated Press.)

Thanks to a timely home run by Manager Ike Boone and the fine pitching of Bob Coombs, Toronto Maple Leafs to-day held a two-game advantage over Newark Bears in the battle for the International League pennant.

With two mates on base and the Leafs trailing Rochester Redwings by two runs yesterday, Boone parked the ball over the fence to give the league leaders a 6-5 triumph. Earlier in the game the Toronto boss had cracked out a triple and a single.

Coombs' part in the advance of the Leafs came in Syracuse Chiefs' game with the Bears at Newark. The lanky right-hander was touched for nine hits but kept the Bears away from the plate until the ninth as the Chiefs thumped out a 7-4 victory.

Bears Skidding.

The Bears skidded dangerously close to third place as Buffalo Bisons defeated Montreal Royals 12-10 to leave only a half-game separating the two teams.

Although Gus Dugas, Montreal outfielder, slugged out two home runs, the Bisons took advantage of two costly errors in the first two innings to pile up a six-run lead and never were headed.

Albany Senators won the first night game of the International League season when they bombarded four Baltimore pitchers to win 11-6 despite home runs by George Puccinelli and Woody Abernathy. Russ Peters also hit a home run for the Senators in the fifth inning which saw the Upstate team score six times.

TWO STRAIGHT FOR CLOTHIERS

Three-run Splurge in 8th Gives Fashion Craft 17-12 Victory.

LILLICO'S BEATEN.

Fashion-Craft made it two straight at the expense of Lillico Motors last night at Central by again taking them over the jumps, this time to the tune of 17-12. The play was much closer than the score indicates with the lead see-sawing back and forth till the Clothiers finally emerged victorious by virtue of a three-run splurge in the eighth which put the game on the well-known ice.

Neither starting pitchers survived throughout the contest. Price for the Motormen, going out in the third, after being belted for three solid hits, in favor of Elliott and although he, too, was hit hard finished up the contest. Butcher, on the mound for the winners, could not get the old smoke ball working and retired in the fourth in favor of Abbott who managed to stagger through the remaining innings with the help of his teammates' lusty swinging.

Playford, for the Clothiers, ran his hitting streak to eight straight, with a triple and four-bagger before he was finally stopped. G. Dorner, playing his first game of the season, led his boys at the plate with four hits out of five trips, while Stanger had three out of five. For Lillico's, Covert, the newcomer from Belleville, was the chief offensive threat, smashing out three out of four and Calladine helped himself to two for three.

The fielding was on the whole good although the outfields were responsible for several runs being scored as the result of overthrows to the bases and to the plate. Gainey, catching for the Fashions, played a good game despite the fact that he was in an unaccustomed position and help up his pitchers in nice style.

The winners completed the only two twin-killings of the fracas, H. Dorner-to-Smith in the first and again from H. Dorner-to-Smith-to-H. Dorner in the ninth being the order in which they were run off.

The teams:

Lillico Motors:: Wilshaw, 2b; Weir, lf; Starr, cf, c; Calladine, c, cf; Ellis, 1b; Newson, 3b; Gardner, rf; Covert, ss; Price, p; Elliott, p.

Fashion-Craft: H. Dorner, 3b; Smith, 1b; Playford, cf; Montgomery, lf; Currie, rf; Butcher, p; Abbott, p; G. Dorner, ss; Stanger, 2b; Gainey, c.

Score by innings:

Top-Heavy Scores C.G.E. Shop League

Top-heavy scores featured the first games in the C.G.E. Shop League which started on Monday night when the Fractionals swamped the Office in the opener. Last night the Refrigerator continued the parade hammering three pitchers from the Winding Department to win 21-12. Fred Elliott toned them in for the winners but the Winders stepped into his deliveries hard and often. Fraser started for the losers, then retired in favor of the husky portside twirler, Fred Henry, who in turn gave way to Millard. The line-up for last night's game:

Refrigerator: Vitarelli, ss; Allen, 2b; Ashmore, c; Howe, 3b; McGillen, rf; Ralph, cf; Kearney, 1b; Elliott, p; Waterman, lf.

Winding Department: Menzies, c; Collins, 3b; Hallihan, 3b; McGoverin, ss; Millard, cf, p; Fraser, p, 1b; Henry, 1b, p, cf; Taylor, rf; Young, lf; Orde, lf.

Umpires—Newson at the plate, Martin on the bases.

INJURY HITS STUART

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—If Herbie Stuart, veteran London International League goalie, had not been injured late last season, he would get a National Hockey League trial next fall. The N.H.L. clubs wouldn't gamble on an injured player and Bill Taugher of Buffalo will get the trial with St. Louis Eagles.

EASTERN GROUP REMAINS INTACT

Eight Clean Knockouts and One Technical in 29-bout Program.

AT EDMONTON.

EDMONTON, May 22 (C.P.). — Dominion titles came within reach of a hard-hitting, quick-shifting band of leatherpushers to-day in the wake of hard-fought preliminaries in the Dominion boxing championships that saw eight clean-cut knockouts and one technical knockout in the 29-bout opening program.

The eastern contingent was virtually intact and Jackie Callura, Hamilton's bantamweight defender, and Billy Marquart, Winnipeg's featherweight defender, were still going strong in defence of their titles. Both of them scored quick knockouts in bouts last night.

Sammy Luftspring, Toronto, Ontario lightweight champion; Gordon Schmalz, Kitchener, Ontario welterweight champion; and George Law, London, Ont., welterweight, were among the boxers to get knockouts, although Law fell victim by decision to Schmalz in a second round battle.

T. W. Osborne, Montreal heavyweight, moved up a step via the knockout route, and so did Victoria's Murray "Muzz" Patrick, heavyweight son of Lester Patrick, coach of New York Rangers in the National Hockey League. E. C. Conrad, Tabor, Alta., 189 pounds, and R. N. Carrington, Calgary, 138 pounds, were the others to win by knockouts.

It was wild-swinging Gordon Schmalz who really stole the show in the opening bouts. He won two bouts and came close to bringing down the house with the action furnished. His hard rights and lefts laid low Ma Steel of Raymond, Alta., in 2.55 of the second round in his opening bout.

Knox Seniors Cop 16-8 Softball Win

Knox Seniors took a 16-8 Church Softball League decision from Trinity last evening coming through with six runs in the last frame after a nifty struggle. Homers by McFadden and Kelly gave Trinity an early lead but A. Wedlock improved on the mound as the game progressed. Nicholls was hit harder but it was a tossup till the last inning. Morrison and R. Charlton led the Knox hitters, the former with W. Wedlock and McDonald hitting home runs. This win puts Knox on top with four victories and one loss. The teams:

Knox: A. Wedlock, p; Archibald, ss; Morrison, 2b; McDonald, cf; Masters, c; Allen, 3b; W. Wedlock, 1b; Smythe, rf; R. Charlton, lf.

Trinity: Nicholls, p; Mattice, c; McBain, 1b; Wolstenholme, 2b; Sage, cf; Gadd, 3b; Clarke, lf; McFadden, ss; Kelly, rf.

Umpires—J. Barnard and D. Lewis.

King George took a 15-11 victory over Central in an exciting School Softball League game on the formers' home grounds yesterday afternoon. The Ashmore crew rapped in four runs in a big sixth inning to sew up the tussle after a close struggle till that time. They had one other big frame, the fourth, when eight runs were tallied. The pitching on both sides was indifferent, with some good and bad fielding shown. Central came through with five runs in the fourth to trail at that time, 11-9. The teams:

Central: Currie, rf; R. Clarke, lf; Copperthwaite, p; L. Clarke, cf; Millen, ss; Ascott, c; Sage, 3b; Duggan 2b; McKinnon, 1b.

King George: Hawkes, 2b; Partington, cf; Scriver, c; Burgess, rf; Northcott, p; Gandy, ss; Nichols, 1b; Mason, 3b; Clark, lf.

Score by innings:

Central	2	0	2	5	0	1	1	—	—	11
King George	0	1	2	0	6	0	4	x	—	13

Umpire—M. Thirlwbeck.

Mark St. Improves Play-Off Chances

Mark Street improved its chances of a playoff berth with a 12-6 nod over St. Luke's in a Church Softball League Juvenile tilt last night. The victors led all the way with a good all-around performance. Craig and Scriver pummelled the pill hard with Mason best for Frank Patterson's boys. The teams:

Mark Street.—Craig c; Cooper, p; V. Ferguson p; C. Ferguson, 1b; Clarke, 2b; Nicholls, ss; Scriver, 3b; Brady, lf; Ball, cf; F. Agnew, cf; W. Agnew, rf; Mason, lf.

St. Luke's—Partington, c; Northcott, p; Smith, 1b; Burgess, 2b; Gandy, ss; Mason, 3b; Ebbs, lf; C. Mason, cf; Patterson, rf.

Umpires — N. Foster and G. Hawkes.

7 Teams Assured City Ball League

Seven teams were assured for the City Baseball League at a meeting held last night in Duffus' with President Jack Desmond in the chair. Four bantam squads entered: Naborhood Colts, St. Peter's School, Maple Leafs and an East City team. The three juvenile entries are King Edward School, St. Peter's and Canucks. A fourth may yet join. Another meeting will be called probably in two weeks when all entries must be in and the schedule drawn up. Certificate were issued last evening.

It was decided to run the schedule in two halves, a single schedule to each part, with the first two teams playing off at the end of each half to declare league finalists. Half-schedule playoffs will be two out of three with the finals best three out of five. The league will appoint all umpires. The schedule will not open before the middle of June because of the School Softball League activities. The president and secretary will look into the matter of obtaining grounds, checking on the Exhibition Grounds and on Riverside Park. Further business preparatory to the start of the schedule will be cleaned up at the next session.

THE BLACK PARADE.

DETROIT.—(CP).—Eddie Tolan, who won both sprints at the last Olympics, says an American negro will duplicate his performance in 1936 at the Berlin Games. At the moment the four best sprinters in parade moves on relentlessly.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two DAY BY DAY
(By C. J. P.)

Down at Duffus' along about eight o'clock this fine twilight, the intermediate section of the Girls' Softball Loop will go into a huddle and get organized—we hope. Everyone interested is asked to sashay around and speak up like a little man, or woman. 'Tis hoped that five squads will hop onto the bandwagon with a hi-de-ho, said five being Sixth Line, C.G.E., Westclox, the unnamed Ev. Thomas' entry, and Choate's. The idea is to give this division about three nights a week at the Bowl, with the senior section taking a couple of nights there and, of course, regular out-of-town stands. More anon, or even anonymous.

Talk about Finnegan of off-again-on-again-gone-again fame, the E.P.I. ballsters have him slowed down to a flatfooted shuffle. They blow hot and cold by turn and nobody knows what teams, if any, will enter this year. Fosters seemed interested for a time and mayhe yet, while C.G.E. was talking about it a few weeks ago. Marmora sent in an inquiry about the next E.P.I. meeting, and Raybestos is also a possibility. Bill Prindible is calling one more meeting of the E.P.I. for tomorrow (Thursday) eve at eight in the Chamber of Commerce. Teams wanting in should be represented. Officers will be elected and plans made if enough show up. For goodness' sake, let's have some action this time or else forget about it this year.

Pro rasslin' returns to Peterborough for an evening at the Armouries June 3rd or 4th, being sponsored by the Rangers. This is fine news to us rasslin' bugs, and the proposed program sounds pretty nifty. Our old pal, the Masked Marvel, is slated to headline it with Bull Findlay of Detroit. Dan Petroff of Russia is on the semi-final bout with Walter Parnall of St. Catharines; and John Gyroffy of Hungary opens against Jack Pearl of Toronto. The card will be refereed by Jack Forbes and is promoted by Ivan Michailoff, noted grappling promoter who was exiled from Toronto to Winnipeg a couple of years back by the powers that be, but who has come back strong. Followers of the matmen here will be tickled to hear of this show, with several such well-known behemoths lined up.

Lillico Motors dropped their second men's softball game to Fashion-Crafts at Central last night, but this time they made it much closer. The score was 17-12 and saw some hard hitting, mediocre hurling and just fair fielding in spots. Manager George Dorner got into the lineup and showed his players what slapping the apple means by clouting four for five. Playford continued his hard hammering with two hits for seven bases, and Covert—Lillico's new shortstop from Belleville (oh, yes, he plays hockey, too)—manied the melon for three in four trips. Gainey caught okay for the winners with Starr and Calladine splitting receiving duties for Herb Payne's boys. Sort of an experimental game all around.

Dominion Brewers of Oshawa open the C.O.B.L. schedule here at three bells Friday afternoon in Riverside Park, playing Johnson Motors. The two teams play next day then in Oshawa. If the weather is anyway fair the 24th, a huge holiday crowd will doubtless attend to see these renovated teams tangle in the opener. A lot of new faces will be seen on the lineups. The Petes' new uniforms are on display now in Riley and Hickey's window, and it's one smart outfit. Heavy and expensive cloth, the uniform is of Big League material, and white with red trimmings. An old English 'P' is on the front of the shirt with "Johnson Motors" on the back. A Seahorse decorates the back of the smart red leather windbreaker. Lots of color.

The battery and the outfield is all set but Knotty Lee is still uncertain about his infield, aside first and third bases. Murphy may be out with his injured finger, Konopka is still banned and Hollingsworth's transfer has been held up. A couple of the local officers are motoring to Toronto and Hamilton today to ask the O.B.A.A. sub-committee members to re-open the cases of these players right away or to grant them permission to use one or both till the cases are re-opened. This may be done by a phone poll. Our own opinion is that Hollingsworth may be granted permission to play but Konopka will not be considered. Too bad, as he is a valuable player and a swell guy personally. We certainly hope the infield is plugged okay for this first game as the Petes sure want to get off on the right foot as behooves C.O.B.L. champs.

City Baseball League met last night and when it was all over, seven teams were entered, four bantams and three juveniles. In the younger class are Maple Leafs, an East City squad, St. Peter's School and Naborhood Colts; juvenile outfits are King Edward, St. Peter's and Canucks. They'll start playing about the middle of June, schedule being in two halves with playoffs in each half. Games will be at Riverside and Exhibition Grounds, if both diamonds can be obtained —and they certainly should be. Another juvenile entry would round that division okay. Lots of kids want into the game and we have no doubt but that the loop will be okay this year. If the City Loop hadn't been allowed to slip the past five or six years, the intermediate teams today wouldn't be having a tough time getting players.

BREWERS HERE FOR FIRST GAME

Both Central Ontario Teams Greatly Strengthened Since Last Season.

INFIELD UNDECIDED.

The 1935 Central League baseball schedule opens in Peterborough Friday, May 24th, in Riverside Park with Dominion Brewers of Oshawa meeting the local Johnson Motors at three o'clock. Appropriate opening ceremonies will mark the occasion as the two teams pry off the lid for the summer campaign. Both teams have strengthened a great deal since last year, with several newcomers on each lineup. The baseball in this loop this year bids fair to be much faster than in many years, and bigger and more enthusiastic crowds should result.

Knotty Lee is undecided about his infield yet. Ash will be on first and Calladine on third but second and shortstop are doubtful points yet. Eddie Murphy, star shortstop from Toronto, may be over his injury and take part, and Red Hollingsworth may be in at second. Possibly Kearns, nifty and hard-hitting outfielder, may go in at second for this game, leaving Foley, Burton and Cadd in the garden. Whatley will catch, while the hurling selection is unknown yet. Spook Scriver, Lefty Lepper and Russ Kitchen all being ready to start. The local squad will pack a real punch this season and the pitching and fielding should be better than average. Oshawa is reported strong in all departments, so the opening game promises to be a swell holiday fixture.

TENNIS

THIS COLUMN, which in future will appear on Monday and Thursday evenings, is being run in the interest of tennis generally and we will endeavor to cover tennis activities throughout the entire city. The writer, W. H. Macdonald, would welcome suggestions and information for the column which we hope to make as interesting as possible to fans and players and all material should be sent to Howard Macdonald, Examiner. Material for Monday's column should be in the hands of the writer not later than Saturday evening, and Tuesday evening will be the deadline for Thursday's column.

With the tennis season rapidly swinging into prominence, due to the recent fine weather, we find the various courts throughout the city filled with enthusiastic players and all indications point to a record season for the racket-wielders.

THE KAWARTHA League, made up of teams from the Peterborough, Kawartha, Lindsay, Lakefield, Quaker Oats, and Port Hope Clubs, which looks after organized tennis in this district, has again elected Dr. J. C. Smith as its head. Mr. Stan Shields is the secretary-treasurer and this executive is backed up by a strong committee from the various clubs in the league. But more about this parent body again.

The Peterborough club, with its four courts in tip-top shape, will get the tenpis season under way in official style with a round robin mixed doubles tournament on Friday, the 24th.

THIS TOURNAMENT is open to all club members and prospective members and the entry fee is the modest sum of 15c a person. It starts promptly at 1.30 p.m. Friday, and works like this: Entrants will draw for partners and the first group of sixteen (four on a court) will start play at a given signal and will play for a specified time. Following this, the second group of sixteen, having drawn for partners, will take to the courts for the same time. The number of groups will of course depend on the turnout. When each group has had its turn on the courts for the allotted time, Group 1 will play again, with the losers on court 1, moving down and playing with the losers on court 4. The winners on courts 2, 3 and 4 will move up one each. The remaining groups will follow in their turn and do likewise. Winners will be declared on a total game basis with worthwhile prizes for the victors.

Sounds a bit complicated at first, but all club members are urged to be present at this get-together when new members will be introduced and welcomed. No one will be at any advantage or disadvantage and Walter Perks, heading the committee in charge of arrangements, will explain everything to the entrants before they start. Remember the time—1.30; the place—The Peterborough club on McDonnel street. The draw for partners will take place at 1.15 p.m., and for additional information call Walter Perks, Gladys Carvolth or Jack Cowling.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER — FICTURES

CHAPTER 32

The new act opened and was received with deafening applause and extravagant writeups. There was hardly a night that Consuelo did not stop the show. She was recalled time and time again. Three encores she was allowed to take and twice as many bows. Gifts and flowers came to her room. Cards, too, that asked to meet the gypsy girl, to take her here and to take her there.

"You can do what you want, Consuelo, you know that, but you're not going out with any men you don't know," Stewart told her.

"You don't see me very often."

"You have Doug to take you any place you want to go. I'm paying him good money for it, but then I know you're safe when you're with him."

"You never get jealous of him, do you, my lover?"

"Of course not."

"You are not like a gypsy, Stewart. They want their women for their own and no other man may look at them with desire in his eyes. It is the same with a gypsy woman. She will fight for her man and she would run her knife through his heart if he put his hands on another gypsy girl."

"Good heavens, Consuelo, I wish you'd get such ideas out of your head! You've got to remember that you're not back at that darn gypsy camp. You've got a lot of things to learn and one of them is that you must stop talking things like that—or even thinking them."

"I know, but, my darling, how can I help but think them when I love you? Aren't you my man? Aren't you my lover to give me all of these beautiful things, and wouldn't I hate another woman if you looked at her as you look at me?" She kissed him. "I shall be a good gypsy and you will love me more, eh?"

"I'm crazy about you, Consuelo. You're adorable! I wish you'd never been a gypsy!"

She drew back from him, insulted, enraged. Then she smiled and hid her face against his coat.

"For you I would be a gorgio—" But she thought, dog, so even yet a gypsy is not good enough for you! I will not let you know how I hate you—but then, I am lying—I am the mad one to even like you at all, but your arms are strong and make me forget that I have had other stronger arms around me. How you would hate me for that, Marcu. She raised her head. "My darling," she said to him, "kiss me and take away the loneliness that is within me. Last night I dreamed of the camp and I cried out. I awoke and the room was dark and the walls were towering like giants about me and I was alone and I was afraid."

He held her to him.

"You need not be afraid to-night," he whispered.

She had the freedom of backstage now and no longer was made to stay in her dressing room while the rest of the show went on. She picked a place for herself by the stairs where she was out of the way of people coming and going to their dressing rooms and where she could see through the wings, and here she stayed and watched, fascinated beyond words. But for L'Ville's numbers she came up to the wings and watched through narrowed eyes every move that the star made.

This night Louise was tired. She felt that she had not danced particularly well and there was the gypsy staring at her. When she came off she called Hadley to her.

"Hadley, will you please see to it that the gypsy is not permitted to stand in the wings any more? It is most annoying." She was using her itziest manners.

"The kid's been so interested I've let her stand there. I didn't know she was bothering you."

"Of course, she doesn't bother me. You don't think a third-rater like her could annoy me, do you? But just the same I can't afford to have her stealing my stuff. You'd think she was trying to understudy me from the way she watches."

"Might not be a bad idea—"

"Really, you can't mean that? I had the mistaken idea that you had some sense, but I see I'm wrong."

"You sure have gotten a swell head, haven't you, Lou?"

"I'm Louise, L'Ville to you and don't forget it!"

"Oh, nuts! Say, kid, I was stage-managing when you were dancing in the Brown Hat at 50 per and accepting tips on the side, and you went under the name of Lou Liebinfried. You're jealous of the gypsy, that's what's the matter with you. You like to think you're the whole racket of this show and it burns you up when the gypsy gets a big hand."

"Listen, here, Hadley Spencer, you shut your mouth or I'll have you run out of this show!"

"Think your big papa will start firing a good stage manager just because you got a crank on? Be yourself, Lou, be yourself and get up those stairs and get ready for your next number or I'll put the gypsy on in your place—"

Louise stared at him. Two big tears began to tremble on the edge of her eyelashes.

"Hadley, you—talking to me like this!" Her voice was dramatic. "You, my oldest friend giving me the razzberry. Oh, Had, how could you?" One of the tears rolled down her cheek.

Hadley looked at her and did not speak. The other tear trickled down.

"Aw, gee, Lou, I didn't mean to really hurt your feelings—but gosh, kid, you've gotten so upstage since you've had this job that you just had to be taken down the line a bit. You aren't the old Lou who lived on the East Side and had a smile for a fellow and could stand a little joke. Don't spoil your makeup, kid, by crying. I'll get the gypsy out of the wings for you."

Consuelo had retreated to her place under the stairs. There was a group of men around her when Hadley approached.

"All right, you ham chorus men, scram!"

He talked to the gypsy and explained that she mustn't stand in the wings any longer. Kidding'ly he accused her of trying to understudy the great L'Ville. He had to explain what he meant.

"You mean that if L'Ville was sick someone would go on and dance in her place?" Consuelo asked.

"Yep. That little blonde that's always in makeup and never in costume is Lou's understudy. She's just the same size as Lou and knows all her dances and songs, but of course she hasn't got the name."

"Hadley," Consuelo spoke slowly, "I almost know her dances now and I know some of her songs. Would you let me be her understudy?"

He laughed.

"You've got big ideas, kid, but I haven't anything to say about it. I'll keep you in mind. Say kid, you don't need a sweet papa, do you?"

Consuelo did not look up.

"I might if I was understudy—"

"Good night! It didn't take you long to get on to the ways of backstage! I'll tell Renaldo what you said and maybe he'll give you a tryout some morning." He patted her hand. "You are a pretty swell kid, but I was only joshing about a sweet papa. I'm a family man and I got two of the sweetest babies you ever saw."

"Really? I didn't know they even had babies in New York. How could a baby grow when it has no green grass to play on and no green trees to shade it and no cool brook to wade in—"

"Say, these kids of mine are the huskiest little devils you ever saw. There are towns around here with trees and grass." But Consuelo could not believe it.

Hadley might not have thought again of the promise he made if on the next day Consuelo hadn't brought him a big package. "It's for those little ones." And nothing could have reached Had quicker than that. He went to Renaldo, the dance director, and told him about the gypsy's wish. To his surprise Renaldo went running off like a wild man and a few minutes later was up in Goldberg's office.

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

for Weak and Nervous People

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, May 23

A particularly lively and active day is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. It is a favorable time for approaching superiors or employers for advancement, promotion or favors. It is also an auspicious time for launching important projects. But deal warily with strangers and be especially alert in signing letters or documents.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of success in putting over important propositions of their own as well as meeting success with employers and those in power. It is an auspicious time for promotion or favors, but be cautious of strangers and sign all writings carefully.

A child born on this day may be well-endowed for success in business, finding favor with those in power and authority. It may have ambitions for important projects.

KILLED BY ELEPHANT.

LOS ANGELES, May 21 (A.P.)—Attacked and gored by an enraged elephant during rehearsal of an act for a motion picture, Joe Reed, veteran circus trainer, died in a hospital to-day.

NORWOOD CADETS HIGHLY PRAISED

NORWOOD, May 22 (Examiner Correspondence). — Ideal weather favored the Norwood High School Cadet Inspection on Tuesday morning when forty-three Cadets were on parade. Captain Folkes of Kingston, Military District No. 3, congratulated the corps on their fine appearance, splendid marching and general proficiency in drilling. The Danish exercises, he said, too were excellently put over.

The officers were as follows: Captain Kenneth Pakenham; Platoon Commanders—Jack Stewart, Earl Johnston; Sergeants—Roy Richardson, Willard Pakenham; Corporals—Elmer Faux, Chester Walker; Drummer—Melverin Ennis.

Eight girls from the junior gym. class delighted the crowd with their clever gymnastic stunts.

I. J. Keefer, chairman of the school board, was present and spoke encouraging words to the cadets.

Arnold Lobb was chosen from the corps as the best cadet on parade and was presented with a medal by Captain Folkes.

Colonel R. E. Birdsall, a staunch friend of the corps, donated his annual treat.

FIRE DESTROYED FLEETWOOD STORE

Old Fleetwood General Store is Completely Destroyed By Fire.

BETHANY, May 22. (Examiner Correspondence). — The dwelling, which was formerly known as the Fleetwood General Store, was completely destroyed by fire on Monday at noon. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton were absent at the time and only the heroic efforts of neighbors saved adjoining homes from a similar fate. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Driver celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding on Monday evening at their home. A large number of friends and neighbors met at an early hour to spend the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Driver and a pleasant time was spent in playing cards and dancing. Music for the dancing was provided by Mr. Lyewood and Gerwin Ball.

An address was read by Elsie Ball and a basket of lovely gifts was presented to the happy couple. Mr. Driver thanked all those present on behalf of he and his wife.

The evening was brought to a close by the serving of dainty refreshments by the hostess including a choice wedding cake.

Toronto Team Falls Oshawa Exhibition

OSHAWA, May 22.—Priming themselves for the opening of the C.O.B.L. in Peterborough on Friday, Oshawa Dominion Brewery defeated Maxie Shopt's Waldos of the West Toronto League, 13-6, in an exhibition ball game at the Motor City Stadium here last night.

The locals packed too much batting strength for the visitors, pounding out 12 hits against two visiting hurlers. Coach Teddy Saunders used four twirlers, Mathews, Wills, Ogden and Innis, taking their turn on the hilltop and between ther they let the Waldos down with three hits in seven innings.

The visitors started out strong in the first frame, grabbing off a pair of runs off "Moose" Matthews on a hit and two walks. The local came back strong in their half of the inning on a walk and four hits, one a home by Lefty Wallace. "Lefty" Wallace and Cross, last year with Napanee, both pulled out long homers to help out the local cause.

Dafoe, who started on the mound for the Waldos, allowed ten hits. Kaminsky, who relieved him, had a fair amount of success, holding the Dominions to two hits for the last two frames. Score:

Waldos .. .. .. 200 010 3— 6 3 4
Dominions .. .. 340 002 x—12 12 5

Batteries—Dafoe, Kaminsky and Cavanaugh; Matthews, Wills, Ogden, Innis and Kitchen and Simmons.

Umpires—Fair plate; Mays, bases.

Queen Mary Takes Lopsided Victory

With both sides going on a huge scoring spree, Queen Mary took a 31-18 victory over Prince of Wales on the Queen Mary grounds in a School League softball fixture yesterday. It was a wide-open slugfest with all the batters pounding the pitchers' offerings far and frequently. The game was marked with extra-base blows, wild baserunning and sloppy defensive ball. Both teams had big first frames and continued that way. The teams:

Prince of Wales—Lucas, p; Campbell, c; Williamson, 1b; Maldaver, 2b; Caumrik, 3b; Deering, ss; Patterson, lf; Todd, cf; Curtain, rf.

Queen Mary—Merrett, 2b; Crary, lf; Robson, p; D. Crary, ss; Easton, rf; D. Mortimer, 1b; Moncrief, cf; Neiman, c; McGregor, 3b; subs., J. Mortimer and Rousley.

King Edward Defeats Queen Alexandra 12-6

King Edward defeated Queen Alexandra, 12 to 6 in a School Softball League game on the south-end diamond yesterday afternoon. The winners turned in some hard hitting and fair fielding, but it was a close game till the fifth. The King Edward boys counted eight runs in their last two frames. The pitching on both sides was spotty. The teams:

Queen Alexandra—King, Palmer, Parnall, Pakenham, Morrow Dundas, Lewis, Brown and Gauntlet.

King Edward—Anderson 2b; Mifflin, cf; Mackness, ss; Morley, 1b; Harvey, lf; Grose, 3b; Post, rf; Ferguson, c; J. Grose, p; subs, Tarrington, Nokes, Moorhead and Campbell.

LAKEFIELD

HIGH SCHOOL "LIT" MEETS

Last Meeting of Season is Held by Lakefield Students.

GOOD PROGRAM

LAKEFIELD, May 22.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The last meeting of the High School Literary Society for the season was held in the Second Form room on Friday afternoon with the president, Walter Spence, in the chair. Guests present included Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Barrett and Miss Graham. The latter spoke for a few minutes on some of Lakefield's historic landmarks.

Jean Clark gave a reading, also Earl Robinson. Musical numbers were a feature of the program, Herrick Brown was at the piano and the young people sang sweetly and with zest, showing a decided reflection of popularity of "music in the school" which was introduced this year.

A sextette of boys (Bob Lennox, Earl Robinson, Hugh Morrison, Dominic White, Stewart Layst and Charles Tanner) sang "Moonlight and Roses" and as an encore "Save the Last Dance For Me."

A quintette of third and fourth form girls (Jeannie White, Alma Wilson, Cora Charlton, Isabel Brown and Kay Wannagmaker) with Matilda Moore at the piano sang "Margie" and "There Goes My Heart" as an encore.

A boys' orchestra with Philip Leahy at the piano and Harry Blewett, Howard Walsh, Bob Lennox, Irwin Charlton, Harry Northey, Leo Lahy and Bernard Johnston made a hit. Bob Lennox was the singer of the group.

These musical numbers were evidently especially popular and drew heartiest applause.

Other numbers included a piano solo by Mary Blewett and a chorus by the entire school with Herrick Brown at the piano: "It's Easy to Remember But So Hard to Forget."

The high spot in the program was a reading by Charles Tanner entitled "Our Destiny" by a number of the class who modestly wished to remain anonymous. The theme is a forecast of the future of the class as seen by the author at a visit to a crystal gazer. Witty and clever touching up the characteristics and habits of the boys of fifth form, the whole class was convulsed with laughter as Charles read on and on, each of the boys had made his mark, more or less, and the sketch portrayed them some years hence engaged in their life work at which they were nearly all meeting with fair success.

Walter Spence thanked the students for their co-operation during his term of office. Donald Yale, pianist of the Society, played for the singing of the National Anthem, which brought the proceedings to a close.

W.M.S. United Church

Miss Lilian Esplen of Peterboro was the guest speaker at the W.M.S. of the Lakefield United Church on Thursday night last and her theme was a dramatic word picture of the Passion Play as she saw it last year at Oberammergau. Miss Esplen gave a short sketch of the history of the play, followed by a graphic word picture of the setting, the characters and the remarkable stage. The little Bavarian village has become a world centre in regard to drama for hundreds of thousands of persons from all parts of the world go there for the sole purpose of seeing the Passion Play. Unique? Yes, for there is no other production like it in any way in the world. The actors regard their calling as a high honor to be lived up to and consequently there is a purity of life, a high standard of morality which reflects the great story of the wonderful story of the Passion, Crucifixion and Resurrection of Our Lord.

Mrs. W. W. Leonard, president of the W.M.S. occupied the chair and the Bible reading was given by Mrs. W. J. Charlton musical numbers included a duet by Mrs. and Miss Purdy entitled "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and a solo by Mrs. A. B. Burrows, "The Stranger of Galilee." Both these numbers were very appropriate to the occasion. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Yale and Mrs. Porter, and a hearty vote of thanks extended to Miss Esplen.

BAPTIST SECRETARY SPEAKS AT WARSAW

Rev. Mr. Scutt Conducts Anniversary Sermons in Village Church.

WARSAW, May 22. — (Examiner Correspondence).—Rev. Mr. Scutt, of Toronto, field secretary for the Baptist missions, preached anniversary sermons in the Baptist Church, which was decorated with beautiful house plants, on Sunday. The church was filled comfortably for the morning service. Service of song was led by the Baptist choir, assisted by the Presbyterian, with Mrs. Richard Tedford at the organ.

At the morning service, of which Mr. Scutt had full charge, his theme, "Three Outstanding Baptist Ministers' Centenaries." First, Gerhard Johann Uncton, who died little over one hundred years ago. He preached in Germany, and his preaching had such an effect that a greater realisation of the work of the gospel spread throughout the whole of Europe.

Second, William Carey started his missionary work in India, the first Christian missionary there, who worked seven years before his first convert. Before he died there were many converts, and he had translated the Bible into over thirty Indian dialects.

Third, Spurgeon, who was born one hundred years ago, whose sermons stirred the lives of people in Europe and America.

Evening Service.

Rev. Mr. Walker took charge of the evening service, at which the church was filled to capacity. Rev J. W. Wilkinson led in prayer. Mrs. Curtain, of Lakefield, sang "Alone" and "Out of the Ivory Palaces." Rev. Mr. Scutt read the story of the transfiguration, and took as his theme, "Three Outstanding Needs in Warsaw and in All Communities."

The Presbyterian congregation will hold its anniversary services, morning and evening, Sunday, June 2, with the customary meat supper on the following Tuesday.

Large Families.

There are at least two large families within a few miles of Warsaw Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Tedford, on the Douro side of the boundary, about four miles south, have a family of fourteen. At present Mr and Mrs. Tedford, one son and one daughter are on the Bryson place, which they bought. One daughter is married, living in Toronto. The others are on the home farm and a farm not far from it. No happier home could be entered, and Mrs. Tedford is anything but a worn-out looking woman. She looks more like an elder sister, and is a delightful hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sampson live on the Seventh line, Dummer, on a farm which Mr. Sampson bought when they moved from S.S. No. 13, Percy Township. To them were born sixteen children, thirteen of whom are living. They, too are happy with their children, several of whom are married. Mrs. Sampson has kept her years better than many a woman with a small family

LONDON, May 23.—(CP Cable)—The greatest recruiting campaign the Royal Air Force has ever undertaken got under way today, immediately after announcement by the government of the huge program designed to triple the first-line home fighting strength within two years. Lord Weir, aviation expert, was named special adviser in expanding the force.

Recruits offering themselves from the Dominions and Colonies will be welcomed, it was announced.

Apart from the actual recruiting, the expansion program will entail bringing reservists back into service and retention for a time of retiring pensioners.

SEA CRASH KILLS 6 NAVAL FLIERS

U. S. Fleet Manoeuvres Toll Mounts to Eight With Latest Tragedy.

OFF MIDWAY ISLAND.

Aboard Battleship Pennsylvania in Mid-Pacific Fleet Manoeuvres, May 22.—(AP)—Six naval fliers were killed in the crash of a giant United States Navy seaplane 6P7 during fleet manoeuvres in the mid-Pacific, commanding officers revealed aboard the Pennsylvania today.

Officers reported the six men apparently went down without knowing what happened when the seaplane suddenly went into a spin and crashed into the ocean.

The tragedy occurred Tuesday night but was not revealed until today after all hope for the men aboard had been abandoned.

The tragedy brought the fatalities from the manoeuvres to eight, seven of whom have died in airplane crashes. The eighth was killed in a collision of two destroyers. Three airplanes have been lost in mid-Pacific and four destroyers damaged in three collisions.

The 6p7, one of the giant bombing planes that made the first hazardous flight from Hawaii to Midway Island, crashed at night 50 miles south of Midway and 4,000 miles from the Pacific coast.

She had pulled out of a flight formation to call surface craft to the rescue of her sister ship the 6p10 which had been forced to land on the heavy seas. It was while circling over the 6p10 during the night that something suddenly went wrong—no one knew what—and the huge bomber crashed into the ocean apparently in full flight.

EIGHT HOUR DAY OUT FOR NURSES

Senate Committee Believes Inclusion Impossible—May Come With State Medicine.

BILL LIMITED.

OTTAWA, May 23. — (CP). — Nurses could not be brought within the scope of the eight hour day bill which was to limit hours of work in "industrial undertakings" based on a convention adopted by the International Labor organization in Geneva, the Senate Banking and Commerce committee today decided.

The question was introduced by Senator George P. Graham (Lib., Brockville) who asked if it would be possible to include nurses under the measure. Nurses in training and full-fledged nurses worked long hours and as the average working life of a woman was less than that of a man he hoped something could be done in this direction, Senator Cairine Wilson (Lib., Rockcliffe), said.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Senate leader, stated he was sympathetically inclined towards the suggestion; but the difficulty was the bill was limited to workers in industrial undertakings.

In the case of serious illness there were usually two nurses but they were not on continuous duty, Senator Dandurand, Liberal leader, said. If it became compulsory to employ three nurses in these in-

Dr. F. J. Rundle stated the injuries were not of a serious nature.

WARKWORTH, May 23.—Major James Franklin Beatty Belford, M.A., of Cobourg, was nominated federal candidate of the Conservatives of Northumberland here last night in a contest with A. Roy Willmott, Cobourg barrister, and James Cochrane, Cramahe township farmer.

The choice of the convention was decided on the first division, indicating a substantial plurality for Major Belford. The vote was not announced, the only numerical information given to the press by the president of the Conservative Association of the riding, William A. Goodfellow of Codrington, last night's chairman, affirming that 321 delegates had received credentials representing the 23 polling subdivisions in the county.

Major Belford represented the former riding of East Northumberland in the Ontario Legislature from 1926 to 1934. Born at Brighton in 1887 he was educated at Campbellford, Cobourg, Bishops College and the University of Manitoba. During the war he served as commanding officer of the Forestry Depot from Quebec, and was later retired with the rank of Major.

Seven other prominent members of the party who were proposed during the period for nominations requested that their names be struck off the ballot list. They were: Harry B. Phillips, Brighton; Reeve Fred Deeves, Brighton township; Fred C. Richardson, Cobourg; E. J. Ross, Brighton; ex-Warden Wilbert Davey, Hamilton township;

Weir Introduces Livestock Bill

No Provision Made For Setting Up Livestock Board—Packing House Yards Privately Owned to be Declared on Public Basis.

SALE OF HOGS BY GRADE SOUND IN PRINCIPPLE

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.). —The Bill designed to implement the recommendations of the Price Spreads Commission with respect to live stock was introduced into the House of Commons by the Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, to-day. No provision is made for setting up a live stock board. In this regard the Government's conclusion was such a board would duplicate the functions at present exercised under various enactments by officials of the Agriculture Department.

The new legislation provides for declaring all privately-owned packing-house yards to be public yards, to the extent they will hereafter be required to furnish officers of the Dominion Live Stock Branch with records of prices, weights and the quantities purchased. This places the packers' yards on the same footing in this respect as the publicly operated marts.

3 Toronto Buyers Attacked In N. York

NEW YORK, May 23. —(C P)— One Toronto man was stabbed and two others were assaulted when the Canadian trio were attacked by unknown men who pounced upon them suddenly on the street here today.

Frank Gordon, owner of the Standard Garment Company, Toronto, Joseph Moses, salesman for the firm and Sam Benson, another employee of the company, were those attacked. They were here on a buying trip.

Moses was stabbed in the back but police reported the wound was not serious. The assailants escaped before the arrival of police.

According to Detective Edward Miller the only possible motive for the attack the Canadians were able to give concerned Labor trouble in their Toronto plant. Police were unable to ascertain, however, when the men had been followed down from Toronto or whether word had been sent to thugs here to attack them.

Remonetization of Silver

Liberal Member Gives Notice Of Bill To Remonetize Silver—Would Let Canada Set An Example To World.

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP.). —Thomas Reid, New Westminster Liberal, to-day gave notice on the House of Commons order paper that he would introduce a bill to remonetize silver.

Mr. Reid, who said he believed Canada as a leading silver producing nation should set an example to other countries would bring about remonetization of silver through three amendments to the Currency Act.

His bill proposes a change in the silver content of coins set in 1931 at 800 parts by weight in every 1,000 parts to 925 parts of silver in new coins and 75 parts alloy.

It would repeal the law which legalizes payment in silver of debts up to $10 and make payment in silver coin legal up to any amount.

It would continue the restriction of note payment in nickel coins to $5 but wipe out the provision that persons holding notes shall not be bound to accept more than $10 in silver coins. This would have the effect of making payment of notes in silver coin legal to any amount.

TORONTO POLICE IN GAMING RAID

Majority Captured at Jolly Miller Inn, Hoggs Hollow, Spend Night in Jail.

MANAGER CHARGED.

Officers Surround Building, Smash Windows—Equipment Seized.

TORONTO, May 23 (C.P.).—One hundred and six men, arrested shortly after midnight last night when police raided the Jolly Miller's Inn at Hogg's Hollow, York Township, and seized about $5,000 in cash and alleged gambling equipment, were remanded until May 29 in Police Court to-day.

Louis James was charged with keeping a common gaming house. Bail was set in his case at $1,000. The other 105, charged with being found in a gaming house, must pay bail of $50 before they gain release.

The majority were forced to spend the night in North Toronto and township jails, crowding many of them to capacity.

Use Sledges on Doors.

Throwing a cordon around the building, police were forced to smash two barred doors and three windows, covered with solid wooden shutters, before they could gain entrance. They had received no answer to their summons to open the doors "in the name of the law." Sledge hammers were wielded by the officers in gaining entrance.

Police charged the men were playing dice, blackjack and poker.

Men found inside the building were lined up and searched. Police said $1,400 was found on one man and as much as $200 on others.

An elaborate signal system was found, police claimed. A lookout guard, an electric buzzer running from the front to the main room, and sliding peek-holes in doors leading into the main room, were reported.

The raid was one of the largest in the county's history.

Move Virtually Certain as Result of Report by MacDonald's Oculist.

WIDE CABINET SHUFFLE.

Expected to be Strong Combination on Present National Basis in View of Elections.

LONDON, May 23.—(C.P. Cable) — Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, will replace Ramsay MacDonald as Prime Minister and head of the National government within three weeks, it became virtually certain today in consequence of a new report from Mr. MacDonald's oculist.

Mr. Baldwin, now lord president of the council and frequently acting prime minister, will have a free hand to reconstruct the cabinet as the resignation of the head of the government involves the resignation of the entire cabinet. There is every indication the Conservative leader, twice former prime minister, will use these powers extensively.

Ramsay MacDonald

Mr. MacDonald is expected to change places with Mr. Baldwin and the reconstruction of the cabinet, it was said on good authority, will be based on securing the strongest possible combination on the present national basis with a view to fighting the general elections in the early autumn.

SPLIT WIDENS.

Australia-Canadian-American Bloc Firm in Demand For Restrictions.

LONDON, May 23 (A.P.).—Prospects for an agreement on a new international wheat export control pact dimmed today as the Australian-Canadian-American bloc stood firm in its demands for a substantial reduction of Argentina's export field

It was learned Argentina refused an offer she be allotted 20 per cent. of the world export demand.

This year Argentina is expected to ship more than 30 per cent.

The other big four delegates insist Argentina must return to her status prior to her bumper crop of 1933. They are unwilling to consider offering Argentina a quota which would enable her to equal her shipments of last year when she exceeded her allotment and exported 147,000,000 bushels, or 26.3 per cent. of the world export business.

HUSKIES GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

Fatal Mauling of Child Confirms Fears Malamutes Attack Any Who Fall.

LAW OF WOLF PACK.

THE PAS, Man., May 23.—(CP).—Dog drivers, veterans of the snowy trails, shook their heads to-day after hearing death recommended for the three husky dogs that attacked and killed six-year-old Mike Segnovitch.

To the mushers it meant confirmation of the trail-drivers' fear that huskies, no matter how friendly, attack and kill man, woman or child who falls. It is the law of the wolf pack, and in the malamutes of the north the wolf strain predominates.

Last night a coroner's jury heard the details of how three huskies,

SPRING GRAIN HAS GOOD ROOT

When Warm Weather Comes Advance Will be More Rapid This Year.

SEEDING OVER EARLIER

Spring may be tardy in spinning its vernal tapestry over the countryside, and its nocturnal retreats to the thermometer levels of frost may be unseasonable and causing misgivings about the year's harvest in the months ahead, but to Norman Andrew of Hall and Andrew, Simcoe street implement dealers, farm and crop prospects throughout the district appear to be unusually favorable.

"To begin with," he remarked to The Examiner this morning," and referring only to the spring crop, it is all in the ground about three weeks earlier than last year, and although it hasn't yet done a lot of sprouting, it is putting in a good foundation of roots.

Soil in Good Shape

I know farmers who have had the spring crop in for three weeks. The soil worked up well, the weather was favorable for the horse, and generally for seeding, all the signs indicate a strong root formation, and the crop should make splendid progress when we get rain, and the heat comes. It seems to me that, in spite of all the doubts that have been heard about the season, the outlook for the harvest from the spring work is about the best I have noticed in many years."

Rain and heat in May can easily produce long sprouts in the growing grain with too much growth above ground.

"If you get the crop well rooted, and that is what it seems like right now, you can be a little patient waiting for the real warm weather and the moisture that should come with it," Mr. Andrew said.

He admitted that pasturage had made slow headway, that feeding had to be extended, and, as G. A. Gillespie commented this morning, cattle are generally thinner than usual toward the end of May, but a close survey of the spring crop leaves the impression that the farmers of the district have nothing to fear, providing rain and heat arrive on schedule.

Very Optimistic

Mr. Andrew seemed to be deeply optimistic of the spring crop results, and his wide acquaintance among the farmers of the district lends weight to his opinion that although the winter crop did not fare as well as was hoped the spring seeding should yield an exceptionally good harvest.

Thieves Pick $75,000 Jewels From Store

NEW YORK, May 23 (A.P.). — Connoisseurs in robbery obtained jewelry worth $75,000 in the holdup of a Fifth Avenue store, an inventory revealed to-day.

Only 82 of the many pieces of jewelry in the Rees Pennell Company's shop were taken, but they were selected with care, and averaged more than $900 in value. One was a 45-carat cateye ring worth $12,000.

Three men held up the store. The first two covered Wallace Pennell, one of the proprietors, and two clerks with pistols, escorted them to the rear of the store, and bound and gagged them. Then the third entered with a brief case and made his selection from a show window while scores of homeward-bound pedestrians hurried past.

KEENE HOME LOST BY FIRE

Blaze in Pump House Deprives Volunteers of Only Available Water Supply.

FURNITURE SALVAGED.

KEENE, May 23 (Examiner Correspondence).—Fire which broke out in the pump house at the residence of Jack Whalen, two miles west of here around seven o'clock this morning, deprived the volunteer brigade of the only available water supply, and resulted in total destruction of the fine two-storey brick house.

Mrs. Whalen was in the house with her twin year-old boys when the first was discovered, and some minutes after she had put in an alarm there were about four hundred volunteers at the location. They waged an ineffective battle, unable to stem the onslaught of the flames because the water pumps were located at the seat of the fire.

Damage, although heavy, was minimized by the fact that volunteer workers were able to salvage most of the furniture. Loss is partially covered by insurance.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 23. — Cushioned against weakness at Chicago and continued lack of foreign demand for wheat by a strong Liverpool market, wheat prices were firm on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, closing ¼ cent higher.

Prices at Liverpool closed 1d higher, a reversal of Tuesday's trend when 1¾d losses were sustained. Only scattered sales of Canadian wheat were reported sold for export yesterday, and while the loadings at the seaboards were said to be considerable, there was apparently no haste in replacing diminishing Eastern or Pacific seaboard stocks.

Argentine's wheat exports this week, it was estimated, would total 4,225,000 bushels, compared to last week's 2,560,000 bushels. Cold weather was reported in Europe with crops backward, but other market news was featureless.

Short-covering in oats and barley sent those coarse-grain futures up, respectively, 2 and 1½ cents higher at one time.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

There was a generally steady tone on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday and prices remained unchanged. The first local butter auction of the season was held, with 540 boxes of No. 1 Quebec butter selling at 30½c a pound, and 200 boxes of No. 2 at 29½c.

No. 1 grade butter was sold on the produce market at 30½c to 31c a pound for cartons or less, with receipts totalling 100 boxes. Small lots to retailers brought 2c a pound for solids and 32c for prints.

The cheese market was 9½c to 9¾c a pound for current No. 1 Ontario. Arrivals amounted to 700 boxes.

New Bermuda potatoes in 50-pound crates brought $1.50 to $1.75, and new Floridas in 100-pound bags $2 to $2.50. South Carolina No. 1 in barrels sold for $5.25 to $5.50, and No. 1 in 100-lb. bags sold for $2.50 to $2.75. Old potatoes were unchanged at 35c to 40c per 80-pound bags of Quebecs, 42½c for New Brunswicks, and 45c for P.E.I.'s.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Moderate losses in grain values resulted quickly at the last yesterday from increased selling that ensues after price advances had followed President Roosevelt's bonus veto.

The increased selling witnessed when grain prices bulged was apparently due largely to efforts at profit-taking on the part of holders. Another reason given was that uncertainties remained as to Senate action and that this had caused buyers to be hesitant about entering the market.

Wheat closed nervous, ¼c to ⅝c under Tuesday's finish, July 89¾c to 90c; corn, ⅛c to ⅜c down, July 58⅛c to 58⅜c; oats, ⅛c to ⅜c off, and provisions unchanged to 12c decline.

Corn and oats paralleled wheat action. Complaints persisted that rains were causing delays to corn planting.

EMPIRE TO HEAR BENNETT'S VOICE

Canadian Radio Commission Plans Special Program For Friday.

ORIGINATES IN HAMILTON.

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.).—The voice of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will be heard throughout the British Empire to-morrow during a special Empire program to be broadcast by the Canadian Radio Commission. The program, which will start at 1.30 p.m., E.S.T. to last for one-half hour, will be picked up by the British Broadcasting Corporation and transmitted to stations throughout the world.

This program will be Canada's contribution to a series of broadcasts originating in various parts of the United Kingdom. Originating in Hamilton, it will feature greetings from the Dominion, and a brief dramatization of historical events, such as the arrival and settlement of United Empire Loyalists in Nova Scotia in 1783, and a meeting of the Wentworth Historical Society at which the Empire Day movement was started by Mrs. Clementina Fessenden, of Hamilton.

Following the Prime Minister's address, descriptions will be heard of how the day is being celebrated in the Dominion.

Arden Conservative Will Oppose Colin Campbell in Frontenac-Addington.

MASSEY ON HAND.

ENTERPRISE, Ont., May 23 (CP) —J. A. Pringle of Arden yesterday was nominated to run as Conservative candidate in the next Federal election for the riding of Frontenac-Addington. His Liberal opponent will be Colin Campbell.

Eight names were proposed at the convention, but only three remained in the contest: Mr. Pringle, W. R. Aylesworth of Cataraqui and Dr. E. M. Horton of Enterprise. Mr. Pringle was chosen on the second ballot.

Denton Massey, Ontario organizer for the Conservative Party, referred to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett as one of the greatest statesmen Canada ever has produced. He said his work at the Imperial Conference stamped him as one of the Dominion's ablest men.

W. D. Black, M.P.P. for Addington and T. A. Kidd, M.P.P. for Kingston, also spoke. Both attacked the present Ontario Government for its Hydro policy and alleged dismissal of civil servants and replacing them by party followers.

HOUSE TANGLES FOR HOURS OVER PUBLIC WORKS

Pouliot Charges $32,000 Spent on Useles Channel Past Sauve's Property.

NO SESSION ON 24TH.

OTTAWA, May 2 (C.P.). — The Government's public works program for the relief of unemployment is still before the House of Commons to-day. Liberals since before Easter have held up the works program first by opposing a proposed tunnel at Toronto and then by demanding details of how a vote of $2,500,000 for harbors and rivers generally would be spent.

As the House adjourned last night J. F. Pouliot (Liberal, Temiscouata) came out with a charge against last year's expenditures. He said $32,000 had been spent to dredge a useless channel in the Riviere Du Chene past property owned by Postmaster-General Arthur Sauve. He claimed the material from the dredging was dumped on an island owned by Mr. Sauve. After protests from residents it was dumped back in the river.

Minister of Public Works Hugh Stewart said the river was dredged to permit small boats to navigate and stop the water from stagnating. It was "for the benefit of the village and not for the benefit of the Postmaster-General."

Mr. Stewart said he did not believe there was anything irregular

CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS ARE POOR ECONOMY

Experience of other women WARNS YOU . . Harsh ingredients FADE COLORS . . Skimpy suds cause HARD RUBBING

CLOTHES WEAR OUT IN THE TUB!

"I TRIED some of those cheap soap-chips," says Mrs. L. J. Flanigan, "and I want to tell you it didn't pay. I couldn't afford to have my clothes fade and wear out so fast."

Dirt laughs at watery soap

Cheap soap-chips just won't make good suds. And skimpy suds won't move dirt! You rub and you RUB. You're tired! And think what this rubbing does to your clothes! Makes thin places that tear easily. Makes woolens shrink.

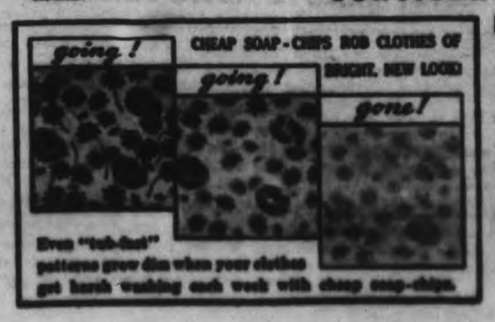
Besides, poor suds won't carry the dirt away, even after you rub it loose. They get scummy—hard to rinse. Your clothes won't look clear. They won't smell clean.

Danger! Strong bleaching alkalies

And look out for harsh, strong substances used to "cut dirt out" instead of flushing it out with rich, thick suds! No wonder threads break! No wonder colors fade! See how harsh soap reddens your hands. This is a warning. Can you afford to let crude, harsh soap ruin your clothes?

PRIVATE VIEW OF GUEST WHO HAS BEEN GIVEN TOWELS WASHED WITH CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS

TAKE WARNING from the smell of cheap soap-chips! That strong odor comes from rancid fats and harsh substances. And the trouble is, this crude soap gives poor suds. It won't pick up the dirt and rinse out easily. It leaves a gray look and a stale smell in your clothes. What a difference Chipso makes! Its rich suds get dirt . . . leave clothes white and sweet-smelling.



CHEAP SOAP-CHIPS ROB CLOTHES OF BRIGHT, NEW LOOK!

Even "rub-fast" patterns grow dim when your clothes get harsh washing each week with cheap soap-chips.

CONSIDER THESE 3 POINTS FOR REAL ECONOMY

1 Chipso is SOAPIER . . . gives wonderful suds for loosening dirt . . . goes farther.

2 Chipso is made of GRADE A materials . . . free from lumps, dirt and bad odor.

3 Chipso SAVES CLOTHES—which are far more costly than any soap.

CHIPSO

makes clothes wear longer

"IT PAYS TO USE CHIPSO" women say

"Chipso suds really loosen dirt" . . . "Chipso washes clothes so SAFELY that they last and last"

"NO FADING"

"I used a piece of the original material to let out a blue dress for my little girl. The dress had been washed with Chipso for 5 years, but the color still matched the new piece exactly," says Mrs. A. B. King.

"No Hard Rubbing"

You can tell that Chipso is fine, rich soap. It feels rich and silky. It smells sweet as fresh grass. And Chipso suds stay up and work. They loosen dirt like magic. "I threw away my washboard when I began using Chipso," says Mrs. L. E. Frank.

"White Clothes Glisten"

"After I changed to Chipso, I had no more trouble with dingy-looking clothes. Even our last year's clothes still look new. That's a bigger saving than skimping a few cents on soap!" (Mrs. L. J. Flanigan)

MINIMUM WAGES BEFORE SENATE

Decks Are Cleared For Public Representations on 8-hour Day Bill.

SESSIONS NEXT WEEK.

OTTAWA, May 23. (CP). — The minimum wage law bill, passed by the House of Commons, to-day was receiving its baptismal consideration in the Senate banking and commerce committee. After getting second reading in the upper House, it came to the committee for further discussion.

Based on a convention adopted by the international labor organization in Geneva, its purpose is to establish minimum wages in certain industrial undertakings. In provinces where a higher scale might be in operation, the higher rates would be applicable.

The unemployment insurance measure may make its reappearance in the Senate Chamber today. It was reported out of committee yesterday; but with a considerable number of amendments, chief of which was the placing of employees of banks and financial institutions under the general plan.

The bill has yet to be given third reading by the Upper House and its progress to this stage is dependent upon some finishing touches necessary before the measure is in proper form.

Decks were cleared yesterday by the Banking and Commerce committee on the eight-hour day bill for public hearing of representations. On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the committee will receive oral representations from railway, lumber, coal and tramway interests who have telegraphed objections.

HUSKIES GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

The jury recommended immediate destruction of the dogs and even went so far as to suggest no huskies be allowed within a mile of the town. Praise was given a Mrs. Kryschuk, who risked her life in an effort to save the boy from the fangs of the angry animals.

Those who follow the northland trails believe the lad must have fallen. To huskies, who often eat their own kind on the trail, that means "fair game."

VIGOR, VITALITY, STAMINA, THROUGH NEW NERVE FORCE

Your nerves control every function of your body and brain. When your nerves are weakened, your stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, even functioning properly, robbing you of body strength and mental vigor. You look "yup", your mind becomes sluggish, you are easily depressed.

Kola Astier, wonderful stimulant-tonic developed by Dr. P. Astier of Paris, contains ingredients that act directly on the nerve centres and promote new nerve force which speeds up the functions of every organ. Your blood circulation is increased, your liver and kidneys activated, your digestion improved, mental sluggishness disappears. Vim, vigor, cheerfulness, soon return.

"Kola Astier restores lost strength," writes a doctor. Another doctor writes, "I have prescribed many and diverse tonics with Kola Astier in cases of physical and nervous exhaustion, it excels them all." And a druggist writes, "I recommend Kola Astier."

Get a bottle of Kola Astier from your druggist TO-DAY without risk. Your money back if that first bottle doesn't help you.

Kola Astier is harmless and not habit forming. More than 12,000,000 bottles have been used during the past few years, mostly as a result of doctors' recommendations.

MAJOR BELFORD IS NOMINATED

Sam Nesbitt, Brighton, who was not present; and Fred J. McArthur, ex-M.P.P., Cobourg.

Major Belford, who recently resigned as sheriff of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, was proposed by O. P. Allison of Cobourg and William Armstrong of Campbellford.

Mr. Willmott was proposed by Wilbert Davey and W. J. Cotton; and Mr. Cochrane by W. Haig and Gordon Honey.

Prior to the distribution of the ballots the convention unanimously pledged its support to the candidate, and when the result was announced Mr. Willmott, after congratulating Major Belford, moved that the nomination be made unanimous.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Denton Massey of Toronto, organiser for the Conservative party in Ontario, who was accompanied to Warkworth by Major-General Garnet Hughes.

Big Crowd A Surprise

The surprise of last night's convention was not the nomination of Major Belford, an eventuality that had been generally expected throughout the county for a month or more, but rather the gathering of the Tory clan from all parts of Northumberland in numbers that packed the town hall even to the stage, overflowed to the capacity of the council chamber downstairs, finally leaving several hundred others on the street. For them, emergent arrangements were made to hear Mr. Massey in the Masonic Hall after he had finished his address to the main body of the convention.

The crowd in the council chamber followed the proceedings in the auditorium by means of an electric amplification system.

The size of last night's crowd repeated upon the stalwarts of the party and the rank and file as an evidence of the resurgence of Toryism in Northumberland and a promise of the spirit and strength that may be mustered behind Major Belford in the coming election. The delegates retired to the Masonic Hall for the paramount detail of voting, and also to facilitate movement because of the "sardined crowd", to use Mr. Massey's phrase, in the convention auditorium. While they were gone Mr. Massey addressed the audience which seemed barely reduced by the absence of 311 delegates.

The evening meeting was in itself a departure from the customary afternoon conventions for at least the last fifteen years. It was timed to the end of the day for the convenience of Mr. Massey, and the president, Mr. Goodfellow, could face the party with the amended details of the meeting exceeding probably every estimate of attendance and enthusiasm.

A Modest Acceptance

Major Belford spoke briefly in accepting the nomination. He thanked the delegates for the honor they had done him, and he also expressed his appreciation of Mr. Willmott's encouragement.

"I am sure that Mr. Willmott will do all he can as in the past to see that the Conservative banner is carried to victory in this riding," Major Belford said.

"I have not sought the nomination for any personal glory. I have come to the age when that means little. I believe we are facing bigger problems than in 1914 and I felt that if duty called me I would follow. This crowd tonight should cause some fear and trembling in the opposite camp. If we go ahead together there is nothing surer than that this riding will return a supporter of the Conservative government. That is absolutely sure, but we must have your active help."

Major Belford made a special appeal to the women saying that their organization had been neglected by the Conservative party in the county. He hoped to see the Northumberland women forming one of the strongest groups of any riding in the country. He also directed an appeal to the youth, declaring that under the leadership of Hon. R. B. Bennett they had something real and sane to cling to, while Mr. King offered nothing constructive to the electors, simply remaining with arms folded through the years of the depression.

Brief speeches by the other men who were nominated afforded opportunities for spirited appeals by Fred McArthur, Harry Phillips, Fred Richardson, R. J. Ross as headliners of this group.

Mr. Ross urged party unity and solidarity, and "we'll lick Bill Fraser so he'll never make another apple barrel. We're through with whippersnappers since last June."

Mr. Richardson said that the nominee of the convention would have the privilege of sending W. A. Fraser back to Trenton.

Denton Massey

"The policy of the Conservative party is clear cut and well defined; it is a policy of reform and security," Mr. Massey stated in urging that the Conservative government had no apologies to make. In view of their record of "magnificent achievement" under leadership of the Right Honorable R. B. Bennett, the speaker contended the Conservative government did not have to adopt a defensive attitude in the forthcoming election campaign, but could go forward on the offensive to preserve, "a Canada reformed for security."

"What's this for?" the speaker enquired in acknowledgment of the outburst of applause that greeted him when he rose to address the meeting. Then he proceeded, "to stand before this sardined audience is a most encouraging experience. Futhermore he described it as being "an amazing demonstration of the interest in things Conservative" that was evident throughout Ontario.

His address in Warkworth as campaign director of the Conservative party in Ontario, Mr. Massey said was the thirty-sixth speech he had made since May 1st. And without any attempt to minimise the magnificence of the Warkworth meeting, he added, "this sort of thing is happening all over the Province." It was, he believed, a definite indication of a tremendous swing in favor of the Conservative cause, and was further evidence, "that we are on the way to victory."

Mr. Massey proceeded to speak of the need of united effort, and he also enlarged upon the achievements of the Conservative government during the past five years. He maintained that during that period a large amount of constructive legislation had been written into the statute book, and he remarked, "we are proud of that record; and on that record, past, present, and future we rise or fall on that record."

The speaker claimed that during the past four years of the worst depression in recent times, Canada had recovered from an unfavorable trade balance now amounting to $152,000,000.00. In view of that fact, he asked, "who can say that high tariffs are a detriment to trade?"

He asked if the people were going to permit a government which had achieved such "magnificent" results to be dismissed, and he contrasted what he termed the Conservative record of achievement, with the absolute lack of policy from the other side. "The Liberal party have no policy whatsoever," the speaker contended. He termed the opposition as having featured in the role of obstructionists, and as regards the C.C.F., he believed their program appealed to the men who had reached the point of desperation where he was willing to clutch at any straw.

"The C.C.F. offers that which appeals to many who do not realise what would be the result of such measures as that party suggests." It was he said, a policy which was attempting to pull down the whole country to the lowest level (and he used that term in a non-derogatory sense), whereas the Conservative policy was one that sought to reach down to that level and lift up the people.

Mr. Massey speaking with reference to his decision to offer his services to the Right Honorable R. B. Bennett, said he regarded the campaign, not as a campaign, but as a crusade.

HOUSE TANGLES

or improper in the dredging job and "so far as I know the usual, regular order was followed."

A long map was used by Mr. Poulliot to emphasize his charges. He claimed the Postmaster-General, absent from the House at the time, also owned property along the shore of the river opposite the island.

Charges Unfinished.

The Poulliot charges climaxed a whole afternoon devoted to the $33,000,000 construction bill. He said later he would press them again to-day with the Postmaster-General in the House, claiming he had more particulars to disclose.

Most of the afternoon was spent with Liberal members pressing Mr. Stewart to say where he proposed to spend $2,500,000 appropriated for harbor and river work, but he claimed the list was not completed and he could not give details.

He said if all the works recommended were attempted they would run to some $10,000,000. The list of works to be built had not been settled and the minister could not say how much money would be spent in each province.

Mr. Stewart said he was simply following the practice of his department under Liberal and Conservative government. Each year sums of money were voted for harbor and river improvements generally and their expenditure depended on decisions made after the vote.

Had the government been seeking to buy its way into office by these expenditures, he said, they would have been much larger. The suggestion advanced by the Liberals was ridiculous. At the same time the minister charged the former Liberal government had spent money in 1930 with political ends in view.

Hon. J. C. Elliott, (Lib. Middlesex West), former minister of public works, and Pierre Gaegrain (Lib. Charlevoix - Saguenay) were the chief opposition critics yesterday.

A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg North) made a protest against the attitude of the two main parties. He objected to public works being allotted on party considerations and said there was a growing resentment among the people at the sort of political wrangling and jobbing which went on in parliament.

MacInnis Sidetracked.

An attempt to inject the British Columbia relief camp strike into the discussions in the House met with failure yesterday by running foul of the rules. Angus MacInnis (Labor, Vancouver South) claimed the right to call the condition in Vancouver to the attention of the Government and the House by moving adjournment on a "matter of urgent public importance."

It was not urgent enough, however, for Speaker Bowman ruled the motion out of order. He said the rules required such a motion must relate to a matter of recent occurrence. The situation had existed for some time. Another ground cited by the Speaker was that the preservation of law and order in Vancouver was not within the control of Parliament, but a matter for the Government of British Columbia.

Despite protests from two Liberal members, the House will take a holiday on Victoria Day (to-morrow). Prime Minister R. B. Bennett announced the decision yesterday. He said whatever the House wished would suit the Government, and Liberal Leader Mackenzie King said any decision the Government should come to would be approved by the Opposition. Mr. Poulliot and William Duff (Liberal, Antigonish-Guysborough) objected to what they regarded the waste of time.

Obituary

JAMES P. MARRIN

MARMORA, May 23. (Examiner Correspondence). — Residents of Marmora were shocked on Wednesday evening to hear of the sudden death of James P. Marrin.

Deceased had been in indifferent health for a number of years but rallied so as to give expectations of recovery. He was a son of Mrs. Patrick Marrin and the late Patrick Marrin of Madoc township. For a long period he operated a drug store in the village but disposed of the business a few years ago to W. E. Gould. He yas keenly interested in the welfare of the community. Not only did he serve on Marmora village council and on the Continuation School Board but he was closely identified with the Marmora Booster Club from its inception and made a very efficient president while occupying that office.

The deceased leaves to mourn his loss, his widow; his aged mother; one brother, Thomas of Windsor, and two sisters, Mrs. G. Walsh, Madoc township, and Mrs. T. Hogan, Windsor.

He was a devout and faithful member of the Sacred Heart Church. Funeral arrangements are not yet made public.

MRS. JOHN DORIE.

A Word to Parents
About the boys and girls

The adolescent age is a most critical time
In the life of the growing child.
Boys are developing into men; girls into women.
Whether the future life is to be healthy and happy
Or distressed by nervous disorders of body and mind
Depends largely on the health at this time.
Physiological changes are taking place
Which demand an abundance of rich, red blood.
If the body is anaemic and vitality weak,
If the nervous system is exhausted by school work,
Restorative treatment is a necessity.
Girls especially need help at this time,
Such help as is found in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
This treatment is gentle and yet powerful
In restoring vigor to the blood and nerves.
Young bodies respond quickly to this restorative.
Color returns to the faded cheeks
And vigor of mind and body is soon evident.

VICTORIA DAY.

The popularity of Victoria Day as a holiday in Canada remains undimished despite the fact that the days have long since passed when Canadian children used to sing this little verse:

"The 24th of May is the Queen's birthday;
If you don't give us a holiday, we'll all run away."

While older citizens will continue to associate the anniversary with the gracious lady who so long ruled over the British Empire, Victoria Day is enjoyed by present-day Canadians principally because of the fact that it is the first of the summer holidays, the beginning of that all too short period in the year when all Canada is out of doors as much of the time as possible.

The 24th of May sees summer sports inaugurated everywhere; and that in itself makes it a notable occasion for thousands.

Again for others it is the first picnic day, and for the fortunate ones who own summer homes it marks the first visit of the year to the favorite lake or river resorts, the start of the boating season, and a general realization that play-time is at hand.

For all these reasons Victoria Day remains one of Canada's favorite holidays, and let us hope it will long remain so.

May it be a happy holiday for everyone, above all may it not be marred by accidents caused by carelessness and disregard of the ordinary rules of safety.

There will be heavy traffic on the roads, the boating season will be under way, so let carefulness be the general watchword.

ONTARIO'S VOTERS.

Commenting upon the number of voters in Canada as revealed by last autumn's registration, the Stratford Beacon-Herald points to the fact that Ontario has almost as many qualified electors as the rest of the Dominion put together, including Quebec.

The figures show that our own province has a voting strength of 2,107,896, while the combined total of voters in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan, British Columbia, Manitoba and Alberta is only about 20,000 more, or 2,129,488.

From these statistics the editor of the Beacon-Herald has been doing a little rapid calculating, and he has arrived at the conclusion that when Ontario people go about the business of electing a Legislature they are allowed to return only 90 members, while the voters of the seven other provinces, whose combined voting strength is not much bigger than that of Ontario, elect altogether 339 legislative members.

As he points out, the thing does appear to be rather stupid, for if 90 members can look after the affairs of well over two million electors in Ontario, it should not surely be necessary to have over 300 to take care of the business of the same number in other parts of the country.

As a matter of fact, the real truth is, of course, that Ontario could get along nicely with about half the present Legislature, and that other provinces could be proportionately cut down; there are far too many members everywhere, and sooner or later that condition will have to be corrected.

A HUGE STRIKE.

In view of the fact that it has been stated in the House of Commons that the same influences which have inspired strikes in the Pacific coast states are responsible for the trouble in British Columbia, it should be interesting to take a look at the situation in the Pacific north-western lumber industry.

Nine-tenths of the waterfront mills and nearly all the larger logging camps and shingle and plywood mills are closed, and retail lumber yards and box factories are shutting or close to it.

It is said that a long strike is inevitable, with 40,000 men out of work and a huge loss of money to the public of western Washington and Oregon, while between 40 per cent. and 50 per cent. of the general income is derived in one way or another from the lumber industry.

The pay-roll loss alone will be four million dollars a month.

The strikers demand a closed shop, a minimum of 75 cents an hour and a 30-hour week. Incidentally the minimum under the NRA code is 42½ cents, and most of the employers have been paying it; in fact, the average wage is said to be 58.3 cents an hour.

The employers insist that they cannot pay a 75c minimum, and that many of them are even losing money on the code minimum. They consider a 30-hour week ridiculous, and are not in a mood for discussing the demand for a closed shop.

Meanwhile the strike has been spreading, and it will probably cost the north Pacific coast more money than the longshoremen's strike did last year. Most of the docks are picketed and the transportation of lumber by water-carrier has been almost completely stopped.

WAITING FOR POLICIES.

Norman A. McLarty, K.C., who is seeking the Liberal nomination in Essex West for the Federal House, seems to be an unusually candid sort of aspirant for parliamentary honors.

Mr. McLarty says that it is time the Liberals at Ottawa declared for a constructive policy on questions of the day, particularly unemployment, rather than rely on the weaknesses of their opponents, in order to win the election.

In that remark this frank candidate is merely putting into words the thoughts of thousands of other voters, not only in the Liberal ranks, but among the many more or less independent electors who are conscientiously endeavoring to weigh the merits of the various parties and platforms that they may vote with some degree of intelligence when the time for balloting arrives.

Such electors as the Globe pointed out in a thoughtful editorial the other day, have been looking in vain for some definite announcement of Liberal policies, but it has not been forthcoming, possibly for the reason advanced by the Globe that the official Opposition feels so confident of success in the impending election that it does not consider it necessary to bring out a policy.

That may prove to be good strategy, but there are many who doubt it, and who are not slow in stating that on such grave problems as unemployment it will be necessary for the Opposition to do more than merely criticize the Government for its shortcomings; more and more people are tiring of the old game of the "ins" and the "outs," and they are looking to the various parties for something definite in the way of policies.

The one outstanding contribution in this respect that has yet come from the Liberal ranks was made by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, the British Columbia Liberal, and it is significant that the policies which he set forth on that occasion have never been referred to since by his leader.

MR. STEVENS' HYPERBOLE.

In a speech in Toronto on Friday Mr. Stevens saw Canada "facing Fascism controlled by the wealthy few, or Marxism established by a destructive revolt." The reason, he thought, was "the failure of 13 men who control one-half of the nation's 20 billions of industrial and commercial wealth" to evolve a sound policy.

• • • •

We suggest to Mr. Stevens, and this with undiminished liking for his courage and sincerity, that he moderate his language. For we don't think it is true that 13 men "control one-half of the nation's 20 billions of commercial and industrial wealth"; think it less true that Canada faces either Fascism or Marxism.

Mr. Stevens states that one of the thirteen capitalists he mentions "controls $4,000,000,000 of industrial wealth," that another holds 42 salaried jobs in different corporations.

Now there is but one way by which any man could control $4,000,000,000 of industrial wealth. He would have to own more than $2,000,000,000 of it. We suggest to Mr. Stevens that no person in such position exists in this country; that we have no billionaire owning $2,000,000,000 of industrial and commercial wealth.

So with Mr. Stevens' capitalist with the "42 salaried jobs" in different corporations. This man's 42 directorships—which are what Mr. Stevens has in mind—doesn't mean that he controls or even owns in any great part the corporations he helps to direct. Indeed, he could be a salaried director of most of them while owning precious little of them. Mr. Edward Beatty is the president and director of the Canadian Pacific Railway. How many of the railway's shares does he own? Mr. Jackson Dodds is the general manager of the Bank of Montreal. How many shares of the bank does he own? According to a recent return made to Parliament he doesn't own one-tenth of one per cent. of them.

Corporations are not owned by their directors; they belong to their shareholders. And who are the shareholders? The shareholders are legion, scattered everywhere, people who are rich and poor; small business men, professional men, small estates, farmers, artisans, charitable organizations, churches.

• • • •

Mr. Stevens says he would call the two capitalists mentioned above, peremptorily order them to "shoulder the task of righting Canadian affairs." Well, if such an order were given, and obeyed, we should have Fascism right enough. But Mr. Stevens, in talking that way, can't be serious.

No more serious than he can be when he talks of the danger of Marxism. Which is impossible. People who talk about Marxism in Canada should take a look at figures presented by Mr. Cahan in Montreal this week. They showed the standing to the credit of 4,626,000 depositors in the chartered banks of Canada is the sum of $1,046,350,000, made up of deposits of $5,000 or less. These people, a number almost as great as those entitled to vote, are not going in for Marxism. With this money in the bank, in addition to what they hold in stocks and bonds, and farm and city property, plus nearly $6,000,000,000 in insurance policies, our capitalist system, bad as it may be, must look fairly good to them.

• • • •

But Mr. Stevens, extreme in some of his statements, and wrong in some of his deductions, was right in his main thesis. He was right when he showed impatience with business and industrial leaders who say to Government and Parliament: "Leave us alone, and all will be well." That cry, heard so much these days, has nothing whatever to justify it. Between 1930 and 1930 the Government and Parliament kept their hands off business, and the result, painful for a lot of us, scarcely justified laissez faire.

• • • •

This country is not going in for Fascism, and it is not going in for Marxism. Its traditions ensure that. But this country is in no mood to-day to accept the dictum of a few business leaders that they be let alone, this simply because it is too well aware of what happened when business was let alone. It wants to retain capitalism because it wants to retain freedom, but it has a right to see to it and is going to see to it that capitalism is its servant, not its master.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Make it a safe and sane Victoria Day to-morrow.

This is Empire Day in Canada, and this year in particular we should have no trouble in finding reasons for rejoicing that we are citizens of the Empire.

Toronto courts are not playing with drunken drivers, for whom the usual punishment now is a jail sentence, a substantial fine and cancellation of driving licenses.

Hon. A. W. Roebuck has been succeeded by Hon. David Croll as Minister of Labor. This shift in portfolios will undoubtedly be approved by a majority of the electors, who believe that the change is likely to prove beneficial.

Germany's action in conscripting all her male citizens between 18 and 45 years for military training may be Hitler's idea of a contribution to world peace, but is not likely to be so regarded by anybody else.

The proposal to spend a million dollars building a tunnel to Toronto's famous Island does not appear to be arousing tremendous enthusiasm in Parliament.

You should behave yourself properly part of the time. You don't expect life to be all enjoyment.—Brandon Sun.

Humane people agree that a man must be given work, at any cost, provided he is in prison.—Robert Quillen.

WHAT ABOUT THE DEPRESSION?

To Editor of The Examiner:

They say that the depression will soon be over. Will it? What do you think? Why should it be over soon? What are we doing to end it?

If you ask the average person what are the most pressing problems at the present time he will say the unemployment situation and the resulting depression. I do not agree with him. The most pressing problem is the problem of proper distribution. Why should people starve in the midst of plenty? Why should they go around half clothed when warehouses are filled to overflowing with clothing and materials for making the same? Why should human beings live in miserable hovels, surrounded by dirt, squalor and vermin, while millions of dollars are being spent on building roads through practically uninhabited regions in Northern Ontario? Let us chart the situation thus:

Actual human conditions, people are starving; state of the market or supplies on hand, what market is overstocked. Present remedy, cut down wheat acreage.

People are almost naked; warehouses are overstocked with clothing. Present remedy, curtail production of clothing materials.

Actual human conditions, people are homeless or living in hovels; state of the market or supplies on hand, large stocks of building materials and plenty of workmen available. Present remedy, building new roads in the "north country."

Is this a common-sense way to relieve the depression? Could we not reasonably expect a normal 8-year-old child to find a better solution to the above problems than the ones that are being tried out?

Years ago, it was stated that we should "earn our bread by the sweat of our brow." Then man made use of his inventive genius and harnessed steam, water, electricity and exploding gas to do his bidding. He also devised power-driven machinery to take the place of pick and shovel, hand looms, horse-drawn farm machinery, and many other tedious forms of labor. Modern inventions in the arts of peace are indeed wonderful, and we should welcome them gladly. Supposing that you were trudging wearily up a steep hill, carrying a heavy burden on your shoulder, and a kind motorist came along and gave you a ride to your destination. Would you find fault with the automobile for shortening the time that you would have spent on your journey? Would you curse it for taking the burden from your shoulders? The answer, of course, is no. Then, why find fault with machinery in general, when it is lifting the great burden of labor from the shoulders of perspiring humanity? On the contrary, why not be thankful to the great inventors who have made present labor-saving conditions possible? Why not be grateful to those who have made it unnecessary for us to work ten weary hours a day in order to supply the needs of humanity for food, and clothing, and suitable homes? We must realize that machinery has come to stay. We must face the fact that work conditions have changed. Never again will there be work enough to keep men working ten, or eight, or six, or even four hours per day the year round. However, every man should be prepared to do his share of the work that must be done. We have invented machinery to do our work and to add to our comfort, enjoyment and happiness. We must now turn our attention to inventing or devising equitable means of distribution of the abundance of good things that Nature and the handiwork of man has provided. Every man and woman should be willing and eager to do their just share of the world's work, and when they do so, they should receive their just share of this world's goods as a reward for their labor. This problem can be worked out. I feel that there is only one possible solution, and I may submit it for your consideration in the near future.

F. F. LONG,
Mayor of Campbellford.

What's in the Name of Amusing Cities and Towns

by FRANK H. WILLIAMS

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C.

This pretty town, situated at Westminister junction, 17 miles east of Vancouver, is located in the centre of a rich farming community, had its origin just prior to the outbreak of the world war, somewhere about 1911, at a time when a boom was in progress in this part of the country.

The town enjoyed a rapid growth soon after the C.P.R. shops were established there.

The town's name is an Indian word, which had been applied to a lake and a river in the district. It is believed to have been the name of one of the lesser tribes which made this district their headquarters.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

In honor of Mother's Day, we have been devoting the articles this week to a discussion of the plans of modern medical science for safer and more comfortable motherhood. Today, along the same lines, I want to point out that you can continue the good work and make grandmotherhood safer.

The new grandmother. Every woman, as soon as she has become a mother, hopes to be a grandmother. In the old days, only the tough one had a ghost of a chance. All she has to look forward to after the birth of the first was a continuation of the experience until, at the tenth or eleventh, the carburetor gave out and she collapsed. Then grandpa got another one—a new one.

Well, for most people, for better or for worse, those days have ended. We have a great deal of complaint that the superior people are not raising large enough families. But the way the world is geared now, it may be all right. The child of a superior person can support, by his industry, at least ten inferior persons. If he is extraordinarily superior, he can support a good many more.

At any rate, the condition exists. And since the new mother can reasonably expect to look forward to a great many years of life, she would like to do so in full vigor of health and enjoyment of her good looks and vitality.

Post-Natal Care Important

Post-natal care is the term which is coming into use to describe such endeavors. Part of this belongs exclusively to the work of the attending physician. It is impossible to go through so complicated a procedure as childbirth without the danger of some strain or tear in the machine, and repairs are necessary. These are always anticipated by the physician, and he always is prepared to effect simple readjustments of this kind.

After the new mother is out of bed and has recovered her strength, moderate exercise may be begun at once. Special bedroom exercises are ordered in certain instances, such as the monkey crawl—on all fours, with the knees bent; the kangaroo crawl—on all fours with the knees stiff; or the mule kick, which describes it very well. They are designed to restore the organs to a normal position and aid in involution.

There is a natural tendency to put on weight at this period and also to overeat. Proper foods, with enough minerals, such as milk, and wholesome nourishment, such as meat and eggs and vegetables and fruits, are more important than a superabundance of everything during the nursing period. The baby has never heard of the Hay diet, so he gets both proteins and starches at the same meal and seems to thrive on it, not developing the expected high blood pressure and other nutritional troubles for 60 or 70 years.

Sensible clothes, including supports in the form of corsets or special abdominal supports, and also, whether she likes it or not, flat heeled shoes, should be the rule for the new mother for a time.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE AUTHOR OF "EMPIRE DAY"

Today (May 23rd) is Empire Day in the schools of Canada and many other portions of the British Empire. This yearly recognition of our part in the British Empire designed to impress upon the children the glories of our heritage was instituted by a Canadian and was first observed in the city of Hamilton in 1897, becoming general throughout Ontario two years later.

The founder was Clementina Fessenden (nee Trenholme), who was born in Drummond, county Quebec. The family moved to Ancaster parish church in 1804, and it is recorded that Mrs. Fessenden died there in 1906. One of the Hamilton chapter of the I.O.D.E. is named for her and a tablet in her memory was unveiled at St. John's Ancaster, on May 27, 1928.

Empire Day was first suggested to Mrs. Fessenden by the delight and enthusiasm of her small granddaughter on the occasion of attending a meeting of the Wentworth Historical Society with Mrs. Fessenden and being made a life member. She endeavored to conceive some plan to interest children in the Empire's history and as a consequence Empire Day was born.

The rules of conduct of the day in Canadian schools are laid down as follows:

"The forenoon of the day is to be devoted to a study of the greatness of the British Empire and the afternoon to public addresses, recitations, music, etc., of a patriotic character.

The morning should be occupied by the teacher in illustrating by facts and figures the extent of the Empire, its history and resources. Mention might be made of the most noted statesmen, military and naval men, and those prominent in literature, art, science, etc.

"The systems of Dominion, provincial, municipal and educational government might also be referred to and the geographical illustration from a map of the world of the various possessions of the British Empire might be a feature.

"The Union Jack should be flown prominently from the school buildings during the day."

Peterborough's Possibilities

By HOMER MOORE

ARTICLE 31

According to members of the International Geological Congress, the real "Pre-Cambrian" rock formation is north of Bannockburn and such being the expert opinion of those men, it can be added that the greatest natural wealth will also be north of that point, in Hastings County.

The articles in this column may have given an inkling into the location of valuable deposits, causing the reader to search-out other information relative to it. If so, the spark will have become a flame which may kindle other creative thoughts resulting in constructive action which will benefit Peterborough.

A remark given in jest by a resident of those northern areas, reposed somewhere in my own mind for several years until just recently I discovered that his jesting remark although of no importance to him, was on the line of natural wealth on which I have done a great amount of scientific research, since, and his chance remark, which I remembered, gave me the assurance that I had been on the right line of study and observation and right kind of material. His words, which had been registered in my mind but kept dormant, came to my memory as a further evidence of proof, the research through the best world-wide writings and observation on it since, confirming it. So, as you read these articles, do not forget them. They may be to you, what my friend's remark was to me—in fact his jest with me had in it the kernel of a great discovery cloudy at first but by continuous research I can definitely make statements as being true, regarding the fact of the occurrence, in these rocky areas of Peterborough and other northern counties, of the most valuable resources found in the world! They are valuable elsewhere—they are here also, even though not generally known to be here in our rocks. Some of them I hope to locate myself — to find that treasure of mother earth—having first discovered the scientific key for it!! Then perhaps Peterborough will prosper as a result!

"Columbite" considered quite rare, although it has been located in Haliburton County, will be found in Hastings County and Peterborough County. "Columbite" is used in safety razor blades — and how many millions of razor blades are used? The extensive use of razor blades creates a demand for "Columbite."

There is a very large deposit of marl in the bottom of the Blue Sea lakes in northern Hastings County. There will be a use for this deposit later on!

In my opinion, it would be a master-stroke of business, if samples of the different marbles were brought to Peterborough city and the monument dealers of all Ontario, perhaps all Canada, invited to the city of Peterborough for a convention, at which time they could "view" those marble-samples. The ignorance of some Ontario marble dealers as to the fact that there is high-class marble not far from Peterborough is due to some reason which should be corrected. I know personally some of these dealers and when I "happened" to remark about the beautiful marbles I had seen north-east of Peterborough city, they flatly contradicted my statement. They being dealers in marble "knew" but did they? They did not! They were as ignorant of the natural resources of their own province with respect to marble as a child in the kindergarten! They told me that marble had to be imported from Vermont, U.S.A. and granite had to be secured in Scotland!

I asked one of these dealers if he had ever seen those marbles in Hastings County and he said: "I told you there is no suitable marble in Ontario." Being an older man than I was, and being a dealer in monumental stone, I, of course, had to let him remain in his darkness. Should by read the following facts in this article, I hope he and a lot like him, will lose no more time but come and examine those marbles and place orders for them and keep Canadian money in Canada, where it will help build up our own marble industry. Perhaps those Ontario marble dealers who in the past have been sending money out of our country for foreign marble, will take the word or opinion of the members of the International Geological Congress, who actually visited those marble quarries I referred to, and went on record as to their beauty and usefulness.

These gentlemen and all others, should enlarge their knowledge by taking a short trip through Peterborough and Hastings Counties. In speaking of the marbles of a part of Hastings County the report of the Geological Congress says:

"These quarries which are located on lots 29 and 30, concession 10, of the Township of Dungarmon, and lots 41 and 42 of the Hastings road, in the Township of Faraday, yield a great variety of ornamental marbles, including breccias of veined, streaked and clouded types of singular beauty. Among the most important varieties may be mentioned: (1) Bancroft Cepollino, so called from its resemblance to the talian Cipollino, is a green and white variety; (2) Laurentian Vein; (3) Laurentian Blue; (4) Rose Fantasia, a marble irregularly banded or streaked, presenting a great variety of colors, often of great brilliancy. The colors represented are white, pale pink, bright red and cream color; (5) Bancroft green; a white granular marble also occurs near the station at Bronson."

While the varieties mentioned are ornamental marbles, there are also the plain kind generally seen in cemeteries. We put flowers of color in the city of the dead—why not some color in the monument?

There are granites in our county and other near-by counties equal to any imported from Scotland. Peterborough County has granite equal to anything imported from Vermont or anywhere else. Why not use our own granite?

Why build up foreign industries? Build up our own!

AFTER A STORM, AFTER A QUARREL

After a storm the world is washed clean....After a storm you can stand upon a little hill and see for miles and miles. See small men toiling on a field clear across the valley. See a cat chasing a chicken in a yard 'way down the road... See a woman come to her back door with a basket of clothes in her arms, and see her busy herself hanging them on the line, making those lovely motions with her arms. ....After a storm, all that was dusty is sweetly clean again. Clean and green and lovely. The flower lift their heads meekly. The great trees have renewed their strength. Water tumbles down gutters, fills ditches, multiplies small streams into rivers, roars in delightful turmoil down many a hillside.

After a storm, everything is changed for the better and a man throws his shoulders back and takes a deep breath and says to himself: "It is good to be alive! I feel as though I could do anything that I want to do!"

After a quarrel, the atmosphere is clearer than it was. After a quarrel—if it was a hearty and an honest one, with decent rage and thunder in it—the small meannesses, the nagging pawishness and the smarting jealousies have been washed away....After a quarrel, two who have been far apart stand close together again. They are friends once more, affectionate and glad.

If they played fair, even in their anger, and if neither of them said those harsh and traitorous things that no man should say to another—neither a man to a woman nor a woman to a man—a quarrel is not so bad. In fact, it can be GOOD.

It can be like the storm that washes the sky and the trees and the fields and every water course. It can be a renewal of strength. It can be a fresh start, it can be exhilarating.

It is good for men and women to live together in peace and quiet, but—men and women being what they are—it can also be very dull.... After a quarrel, the peace and quiet are that much the greater.

Tense Situation At Brussels Mine

BRUSSELS, May 23.—(AP).—Fifteen striking miners, barricaded in their workings, threatened a hunger strike to-day after police drove hundreds of their comrades to the surface by hurling tear gas bombs into the shafts.

A tense atmosphere prevailed out the coal production area as 100,000 additional men threatened to join the 12,000 already on strike and tie up every mine in the vicinity.

The walkout produced political repercussions in the cabinet of Premier Paul Van Zeeland. Several Socialist ministers in the Union government were reported to be considering resigning in sympathy with the strikers.

The walkout was called to enforce demands for higher wages.

PROMINENT DETROITER TO WED.

DETROIT, May 23 (C.P.). — Wylie W. Carhartt, Jr., scion of a socially prominent Detroit family, has obtained a license to wed Miss Jean Harper, 18-year-old daughter of a publishing house executive and formerly of Hamilton, Ont.

OIL LEADERS AT NEW HIGHS

Consolidated Smelters and Baers Traded Heavily in Industrial Section.

INTERLISTEDS ACTIVE.

TORONTO, May 23.—(CP).—The oil leaders, Imperial and Petroleum as well as Consolidated Smelters and Consolidated Bakeries, traded heavily to-day and sold at new high prices for the year on the industrial section of the Toronto exchange. The general market was inclined to anticipate the Friday holiday and slow down, but interlisted leaders travelled along with the New York market where firmness ruled despite the uncertainty surrounding veto developments at Washington over the bonus bill. Recessions out-numbered gains at the close.

Imperial Oil sold at 22¼ and closed at 22 for a net gain of ¼ and International Petroleum sold up to 20 for a half point gain. British American got above the 16 mark but held only ¼ as a gain. McColl Common, Supertest Ordinary and Thayers Common had small net gains at the close.

Consolidated Bakeries advanced ¾ to 16¾. Higher closing prices ruled for Brazilian. Consolidated Smelters, Ford A and International Nickel.

LISTLESS DAY MINE MARKET

Base Metals Drop Morning Gains During Afternoon Session.

SILVERS NARROW.

TORONTO, May 23 (CP).—Heading into a holiday and with political disturbances at Washington, the mining section of the Toronto Exchange was content to drift to-day, and although volume was heavy in spots, prices got nowhere in particular. The base metals had morning gains but they lost them later while the silvers and golds moved within a narrow range and closed with minor losses in the majority.

While action slowed down in Noranda the price was steady at the close. Hudson Bay, Mining Corporation and coast copper held unchanged or slightly higher, while recessions of 1 to 3 cents were recorded for Big Missouri, Pend Oreille and Base Metals Corporation.

Macassa pushed up vigorously till it reached 92, from which level it weakened moderately to close with a gain of about 3 cents. Prices were a bit soft for Kirkland Lake, Gunnar, Paymaster, McWittie and Wayside. Royalite Oil dropped back to 33.50, down about 75 cents.

Commands Canadian Bisley Rifle Team

In the current issue of district orders from headquarters of Military District 3, it is officially stated that Brigadier W. B. Anderson, C.M.G., D.S.O., is detailed to command the Canadian Rifle Team for Bisley, with effect from June 12 next.

Lieut.-Colonel C. E. Connolly, D.S.O., A.A. and Q.M.G., is detailed to command the district temporarily during the absence of Brigadier Anderson.

The announcement officially confirms earlier reports carried by The Examiner that Brigadier Anderson was to go to England in command of the Canadian Bisley team this Summer.

Value Of Publicity Clearly Demonstrated

If Harold J. McLean ever entertained any doubt as to the value of publicity (and it is not likely that he ever did seeing that he is pressman at The Examiner plant), those doubts have been definitely dispelled.

It was as a direct result of publicity given to the matter in the columns of this newspaper, that Mr. McLean has recovered his automobile which was stolen from the rear of The Examiner office just a week ago.

To-day Russell Dafoe of Apsley was charged with theft of the car, and upon his appearance before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., he was remanded until Wednesday next without election or plea. Bail was set in the sum of $1,000.

FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

LITTLE LONG LAC

Handling between 165 and 170 tons of ore daily, Little Long Lac Gold Mines is maintaining monthly production at $85,000, more than half of which is profit, Jos. Errington, president, informed shareholders at the annual meeting yesterday. The management plans to keep monthly production at this figure. Recovery is running around 90 to 91 per cent at present, although changes are being made in the mill, which will be in operation inside a month, and will give a higher recovery. Mr. Errington stated that every thing is being charged to tons milled. During the past 3 or 4 months 70 per cent of mill feed has come from development faces. New additions to the present mill will depend entirely on future development work and extensions to lower sections, Mr. Errington stated. During the last days some diamond drill holes have been drilled from the underground workings and the results of this drilling and channel sampling in the cross cut makes the future of the mine look encouragig. At a point 60 feet in on the main drift on the fourth level about 160 feet east of the shaft, a 14 foot section assaying .50 ounces gold to the ton has been intersected. Half way between this and the main drift another section has been cut. In addition there is 7 to 8 feet of ore alongside the main drift which will be developed.

A. A. Barton, mine manager, stated that two diamond drill holes put down 100 feet below the present bottom level at 720 feet shows the same vein structure and free gold. The company's property covers an area of 3 miles and development work so far has only been extended for 900 feet. Mr. Errington stated that it is not two years since the company first started shaft sinking and to date they have at least four years ore ahead of them. Mr. Errington stressed the fact that they are not having any trouble with water. As stated in the annual report 90 per cent of all development work has been in ore.

Regarding the Okland Gold Mines property, he stated that it has the same geological structure as the Kirkland Lake camp, although to date not enough drilling has been done to determine whether they have an ore body. One drill hole put down 85 feet from the boundary line showed the same vein structure as on the Little Long Lac ground.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, May. 23. (CP).—Listings closed irregular on Montreal Stock Exchange to-day after a somewhat uncertain market, with steady buying interspersed by bursts of buying and selling at different times during the session.

Consolidated Smelters touched 184 but closed at 182½, off ½. Famous Players voting trust, rose a point at 16 and small gains were shown by Canadian Pacific and Brazilian. Intercolonial Coal jumped 27 points to 42.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, May 23 (A.P.). — Some of the oils, farm machinery, and scattered specialties continued to forge ahead in to-day's stock market, but the general list followed a rather narrow range as the bonus veto outcome in the Senate was awaited.

Issues up major fractions to around 2 points included Texas Corporation, Tidewater Oil, Deere, Case, Goodyear, Great Western Sugar, Universal Leaf Tobacco, Rails and Utilities, moved a shade in either direction. The late tone was steady. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

$3,000 Fire Sweeps Barrie Buildings

BARRIE, Ont., May 23 (C.P.). — Damage amounting to about $3,000 was caused to-day by a fire which swept adjoining buildings owned by Frank Livingston and Imperial Oil, Limited, in the central portion of the town. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Barrie fire department succeeded in bringing the blaze under control before it had spread to nearby residences and buildings.

Mayor W. J. Blair called for Orillia fire brigade, which sent along 12 men and 1,000 feet of hose. When the Orillia men arrived, the fire was under control.

Frank Livingstone, who had small insurance, lost four trucks, some building material and the roof. Imperial Oil, Limited, had the upper part of their garage building damaged, although no cars were burned.

HOG PRICES

TORONTO, May 23 (CP).—Bacon hog prices continued unchanged to higher at all but one reporting market point to-day. The exception was Chatham, which reported a 75-cent drop from yesterday, at $7.65. London and Barrie prices showed 10 cent gains and all others were unchanged. To-day's prices: Barrie, $8.75; Brantford, $8.65; Chatham, $7.50; Hull, $8.75; Kitchener, $8.75; London, $8.75; Peterborough, $8.65; Stratford, $8.70.

BAN ON SUNDAY TRUCKING LOOMS IN NEAR FUTURE

McQuesten's Decision Pends Check Police Started Last Week.

FEW EXCEPTIONS.

TORONTO, May 23 (C.P.) — Ban on all Sunday trucking on Ontario highways with the exception of vehicles carrying milk and perishable goods is under contemplation by the Provincial Highways Department, it was learned here to-day from Minister of Highways T. B. McQuesten.

While he has not yet taken action in the matter, the minister, indicating the possibility of such a policy adopted, said "it would be convenient to free the highways."

A decision is not expected until Provincial Police complete a check on trucking they started last Sunday. The preliminary survey has disclosed at least 50 per cent of the Sunday trucking could have been done on week-days.

Action to ban trucking would take place under the Lord's Day Act it was revealed by the Attorney-General's Department.

CAMPBELL SISTERS WELL RECEIVED

Trio Delights Large Audience at Summer Gardens.

The Campbell Sisters were enthusiastically received last evening when they presented their first group of numbers to the dancing public of Peterborough.

Many music lovers will compare their style of singing and arrangements favorably with the Picken Sisters, the 3X Sisters and many other well known Radio girl trios.

To-night will be ther last night at the Brock Street Summer Gardens. They return to Toronto Friday for their CRCT broadcast at 7 o'clock E.S.T.

EIGHT HOUR DAY

stances the cost would be prohibitive.

"When we get state medicine we may get the eight-hour day for nurses," Senator J. H. King, former Liberal Minister of Pensions and National Health, remarked.

Senator A. D. McRae (Cons., Vancouver) declared if a man with 200 employees ignored the eight-hour day provisions he should be liable for a penalty in the case of each employee. "It would be absurd to fine that man for the one penalty," Senator McRae said.

Senator Meighen considered the guilty employer would be liable for punishment in the instance of each worker.

The committee will meet again on Tuesday when representations will be heard from employed and unemployed railwaymen and the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. Views of lumber operators on the exemption clauses will be presented Tuesday. On Wednesday coal operators and representatives of tramway interests from several of the smaller cities in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces will be heard.

Cricket Results

LONDON, May 23 (C.P. Cable).—A sparkling century by R. E. S. Wyatt failed to save Warwickshire from defeat at the hands of Surrey in a county cricket championship game concluded to-day at the Oval. Weir Introduces Livestock Bill meat trade and divert it to other uses, such as fertilizer and tankage. Such diversion formed an important recommendation of the majority of the Commission, although those who signed the report with reservations took exception to it. The Bill itself merely gives discretionary power to the Minister to give effect to the recommendation.

The Justice Department and officials of the Agricultural Department gave considerable study to the Commission's report. They advised that many of the results sought could be obtained by amendments to existing laws, and others by regulations which do not require legislative action.

Closer Inspection.

With regard to keeping diseased meat off the market, the Bill amends the Live Stock Inspection Act giving departmental officials greater authority in inspecting all kinds of meats in packing plants where any portion of the trade is inter-provincial or export. This is believed to be as far as the Dominion has jurisdiction to go.

With regard to the commission's recommendation that packers' yards be converted into and subject to the same regulations respecting competition as public stockyards, the government took the view the additional euipment and reconstruction required to do business under such conditions would add to the already burdensome cost of marketing the farmer's livestock. It would cause a further diversion of cattle from the public yards. Such a development would be contrary to what the commission desired, it was held.

Sale by Auction

The recommendation seeking permission for producers to sell their stock by auction was already provided for under existing legislation, according to government opinion. This sets forth such procedure may be engaged in "subject to regulations approved by the minister."

The view was expressed departmental representative at public markets should first be consulted on the recommendation that livestock commission agents' charges be based on a lower specific charge, plus a commission reckoned on the value of the livestock sold.

It was argued a minimum of sales effort was required to sell good, marketable cattle, while inferior cattle required more time and salesmanship. No additional legislation would be needed to enforce the licensing of commission agents.

With regard to the licensing and bonding of truckers and prohibiting them from selling stock themselves, this was believed to be covered generally in existing statutes, and is further clarified in the bill by defining the meaning of the word "trucker."

Idea Sound in Principle

The recommendation which urges the sale of hogs by grade, each grade to be sold separately, and which would discontinue fixed differentials with the exception of the premium on selects was considered by the government to be sound in principle. Whether it could be put into effect, however, was questioned. Differentials and discounts had become more or less standardized, but they vary from time to time as between one packing plant and another according to supply and demand. With 70 per cent. of the hogs going to the packing houses direct a practicable application of the recommendation was considered impossible.

"Grading on the rail," recommended by the commission is already provided for in the hog grading regulations. It is now operated on a voluntary basis at six packing plants in Ontario, and the practice is gradually being extended.

The grading of cattle offered for sale at central stockyards and shipped direct to packing plants was considered a questionable matter. It is explained that while cattle may be graded from the standpoint of condition and quality to the satisfaction of both buyer and seller, within such grade the value would vary according to the estimated yield. On this point honest difference of opinion might development in appraising the live animal the government was advised.

Established Grades

Grades established as a matter of trading practice and not as official standards was regarded as more acceptable. Shipments of varying quality are often sold at a flat price which frequently prevents the establishment of a price representative of the actual value of the best grade of cattle included in the lot.

Extension of ministerial orders to provide for standards of grade "A" bacon could be made the government was advised, should such a change be necessary to implement the commission's recommendation which was "'A' grade bacon for export be composed of sides from select and—bacon hogs only."

The grading of bacon for export by government inspectors was not viewed favorably. In practically all agricultural products which come under official department regulations, the onus of grading is on the shipper. Agricultural officials felt this was a sound principle for the majority of products, including bacon, and took the position that the function of their officers was to enforce correct grading.

The government was informed, in general, that the grading of bacon is being carried on satisfactorily. The bacon is inspected in England by an officer of the department, and the penalty for irregular grading is suspension and eventual cancellation of the license to export.

Federal Government Policy On Relief Camps Is Tabled

HOUSE IS GIVEN ACCESS TO ALL OF REGULATIONS

No Military Discipline or Training Allowed — Men Free to Accept Other Work.

STANDARD ARMY RATION.

OTTAWA, May 23. (CP)—Government policy on relief camps operated by the Department of National Defence gives those employed therein complete freedom of movement according to a voluminous document tabled yesterday in the House of Commons. The document covers all regulations issued by the department for administration of these institutions. The purpose of the camps was to provide relief for "homeless single men," who were otherwise uncared for in other relief for homeless single men" who were otherwise uncared for in other relief schemes.

Accommodation, food, clothing and medical care, and a daily allowance of 20 cents, were furnished, while the men were required to work eight hours a day, with Saturday afternoon, Sundays and statutory holidays observed.

"Personnel will be free to leave the work to accept other employment offered; they may be discharged 'for cause', and if so discharged will be subsequently ineligible for re-employment under the scheme, except when there is a reasonable probability of the men behaving properly in future," the regulations set forth.

Free Transportation

On discharge from camp—except in a case of misconduct, the Government gave free transportation to the men to the point at which they were engaged, the document said. Extension of this policy was that free transportation was also given to men who had obtained employment, the Government paying their fare from the camp to the place at which they were being given a job.

"The standard of rations shall be that as prescribed for the army," continues the regulation. This is, however, the only contact point between the camps and anything relating to the army, for the next regulation sets forth:

"No military discipline or training shall be instituted, the status of the individual shall remain civilian in all respects."

Responsibility for the care of the men lay with the officer in charge of the camp. It was their object, the regulations declare, to ensure that the men's efficiency—mentally, physically, and at their trades—was so improved that when conditions permitted the men may be returned to the economic life of the country "well able again to take up their usual work." To assist in this, educational and instructional classes were formed while encouragement was given for recreation and sport.

STANWOOD LEAGUE HOSTS TO SOCIETY

Rylstone Community League Provides Program Under Jim Barnett.

RYLSTONE, May 23.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A very enjoyable time was spent on Wednesday evening, May 15, when the Stanwood League entertained the Rylstone Community League at the Stanwood Church. Over 100 were present.

A few well-spoken words of welcome were given by the Stanwood president, Allan Rutherford. The Rylstone president, Jim Barnett, then took charge of the following program, which was put on by the Rylstone League:

Scripture reading was read by Melville McKeown; topic was given by Grant Meiklejohn; current events were given by Clarence Anderson; reading, "A Thought for Mother's Day," by Jean Stewart; talk about clouds, by Mr. Foley; guitar solo and encore, by Garland Irwin; solo, "Alice in Wonderland," by Georgie Rutherford; quartett, by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barnum and Bruce and Grant Meiklejohn; reading, "Housecleaning," Arthur Reid; trio, "God Be With You," by Vivian Meiklejohn, Laura Foley and Grant Meiklejohn; violin and harp selections, by Roger Lain and Ed. Anderson; play, "He Wasn't Such a Goose at Recreation," was put on by Stanwood League.

Lunch was then served by Stanwood young folks.

Humane Society

The following monthly report was read by the inspector, Dr. Thos. Johnston, V.S., at the regular monthly meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms: Horses examined 25; dogs brought to shelter 16, humanely destroyed 10; dogs placed in homes 2, claimed by owners 2. Cats brought to shelter 14, humanely destroyed 14. Animals examined (cattle, sheep, pigs) 100; poultry houses and crates 2; summons issued 3, number of convictions 2; complaints investigated 12; warnings issued 7; emergency calls 10; stables inspected 2; telephone calls 150. Dr. Johnston described in detail some of the cases which received his attention in the last month such as a man convicted and fined having lost 5 head of cattle through starvation. Another case was a man fined for working a horse with three broken ribs. There are a number of animals being transported by truck and the Humane Society's Inspector is encouraged to find that in most cases the animals are carefully loaded and in one instance a truck load of animals for Northern Ontario—he found that special care was taken to have the truck padded for the comfort of the animals and to avoid injury.

EMPIRE DAY IS BEING MARKED

Program in Schools Curtailed Owing to Recent Jubilee Celebrations.

BOY SCOUT JAMBOREE.

Empire Day was fittingly observed in city, rural, and urban schools throughout Peterborough County to-day.

In view of the closeness of the date to the recent Jubilee Day celebrations, however, the observance was generally speaking, confined to a program of indoor speeches, patriotic songs and recitations.

Outdoor activity in connection with Empire Day observance was dispensed with, as being unnecessary in view of the fact that earlier in the month the entire school population of the County took part in open-air demonstrations as their part in the Empire-wide tribute to Their Majesties King George V. and Queen Mary, on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their accession to the throne.

Inspector A. Mowat, whose jurisdiction embraces all the public schools in the city, told The Examiner: "We celebrated the Jubilee anniversary very carefully and because that celebration was of such recent date, we are confining the Empire Day observance to the grouping of classes in each of the schools in order that the children may hear Empire Day talks by their teachers and take part in the singing of patriotic songs."

Inspector Leo Copp, who has 72 rural and urban schools in the East Peterborough inspectorate, stated in reference to Empire Day observance, "we are doing very little this year in view of the recent Jubilee celebrations.' He intimated further that the program to be followed in the schools within his jurisdiction would run closely along the lines of the program in the city schools.

The Examiner was unable to get in touch with Inspector R. F. Downey, of West Peterborough inspectorate, but it is understood that the schools throughout his jurisdiction, not only in Peterborough but in the neighboring County of Victoria, will mark the occasion by Empire Day addresses and national songs.

J. A. McKone, secretary of Peterborough Kiwanis Club, announced that because of the recent Jubilee celebration and also because Herbert Cranford, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee, was on vacation in Newfoundland, the club had failed to conform to the policy established in recent years in connection with Empire Day, and had not detailed any of the members to give usual talks in rural schools in various parts of the County. He stated that the club had not abandoned the project, however, but on the contrary hoped to extend it in coming years.

Probably one of the major observances of the occasion will be that at Nassau to-morrow, when the combined troops of the local Boy Scouts' Association are to stage a big Jamboree, which is expected to attract visiting Scouts from the whole of Central Ontario. The Jamboree is confidently expected by the organizers to outclass a similar successful event held by the Scouts here last Empire Day.

Magistrate's Court

A local youth expressing his inability to pay a fine upon being convicted of "gaffing" and also fishing for pickerel out of season, took the option of five days' imprisonment when he appeared before Magistrate A. E. Gee of Lindsay yesterday afternoon.

He was one of six local offenders who were hailed into court for breaches of the Game and Fisheries Act by Inspector Fred Marshall, and the Magistrate told the youth it was quite probable that he was not among the only offenders but that he was taking the "bump" for others as well.

His Worship's disposition of the various cases provided ample proof, if that were needed, that the Game and Fisheries Act has been provided with sharp and effective 'teeth'.

For fishing for pickerel out of season four men were ordered to pay a fine of $5 and $1.50 costs, and for "gaffing" one was fined $3 and $1.50 costs.

A boy, 17 pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of "gaffing" and on that count he was fined $5 and $1.50 costs. On a further charge of fishing for pickerel out of season, he was ordered to contribute a further $5 and $1.50 costs, or five days' imprisonment in default on both counts. He elected to take the goal term, stating he was not in the position to pay a fine.

To-day before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., Robert Eagle, described as a transient, was fined $10 without costs for being intoxicated in a public place.

BEAVERBROOK'S AIDE WRITES HIGHLY ENLIVENING BIOGRAPHY

Baxter Once Toronto Choir Singer Tells of Start on Great Journal.

IN "STRANGE STREET."

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 23. — (CP) — A. Beverley Baxter, 44-year-old son of Toronto, who rose from singing in the choir of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church on Sunday's and selling pianos on week-days to become Lord Beaverbrook's chief lieutenant on the Daily Express here, produces a highly enlivening volume of biography, published today under the title, "Strange Street."

Even in the piano-selling period Baxter had the itch for writing.

Baxter went overseas with the Canadians in 1915. He devotes exactly 23 lines to his service at the front. 'I received no decorations for the reason, probably, that my fighting was neither sufficiently forward nor far enough back." Nevertheless he became a casualty through exposure.

Offered A Job

How he pestered his friends in England to gain him an interview with Beaverbrook makes engaging reading. So, too, does his account of his earliest encounter with him. Beaverbrook was in his bathroom, shaving.

"'Do you want a job?'

"'No thanks.'

"'I'll give you a job on the Daily Express.'

"'As what?'

"'As a leader writer. They call it editorial writer in Canada.'

"I thanked him by explaining it was my intention to go home to Canada and write novels.

"He brandished his arms eloquently and fastened me with his ancient mariner eye.

The Hairy Britons

"'Hundreds of years ago,' he said, 'the hairy Britons crept wonderingly down to the shore and watched the wind fill the sails of the mighty Roman galleons as they set out for Imperial Rome. I love Canada more than any other country, but we are still the hairy Britons and London is Imperial Rome. You will have to come to London'."

It was one time later and after another rather profitless interval in Canada, before Baxter did start on The Express. His initial experiences there were discouraging but Beaverbrook had obviously complete faith in his possibilities.

Baxter's biography reveals occasional twinges of compunction in regard to "smart" journalism.

"In addition to the weekly humorous feature I did the dramatic criticism for both the daily and the Sunday papers. Like most young critics I was devilishly clever and rejoiced when some stumbling production gave me a phrase of satire to dispatch like an arrow into the defenceless flesh of my victims. Once I wrote only this of a play:

"'When the curtain fell on last night's production, the manager announced the author had left five days ago for New York. It seems a long start to give him.'

A Critic Scores

"'What humor! What a game! A few broken-hearted actors faced with the immediate failure of their plan had to go on the next night to an empty house. Never mind. A critic had scored.

"Towards the end of my career as a theatre writer I developed a conscience. True, I had always praised with gusto when it seemed right, but I began to observe the good Old English cutsom of not shooting the sitting bird."

A graphic account is offered of a night at Beaverbrook's house at Leatherhead when the Sinn Feiners were active:

"There were about 10 guests, and as darkness came on I thought Beaverbrook's gaiety was strangely forced. All the windows were closed and shuttered, but I was hardly prepared for the sight of the butler sitting in the hall with a shot-gun on his knees. Upstairs, in a dressing-room, I found a footman with a revolver gazing earnestly at the darkening lawn.

A Brave Man.

"We asked Beaverbrook for an explanation and he showed me a letter. It was signed 'Sinn Fein,' and it swore he would be killed that night. We had left our motor-cycle 100 yards from the house in the stable courtyard. When it came time for us to go Beaverbrook squared his shoulders and walked with us in the dark to the stables. It may not seem very plucky now, but I have known many men who would have stayed inside."

will include also some additional squadrons of flying-boats and planes for overseas reconnaisance, these being classed among the domestic first-line strength for channel reconnaisance and the like.

The London depot was opened in a building known as "victory house." The other stations are to be established at points from Plymouth and Portsmouth in the south to Glasgow and Belfast in the north.

Lord Londonderry, Secretary of State for Air, commenting on the expansion plans made public yesterday, said they had been "clearly welcome to the nation."

"It doesn't reflect a policy of competition with other countries, nor a race in armaments," he added. "We welcome Herr Hitler's offer of limitation but at the same time are carrying out our declared policy not to accept inferiority to our neighbors in the air."

Several Approved

Approval of Britain's big air program of 1,500-first-line home defence airplanes within two years is linked in current comment with pleas for agreement with Germany.

"No passage in Mr. Baldwin's speech by Stanley Baldwin in the Commons yesterday "is more welcome than the plea for perfect frankness between Britain and Germany. Now the truth is being brought out and after the first natural shocks which the German rearmament must naturally have caused, especially to her neighbors, there is really a much better chance of coming to a commonsense arrangement about relative strength than there ever was before."

Started Too Late

The Daily Mail commented: "This program which Mr. Baldwin yesterday described as 'an act of national defence which no responsible government could leave undone'; is still inadequate. It should have been taken in hand years ago."

The Daily Herald, Labor opposition said: "Mr. Baldwin promised the government will give serious consideration to Hitler's speech. That vague and amiable phrase is not enough. The people of this country want to know what the government is going to do about it; what it is going to do to seize the the best opportunity that has yet presented itself of securing that 'general settlement freely negotiated between Germany and other powers', which is the avowed object of their policy."

THE ANTISEPTIC LINIMENT

Income Tax Escape Plan Is Proposed

OSHAWA, Ont. May 22 (C.P.).—A plan by which persons with large incomes who give work to unemployed and men on relief would be allowed to have the amount they expend on wages and on improvements made to buildings and land owned by themselves deducted from their income tax levy was suggested by Dr. T. E. Kaiser former M.P. addressing the Oshawa Kiwanis Club.

"The work would be considered as charity," said Dr. Kaiser, pointing out the stipulation of the Federal Government that any money paid out to charity was allowable as an exemption from the income tax levy. There is little or no difference between charity and giving employment to unemployed men," he said.

British Labor Seeks Nip Arms Expansion

LONDON, May 22.—(CP Cable)—Taking Hitler's 13 points as its text Labor will make another call for a halt in the armaments race. Labor members of Parliament and representatives of labor bodies approved the draft of the speech with which Clement Attlee will lead for the Labor opposition in the debate following the Government's exposition of defence policy in the House of Commons this afternoon. Its main features are understood to be as follows:

Hitler's offers to negotiate should be taken seriously and put to the test;

As a gesture of good faith Britain should in the meantime declare its readiness to suspend further air force expansion.

Activity was Good for Her Figure

Helped by "That Kruschen Feeling"

Her husband assured her that it was her age and that she could not expect to wear stock size now. He was evidently a believer in the ancient "fat and forty" legend. To-day she dismisses the idea with a laugh. But let her tell the story herself:—

"I must tell you I had developed beyond the 'stock size.' My husband assured me that it was my age. One day I saw an advertisement and decided to try Kruschen Salts. That was last July. Now once more I wear a size 38. Besides which, I feel so much better, more energetic, and can do my work without that tired feeling."—(Mrs.) J. M.

Your figure will not develop a "middle-aged spread" if you keep yourself healthy and active with a daily dose of Kruschen. When you have taken Kruschen Salts for a few days that old indolent arm-chair feeling begins to desert you—it doesn't matter if you are in the forties—the urge for activity has got you—and you're "stepping lively".

And, best of all, you like this activity—you walk a couple of miles and enjoy it—you thought you'd never dance again, but you find you're getting as spry as ever—and you can wear the modern dresses with as much grace and comfort as the young folks.

Get a 75c. bottle of Kruschen (it lasts four weeks) and start right away to take half-a-teaspoonful in a tumbler of hot water every morning.

OVEN FRESH FLAVOR PERFECT

PROSPERITY IN AGRICULTURE ESSENTIAL SAYS E. W. BEATTY

Chairman and President, Canadian Pacific Railway

Owing to the outstanding urgency that citizens from coast to coast should be supplied with all possible information on the nation's vital problems, and in response to a number of requests for its general publication, the address delivered by E. W. Beatty, K.C., LL.D., Chairman and President, Canadian Pacific Railway, before the Toronto Canadian Club on May 20th, is herewith published.

Mr. Beatty spoke as follows:—

"In no country is there a more useful chain of societies than that of the Canadian Clubs in this Dominion. The success of democratic government depends on the efficiency of the means provided for the discussion of public affairs. Societies whose object is to encourage the discussion of public questions perform a service of great value. No one will doubt that the Canadian Clubs are the leaders in this field.

"I am becoming, against my will, and from what I have thought to be a sense of public duty, only too regular in my appearance as a speaker in public. Speaking, as I have felt I must, on questions arising out of the difficulties of the times, I find myself exposed to criticism which sometimes becomes acrimonious, and often misrepresents the views which I have expressed. I presume that your kind invitation, and the courteous hearing which I know that you will give me, are but the preludes to fresh criticisms of what I say. For this reason I commence by appealing to you for careful study of what I have said on a matter of public importance, and of some of the rejoinders made by those who disagree with me.

"In a series of addresses of which the last was made in this city somewhat more than a month ago, I have tried to offer a solution of a major problem facing this country. I trust that many of my hearers today have done me the honor of listening carefully to what I have said, or of studying the copies of my addresses which have been circulated, or at least the summaries which have appeared in the press. I trust also that you have read what has been said against the proposal.

"PUBLIC ENEMY No. 1."

"If you have you will have learned that I have protested against the continuance of a railway policy which has added three billion dollars to the obligations of this Dominion. You will have learned that this earns me the title of 'Public Enemy Number One.' Perhaps the member of Parliament who thus describes me believes that waste of public funds is a proper function of government, and that we should proceed to waste more billions on railway experiments. My conscience would not permit me to accept this theory even if it would make me popular with the gentleman in question.

"You may also know that I have suggested an end of waste by a plan of operating the two great railways jointly and as efficiently and economically as possible. In its comments on my last address, a prominent Western newspaper, which clearly does not agree with me, describes my plan in these words: 'The plan, to put it baldly, is to put the Canadian National in the charge of Mr. Beatty and his officers; and to saddle on this country a railway monopoly managed by parties whose prime concern would be to see that Canadian Pacific interests are given the consideration due to the elect as against those of that unregarded individual, the taxpayer.' As the traditions of Canadian journalism do not permit the deliberate misstatement of fact as a method of controversy, I am convinced that the writer of these words had not at that time read the address which he criticized, nor any of my previous addresses on the subject. In all discussion of the railway problem, I have argued that the ownership of the Canadian National should remain vested in the Government, and that any savings obtained by joint operation of the railways be divided fairly between their owners. If this is not a method of obtaining relief for the taxpayers of Canada, it can only be that joint operation of the railways would not be the most economical method of providing railway service to the country. This extraordinary idea has been expressed recently by an officer of the National Railways. If it is correct my plan is useless. I have it to you, as ordinary men of intelligence, to pass your judgment on this point. I shall wait patiently for a retraction of what must have been an unintentional misrepresentation of what I have said in plain language.

DISCUSSION ESSENTIAL

"These two criticisms of my recent address should show how important it is that the citizens of this country should inform themselves fully of the facts of our national problems if they are to be in a position to deal wisely with them.

"It is today more than ever vital that we should have discussion of the problems of the nation and that it should be as public as possible. If I have suggested a plan of railway management which would rob the taxpayers for the benefit of the Canadian Pacific, you should know it. If I base my case on erroneous figures, you should know it. If, on the other hand, those who criticize my plan use personal abuse as argument, or base their criticisms on intentional or unintentional misreadings of my statements, you should know those facts also.

"Other critics disagree with my plan, but do not so flagrantly misrepresent my position. Speaking in this city recently, the Minister of Railways, for whom I have much personal regard, discussed, in his usual dashing way, the railway problem. As on other occasions, he opposed unified management of the two railways, and concluded by challenging the supporters of the plan to answer twelve questions which, by inference, embody his objections. As the one who has had the privilege of presenting the plan to the Canadian people, I may be permitted to regard the invitation as extended to myself.

"If the Minister will read my speeches on the subject with the same care which I have given to all his public statements, he will find that I have already answered the objections which he has advanced.

TOO MUCH PARTIZANSHIP

"Even the most good-humored controversy with the Minister of the Crown in this election year might end in making the railway problem a party issue. The railway mess has very largely resulted from too much partizanship, and I plead that, in considering what I have suggested to deal with it, you treat the question as one transcending party boundaries.

"With this introduction I shall answer the questions which the Minister has asked. He first enquires whether the amalgamated railways are to be under private or Government control. Each is, in my plan, to remain the property of its owners; the combined system should be managed by a private company, since our experience with management by a company under direct control of the Government has not been satisfactory. Governmental control of rates and service—as complete as needed—would continue.

"His second question asked how much saving can be made by amalgamation under present traffic conditions. I have said that it would take five years to complete bringing the railways under unified management which, not amalgamation, is what I suggest. After that, I believe that we can save $75,000,000 a year on a normal traffic volume, taking the year 1930 as a normal traffic base. The Minister in his address certainly predicted a return to that level. As we have not yet even begun the process of bringing the railways under unified management, it would be useless to attempt to relate the predictable ultimate economy to present conditions. The details of the economies on which I have based the estimate are spread on the records of the Royal Commission, and cannot be successfully assailed. The Minister is wrong when he says that most of the possible savings have already been made. The reductions in expenses of the two systems have been ordinary savings due to reduced traffic, and economies to meet depressed business conditions. The savings by unified management still remain to be made.

"His third question enquires about the division of the savings to be made by amalgamation. The savings made by unified management, after each property had paid its owners net earnings equal to those which would have resulted if the properties continued to be operated independently, would be divided on an agreed basis, with at least one-half going to the owners of the National Railways.

"His fourth question is: 'How much capital expenditure will be necessary to effect the physical union of the railways, such as the uniting of terminals, and how will this be raised?' Capital expenditures would be made only where adequate savings would result. These would offer a valuable temporary method of absorbing materials and labour released by unification. The method of financing these expenditures—which would not require much new money—would be a part of the unification agreement.

NOT PART OF PLAN.

"The fifth question begins 'If the Canadian National is to be absorbed by the Canadian Pacific, how much of the present deficit of 50 million dollars is the Canadian Pacific ready to absorb? . . .' Any idea that the Canadian National is to be absorbed by the Canadian Pacific is not a part of my suggestion, so I need not answer this question.

"The sixth question enquires what guarantees are to be given the owners of Canadian Pacific securities if the Canadian Pacific is brought under Government ownership. Neither Government ownership of the Canadian Pacific nor guarantee of its securities is a part of my plan, so I need not answer the question.

"The seventh question asks if 'In case of amalgamation will the Canadian Pacific put in all its assets (such as steamships, express, hotels and land) or only part of them'? Amalgamation is not a description of my plan. The earnings which each company would draw out of the operated property would depend upon the assets and earning power which would be put in. The less the Canadian Pacific would put in, the less proportion of earnings they would draw out. I have already stated that we would be prepared to put in all those assets which now form part of our transportation system, subject to such modifications as might be mutually agreed upon.

"The eighth question is 'What is to be done about settlers and industries, and towns and terminals, on lines to be abandoned? Are they to be compensated? If so how much will it cost? Are they to be moved? If so, where?' The answer is that care will be used to avoid any grave hardship. Abandonments would not be considered which would deprive communities of reasonable access to transportation service.

"The ninth question deals with loss to those who have located at railway terminals, shops or towns. After time has permitted us to assess the true loss, compensation should be made in individual cases on their merits. Lasting economic relief by solution of the railway problem will far outweigh its minor and passing bad effects.

"The tenth question is 'As the estimated savings necessarily must be made out of railway operating and maintenance expenses, and as from 60 to 65 per cent. of such expenses are made up of labour, what provision is proposed to provide for these displaced wage-earners until they can be absorbed into other industries?'

"I have repeatedly said that the ordinary turn-over of railway labour would, in a short time, take care of most of this, even without the increase in business which the Minister foresees. If necessary, some of the savings of unified management could be devoted to compensation for labour displaced. The improvement in the general economic condition of the country as the result of an end of the present period of absurd waste would be a most effective method of providing for labour displaced on the railways.

WOULD STOP PAST TROUBLE.

"Question eleven asks 'Should not these questions be answered, or are we to decide on amalgamation, or unification, first and get the answers, good or bad afterwards? Or are we to be stampeded into doing something—anything—anything — going somewhere — anywhere? Has not that been our trouble in the past?' Our trouble in the past has been pretending that it did not matter how much money Governments poured into railway experiments. Let us stop that. I have suggested a plan. Has the Minister a better one? Or is he advocating a continuation of 'going somewhere — anywhere', which means, in plain words, into national insolvency?

"The last question is 'Finally, is this the time—at the bottom (or near it) of the financial crisis—for a final decision on this very important question?' We are—I hope—past the bottom of the world economic crisis. We in Canada are far from being at the bottom of the financial crisis if the Minister's plan of Pollyanna optimism is to prevail. This is a far better time to tackle the problem than after a few more years of compounding deficits and increasing national debt.

"I have answered the Minister's questions. I had answered them all before they were asked. Will he answer two of mine?

1. "Can labour, or others dependent on railway operation for their existence, be assured of employment, of stability of earnings, or of their present standard of living, if the industry on which they depend is unable to earn a return on the money invested in it?

2. Will a country like Canada prosper if one of its major industries, supporting one-seventh of the population, can be kept alive only by subsidies derived in the final analysis from general taxation?

"I am charged with being an alarmist over the railway situation, and the Minister seems to feel that he is an optimist. Is this right? I say that the railways in Canada can be made to run with a great reduction in the cost of the Government—even in these hard times. The Minister says not, but that we must wait for a boom to solve the problem. Who, in reality is the pessimist?

"I have appealed for the tangible suggestions of others as to a railway policy for this country. The Hon. W. D. Euler displayed a willingness to discuss the problem in the light of realities, and sketched the outline of a possible alternative to my proposal. The country, I believe, would like to have him pursue his exploration of the subject, and to have the benefit of his final conclusions.

"The only other suggestion recently advanced is that we might overcome some of our difficulties by breaking down the two railway systems into three units, with autonomous control in different sections of Canada. This would do away with competition between rival systems, but apart from the practical difficulties of framing an arrangement which would permit the most economic use of existing equipment, facilities and staff, and of making a fair distribution of the financial overhead, it would seem inevitable that such a division would have a tendency to cause the diversion of traffic from existing channels, would interfere with operation of national trade policies, and would ultimately threaten the transportation set-up on which the development of the country during the past half century has proceeded. If Canada is to remain one nation in an economic sense, it would seem necessary that those who initiate and apply our railway policies should have more than a provincial loyalty and more than a regional responsibility.

"Today, however, I do not propose to deal primarily with the railway problem. I feel a certain relief. It is pleasant for once to avoid the charge that I am a representative of a greedy group of capitalists conspiring to rob the people of Canada of a priceless national possession. In addition I shall on one occasion be able to say that I spoke of something less depressing than a series of national errors which have imperilled the future of our country.

CRITICISM EXPECTED

"I do not expect that what I say today will escape criticism from those who do not agree with me, but at least I shall have the pleasure of speaking in terms of optimism, for my subject today is the opportunity which lies ahead of Canada.

"It is unnecessary to review the economic history of this country in detail. You all know of the steady growth which followed the physical completion of Confederation by the construction of the original transcontinental railway; the hectic and unnatural activity of wartime years; and the great period of expansion which followed the hesitancy of immediate post-war days.

"It is yet too soon for us to see the happenings of the years 1925 to 1929 in true perspective, to decide how much of the growth of this country's activities in those years should be regarded as legitimate discounting of the future, and how much as unwise expansion. Whatever the truth, there can be no question that the great break in the security markets of 1929 commenced a series of events which brought the economic progress of the nation—indeed of the world—to a rude and sudden halt.

"During the years which have followed, courageous individuals have continued not merely to carry on their accustomed activities but to seek unceasingly for new outlets for their energy and skill. Too much of the national effort of the past few years, however, has been concentrated on attempts to relieve distress by measures which are, in essence, the mere distribution of charity; too little has been given to real consideration of what this country might do in the years to come.

TIME HERE TO ACT

"The time has come to turn our thoughts to what we in Canada can do to revive the enthusiasm and optimism which were always the distinguishing characteristics of our national life. I shall attempt today to describe in broad outline the basis of my faith in this country and its future.

"We speak of the great change in the world's economic life which commenced early in the 19th century as the industrial revolution. Actually it had its origin in such an expansion of the world's arable area by discovery and settlement, as to justify the statement that the revolution was agricultural. It is not necessary to remind a Canadian audience that the growth of this nation in the years from Confederation to the Great War had its origin in a vast process of settlement and development of the fertile plains which Confederation and the construction of the Canadian Pacific made accessible to the world. These were the years of real growth. Experience justifies me in saying that the later period of expansion which succeeded the War, although it was partly based on a renewal of the era of agricultural expansion, contained too great an element of development not based on such sound foundations.

"It is not my intention to speak as though agriculture were the only occupation legitimate for the people of this country. Our geographical situation and the distribution of our natural resources make it necessary to maintain a complex economic system. The harshness of our climate, which has contributed no small benefits to our people, has imposed on us the need of maintaining certain standards of living. Our location on the northern border of the wealthiest nation in the world has forced on us the creation of an economic system not too much unlike that of our neighbors, if we are to hold our place in competition with them. This cannot be a country of peasants.

"Not in Canada alone but throughout the world economic progress is essentially dependent on the development of that industry which is basic in its importance to human civilization. England and other small areas of Western Europe; the great industrialized area of the Eastern United States, may appeal to us as cases of great economic advance not based on agriculture. Not a little of the progress of these communities has come from their trade with great and growing communities of agriculturists in distant areas.

"The economic progress of the world during the past century and a half has been largely the result of a period of great agricultural expansion. I suggest to you that one of the most potent factors in checking this progress has been the cessation of agricultural expansion in recent times. A resumption of economic progress must be preceded by a return of the spirit which sent settlers to occupy the unused lands of the world.

"Believing this, I feel faith in the destiny of Canada. This country, still possessing great areas of untilled fertile soil in a climate suited for the white races, can only fail to progress if it utterly fails to realize its opportunities.

PRODUCTION OF WEALTH.

"In these days we spend too much of our time in discussing the division of wealth and too little in planning to increase its production. With certain doubts as to the advisability of many measures now being advocated—especially those which tend to increase governmental interference in business—I am willing to accept the need and the possibility of some measures intended to improve our methods of distributing wealth. It still remains a fact, however, that the production of wealth is the basic method of improving the material position of our people. Nothing is more vital to this country than that we should consider our opportunities for an increase in the primary form of wealth production—agriculture.

"Too many people speak of agriculture as though it were a dying industry which could only be maintained by recourse to elaborate plans to relieve its distress. For some years the farmers of this country have faced conditions which might well discourage them. The price of what the farmer sells has fallen faster and farther than the price of what he buys. It has taken an increasing quantity of his product to meet the cost of those services—such as transportation—which he must continue to employ. The difficulty of paying his debts has increased as rapidly as the price of his products fell.

"Despite these facts I see no signs that agriculture in Canada faces final disaster. It has taken courage on the part of our farmers to continue their operations in the circumstances which have surrounded them. They have shown that courage and it will be rewarded. The capital and labor employed in the basic industry of humanity must receive rewards at least as great as those of other industries if our system of society is to continue. The correction of the conditions which oppress the farmers is today already on its way, and I believe that it will be automatic and not long delayed.

"I suggest to you that the primary essential of recovery in Canada is recovery of our faith in agriculture and that the time has come for us to consider plans for the further expansion of our basic industry.

LAND SETTLEMENT NEEDED.

"The most urgent need in this country is a definite plan of land settlement. Almost alone among the nations of the temperate zones, this country still holds great areas of unused fertile soil. Although the rate of increase of the world's population seems to be slowing down, the League of Nations economic survey for 1934 points out that world production is still increasing, while world production of food has remained unchanged since 1929. In a world where these things are true the nation best adapted to increase its agricultural production is to me the nation with the brightest future—and as far as I know that is Canada.

"I go farther; I suggest that when we have assured our opportunity to increase the agricultural production of this country, we should renew our effort to attract to this country those immigrants fitted to aid in its development. Let me put it this way. Of the unemployed in Canada only a percentage can be classified as suitable to become farmers. The majority are people of the cities, many inclined to drift aimlessly in a 'back-to-the-land' movement. All these unemployed workers in Canada who could, constructively, become successful agriculturists should be encouraged and aided in efforts to establish themselves on the soil. When we have done what we can in this way, we should proceed to seek abroad those who by race, by experience, and by the possession of a modest amount of capital, seem adapted to become successful settlers in Canada.

"Remember that a new farm means employment for at least one more family of city workers. Could we place a hundred thousand more farmers on the land in Canada, I believe that we should provide employment to absorb the idle of our urban centres, and business enough to justify the existence of a properly co-ordinated transportation system, including all the useful portions of the present systems. Nothing less than this will set this country forward again on the path of progress.

CANADA DEBTOR NATION.

"I have said that there is no over-production of foodstuffs in the world at large. We in Canada produce more of certain foodstuffs than we consume. This is a debtor nation, however, and bound by this fact to produce for export, and our farms will still be the great source of production for export. While many of our manufacturing industries have won a place in the markets of the world, competition in this field is most acute. There are some raw or semi-manufactured materials which we can produce and sell abroad in quantity. Gold, for example, has an unlimited market. In other metals and minerals we can hope for an increased export as industrial conditions in other nations stabilize. I look for an expanding business in the exports of lumber.

"I do not believe, however, that we can obtain the sale abroad of commodities enough to meet our annual balance of payments without not only a continuance but an increase in the production of our farms.

"I cannot, in a short address, take the time to analyze the market opportunities for even the major products of our agriculture. Owing to its special importance, I shall confine myself to a brief discussion of the wheat situation.

"Wheat has played a greater part than any other commodity in creating the vast system of commerce on which modern civilization depends. Were international trade in wheat to vanish, or even to shrink considerably, the entire transportation and commerce of the world would suffer a shock of great severity.

"In the case of Canada, it is not necessary to dwell on the importance of wheat. The case cannot be put better than by quoting the following figures of the value of our production of wheat. In the five years from 1920 to 1924 inclusive—years of post war reconstruction—the value of our production of wheat was $1,647,000,000. In the five years of expansion from 1925 to 1929 inclusive, our production rose to a value of $2,178,000,000. In the five years of the depression, 1930 to 1934 inclusive, we produced $760,000,000 worth of wheat.

"You in Toronto—a city which, despite its enormous importance in the affairs of the country, has little direct contact with the movement of wheat—should be able to compare these figures with the fluctuations of business in your community, and deduce from them my reason for saying that no farmer in Western Canada is more interested in the yield and price of our wheat crop than are you, the business men and workers of Toronto.

"So much has been said about wheat in recent years that I hesitate to add my opinions. I shall do so as briefly as possible. I have never believed that the world faces a lasting overproduction of wheat. A temporary state of surplus stocks has been created, partly by the phenomenally large yield per acre of 1928 in almost every country, partly as the consequence of unwise attempts in importing countries to increase their production without regard to cost. In this situation it was inevitable that a surplus of wheat would exist, and that it would accumulate in North America, where alone among the great exporting nations we have the physical equipment to permit of its storage in safety.

AUTHENTIC FIGURES

"Do not exaggerate the failure of this country to hold its place in the wheat market of the world. I have obtained the figures showing the percentage of world breadstuffs shipments, as given by G. J. S. Broomhall, which Canada has exported for some years past. They are as follows:

1922-23	41.4
1923-24	44.4
1924-25	26.9
1925-26	48.6
1926-27	36.0
1927-28	42.0
1928-29	43.9
1929-30	30.4
1930-31	32.9
1931-32	26.9
1932-33	43.0
1933-34	37.3
1934-35	28.3 to date.

"These figures do not indicate any permanent trend to loss of markets by this country. The problem which faces us at present is the disposal of the accumulated surplus whose origin I have described. It amounts roughly to 235 million bushels in Canada. I cannot believe that we shall succeed in reducing this by the end of the crop year at July 31, to much less than 160 million bushels. Reduced as this is in comparison with the figures of the past two years, it still remains very large compared with the carryover of earlier years. The immediate concern which I feel about wheat is with regard to the disposal of sales in the near future.

"I disagree with those who suggest that it is improper for this country to attempt any measures to protect its wheat producers against fall of the price of their product to the lowest depths. What is far too important in the economy of this country for us to permit unrestrained the prospect of the price falling to the levels where its producers are bankrupt. I believe, however, that it is equally dangerous for us to believe that we can prevent the price of wheat, as recorded by a great world market such as Liverpool, from registering even a temporary condition of over-production, or that we can persuade buyers abroad to pay prominent larger than justified by superior quality for Canadian wheat compared with wheat from other areas. The subject is one of overwhelming importance to this country, and to every citizen. It is to be hoped that our policy will be framed with full realization of this fact. I feel that this task should be given to the best available skill and experience in this matter, and that the most careful examination should be made of the views of our customers, public than that we should take the risk of drifting into a state of hostility between buyer and seller.

IS STILL OPTIMISTIC

"I remain an optimist concerning wheat. Authentic figures indicate that world wheat production has been absorbed into consumption in almost every recent year with the notable exception of 1928; that in 1934 world consumption exceeded production by a large margin; that the chief importing nations, despite their steady increase in acreage since the low point of the years immediately following the war, have not as a whole done more than restore their ordinary pre-war acreage.

"Several importing nations have already abandoned attempts to increase acreage; and many signs point to the permanent removal of the United States and Russia from the wheat export field—justifying Canada in believing that it will be able to hold the decrease in its acreage which has taken place since the war, subject to some abandonment of unsuitable land.

"The subject is one far too complex for one man's opinion to be more than that. The world's growth in wealth and commerce has, as far as I can see, had its origin in the steady expansion of the production of basic foodstuffs, of which wheat is the most important. The difficulties of a few years do not change my opinion on this point. In all recorded history the world has never known a long continued condition of over-production of breadstuffs. I incline to faith that this will not occur, but that expansion in production of this vital need of men will bring with it, as it has always done, a corresponding expansion in the world's requirements.

"We must, of course, in all our products, capitalize the ability of this country to produce the highest grade of foodstuffs. In the end quality will count, and nature has given us the ability to maintain it. Further, we must be prepared, in those fields in which we propose to compete, to do so by sales abroad at current market prices. Such measures as the Empire Trade Agreements may shelter the sale of our products to some extent. They can never be carried to the point where they greatly raise the cost of living in the United Kingdom. Measures such as we are now employing may be used to protect our farmers from too drastic fall of prices. Their limits should be understood. With these provisos, I believe that we can feel that the increase in our agricultural production which we can obtain by wise development of our remaining fertile areas will not be checked by lack of markets for our products. Those who feel otherwise must be far more despondent than I am concerning our national outlook. We have created in this country a manufacturing and transportation system which cannot be supported by the present volume of our primary production. That volume must be increased, and I know of no method as wise as that of expansion of our agriculture, where the opportunity still exists.

FARMER IMPORTANT FACTOR.

"To use the opportunity which we have been given we must remember that agriculture must obtain rewards such as will justify the farmer in faith in his calling. I think that we are in this country too ready to forget his basic importance. The wages of those who work the land must at least be in keeping with the earnings of other classes. The rewards of capital invested in agriculture must be reasonable in comparison with those of other forms of investment. The balance cannot be established by any method of calculation. It must be worked out as time goes on.

"What we can do for the farmer is to remove the unnecessary burdens which oppress him. The cost of government must be kept as low as possible. Despite the fact that little of our direct taxation comes from the farm, it is an economic truth that our basic industries pay all our taxes. No temptation to set up a bureaucracy, no bright prospect of stimulating business by costly public works, should make us forget that these are burdens on the development of the country. No reason for the elimination of waste in transportation is more vital than the need for relief for our primary industries. We cannot refuse railway unification because its economies would involve some gratuities, the burden which the present system lays upon our primary industries is too great to permit us to accept the pleasant theory of 'going by' as the times to be better. The essential function of transportation in Canada is to take to market what the farmer produces and to bring back what he buys. However important the other interests involved, waste and unnecessary cost in this respect cannot be anything except a damage to the interests of the entire nation.

"My theory of the economic life of Canada is a simple one. Our primary industries produce. The rest of us live by exchanging our goods and services with the primary producer for his products. The profits of primary production govern the economic life of the nation.

"The farmer sometimes says that he lives by farming the soil and we by farming him. The statement contains a crude truth which it will not do to forget. Let us beware lest we place on those who support our economic life a burden beyond their ability to bear.

"No one takes more pride than I do in the growth of the cities and towns in Canada; in the expansion of our great manufacturing industries; in the steadily rising standards of living of our people; in the provision for education and public health; in the constant addition of new types of recreation and of other amenities of life. I plead only that we do not forget that this whole complex structure rests upon the shoulders of those who till the soil, or otherwise begin the process of using natural wealth for the benefit of humanity.

"I am an optimist concerning the future of this country. Could I be one did I not believe that the greatest of our primary industries was still capable of growth and expansion? Can we fail to realize that doubt of this country's ability to expand its agriculture would be an admission which I for one am not willing to make—that the economic life of this country is exposed?

"I believe that the time has come to end the pessimism and doubt which are dominating our national life. No one knows better than I that we must undertake the correction of the errors which we have made. I am convinced, however, that the policy for this country is a forward one. If we have the courage to take the opportunity which lies ahead of us, the development of Canada has only begun."

Bermuda's Lure Stirs Activity; Enthusiasm Shown in Standing Travel Club Members—High Votes

The Travel Club office has completed the task of registering the subscriptions turned in up to the close of the first period of the Club and it is more than surprising to see how close a number of the members are running in the race for the special Travelling Bags offered to the five members turning in the greatest amount of subscription money by the close of the second period, which ends this coming Saturday night.

More startling than the race for the specials is the closeness of many of the members for the New York-Bermuda tours. Less than a one year subscription noses one candidate out, and from there on many of the members are separated in the running by a six months subscription, a year, a couple of subscriptions, etc. Supporters, and particularly the Travel Club members, realize what an impossible task it would be to publish an accurate standing as there are actually millions of votes yet to be counted and registered, but the following standing of members will give the candidates and their helpers a general idea of how the race for the trips is going.

Those who are not right up there with the leaders in to-day's report need not be at all discouraged with their standing, as it is not in the least far-fetched to say that many of those standing lowest in to-day's list could, with a couple of days' work, be among the leaders. Those who are on top at present are by no means safe because they have contenders who are dangerously close, as previously mentioned.

The special Travelling Bag prizes ends this Saturday night, as well as the 200,000 extra votes for every $12.00, and the second vote period of the club. The race for the special prizes is still anyone's, and both members and helpers will keenly await the announcement in an early issue of The Examiner next week.

INQUIRY OPENS INTO CHARGES OF WOMAN M.P.

Minister Refuses Counsel to Miss Agnes MacPhail and G. A. Hall.

HEARING ADJOURNS.

R. H. Greer is Required to Bring Out all the Evidence.

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.) — Inquiry into charges made by Miss Agnes Macphail, Canada's woman member of the House of Commons, against Inspector J. D. Dawson of Kingston Penitentiary was opened yesterday by Judge E. J. Daly.

Miss Macphail charged in a conversation with a convict at the penitentiary, Dawson declared:

"Aggie made a fool of herself in the House of Commons, but when we are finished with her she will never be able to lift up her head in the House again."

Denied by Minister

On several occasions Miss Macphail brought the matter before the House but the allegation was strenuously denied by Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie. However, in compliance with Miss Macphail's requests Judge Daly was appointed commissioner to probe the complaint. R. H. Greer of Toronto acted as counsel for the commission.

Miss Macphail appointed her own counsel, although she has not disclosed his name and he did not appear at yesterday's hearing. She asked he be paid by the Government. This Mr. Guthrie refused.

Miss Macphail argued the whole case boiled down to one of a private member of the House of Commons against the Department of Justice, whose chief, Mr. Guthrie, stood behind the denial of Dawson. Citing several precedents of counsel being paid by the Government, she asked her own counsel be remunerated from the public treasury. The "attack" was against her honor as a public servant, she said, not as a private citizen.

Duties Limited

Answering Miss Macphail, Judge Daly declared the Minister of Justice had already refused to appoint counsel for her and he (the Commissioner) was limited in his duties by the terms of reference.

Mr. Greer said it was not Miss Macphail who was on trial but Dawson. There was no need for Miss Macphail to have counsel since his own appointment required him to bring out all the evidence and not merely "ex-parte" statements.

G. A. Hall, the man who made the affidavit on Dawson's alleged remark, entered a similar request. He recalled the statements made by Mr. Guthrie in the House of Commons about seven weeks ago, characterizing them as a "tirade, without precedent and one of the most despicable in the history of our country."

Hall Is Warned

"You'd better be careful of your language Mr. Hall," commented Judge Daly.

He had no funds, said Hall, having been recently released from the penitentiary. If the commissioner was unable to recommend appointment of counsel, then the inquiry should be postponed, Hall declared, in order to allow him to make a public appeal for funds wherewith to prosecute the inquiry. He would have 10 or 12 witnesses.

"Was this conversation open to the public?" asked His Honor.

"I understand the inquiry hinges on the truth or falsity of the affidavit," replied Hall.

Considerable interchange ensued as to the scope of the commissioner's duties. Mr. Greer, however, contended the whole point at issue was whether Dawson made "improper and discourteous remarks about Miss Macphail," and no more.

"Well, are we going to take evidence to-day?" asked the Judge.

Not Until She Has Counsel

"No—not until I have counsel," replied Miss Macphail.

"I am in the same position," Hall declared.

"I understand from the minister and the deputy you were not to have counsel at public expense," Judge Daly said.

He would not accede to Hall's request for a long adjournment to enable him to raise funds "by public subscription."

"There is no guarantee you would get any money for that purpose," said the judge.

Mr. Greer informed Hall if he would present himself at the lawyer's chambers Saturday he would give him a cheque covering his expenses as a witness.

The inquiry then adjourned until May 30 at 10:30 a.m.

18 ARE SUCCESSFUL IN FIRST AID COURSE

Twenty-One Candidates Tried St. John's Ambulance Exams.

Eighteen of twenty-one Peterborough candidates who have been studying a special industrial first aid course have been successful in passing St. John's Ambulance Association examinations conducted here this week, officials of the association reveal. Eight were first year men and will receive certificates, seven second year men will receive vouchers and three third year men will be awarded medallions.

The successful candidates are E. Tucker, H. Sellon, J. A. Seger, P. W. Johnston and R. Galbraith of the De Laval Company; S. B. Robertson and W. C. Lewington of the Brinton Carpet Company; M. Bovins and A. D. McGladen of Silverwoods; A. W. Mitchell of J. K. Hughes, Limited; J. W. Carroll and G. R. Butcher of the Colonial Weaving Company; A. O. Phillips of The Examiner; A. H. Storrock of Imperial Oil Limited; B. H. Smith of the Canadian Canoe Company; and R. Pogue and H. Anderson of the C.G.E.

The men prepared for the examination at six meetings during the past six weeks. Dr. G. Murray Fraser, Peterborough Medical Officer of Health, served as lecturer, and L. E. Tomkins, as bandaging instructor. The examiner was Dr. S. Y. Walsh.

A number of Peterborough Rover Scouts tried examinations also during the week. The successful candidates were M. D. Crough, J. Langley, F. Dominick, W. Lee, F. Whitmore, E. Peters and V. Millard.

Janetville Women Plan Cooking Sale

JANETVILLE, May 23.—(Examiner Correspondence).—At the May meeting of the Women's Association in the United Church on Friday the vice-president, Mrs. Sam Stinson, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Bradburn.

After the usual opening and devotional exercises, a number of business items were dealt with. It was decided to sell home-made baking this year at the various summer colonies on Lake Scugog as has been done in previous years, further arrangements to be made at the next meeting.

It was decided to redecorate another room in the parsonage, Rev. H. C. Wolfram thanking the ladies most sincerely for the work already done this year in the way of a new kitchen stove and sink and the kitchen walls newly decorated.

The meetings of the association will hereafter be held in the evenings as it was felt that a larger attendance would then be possible.

A hymn and the Mizpah benediction brought the meeting to a close.

Gun-Toting Ideas Of Old West Gone, Youth Gets Year's Suspended Sentence

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22.—(By Examiner Correspondent). Appearing before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell at Cobourg on Saturday, Eugene Decker, aged 17, charged with carrying loaded firearms, was given one year's suspended sentence.

The youth was arrested by Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell on Havelock Road, near Campbellford, on Tuesday last, and had caused considerable anxiety to farmers of the district by his reckless target practice along the highway. The gun, a .22 calibre revolver had been stolen from his aunt in Kitchener.

Young Decker, who now knows a little more about law after his four days' sojourn in Cobourg, was escorted to his home in Kitchener by Dr. Wilson, a friend of the family, who was also given custody of the revolver which will be returned to its rightful owners.

Police had to use clubs to stop stone throwing at a recent football game in Belfast, Northern Ireland.

ENO PEPS UP THE WHOLE SYSTEM

People who are half-well, half-sick most of the time only exist. To really live you must be well. And to be well you should take steps at once to rid yourself of constipation, which causes most human ailments.

Drastic purgatives and harsh mineral salts aggravate the condition. Eno's "Fruit Salt" regulates gently, effectively—normally. It tones good and forms no habits.

If you want to feel like a million, take a dash of Eno's "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water, morning and night, for a few days. No griping, no nausea. Eno refreshes, restores the stomach. There isn't an atom of harshness or harm in a cathartic. Handy size, 50 cents. Household size, 85 cents. "Prove the druggist pays."

Pictures Of Durham Shown In Janetville

JANETVILLE, May 23.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On Friday night in the Foresters' Hall, Dr Williams, of Toronto, an old Durham boy, presented his most interesting moving picture views of Durham with many scenes and persons of interest.

A special feature of the evening was the showing of the Santa Claus parade in Toronto, which was very much enjoyed by the children and the grown-ups as well. One unusual scene was that of Dr Williams' summer home at Cassarea on Lake Scugog and the surrounding country as taken from an aeroplane.

During the evening there were five reels shown, which were interspersed by musical selections by the Capelin twins, Omer and Bryer and Cecil Smith on harmonicas, also a vocal trio by Messrs. Harry Thornton, Frank Joblin and Rev H. C. Wolfram.

Capacity Audience.

The large hall was filling almost to capacity by a most appreciative audience. The proceeds of the evening were very gratifying and will be divided between the Presbyterian and United Churches.

Testifies To Lawyer

MRS. M. E. ROSE

Mrs. Rose, 20 Academy St., St. Catharines, Ont., now has plenty of pep and tells in a legal statement how Fruit-a-tives helped give it to her. Mrs. Rose testifies:—"For a long time I was bothered with a weak stomach and indigestion. I was also listless and tired. Then I started to use Fruit-a-tives. They soon corrected my stomach ailments and toned up my whole system. Now I am healthy and have plenty of pep."

It is easy to understand why Fruit-a-tives have helped bring health to Mrs. Rose and thousands of others when you realize what they are. A famous Canadian physician discovered Fruit-a-tives. He combined extracts of apples, oranges, prunes and figs with certain herbs and medicinal ingredients to make Fruit-a-tives the natural, safe, effective remedy it is. And Fruit-a-tives are not habit-forming.

Laxa of remarkable local concessions made by Mrs. Rose will be sent on request. Write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. FRUIT-A-TIVES—25c and 50c EVERYWHERE

MEAT SUPPLIES TO BE REDUCED

DUBLIN, May 23 (C.P.) — The Free State government's scheme for the distribution of free beef to the unemployed and those in distress is shortly to be abandoned, according to an official announcement here. A cheap beef scheme will take its place.

In the meantime the distribution is to be reduced by one-third and the government has reduced the price which it pays to victualers from 10 to eight cents a pound. Under the new scheme, recipients of beef will be expected to pay for the beef a small sum within their means, probably four cents a pound.

It is hoped that the alteration will enable the minister for finance to divert a portion of the proceeds to the provision of pensions for widows and orphans, a long promised scheme in the Free State.

As a further economy measure, the government has suspended the payment of unemployment assistance to farmers owning holdings valued at over £20 a year during certain periods in the summer months. Some months ago, the scheme for the distribution of free fuel supplies to poor families was abandoned as the families were demanding coal instead of the native peat.

The government hopes to extend a further scheme already in existence for the distribution of free supplies of milk to the children of needy families.

RELIEVE PERIODIC PAIN

If you suffer periodic pain and discomfort, try Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets. In most cases they bring welcome relief. As Mrs. Caroline Norman says, "They cost the price."

Mrs. Raymond Chapel, Route 4, Tilbury, Ont., says, "I suffered monthly from headaches. Had such backaches and headaches I was worn out. Your Tablets helped me". Let them help you, too. Ask your druggist.

TALKS TO THE PEOPLE—J. H. BURNHAM

Was not the Separate School Tax matter already taken to the Privy Council? Yes, it was, and the Catholic contention was upheld almost without argument. But the law does not as yet prescribe any way to compel companies to apportion school taxes according to the requests of their shareholders, and on this fine point the whole question of justice to Catholics is suspended.

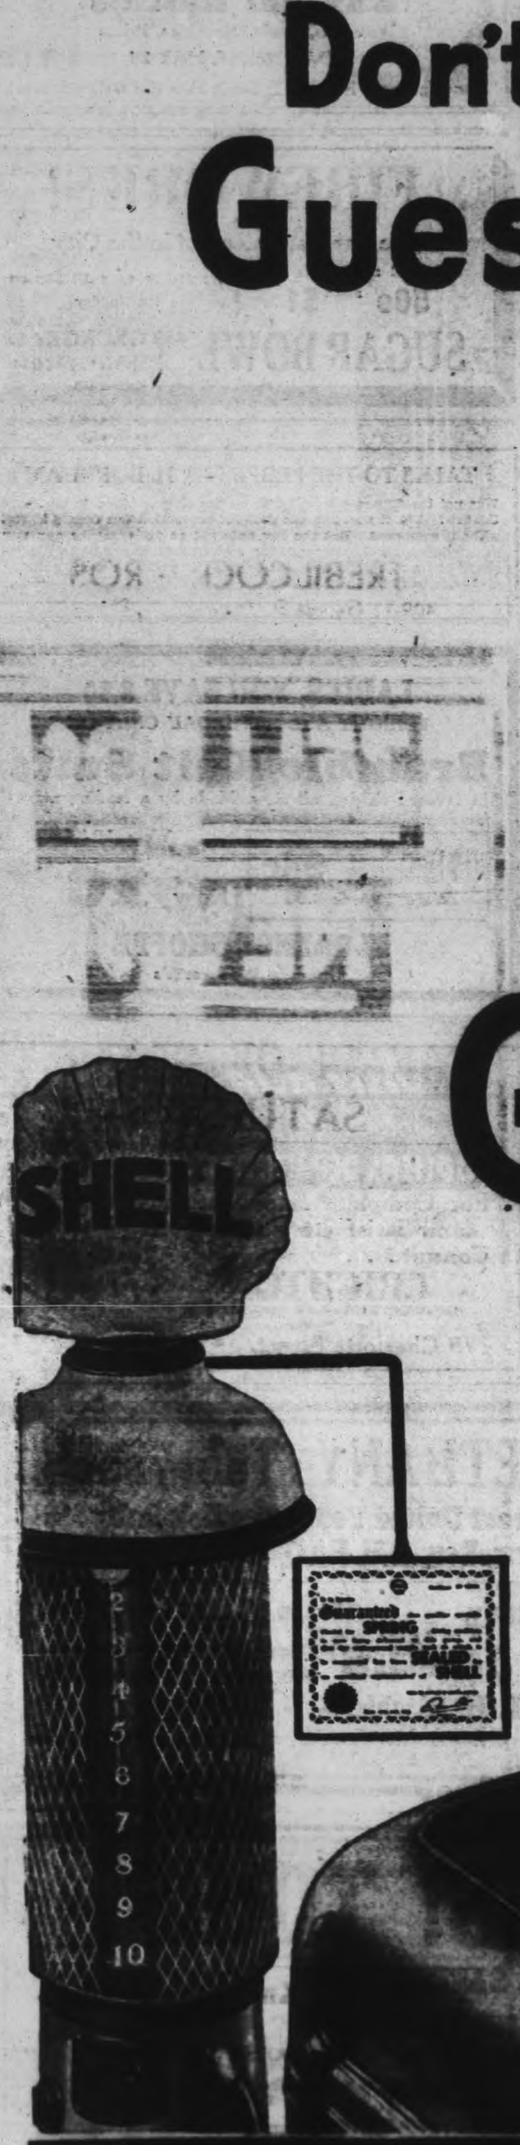
Don't Guess

Don't Gamble,

Get SHELL - it's sealed!



GUESS?—You can, if you wish, depend on your judgment to protect you against the irresponsible dealer who dilutes well-known brands of gasoline with cheap, low-grade gasoline to give him a big profit at your expense.

GAMBLE?—You can, if you wish, "trust to luck" when you buy gasoline,—gamble on receiving the brand of gasoline advertised on the pump.

BUT You Can Be Sure if You Want to:—Fill up only at Shell pumps! Shell pumps—and only Shell pumps—are sealed. Nothing but genuine Shell Gasoline can come from a Shell pump. Shell gives you a written guarantee of sealing right on the pump. Why guess? Why gamble? Sealed Shell costs no more.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The success of a dinner party is largely dependent upon the seating of guests. This is also true of luncheon and supper parties which gather about a dining table.

• • • • • • •

Assuming that the hostess has asked congenial persons, which is the first essential for success, the next thing in importance is having these together who will naturally find subjects of interest to talk about.

• • • • • • •

This does not mean that those in the same fields of work, such as artists, doctors, literary persons, etc., should be side by side, since it is not good form to "talk shop." But there is still another excellent reason for mixing the group differently.

• • • • • • •

A dinner is an entertainment at which persons should be taken out of their special atmosphere and be diverted by conversation which gives them glimpses of other worlds and fields than their own. They have mental as well as physical refreshment.

• • • • • • •

After the attention has been given to these details comes the matter of prestige among guests. This does not indicate social superiority or inferiority in this country, but a formality of etiquette. The most distinguished member of the party, a stranger to whom the hostess wants to extend courtesies, the person whom the party has been arranged, etc., these have prestige for the time.

• • • • • • •

The place of honor for the special guest, if a man, is at the right of the hostess; if a woman, at the right of the host. At the left of the host is the woman second to be honored thus, and at the left of the hostess is the man. The rest of the guests are seated according to a plan of the hostess, who endeavours to have some especially entertaining guests next the ones honored.

• • • • • • •

A hostess always tries to include a witty person among her guests, or one who is quick to fill in any slightest break in conversation by some short story, some new topic of general interest, etc. The wit is wanted most of all, for by a twist of the conversation the whole table may be delightfully amused, and the whole trend of the conversation can thus be given a new slant.

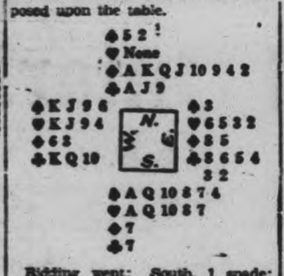
CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. Shepard

CAN NORTH MAKE SEVEN DIAMONDS?

Here is a beautiful problem hand from Hamilton, Canada, where contract bridge was introduced into the Hamilton club in 1917, as successor to auction. Play the cards double-dummy fashion, with all hands exposed upon the table.



Bidding went: South, 1 spade; North, 3 diamonds, to indicate slam expectations; South, 3 hearts; North, 6 diamonds; South, 7 diamonds, as North must hold solid trumps and club strength. West doubled. West bet his partner that an opening lead of trumps would defeat the call. Let's see if that is true.

Have East lead a diamond. Run of 6 trump tricks. The 5 cards still held by dummy and declarer will be as shown below. West must discard one of his 6 cards. What East does is of no importance. He cannot win a trick in any suit. Which card shall West discard?

West will be hopelessly squeezed, regardless of what he discards. If he lets go a heart the declarer will enter dummy with a spade, then pick up West's lone K of hearts with the Ace. The Q of hearts will force another discard from West. North will let go his last spade, and one of his clubs. If West lets go a spade the Q in dummy becomes good and declares ace of clubs will win the last trick, he having let go his J of clubs on the good Q of spades. In case West lets go a club at any time, declarer's two spades will be taken care of by the two major suit aces, and the three clubs in his own hand will become good for 3 tricks. An opening trump lead insures a grand slam for North.

Try an opening lead of clubs, as East did when the hand was originally played. Win with North's Ace, then have dummy ruff a club. North will ruff a low heart. Run off trumps until dummy holds the 4 cards shown below and West must discard one of his 5 cards. Again West is squeezed and the grand slam will be made. Were the opening lead a heart the same tactics would yield a grand slam.

Before tomorrow try an opening lead of spades.

Cavalcade Planning Return

Champ 3-Year-Old of 1930 to make Debut in Suburban Handicap.

ROCKINGHAM POPULAR

TOMORROW being a holiday should see another large turnout of the faithful at Woodbine and if the weather remains fine another 20,000 to 25,000 attendance should result. Outside of young Lindberg, the present crop of youthful riders do not amount to much. Of course Dude Foden, Mann, Remillard, Dougherty, Watson and the other veterans know what it is all about but the youngsters do not seem to be coming along as in other years. This boy Young who rides for the Hatch stable is a real jockey and this past winter led all riders at New Orleans.

Carylon is in winning form at present time and at any distance over a mile, from now on will be dangerous. Fair Mole is also showing nice form and don't forget last Thanksgiving this fellow smashed the track record out at Long Branch. Sportan is another that should not be very long in earning a set of brackets when she once finds her racing legs.

WE NOTICE where Cavalcade, United States champion three-year-old of 1934 is making his bow for this year in the Suburban Handicap to be run at Belmont Park, New York on May 30th, and he should be the winner if he is right and no doubt he is or they would not risk sending a horse of his calibre unless he were in the pink. This is one of the most famous stakes in the United States and it is the desire of all American horsemen, that is the largest ones to win it.

× × ×

Rockingham Park are getting along just as they left off last year, catering to wonderful crowds every day with plenty of spirited racing. Two of our old friends namely Frog Almy and Dark War both won there recently. It is more than likely that Eddie Seagram will ship the cream of his stable to this point when Woodbine comes to a close. Dunlin's Lad is getting well up in years as horses go but still retains plenty of speed and is working up to a winning effort. A few years ago this fellow did not have to take a back seat to any of them in a sprinting event.

SEAGRAM accounted for the Breeder's Stakes, this time with Gay Sympathy and Sally Fuller in the second hole. This pair are easily the outstanding Canadian bred three year olds this year. Rock Crest has disappointed on two occasions when he looked to be in a spot but don't go sour on this baby as one of these fine days he will drop from the skies. Gaffing is another that we think will turn the trick in the near future when he is properly spotted.

× × ×

The Long Branch condition books are out and are very satisfactory to the horsemen, and Mr. Orpen will have as usual plenty of beagles for the opening of his well appointed Lake Shore course. Watch the Hatch Stable at this track as they have done all their preliminary work there this year and are right at home on the cushion, which many experts claim is the best track in Canada as far as safety to horses goes.

Maxie Baer Sits Down To Work

Boxing or clowning, it's all the same to the heavyweight champion. Maxie Baer, so ofte nhoes he mix the two. It's hard to say which he is doing here, as he hatters the punching bag from a sitting posture in training for his title defence against Jimmy Braddock. Perhaps he thinks it will be just as easy as that beating the Irishman. The patch over Maxie's heart covers the burn caused when a blank cartridge revolver exploded during rehearsals for a movie short.

GEORGE BLAEHOLDER VICTIM OF TIGERS' HITTING STREAK

Wes Ferrell Revels in Turning Back Indians, Hurls Boston to 12-5 Win.

REDMEN BEAT DODGERS.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The theory behind a number of outstanding deals in "livery," particularly the brand that performs on the pitching mound, since the opening of the current major league ball season has been to add strength to the clubs concerned. But so far very little improvement has been in evidence.

Two players who recently figured in important transactions, George Blaeholder and George Earnshaw, made their initial efforts for their new clubs yesterday. They met the same fate that came to others, including Carl Fischer, Russ Van Atta and Phil Collins—a lot of trouble.

Blaeholder managed to do a fair job of scattering 11 Detroit hits in his first start for Philadelphia, but the Athletics didn't get him the runs and he went down 4-1. His first pitch was turned into a homer by Pete Fox and the Tigers scored again in the fourth and twice in the sixth while Elden Auker pitched a steady game.

Earnshaw, in hot water from the start because of his own wildness, finally was driven out by a three-run Cincinnati burst in the fifth and the Dodgers went down 5-4 although they hammered Si Johnson and Don Brennan for four counters in the seventh.

Van Atta, sold by the Yanks to the Browns, and Fischer, sold by Detroit to the White Sox, both were beaten in their first starts with their new club while Collins won for the Cardinals although he failed to finish against his old club, the Phillies.

As a result of Earnshaw's defeat yesterday, the Giants increased their National League lead to 2½ games with a 5-2 victory over the Pirates and their mound sensation, Cy Blanton. Roy Parmelee got the better of Blanton on the hill, giving only five hits.

The other National League game saw the Phillies drop into a last-place tie with the Braves as they came out on the short end of a 3-2 score against the Cardinals with ancient Jesse Haines doing the elbowing. Boston was rained out at Chicago.

The Yankees registered the day's big gain in a series of American League slugging matches. They put together two four-run innings against young Joe Vance and trounced the league-leading White Sox 13-5 to move into second place.

The victory put them a half-game ahead of Cleveland, whose pitchers failed to hold a five-run lead against the Red Sox and took a 12-5 trimming. The Sox scored six runs in the fifth and another six in the eighth with Manager Joe Cronin leading at the plate. The Senators kept pace with Detroit's fifth-place club, just a half-game behind, by turning back the cellar-dwelling Browns 5-2.

Local Lacrossers Lose At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, May 23 (Examiner Correspondence) — The initial lacrosse game of the season was played at the Cosmos rink on Tuesday at 7.30 p.m., with a record attendance of fans, Dinty's Inn motoring out from Peterborough for a friendly tilt with the local team.

Red Creighton, of Peterborough, refereed the game, the visitors losing out by one goal, the final score being 4-3 in favor of the home lads. Emmett Creighton and Bus Hutchison will play with the local boys this season, and in Tuesday's game the former scored two of the goals, Wainman and Ingram pushing the ball into the net to make up the other two. For Peterborough, Fraser, Ellis and O'Keefe took the count.

The line-ups:

Dinty's Inn—Goal, LaFebvre; defence, B. Geroux and V. Reynolds; centre, O'Keefe; rover, O. Sloan; wings, Mundun and Herd; subs, Bowen, Creighton, Ellis, Jackson, Martineau.

Millbrook — Goal, Larmer; defence, Bus Hutchison and K. Donnelly; centre, L. Ingram; rover, L. Naitress; wings, Scott, E. Creighton; subs, Raper, Wainman, Edmunds, Freelove.

On Friday, May 24, a lacrosse tournament will be staged at the Cosmos rink, with Port Hope and Millbrook competing in the afternoon, and Peterborough playing the winners at night.

GALLANT FOX GALLOPS AGAIN—NAME IS OMAHA

Chestnut Son of 1930 Champion Plays Star Role in Current Racing Year—Threatens to Break Record of His Sire.

By BILL BRAUCHER,
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer.

Omaha threatens to establish himself as a greater horse than his sire, Gallant Fox. Whether he does or not, the 1935 drama of the race tracks has gone into the second act with the big chestnut son of the 1930 champion in the star role.

Students of form and past performances already are thumbing the books to refresh their memories on the kind of horse old Gallant Fox was, and to compare the two Belair bluebloods.

They Look Alike.

In many ways the two horses, father and son, are alike. Omaha is a come-from-behind runner, and so was his sire. Omaha can carry the doctor in the mud to any destination the doctor designates. So could the Fox. Omaha is a red horse like his father, with the same white face. Paddie Barrie himself, who could paint a goat to look like a horse as he was being moved overnight in a van from town to town, wouldn't have to remodel Omaha's facial features to enter him in a race as Gallant Fox. Nature made Omaha a dead ringer for his daddy.

Like Gallant Fox, Omaha has started what may be a great 3-year-old career by winning the Derby and Preakness. The Fox has an edge to date, having opened his campaign by copping the Wood Memorial, a race in which Omaha turned on the steam too late and finished third.

The 2-year-old careers of the Fox and his son were in many ways parallel. Gallant Fox in 1929 won two races, placed twice, showed twice and ran a bangup eighth in the second race of his young life. Omaha won but one race last year, but placed in three of his nine starts and was "going fastest of all at the finish."

Races were richer in the Fox's day, and though Omaha may go on to win more races than his sire, odds are against his earning as much money because of the reduced purses.

Fox Lost One.

Omaha has a large piece of work cut out for him this summer before he can go back to the homestead in Maryland and brag in the hearing of his sire. Gallant Fox as a 3-year-old lost only one race in 10 starts, the Travers, in which he finished second to the upstart Jim Dandy.

Besides winning the Wood, the Derby and the Preakness, Gallant Fox was home first in the Belmont Stakes, Dwyer, Arlington Classic, Saratoga Cup, Lawrence Realization and Jockey Club Gold Cup. He earned $308,275 as a 3-year-old and became the only horse the world has known that won more than $300,000 in a year. Omaha has won $70,000 so far.

Though time is not always an infallible gauge of racing ability, Omaha need not hang his head in shame because of his performances so far. His Derby time was 2.05 and might have been better if he had been pressed. Gallant Fox won the Derby in 2.07 3-5, in a driving rain.

Beats Sire's Time.

Omaha won the Preakness in 1.58 2-5, which was 2 1-5 seconds better than the Fox's time in the same race, and only one-fifth second slower than the record time for the race, which was set last year by High Quest in beating Cavalcade. Considering that Omaha was pulled during the last sixteenth, with Jockey Willie Saunders turning around in the saddle to see where the rest of those horses were, the Fox's son might be said to have run a much better Preakness than his papa.

Foremost among the questions yet to be asked of Omaha is the Belmont Stakes, which is a mile-and-a-half of racing, a quarter-mile more than Omaha has been asked to go this far. There is no reason to suspect the son of the Fox will not have just as brilliant an answer as that given by his old man.

BISONS BACK SECOND PLACE

Joe Mulligan Holds Newark to Two Hits and Chiefs Win 4-1.

BIRDS BEAT SENATORS.

(By Associated Press.)

The failure of Newark Bears to hit a winning stride, even at home, to-day that shoved Buffalo Bisons into second place, two games back of Toronto Maple Leafs, in the International League pennant race.

The Bears, who dropped their second straight game to Syracuse Chiefs yesterday by 4-1, also trail the Leafs by two games, but they have played four more games than the Bisons.

While the Bisons were idle yesterday, the Leafs also lost an opportunity to improve their position as Rochester Redwings finally salvaged victory out of the five-game series with the league leaders. The score was 6-5.

The game was a stormy affair, with Tony Kaufman, Redwing pitcher, and Manager Ike Boone of the Leafs, engaging in two fist fights when the Toronto boss insisted Kaufman was trying to "bean" him. In the third inning, Umpire Hubbard had to clear the Rochester bench.

Ray Starr and Phil Coad held the Redwings to five hits, but the former's wildness in the early innings, when he issued five walks, four of which led to runs, gave Rochester a lead which the Leafs were unable to overcome.

Joe Mulligan, lanky right-hander, held the Bears to two hits and got as many himself in Syracuse's victory. Cliff Melton also pitched the effective ball, allowing only four hits until he retired in the seventh for a pinch-hitter. His successor, Frank Makosky, allowed only one bow the remainder of the game. The Chiefs made their bows count, however, with Kroner hitting a home run.

Baltimore Orioles struck their home run stride, including six circuit drives among their 15 hits as they defeated Albany Senators 17-3. Woody Abernathy and Irvine Jeffries got two each and Bill Sweeney and Eddie Mayo one. Abernathy's pair ran his total for the season to 12, one less than George Puccinelli.

NEW FISH, GAME OFFICER NAMED

John McCartney of Wiarton to be Ontario's Official Advocate for Conservation.

TALK IN SCHOOLS.

TORONTO, May 23. — Fish and game protection is going to be boosted into the Ontario psychology by the Department of Game and Fisheries.

Appointment of an official advocate for conservation was announced from Queen's Park yesterday. The office goes to John McCartney of Wiarton. Magistrate until the re-organization last summer, Mr. McCartney is a war veteran, and the second to receive a major appointment from Hon. Harry C. Nixon's office within the week.

His duties, as outlined last night, will include organization and promotion of conservation. This will involve a general campaign to teach school children, and aid the protective groups in work to save Ontario's fish and game resources. Mr. McCartney's duties go beyond this, however, and include general inspection work.

The appointment of the Game and Fisheries Department official follows long-time agitation for educational work in the interests of conservation. At hearings of the Legislative Committee the need for such an officer has been repeatedly voiced and his worth rated at that of a half-dozen game wardens. The appointment yesterday is believed to be the first answer in Provincial history to this demand.

SAYS DAVERIN CASE DIFFERS FROM KONOPKA

Napanee Shortstop a Resident of Furniture Town Since Last August.

BOUGHT OUT BUSINESS.

Dear Sir:—

I just got your Tuesday's paper and note your reference to Bunny Morgansen's slam at me in his column. I thought you might be interested in knowing the true facts of the case, which, of course, Morgansen does not know and I am not even taking the trouble to tell him because he is talking about something entirely different than you are and different circumstances surround both cases.

This lad Daverin, who came into Napanee from Buffalo, actually did not need a transfer, but we had it put through just for good measure. He came in last year on August 1st, and if you will read the O.B.A.A. Constitution you will find that no one needs a transfer who moves before August 15th of the year before. He came to Napanee and bought out the C.P.R. telegraph agency and a bookstore in connection with it. How you can compare this with Konopka's transfer, I do not know. The Peterborough lad came in last year and again this year just before the baseball season, and he leaves almost immediately after, while Daverin has settled down and bought a business in Napanee and will be here whether he plays ball or not.

Surely you will admit that there is nothing fishy about this transfer, and if the Peterborough club wishes to investigate further, we will be glad to welcome same and provide them with an affidavit from the Mayor and any other official in Napanee they wish, that Daverin actually was in Napanee last August. We did not need him then because we had a good shortstop. This year Card has so far refused to sign up, which leaves us with only two infielders of experience. We are not sure yet whether Daverin will make the grade. Your statement that he is a smart ball player is something that is not yet fully decided upon around here.

The case that Morgansen is talking about in Toronto is in connection with Dias of Port Credit. He is kicking at a rule which has been in the O.B.A.A. Constitution ever since that body was founded. Of course, they do not kick on these rules until they start to pinch themselves. That is where Toronto got the name of "hog town." All the teams outside of Toronto abide by this rule and have never kicked on it; nor did Toronto kick until one manager lost one ball player, and then the rule, the O.B.A.A. and everything else was all wrong. If they can persuade the other delegates at the annual meeting that this rule is wrong, naturally it will be changed, but as an actual fact in connection with the Diz case, a great many of the baseball public in Toronto are even laughing at Pat Downing and the other T.A.-B.A. officials who are backing him up. The first thing you know Pat Downing will be down to Peterborough and Belleville looking for ball players to play in Toronto with the argument that they should be able to play.

In view of the above facts I should be pleased to hear from yourself and the Peterborough club as to whether or not you would like any further information in connection with Daverin because we will be only too glad to supply it.

With kindest regards, I remain,
Yours very truly,
G. E. GIBBARD.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two
DAY BY DAY
(By C. J. P.)

The ladies and gents who cluster around the Bowl of a summer's eve—sure we'll get a little summer yet, just wait and see—ought to see lots of gals' softball games. Keene, Bailieboro, Omemee, C.G.E. and Westclox will dish it up piping hot this summer in the senior section of the ladies' loop while four intermediate squads will try to steal the show while the seniors are away. Looks like four or five nights a week activity at the Hunter St. bridge annex, and they start next Monday. Opening ceremonies and comely maidens in snappy costume will feature the gals' coming-out party. C.G.E. and Westclox start it off with a senior fixture.

• • • • • • •

The four intermediate teams, it was discovered at last night's meeting in Duffus', are Sixth Line, C.G.E., Ev Thomas' what's-its-name, and Westclox. They open June 12th, run a double schedule in two halves and have two-out-of-three playoffs for each half. Finals are three out of five tilts. Loop supplies the balls while the gates are split three ways after ye umps and caretaker are taken care of. How does that song go? Oh, yes: "Who'll take care of the caretaker's daughter while the caretaker's busy taking care?" Umpires are guaranteed same fees as in the senior section. Schedule will be drawn up any week now. And so we wont be seeing much of old Uncle Lemuel nights now till autumn.

• • • • • • •

Tomorrow in Riverside Park, the ex-Dukes of Oshawa—now coyly hiding under the robust title of Dominion Brewers—help to hoist the '35 C.O.B.A. curtain here when they tangle with our Johnson Motors (ex-Petes) at three o'clock. It looks like a large day for the fans seeing as how it is the opening game of the season and both teams are decked out in new regalia and studded with new faces. Teddy Saunders' squad has half a dozen of its old reliables—including that pesky Homerun Hurst—and some newcomers named Lefty Innis, Red Jubenville, Hap Grose, Joe Jackson and Osborne the Bowmanville heaver. They'll be plenty tough, don't worry.

• • • • • • •

Knotty Lee's crew shapes up pretty okay, too. He's got some new players also on his lineup, both local and out-of-town, including: Lepper, Kearns, Murphy, Hollingsworth, Smoke, Cadd and Starr. We expect to see Lefty Lepper get the hurling assignment and does he whistle 'em in! Last year's C.O.B.A. champs should be better this summer. In fact, they might go through to an Ontario championship, who knows? Anyway, they will be seen in a parade at 1.45 with Oshawa back of a band up George St. and over Hunter from the Empress Hotel to Riverside and then they'll be seen in action on the diamond. After that, well, we'll see what we'll see. It's a real holiday attraction.

• • • • • • •

Speaking of Konopka's failure to get a transfer, the Kingston scribe says: "It just had to come sooner or later and while Knotty is tearing his hair out by the roots, Konopka is out....He played smart ball for the Petes last year and his hitting was effective. There is no question but that he will be missed, especially when the batting comes almost on the eve of the opening game." And the Belleville writer takes this poke at Kingston: "Kingston's newly-acquired hurler, Bud Clancy, will pitch the opener if there are not too many squawks from Brockville. Recently the Island Town fans asked those interested to compare Clancy's signature with the one on his request for a transfer. Now just what could such a request mean? Surely, Clancy did not linger too long in the Island Town." Ho, hum—yeah, isn't it?

Hugh Campbell and Knotty Lee were in Toronto and Hamilton yesterday to see various members of the O.B.A.A. sub-committee about Hollingsworth and Konopka. Upon proof being furnished that Hollingsworth was working in Peterborough, he was granted his transfer and will be eligible to play in tomorrow's game here. Konopka's case is still pending, sort of under consideration yet. They promised to look into his status again and advise the local club shortly. So, our infield tomorrow will see Ash on first and Calladine on third. If Murphy's finger is okay, he'll be at short with Hollingsworth on second. Otherwise, Red will likely be at short with Kearns shifted in to second for this tussle.

Belleville opened in Kingston last eve before a shivering crowd and took a 4-4 tie. The game only went seven frames due to darkness. Both Calhoun and Clancy hurled good ball, the Quinte flinger being especially effective. We gather from the box score that Belleville should have won the game but had a couple of costly miscues and fell down in their hitting with men on the runways. The Ponies were without Compeau who had blood poisoning in a finger. Kingston plays in Belleville tomorrow.

A big gang of intermediates turned out at the Exhibition Grounds last gloaming for the practice and a tentative team was selected to open the Lakeshore League in Bowmanville tomorrow. Fetter will likely catch with either Barry or McGillen pitching. Cornett will be on first with Miller or Padgett on second, Houston at short and Main on third. Among the outfielders are Moore, Mowry, Joe Bailey, Pryde and Dallin. This is not the completed team by any means but they had to line one up fast for the 24th. They'll practice again at six Monday eve down there and other players will be signed. Those wanting a tryout should be on deck.

King Edward School Again Defeats Colts

King Edward School took a 5-3 victory over Naborhood Colts in an exhibition bantam baseball game yesterday in the Exhibition Grounds. It was another practice tilt in preparation for King Edward's O.B.A.A. titular tilt in Waterloo on May 24th. The Shoeboys presented an improved team, fast and strong with smart fielding. King Edward looked good, with the pitching exceptionally classy. Todd, Mortimer, MacIntyre, Lawson and Berwick all looked good with Foster, Gerard and Jopling strong afield and at bat for the losers. The Colts next play there Ralph's Rotary Juniors at 5.30 next Wednesday night at the Exhibition Grounds.

Free Swimming Lessons For School Age Boys

Free swimming lessons in the Y.M.C.A. pool are offered local Public and Separate School boys aged eight and over. The "Y," as it has been doing each spring, will give six free lessons to those boys wanting to learn swimming, provided they are of the lower schools of the city, not under eight years old, and provides they register their names at the Y.M.C.A. before noon this coming Saturday. Instructions will be given by Doug. Loomis and Jim McClenaghan, of the "Y" staff.

TORONTO FALLS TO THE TOURISTS

Queen City Soccer Eleven Gives Impressive Display Against Scots.

FINAL SCORE 3-1.

TORONTO, May 23 (C.P.) — The greatest array of footballers that ever left Scotland to play on overseas fields prepared to-day to leave Toronto for Kitchener with the highest respect for the ability of their first opponents on Canadian soil. They play a Western Ontario team in Kitchener tomorrow.

A selected Toronto team held the doughty Scots to a 3-1 victory at Soldiers' Field before 10,000 cheering fans last night, and the margin was a fair representation of the run of the play. Honors were even in the first 45 minutes play, each side scoring one goal; but class finally told, the tourists making sure of their third victory in as many starts by netting twice after the interval. They had previously registered wins in Philadelphia and New York.

W. Miller, Partick Thistle star, scored a goal in each half and his play was outstanding. The third counter was notched by Hugh Gallacher with a fine first-time effort. The Derby County centre-forward, approaching the veteran stage, was held in check for most of the game by K. Sanvig, towering Toronto Scottish centre-half. "Daddy" Duncan also failed to shine, but his corner kicks proved an object lesson to the opposing players as well as the crowd.

"Whitey" McDonald, Glasgow Rangers' left back who learned his football in Hamilton and Toronto, played a sound game as did all of the Scottish defenders.

J. Aiken, sturdy little Ulster forward, scored Toronto's goal and with N. Donald of British Consols stood out on the local attack. Woollacott, in goal, and the remaining members of the defence all turned in fine performances.

USUAL CEREMONIES FOR INITIAL GAME

Ball Players Will Parade to Park — Band in Attendance.

A baseball parade will mark the opening of the 1935 C.O.B.A. schedule here tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. Behind the Rangers' Band, the Oshawa and Peterborough players will parade on foot, with officers riding behind in cars. They will leave the Empress Hotel at 1.45, marching up George Street and over east on Hunter Street to Riverside Park. Just before the game commences at three o'clock, the teams will line up and march to the new flagpole in right field where the pennant will be hoisted as the band plays. Dick Lash is installing a loudspeaker system to make announcements. The time-honored ball-throwing ceremony will see Mayor Denne and Aldermen Stedler, Hamilton and Macdonald participating.

Both teams are raring to go after the long spring practice and each squad is predicting a victory on opening day. With fair weather expected, a huge holiday crowd is anticipated. Knotty Lee has been working his team—bolstered by several star newcomers—nightly and will put out a classy, colorful crew for the home fans. They will be sporting bright new red and white uniforms and red leather windbreakers. Lepper or Sarver will do the hurling. The Oshawa team also has a bunch of newcomers and will no doubt provide plenty of exciting opposition to start the season off.

Donovan Advances Into The 5th Round

ST. ANNES ON SEA, May 23. (C. P. Cable).—Jimmy "Bud" Donovan of Winnipeg, Canada's sole remaining challenger for the amateur golf championship, successfully passed the fourth round to-day with a one-hole victory over J. H. Thompson of Hunstanton.

That puts Donovan in a class of 16 contesting the fifth round later in the day.

Eric Fiddian, British stalwart, went through the fourth round one up over John Burke, another homebred contender.

While Lawson Little Jr., defending champion, reached the turn all square with Dr. H. G. MacCallum of Troon, the United States challengers were reduced to three by the elimination of Capt. A. Bullock-Webster, Briton who has lived many years in California, by Marion Dykes, 6 and 4.

Richard Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., was the first U.S. entrant to get into the fifth round, disposing of Clay Austens 6 and 4 and shooting two over even fours.

KILDEA DUE FOR AXE

OTTAWA, May 23, (CP).— Hec Kilrea, left winger with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, will not be with that team next season. Walter Gilkeson, sports editor of the Ottawa Journal, says in his column to-day. Gilkeson adds Kilrea will be with other Eastern or Chicago. The former Ottawa Senators Club sold Kilrea to Toronto for $12,000 cash and Bob Gracie, two years ago.

WHITAKER'S WIN FROM GROVE SQUAD

Woollens Team Gains 77 to 33 Cricket Victory Last Evening.

Whitakers played a hastily arranged match at the Oval on Wednesday evening against a team from the Grove School. With daylight saving time evening matches are quite practical, but in this case the light was getting bad when the last School wicket fell at 7.30, giving Whitakers a victory by 77 to 33. The Whitaker innings was featured by a fine stand by Hamilton 31 and B. Roberts 22, which produced 36 runs, both batted well and Roberts met with a well-earned success which should prove a great encouragement to this promising young player. The Grove did little against the bowling of Wild and Hamilton, the former having 7 wickets for 11 runs. McLean hit well for 14. The teams:

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

[illegible] Yesterday)

CHAPTER 33

Consuelo's wish to understudy Louise L'Ville was coming true. She was called for a tryout. Renaldo, the dance director, began working with her to teach her the routine and to help her make good her bluff.

Down front in the dark house Goldberg dropped in to watch. He sat down beside Doug and rubbed his hands together.

"What do you think of this good idea of mine, Douglas? I got a fortune in this gypsy girl. Why if Louise was ever out for just one night and this gypsy went on in her place—" He blinked his round eyes and sighed. "My Lord, but I hold my breath just to think of it. But I can't do nothing about it. Louise is a swell dancer but she ain't in it with this gypsy and besides Louise has got such a contract for the rest of the season that I couldn't break it and Goldie has never yet been accused of being unfair; but of course, if she was suddenly to be very sick or to be going to Europe for her health or if Stewart took a wild notion in his noodle that he didn't like her no more—why, you never can tell what might happen!" He leaned back in the seat and watched the gypsy girl work under Renaldo's direction and he was amazed at the change he saw in her work and the eagerness with which she worked.

"Do you remember, Douglas, that when we first got the kid up on the stage she was a wash-out? She was frightened maybe of the dark house, for now I have yet to see anybody dance as she does."

Doug listened, said little, and watched the girl on the stage working out her ambitions and he wondered at the outcome.

It was not long before L'Ville found out that the gypsy was working with Renaldo every morning. She went to Goldberg.

"Goldie, I want to know why you're letting that gysy understudy me?" There was no indirectness about Louise when she wanted something.

"Well now, Lou, you mustn't get so upset and angry about it this early in the morning. You've got to have an understudy, don't you?" He cleared his throat. "Why, I thought you'd be pleased."

"Pleased as hell! I've got an understudy."

"It's a swell compliment, ain't it, to have two good dancers understudying you at the same time—"

"My dear Mr. Goldberg, I'm not as dumb as I look. You're doing this for some reason and I want to know why."

"Well, Lou, you yourself got to admit that the gypsy girl is the biggest hit we've ever had. Of course you're not as dumb as you look—I mean, you're bright enough to figure this out for yourself. Supposin' you was in an accident and you got your leg broke—or supposin' you were sick, why you can see what it would be for the show to have the gypsy step on into your place." He leaned back nervously.

"And what would it be for me?" Louise shouted the words.

"Now, Lou, keep calm and cool like me. I'll admit she couldn't do your dances so well and that she ain't as goody as you, but can't you see, Lou, you're pretty and you're blonde, but you ain't got nothing about you that gets people's imagination. Now that gypsy has got everybody going and even I don't understand it."

"You've all gone crazy," Louise muttered. "You forget that I was voted the prettiest show girl in New York and that I won the Miss America prize—that was when Stewart first met me. I've had artists from all over the world come just to paint the color of my hair. No blondes for this baby. Duncan Trefle said it was the color of pure gold—they used that on those cigaret ads. I've got plenty of 'it' only you're too blind to see it. You're just giving me a rotten deal because I'm a good fellow and don't complain."

Goldie cringed.

"This doesn't mean anything, Lou. You got a swell contract and we couldn't break it—and we don't want to—" he added, "but we got to look out for ourselves and when we get a gold mine staring us in the face we do something about it, don't we."

"Who's the we?"

"Why me and—why me—and my staff!" he finished.

"Who's behind the gypsy?"

Inwardly, Goldie groaned.

"Why—she doesn't need anybody behind her. I saw her dance and right away I seen what a wonder she is."

"You're lying, Goldie. She danced perfectly rotten until the first night she went on and you know it. Who's backing her?"

"Nobody, nobody, I told you. Do you want to get me out of my good temper and start being cross with you?"

Louise sighed. She raised languid blue eyes to him.

"Of course, I don't want you to be cross with me." She seated herself on the edge of his desk, poising her silken ankles well in his view. She leaned forward and playfully rumpled his hair with her hand. "Goldie darlin, you've always been so sweet and precious to me, won't you just do this one little thing for me?" she wheedled.

Goldie pushed back his chair and smoothed down his hair with a fat stubby hand.

"You—you leave me alone. You know I ain't got any use for blondes. You—"

Louise flopped back into the chair.

"Good, Lord, what a break. No more sex appeal than an oyster on the half shell. If you were human at all—" She sighed again. "Well, Goldie, will you take her off from understudying me?"

"No."

"You sure are giving me the short end of this deal. You seem to forget that I'm the star of your old show. You let that gypsy stand in the wings and stare at me out of those eyes of hers until I'm a nervous wreck and then you complain about my drinking. You men, you're all alike, gone plain nuts about her and there's no comparison. Doug Parker used to be a good guy and now he's head over heels in love with her and follows her around like a puppy. It's not he that's giving her the clothes either. Doug would be in the poorhouse in a week. I wonder how Doug gets all the time to run around with her when he's Stewart's secretary—" Louise paused. She stared at Goldie wide-eyed. "Goldie, it's not Stewart?"

"Not Stewart what—you don't talk sense!" Goldie was thinking fast.

"It's not Stewart that's backing the gypsy?" she asked.

"Aw, now, of course it ain't!" He was in a tough spot and he knew it. "And anyway, Lou, you got to look at these things more impersonal. You can't afford to care who's giving her her clothes and swell jewelry. What you got to look to is your own work. I wasn't going to tell you but you forced me into it—you've danced rotten in the last week. Where's your pep, girl? Where's that 'it' you're always boasting about? You know you ain't big enough to carry this show the way it should be carried and I told Stewart that in the first place, but then you can't argue with Stewart—not over a woman. If you only knew it, it's the gypsy and her act that's making this season worth saving. Now that I've told you this you can forget it—but, you stop your fussing about the gypsy, get me?"

"Is that so? You can't talk to me this way and get by with it! Danced rotten, did I? Well, we'll see what Stewart says about that! You think I'm not big enough to carry this hum show—well, we'll see what Stewart says about that! You can't insult me like this and get by with it!"

"Oh, fiddles, with your big talk! Get out of here quick before I get mad and tear up your contract!"

"Do it! Do it—I dare you to and you'll have the biggest law suit you ever dreamed of! I'll show you!"

"Oh, both! You didn't talk like this to me a year ago, but I might have known that to give you a big salary would turn your silly little head. Now get out! I got work to do!"

"You bet I'll get out! I won't waste my breath talking to you! Stewart will—"

"Oh, get out! Get out!" The door slammed. "Oh fiddles, never again will I mix up with Stewart's women—not after I get through with making a hit and a smash out of this Gypsy Consuelo that dances like a wild fire!" And Goldie went back to the serious business of finishing a murder mystery and forgot about the gypsy and Louise.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KENDLE

For Friday, May 24

A very lively and eventful day is forecast from the prevailing lunar transits. Business and all pertaining to writings, publishing and promotion may thrive, but there is a menace in speculative interests as well as in making plans. It would be well to shun all impetuous and reckless conduct.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may plan for a very lively and enterprising year, although it would be wise to refrain from financial plunges, speculations and loans. There is indication of travel with pleasure and success.

A child born on this day may be versatile, intellectual, brilliant and have a pleasant personality. It may be prone to be rash and impulsive at times, unless given early discipline.

For Saturday, May 25

Adverse planetary aspects seem to have major force on the affairs of this day, but there are indications of a profitable journey and that a stranger may befriend. Otherwise there are signs of setbacks, postponements, vexations and worries.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a rather adverse year, with obstacles, vexations and worries. It would be wise to make the best of these, working along lines of least resistance.

A child born on this day may be disposed to depression and melancholy. It should have an early optimistic vision instilled.

Trinity Cricketers Play Here On Saturday

On Saturday, May 25, the Peterborough Cricket Club will play Trinity College School, Port Hope, at the Oval.

The school won the first match played at Port Hope and the local club are very anxious to reverse that result on Saturday.

T.C.S. are one of the four schools which annually meet in a school championship; the others being Upper Canada College, Ridley and St. Andrew's. The boys always play good correct cricket as it has been played by their predecessors for some 70 years.

Any old cricketers and those interested in the game, should make a point of trying to get up to the Oval on Saturday to see the game.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why external remedies as applied to sore and painful Piles are only local in effect and do not reach to true circulatory cause? Why Piles may "come back" even after a first removal by cutting?

Do you know the cause of Piles is internal?

That there is congestion of blood in the lower bowel—the veins throb, pain, itch, bleed?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy for itching, bleeding or protruding Piles discovered by Dr. Leonhardt known as HEM-ROID and sold with your money back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives?

HEM-ROID banishes Piles by relieving congested circulation and helps to heal and restore the sore surfaces.

HEM-ROID is so successful in even the most stubborn cases that McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store and other good druggists advise every sufferer to get a bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets to-day—take them as directed—then if not completely satisfied with results—your money back.

MRS. BLACKWELL IS RE-ELECTED FOR 11TH TERM

Women's Art Association Holds Annual Meeting in Y. W. C. A.

EXECUTIVE RETURNED.

Mrs. W. Blackwell entered on her eleventh term as president of the Lyceum Club Women's Art Association, when the members decided at the annual meeting, held at the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday afternoon, to return the entire slate of last year's officers for another term.

The list includes Mrs. T. A. S. Hay and Miss F. Hatton, honorary presidents; Mrs. C. M. Scott, first vice president; Mrs. T. Cruickshank, second vice president; Mrs. R. J. Kidd, third vice president; Miss Tena Mathews, recording secretary; Miss Laura Bellgham, corresponding secretary; Miss Mary Stratton, press secretary; Madam Masson, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. Morphet, assistant treasurer; Miss Leone Walsh, archivist; Program committee, Mrs. R. F. Downey (convenor), and Miss Ambia Going; Exhibition committee convenor, Mrs. F. E. Hooper; Social committee, Mrs. H. E. Connelly (convenor) and Mrs. R. V. Moore.

Annual reports were presented, covering the activities of the year just ended.

Miss Tena Mathews outlined the programs of the year just ended which was the thirtieth in the history of the association. Eleven regular meetings were held and seven executive meetings. Exceptionally fine exhibits characterized the year's schedule of meetings, with addresses which included Mr. Teghsoonian's talk on rugs; speeches by Miss Katherine E. Wallis, Melville Keay of Hart House Theatre, Harold McCrae, Miss Amy Mathews, Wyley Grant, Eddie Juge, of Toronto, Mrs. L. J. Pettit and Mrs. Nancy Pyper of Toronto. Prizes to school children for art work were again presented this year.

The report of the Program committee, prepared by last year's convenor, Mrs. D. R. Howat, covered the same ground with regard to the meetings mentioned above, also recounted the various musical numbers of the season just ended. And the report of the convenor of the Exhibitions committee, Mrs. F. E. Hooper, was along the same lines, outlining the various exhibits of work and pictures which are a portion of the society's programs and which included this year a travelling exhibit of work done by members of the Ontario Society of Artists; work by Miss Katherine Wallis, Mrs. F. E. Robson and Harold McCrae, as well as two exhibits by members of the Guild of Arts and Crafts and by school children of the city.

The financial statement was presented by the treasurer, Madam Masson, showing a satisfactory year.

The reports of the affiliated clubs were most interesting. The convenor of the Art Study Club, Mrs. V. S. Foster, itemized the various gatherings which have been concerned this year with the study of etchings and engravings. Mrs. C. S. Thompson, convenor of the Guild of Arts and Crafts, reported a full membership, with a waiting list, and two exhibits held under Guild auspices, one of craft work by members, the other of paintings done by artist members of the whole association. And Mrs. J. M. McCulloch reported for the Literary Study Club, led by Miss M. Hamilton, which occupied itself this season with reviews of books and of current events.

The members are looking forward to a picnic to be held on June 6th at Hastings, when Mrs. W. Fowlds has kindly offered the hospitality of her home for the occasion.

STUDENT TELLS MURDER STORY

Claims He Was Drunk When He Found Bride in Priest's Room.

BOTH PARTIALLY UNCLAD.

NEW YORK, May 23. — (AP) — Joseph L. Steinmetz, young Brooklyn divinity student on trial for slaying his 17-year-old wife and the Rev. Joseph Leonard, New Jersey Catholic priest, testified today he was drunk when he entered the priest's room in the Knights of Columbus hotel and found them partially undad.

Steinmetz said he and his wife, Ruth Armstrong Steinmetz whom he married in Agua Caliente last November three weeks before the slayings, had gone to a nearby restaurant with the priest and drank heavily.

They returned to the Steinmetz room and the priest produced another bottle of liquor, Steinmetz said.

"You ought to lie down and get some sleep. Ruth is not through confession and I will take her down to my room."

Previously, Steinmetz said his wife had "taken a walk" with the priest the night before and he had invited her to make a confession.

Heard Wife Talking

The youth said he went to the priest's room. Before knocking he heard his wife say: "I am a married woman. You are not a young man any more." The priest, Steinmetz said, replied "You cannot question the authority of the Church."

Steinmetz said he knocked and entered the room.

"The priest," he said, "was standing there with his clothes off."

"You mean he had his suit off?" asked Leibowitz.

"Yes. I did not see Ruth at first. I said 'Where is she?' As I looked around I saw her near the bed, behind the door. She was pulling some kind of a slip over her head. I cried out 'My God, what are you doing?' Father Leonard told me 'You cannot question the authority of the church.'"

"Did you see a gun?" Leibowitz asked.

"Yes, his coat was lying on the foot of the bed and the gun was sticking out of the coat."

"Do you remember whether you had the gun in your hand?"

"I must have taken it in my hand."

"Why?"

"Because they said I shot them."

FR. COUGHLIN URGES WORKERS TO JOIN UNION

Tells Great Madison Square Crowd Party Aims to Get Behind Farmer.

"FED UP" WITH PRESS.

NEW YORK, May 23 (A.P.).—Asserting vigorously that he would "not remain aloof from public affairs," the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin last night brought the dicta of his National Union for Social Justice before an enthusiastic gathering in Madison Square Garden.

An ovation lasting nearly seven minutes greeted his appearance on the platform after a pro-bonus audience had cheered James Veh-meidi, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who attacked sharply President Roosevelt's veto yesterday of the Patman bill to pay the soldiers' bonus with printing-press money.

Father Coughlin, couching upon the background of democracy by representation, said that "until a year ago there was no truly representative government in your nation."

"Your Congressmen," he declared, "were subjected to a barrage of propaganda."

Assails Newspapers.

He flayed the nation's newspapers, but asserted that the press did not "maliciously" subject itself to powerful interests.

"But I do not need to tell you that the primary reason for the existence of the newspaper was to make money," he said. "For years the voice of the people was suppressed.

"Only at the risk of closing up their press rooms, could papers battle for the farmer, and for payment of the soldier bonus, or for any substantial legislation opposed by the banker.

"I am just about fed up with the newspapers," the Detroit priest shouted, shaking his fist at the press gallery. "The day of their supremacy is past."

Father Coughlin said his union would furnish the principles "for a return to social justice," and called upon his listeners to elect a congress which would fulfill them.

He declared the union stood for a democracy without being influenced by powerful interests—"not the United States Steel Corporation; not the United States Chamber of Commerce . . . but government by the people, for the people."

"The National Union for Social Justice is a lobby which will impress upon the government the need of those laws which the people want."

Calls For Organizing.

The crowd, increasingly demonstrative, booed and howled at mention of "bankers" and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"Yesterday," the priest asserted, "your hopes were dashed when you read the new deal wage scale of $15."

"Laboring men, you are not organized," he said. "Always alone—that has been the fate of disorganized minorities.

"Now, the purpose of the Union of Social Justice is to solidify the laborer, the farmer, the small business man and all others.

"The national union proposes to throw the weight of the soldier and the laborers behind the farmer.

"We are one for all—all for one.

"Join a union! Unionize yourselves—join a union that is free of industrial subversion and the influence of Communism."

As he spoke, Communists circulated through the crowd outside, distributing circulars which called upon Father Coughlin to answer a list of questions.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT W.M.S. SERVICE

Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe is Special Speaker at Cottesloe Gathering.

COTTESLOE, May 23 (Examiner Correspondence)—The W.M.S. held their special service in the church on Sunday with a large attendance. Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe was the special speaker who gave a very interesting address on "Missionary Work." Mrs. Forsythe gave a talk on "Temperance." An instrumental duet, "Jesus Remember When the World Forgets," by Miss Marguerite Webster and Mr. Walter Gallagher. Laura Nelson gave a recitation and a dialogue by Marjory Barr and Mima Moore.

BONARLAW

At St. Mark's Sunday School on Sunday a.m. last the Mother's Day program was used owing to the absence of Rev. Canon Swayne on the previous Sunday. There was a large attendance. The pageant, "No Laurels on their brows" was given. Those taking part were Misses Iva Brown, Florence Frost and Freda McLaren and Masters Jack Eastwood, Jack Frost and Kennard Baker. The scripture reading and introduction was given by Ross Fleming and readings were given by Miss Leola Pollock and Miss Hilda Brown. The primary class sang, "Jesus Loves Me." Mrs. Jessie Baker acted as organist. A splendid address was delivered by Canon W. O. Swayne, who gave a number of practical hints to the boys and girls regarding reverence and obedience to their mothers.

Messrs. W. J. Barlow, W. G. Swayne, S. S. McComb, John A. Bell, M. Bennett, A. P. Wiggins, and J. F. Baker attended the Masonic Lodge banquet at Marmora on Monday of this week. It was the occasion of the official visit of the District Deputy Grand Master, Right Wor. Bro. W. C. Mikel of Belleville. All the above brethren report a splendid evening.

Makins today on a charge of obtaining relief from the city by false pretences with intent to defraud. He was remanded a week for sentence. Crown evidence indicated Ranton had cashed a cheque on an insurance policy for $167 and at the same time had received relief to the value of $26.66 without having reported the cashing of the cheque to the relief office. BILL TWEDDELL LOSES ONE UP IN HARD FIGHT

British Puts Up Stiff Battle in Last 18 Holes of Final Match.

FOURTH U. S. WINNER.

Little, First Invader Ever to Capture Title Two Years in Succession.

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, May 25 (A.P.)—Carried right to the last green Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco finally defeated Dr. William Tweddell of Birmingham one up in the 36-hole final for the amateur golf championship to-day.

Little thus became the first invader ever to capture the British title two years in succession. He was three up on the stylish Birmingham golfer, himself a former champion, at the halfway mark, but Tweddell gave Little a grand battle on the last 18, pulling even at one stage but never able to go into the lead.

Little's advantage was wiped out on the 30th hole. Little regained his poise sufficiently to win two of the next three holes and marched to the 35th dormie two. Here the Briton lopped a hole off his deficit as he almost holed out spectacularly from a trap for a birdie three. He won with a four as Little rapped an iron second into a swarm of spectators in the rough and produced a five.

The marshals had to hold up the last hold of the match ten minutes in order to restore order among the 10,000 wild, cheering spectators encouraging Dr. Tweddell in the hopes of restoring the championship to England.

Tweddell drove 250 yards down the middle of the 36th fairway and Little sliced his tee shot into the crowd 100 yards short of the green on barren turf. The crowd grew tense as Little prepared to fire his approach over a yawning trap. He made a beautiful lobbed shot that stopped 25 feet short of the hole—three feet beyond Tweddell's second shot.

The recovery put new life in the champion and he putted up stone dead for a certain four. Tweddell's putt slid past the can inches wide and the medico rushed over to Little and extended congratulations.

Little, In.....444 444 454—37
Tweddell, In ....433 553 444—36

Little's victory to-day made in the fourth time in the 50 years' history of the tournament the title has been captured by the United States. Jesse Sweetser did it in 1926, and Bob Jones turned the trick in 1930. The only other players besides Little to score "doubles" were H. G. Hutchinson in 1886-87, and Harold Bilton in 1900-01, though others have won more than once.

Out in Quarter Finals

Canada's ten challengers were all out before the quarter-finals, young Bud Donovan of Winnipeg lasting until the fifth round.

Little shot the morning round, played in a high wind, in 73—four over par—to stand three up on Dr. Tweddell. With the exception of putting, Little played all other branches of the game smoothly and effectively. He drove with tremendous power and five tee shots on the second nine covered a total of 1,625 yards—slightly less than half the total yardage for the incoming holes. Dr. Tweddell was forced to and did hit his second shots 20 to 60 yards longer to make up for his driving shortage. They both played the incoming holes in even fours—Tweddell for a 76.

Although Tweddell uses a radically close stance, playing all long irons for a hook, this produced results and frequently he got inside of Little's ball with his second, despite the fact he was forced to hit from 20 to 60 yards longer to make up for his driving shortage.

Little had to shoot his finest golf

Propose Tariff Board To Control Industry

FEDERAL POWER LIMITED.

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—The Ottawa Evening Journal said to-day it had learned the government was considering the possibility that the scope of the Tariff Board might be enlarged to include the functions of the proposed fair trade and industries board recommended in the report of the Price Spreads Commission.

The newspaper said: "High legal opinion appears to be unanimous that it is beyond the power of the Federal Parliament to set up a fair trade and industries board with wide authority over Canadian business and industry."

It added it was believed an enlargement of the tariff board into a tariff, trade and industries board with power to investigate and prosecute could function under laws now o nthe Statute Book.

Voyageurs Not All Dead

One Of Few Canadian Voyageurs Still Living Who Went To Relief Of General Gordon, Dies.

OSCODA, Mich., May 25.—(AP).—James La Plant, who believed himself to be the last of the Canadian voyageurs who went to the relief of General Charles Gordon in the siege of Khartum in 1884, is dead. He was 80 years old.

La Plant, then living in Ontario, volunteered when Viscount Wolseley organized a force to rescue General Gordon's dwindling army, besieged by revolting Mahdists in Khartum, in the British-Egyptian Sudan.

The assistance of the Canadian voyageurs was sought particularly because of their skill in navigating the type of boats that would be used on the River Nile.

Khartum fell just before the relief expedition arrived and the entire British garrison, including General Gordon, were killed.

La Plant lived near Owen Sound, Ont.

Inasmuch as William Harris, who still survives and is a resident of Peterborough, was one of the Canadian voyageus, Mr. La Plant's belief that he was the last of the group of boatmen who sailed from Canada to the relief of General Gordon was erroneous. In addition to Mr. Harris here, it is believed there are two, and possibly three other survivors elsewhere in Canada.

With Mr. Harris, the following nineteen men enlisted and sailed in the Canadian voyageur group from Peterborough and the county: W. H. Anderson, Sidney Blade, J. Faulkner, M. Matheson, John White, Thomas Harrison, Sam Clancy, M. Mowrey, A. Sinatt, Alex Ross, W. H. Lowrey, J. Corcorran, A. Bradshaw, J. McManon, J. A. Sherlock, Peter Phelan, John Welsh, John Gorman and a man named Hammon, whose Christian name is unknown.

SUBURBAN AREA WORK PLANNED

Improvements on Keene, Warsaw and Bridgenorth Roads Listed.

COMMISSION MEETS.

Early operations in accordance with the work program outlined for this summer were discussed by the Suburban Area Roads Commissioners at a meeting in the Court House on Thursday afternoon. Grading operations are now being carried out on the stretch of road between Chemong Park and the floating bridge at Bridgenorth and on a section of the Warsaw Road. Fences are being removed in preparation for rounding out the right-angle curve on the Keene Road a short distance outside the city.

It is thought unlikely that work on the section of road at Bridgenorth will progress far enough this year for the contemplated mulch mixture treatment.

DENIES SLIGHT TO MRS. DIONNE AT THE HOSPITAL

Dr. A. R. Dafoe Declares Reported Incident Did Not Occur.

MOTHER SEES "QUINTS."

CALLANDER, Ont., May 25 (C.P.). — Dr. A. R. Dafoe issued an emphatic denial to-day of reports Mrs. Oliva Dionne, mother of the quintuplets, was warned off her daughters' hospital steps on Sunday.

The parents of the quintuplets always have and always will have perfect freedom in and around the Dafoe Hospital, he said. Never had either of them been hampered in approaching their famous children.

The incident in which Nurse Louise de Kiriline is reported to have stood on the hospital verandah and said, "Don't you come up those steps," to Mrs. Dionne never occurred, the quintuplets doctor declared.

What did happen ,he said, was that Mr. and Mrs. Dionne came over to the hospital on Sunday afternoon with some visitors. Mrs. Dionne walked on to the verandah and looked at the youngsters in their perambulators. Their friends mindful of the regulations barring visitors from contact with the babies, did not attempt to come near the infants, he said.

According to Dr. Dafoe there was no friction between Mrs. Dionne and Nurse Kiriline during the visit.

CALLANDER, Ont., May 25 (AP). —A brusque drama at the door of the Dionne nursery, it was disclosed last night, has opened new wounds in the emotional conflict between the quintuplets' mother and those who guard the little sisters' health.

The door of the babies' nursery literally was slammed in Mrs. Elzire Dionne's face.

"Don't you come up those steps," were the words, in brisk French, that met and turned her away.

The incident took place Sunday, but the wounds made then are unhealed.

Its principals were two women—the mild-mannered Mrs. Dionne, the only woman to have borne quintuplets who lived; and Nurse Louise de Kiriline efficient, energetic and determined.

There had been jollity and happiness Sunday at the plain frame farmhouse, across the road from the nursery, as Mrs Dionne and her husband entertained cousins who

USELESS TO BAN DEADLY ARMS MUSSOLINI SAYS

Futile to Believe in Limitation of Armaments or Deadly Weapons.

POLICY OF REALISM.

Hitler's Speech Not Be Accepted or Rejected as a Whole.

ROME, May 25. — (AP).—Premier Mussolini told the Chamber of Deputies to-day it was useless to believe in the limitation of armaments or the elimiantion of certain deadly weapons, such as gas or heavy arms.

After receiving an ovation when he rose to make an important address on foreign affairs, Mussolini said between Germany and Italy "there is only one problem—that of Austria."

He referred to Germany's repudiation of military clauses of the Versailles treaty and said Germany was disposed in 1934 to accept much less in armaments than what she finally achieved, but it is useless to indulge in recriminations."

European Problem.

Austria's independence is a European problem, the Premier asserted, and consequently an Italian problem.

However, Fascist Italy does not intend to limit her activity to only one frontier but will defend all her frontiers against any menace whatsoever, he added.

Mussolini declared there would be means of learning whether one was

A well-known musician was staying in the village, and one evening, while taking a walk, fell in with some rustics coming away from choir practice. He asked one of them what music they had been practicing.

"No, not very sir," one of the villagers replied, "You see, we alters him!"

TACOMA, Wash., May 25. —(AP)—A note demanding $200,000 for the return of the missing George Weyerhaeuser, nine-year-old scion of the $1,000,000,000 timber family, has been delivered to his parents, reliable sources said here today.

These same sources which refused to be quoted directly, said the note threatened death to the lad should the police or the press be notified.

The resources of the department of justice were thrown into the search for the boy. Four operatives arrived from Portland, employees at the Tacoma Airport said, while W. K. Bowling, agent stationed at Seattle, also was here.

Crisis In East Africa Is Averted By League

ANTHONY EDEN, LEAGUE COUNCIL ARE SUCCESSFUL

Italy Agrees to Arbitrate Her Long-standing Dispute With Ethiopia.

BRITAIN FOR PEACE.

Telling Blow Struck by League For Peace in Africa.

GENEVA, May 25 (A.P.).—Diplomatic pressure in the League of Nations Council early to-day averted an impending crisis in East Africa, won from Italy an agreement to arbitrate her long-standing dispute with Ethiopia, and left the nations free to settle their troubles under their own treaty.

The capitulation of Premier Mussolini, who previously had said he would not permit reference to his 1928 Treaty with Emperor Haile Selassie's government, was attributed to the force of argument of Anthony Eden, British Lord Privy Seal, and Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister.

New troop contingents have sailed frequently from South Italian ports for Africa, and it was generally believed 200,000 more soldiers will reach their destination before the time limit for the negotiations is reached.

The League Council adopted two resolutions designed to smooth the road to peace in Africa, after Baron

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Acute weakness developed in the corn market yesterday, and prices broke 3¾c a bushel, almost the extreme limit possible for any 24-hour period.

Month-end liquidating sales of May corn holdings, together with notably auspicious wheat crop prospects, as well as silencing of inflation talk, led to a pronounced increase of bearish sentiment. Favorable weather for corn planting tended also to tumble values down, carrying May wheat and all deliveries of oats to below the season's previous bottom price record.

Corn closed nervous, 2c to 3½c under Thursday's finish, July 79¾c to 79¾c, wheat 1⅝c to 1⅞c down, July 88½c to 86⅝c, oats ⅝c to 2c off, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 17c.

Early Weakness.

Downturns of grain markets began as soon as trading started. Friends of higher prices were under a decided handicap because of Senate action upholding the Bonus Bill veto, most traders taking the view that inflation had been eclipsed for the time being at least. It was not however, until flurried selling became evident in the corn pit that other grains gave way with abandon. Recent fears of a squeeze in May corn prices appeared to have evaporated.

Provisions ruled irregular, with some selling influenced by weakness of grains, whereas hog prices were higher.

THE BOOK CORNER

Conducted by R. B. W.

THE GOLDEN GRINDSTONE—Angus Graham (Oxford Press, Toronto).

George Mitchell and his party set out in 1897 for the Klondike River by a route hitherto only partially explored by white men. He never reached the gold fields but this account of his travels and experiences is definitely much more interesting than if he had reached Dawson.

Mr. Graham has gotten the story first-hand from Mr. Mitchell who still lives at Quebec and it is written in an easy and natural narrative style. There are frequent direct quotations from Mitchell's memory or his memoranda. It reads with all the thrills and unexpected incidents that go with an adventure story. But one feels that it is substantially true and is reminded again that truth is stranger than fiction.

The accepted routes to the Klondike were by steamer, around Alaska or by land, over the Chilkoot Pass. Mitchell decided to break a new trail by descending the Mackenzie River to the mouth of its tributary, the Peel River, and ascending the latter to the mountains where a short portage would take them to the upper reaches of the Yukon River system. The Peel River Indians were still, at this time, a pure Indian race and their only contact with civilization was the annual trading meet with the Hudson's Bay Company at Fort Macpherson. The previously more or less constant warfare between Indians and Eskimos had been stopped by the firm but friendly H.B. Co. officials.

The several tons of supplies were safely taken down the river on flat-bottomed boats but winter overtook the party before the ascent of the Peel River was completed.

Winter quarters were built and they prepared to spend the long months in a hostile country. Mitchell had made friend with the chief of the Indians and this friendship was to save not only his own life on several occasions but perhaps those of the whole party also.

The ultimate goal of the men was gold, but frequently their immediate concern was their existence. Plenty of very humorous yarns and incidents relieve this background of struggle.

In the preparations for moving with the spring breakup Mitchell had the misfortune to break his leg. He was taken by the Indian chief to the tribe and cared for by the squaws who exhibited a remarkable knowledge and skill in surgery. Even so, his life hung in balance and on one occasion he awoke from a state of coma to find the Indians performing the rites of his own burial service. For months he lived as an Indian and there is probably no finer or more accurate record of the intimate lives and customs of these northern Indians than this.

THE SHIPBUILEDRS — George Blake.

The old firm of Pagans had been building ships for three generations on the Clydebank. Now the last ship had been launched. There were no more orders. Pagans were to close up, one more victim of the depression. It was a hard blow to Leslie Pagan but he could still live comfortably and it was an excuse for his wife to finally persaude him to move to England to a more congenial climate. But what of the workmen? They are symbolized in the person of Danny Shields a skilled rivetter but nothing else. For him the closing meant the dole and in the end the break-up of his home. Not over the favoritism of his boss could prevent it.

Against a background of Glasgow with its slums and its fine homes, its theatres and its pubs and the spectre of unemployment there is worked out the destinies of these two families. There is no glossing over of the brutal facts which confront them. Danny Shields makes a determined struggle for his own self-respect and when he has established himself in a different life he refuses to leave Glasgow for what would have been an easier job.

REFORM BILLS ARE INTRODUCED BY MINISTERS

All Four Amend Laws at the Present on Canada's Statute Books.

STIFFEN PENALTIES.

General Tightening Up in Weights and Measures Act.

OTTAWA, May 25. (CP). — With a grist of bills implementing some recommendations of the Price Spreads and Mass Buying Commission before them, members of parliament to-day marked time and gathered energy for what may prove to be the most strenuous portion of the session. Until Monday they will have opportunity to study four bills introduced in the House of Commons before adjournment for the Empire day holiday.

These bills are first instalment of legislative measures designated to carry into effect the Mass Buying report to the extent the Government feels it can be done. All four amend laws at present on the statute books.

Bills Introduced

Standing in the name of Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, one of the bills provides for changes in the Weights and Measures Act. A second, sponsored by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, amends the Livestock and Livestock Products Act. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, brought in a third amending the criminal code. The fourth measure, moved by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, will, if approved, alter the provisions of the Industrial Disputes and Investigations Act.

Increased penalties for shortweight offences, new provisions regarding weight standards, and a general tightening up of the weights and measures act are provided in the first bill which amends this law. The Mass Buying Commission heard a great deal of evidence in respect to short weights.

Public Stock Yards

Amendments to the Livestock Act would, among other things, establish yards of packing plants as public yards. The effect of this would be to make the packing plants furnish daily reports to the Dominion Livestock branch of the Agriculture Department as public yards now do.

The bill amending the criminal code is directed against false advertising. Clauses of the code are strengthened by eliminating a proviso which gives to the court jurisdiction to dismiss a case against a manufacturer or seller advertising falsely on the ground that he acted "in good faith." Such a plea from the person responsible for the goods the commission felt was not a good one.

The fourth bill which would amend the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act gives the Minister of Labor authority to initiate investigations into complaints of intimidatory actions by employers or employees.

It is understood that other bills based on the report are in course of preparation.

SONG WRITER IS DEAD

NEW YORK, May 25. — (CP) — James Blake, who 35 years ago wrote the words of 'The Sidewalks of New York,' the song made famous by Former Governor Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 United States presidential campaign, died last night in hospital at the age of 73. He had been confined there two weeks suffering from cancer.

The circulation of books by John Buchan has doubled in Canada since the announcement that he would be the next Governor General.

Women Were Few In Public Life

WINNIPEG, May 25 (C.P.)—Fifty years ago, a woman on a platform, ready to speak before a meeting, was an event so unusual that Mrs. R. Coristine, of St. Vital, recalls it clearly. She told of her surprise at "first seeing a woman as a public speaker" at a meeting in Young church, when many old time members of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches combined to tell "the young members of to-day" what it was like "in pioneer times."

Ministers Vote Minimum Wage

SPRINGFIELD, Vt., May 25 (C.P.)—Methodist ministers of Vermont voted themselves minimum wages of approximately $21 a week last night and also adopted a "share-the-wealth" plan by which better paid ministers are to contribute to the income of those receiving smaller salaries.

The ministers, meeting here at the annual Vermont Methodist Conference, adopted a minimum salary of $1,100 annually.

WIDE INTEREST BEING AROUSED IN THE STANDING

Real Desire is Being Shown By Whole Districts to Get Behind Candidate.

ELEVEN LADIES TO GO.

The standing of the candidates which was published in Thursday's paper has aroused a fervour of desire in the districts to get behind their favorites and boost them to the stellar positions in race. As announced, only a very few votes separate a number of the candidates and two days' work would very easily bring those up from the bottom to places among the leaders. Supporters can effectively bring about these changes in the standing by calling their candidates and advising them that they have a subscription or a renewal at their disposal. We regret to say that in some districts, members have received little or no support from the district, and we are sure that this support will be forthcoming before the campaign closes, but remember, only a little over three weeks remains in which you can cast your ballots for your favorite. Are you going to let your candidate down? She is depending on you. Get behind her and see that she is numbered among the winners of the never-to-be-forgotten New York-Bermuda trips.

Forty-three delegates, representing the ten senior and two junior branches responded to the roll call; there were the official delegates sent by their branches.

A Mystic Lodge

INDIANAPOLIS May 25 (CP)—There will be no meeting tonight of the mystic lodge of "The Little Bed Bugs That Bite Hard."

Police began a roundup of members when one of the "brothers," a 14-year-old negro, taken into custody last night, disclosed some of the society's secrets.

Officers said the youth told them the lodge had a membership of about 25 boys ranging in age from 10 to 14 years. To become a full fledged "Bug" officers were told, a Neophyte was obligated to drive a stolen truck at least 50 feet; drive a nail in an automobile tire, and steal a pie from a neighborhood bakery.

Western Australia Is Unable To Secede

LONDON, May 25.—(C.P. Cable)—Hopes of Western Australia for early fulfillment of its efforts to secede from the Commonwealth of Australia were dimmed today.

A joint select committee of the two houses of parliament yesterday decided parliament could only take the legislative action sought by the state upon a definite request by the Commonwealth.

Electors of the state in a plebiscite in April, 1934, voted two to one in favor of secession. Three main points were raised in aruments favoring secession—that the Australian tariff system, combined with free inter-state trade had worked hardship and injustice upon Western Australia; that this combination had seriously endangered the economic structure and social fabric of the state, and that adequate relief could only be obtained by secession.

ONE FATALITY IN WEST.

WINNIPEG. — One fatality and several accidents, mostly of minor nature, were reported to-day as a result of Empire Day celebrations in Western Canada. Ira McCance, Vancouver, drowned in English Bay when the 14-foot sailboat in which he and two others were sailing capsized. His companions clung to the craft and were rescued.

2,500-POUND FISH

JACKSONVILLE Fla. — Captain W. E. Marquis bagged his nets for shrimp yesterday and brought in something nearly as big as his trawler.

It was a 2,500-pound bull ray, 16 feet in width, weird denizen of the sea floor, rarely brought to the surface and perhaps never before in a shrimp net.

VICTORIA DAY'S TRAGEDY LIST IS NOT HEAVY

Two Youths Drowned Near Halifax and Ontario Farmer is Killed.

FINE WEATHER IN EAST.

(By the Canadian Press.)

Victoria Day passed in Canada with less of tragedy and mishaps, and perhaps less ceremonial than most Empire holidays during the warm weather.

In a lake near Halifax two youths, holidaying, leaped into the water from a leaky, sinking punt and were drowned. At a level crossing near Simcoe, Ont., a farmer's automobile was struck by a railroad train and he was killed.

At Ingersoll, Ont., a woman ended her life by drowning herself. In a number of cities children were reported to have suffered minor burns from fireworks, but this phase of the day's observance produced no fatalities.

In numerous city parks and smaller communities throughout the Dominion there were baseball, softball, bowling, cricket, tennis matches, and other athletics, usually marked by ceremonies in which public officials participated.

Fine weather prevailed in the east, luring nearly 20,000 to Woodbine race track in Toronto, but in Saskatchewan and Alberta there was rain. Boy Scouts paraded in Montreal for Chief Scout Lord Baden-Powell. National societies in Montreal joined in the ceremony of placing wreaths on Queen Victoria's statue in Victoria Square.

I. Corinthians 11: 24—"This do in remembrance of Me."

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by REV. EDWARD B. JAMES.

A CHALLENGE.

"I will life up mine eyes."—Ps. 121:1.

A DEVOUT Jew, living more than three thousand years ago, makes this challenging statement. He is a pilgrim on his way to offer sacrifice and divine worship in the temple courts of Jehovah, his God. When he says, "I will lift up mine eyes," he means more than the physical lifting up of the eyes. They are but the outward symbol of deeper religious actions. He challenges us across the centuries as to whether we with our two thousand years of Christian tradition are better servants of God than he, who with his little light travelled many weary miles to worship Jehovah and carried away to his country home a deep sense of the awe of His presence and the reality of His protection.

"I will life up mine eyes." Have you an inward image of God? "The pure in heart shall see God." What is your spiritual idea of God? Have you a mental image of God that is worthy of your years of Christian growth and knowledge? When you were a child you had a very clear, definite idea of what God is like, largely owing to your gift of imagination. The Jewish prophets bitterly opposed an idol, not only because it was an outward image of God, but primarily because the image never changed. It was always the same. Probably it has never occurred to you that your image of God should be growing as the years go by. If your mental image of God is the same as when you were a child to that extent you are an idolater; or, to say it more mildly, "you have not put away childish things." You have not grown up spiritually. Perhaps the reason why you have not grown up spiritually is because you have lost your spiritual vision of childhood, other things have entered in and deadened that spiritual sensitiveness and insight. It has become insensitive. This Jew says that he has a sense of the nearness of God and the wonder of His care and goodness. Are you lifting up your eyes with great thankfulness for the growth of inward vision?

"I will lift up mine mind." "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy mind." It is very helpful to remember that our Lord substitutes the word "mind" for "strength" in the quotation from Deuteronomy. The minds of the primitive Christians were gripped by the marvel and glory of the revelation of God through Jesus Christ. We must not forget that they went out into an intellectual world and challenged it to accept the Lord Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour. They appealed not only to the poor and simple, the slaves and the children, but to the finest intellects of that age. A great historian reminds us that the church of the first four centuries produced thinkers of the very first order, who wrote defending the Christian religion, and they conquered the thinking world not only by their lives but by their arguments. It is no disgrace to think about the deep things of God. Perhaps one of the weakness of our age is that the church is not appealing to the finest minds of our universities. Men of first-class intellectual qualifications pass by on the other side, not because their philosophy is anti-Christian, but because the church makes no appeal to them. When our Lord said, "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the Kingdom of God." He meant not only wealth but riches of intellect. The man of brilliant parts has his problems to face in accepting the Christian faith. It is not easy for him to accept the Christian truth that Jesus Christ is the very image of the invisible God. Much importance has been placed upon the simple gospel. It is true. It is true also that the greatest of the apostles, St. Paul, was a man of the very highest intellectual training, and he makes it his business to appeal to the mind of man. But there can be no real knowledge of the Christian faith without this foundation stone, "I believe that I may know."

"I will lift up my hands." "Let the lifting up of my hands be an evening sacrifice." The Jew generally stood when praying, with hands outstretched, palms upward. This attitude symbolizes much to the thoughtful man.

The hands are clean. "Lifting up holy hands." How important this is in our attitude in prayer. For clean hands in the highest sense mean social righteous. Pilate washes his hands before the multitude, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just Person." "His blood be upon us and upon our children," was the awful reply. Are you just and upright in all your dealings with your fellow-man? Many lay great stress upon their personal Christian experience and yet forget their duty towards their neighbor to be just and upright in all their dealings with their workmen or their workwomen.

The hands are empty. "Nothing in my hand I bring," pleading his own helplessness and want.

They are expectant hands lifted in faith, open and empty to receive the blessing. When you really pray in time of stress and strain, the answer always comes, the blessing is never withheld. The Lord's own prayer was, "Father, if it be Thy will let this cup pass from me, nevertheless not my will but Thine be done." The answer came in strength to drink the cup, patiently to endure the pain and shame and agony. As it was with the Master so it will be with the disciple.

"I will lift up my heart." "Thou shalt love the Lord Thy God with all thy heart." This is the root and foundation of all devotion to God. For as you pray and think and concentrate your mind on the things of God there grows a deeper devotion and love of God for all He has been to you. But more especially as the Christ is being formed in you, and His tenderness, His sweetness, His patience, His purity is being revealed through you, you will be saying with deeper humility, "Lord, Thou knowest that I love Thee."

But what is the end of it all? I will lift up mine eyes in spiritual vision, in mental knowledge, in prayer and love, but what will it lead to? A great spiritual thinker and scholar lay a dying. A friend called to see him, and asked him the simple question, "What is religion?" That great scholar and servant of Christ answered, "Adoration." For that is the meaning of this picture in Revelations, "The four and twenty elders fell down before Him that sat on the throne and worshipped Him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying Thou art worth, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power."

Jesus, my Lord, I Thee adore;
O make me love Thee more and more.

Your Problems

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR. WYLIE CLARK

Are we "go-giver Christians" or "go-getter Christians?" — R. C.

The "go-getters" are those who use Christianity to get something for themselves. They are after whatever may come to them — their chance of Heaven, a dignified place in society, a little help in business, a few votes in an election, or anything which might turn up through a church connection. The "go-givers" give themselves, their money, their time and their energies to strengthen the church and to help the needs of the community. Those are the ones who count, and it is upon their increase that the future depends.

Dr. Wylie Clark

Is the study of theology a mental sedative or a mental stimulant?—M. T. S.

There is no doubt about it being a mental stimulant. It is the study of all studies. It seeks finality and asks for the explanation of all things. It can never be content with part answers; and while it professes faith, yet it is always striving to change faith to knowledge—there is no rest.

There may be a sedative touch to some in the study of theology, because they reach a faith which brings mental contentment and a resting joy. Those become inclined to stagnate in their outlook and fall down on their practical living.

What is the Apocrypha.—S. G.

The Apocrypha was the name given to a number of books which for some reason or other were excluded from the lists chosen to make up the canon of the Old and New Testaments.

The following are a list of those classed as the Old Testament Apocrypha: I. and II. Esdras, Tobit, Judith, the Rest of Esther, the Wisdom of Solomon, Ecclesiasticus, Baruch, the Song of Three Holy Children, History of Susannah, History of Bel and the Dragon, the Prayer of Manasses, I. and II. Maccabees.

Those of the New Testament: the Gospel according to the Hebrews, the Gospel according to the Egyptians, the Gospel according to Peter, the Protevangelism of James, the Gospel of Thomas, Acts of Paul, Thecla, Epistles of Paul to the Loadiceans and Alexandrians, the Apocalypse of Peter.

In these days is not the church blamed for too many of the world's troubles?—A. R. D.

The great trouble lies in the fact that like all other organizations the church is just a number of men and women. Wherever there is failure in the home, in business, in politics, in education, in the church, it is a failure of human beings. It is true that the influence of the church should run through all the others and help them to shape their policies and control their methods. That is the real purpose of the church to produce a generation which will have no failures. As the church stands at the head, her failures are more serious and more conspicuous than those of other organizations.

What special testimony did James give to the resurrection of our Lord?—Teacher.

In I. Corinthians 15:7 it says: "After that He was seen of James" That was evidently an appearance to James by himself and was likely the turning point in the attitude of James to Jesus and His resurrection, for James becomes one of the chief men in the church and is named in Galatians 1:19, one of the apostles.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

EVERY man, according to his capabilities, must be an interpreter of God, for it is through man that God works on this earth. Now, we can either be used blindly or we can intelligently align ourselves with His purposes, and so hasten the working out of His thought. We cannot do otherwise, for even seeming evil is transmuted in the end to good.

The true artist, be he poet or painter, is not only an interpreter of God, but he is also both a priest and a prophet, for he looks deeper than does the ordinary man, and sees the Spirit that is behind the mere appearance of things, and the measure of his truth is the measure of his comprehension and attunement with the Spirit. So also the true mystic, for he in his hunger and thirst for God looks behind the mask of creation and finds Him everywhere, for all the forms of this world are but variants of manifestation of the thoughts of God. In Him is unity and the apparent diversity is but the illusion of our conditioned existence on this terrestial sphere. God is One, and the universe is but the material reflection of His powers. It is only a reflection, nothing more, as unreal as the reflection in a mirror. Get behind the reflection and there is God and naught but God. Modern science, the new physics, is on the brink of discovering this, for its great leaders have come to the conclusion that the entire universe is nothing but energy controlled in some mysterious way by thought, but the great mystics have known this for thousands of years, and so used their knowledge that their powers appeared super-human to the multitude. As for ourselves, all we need to remember is that if we definitely ally ourselves with the constructive forces we will grow; if we think to oppose them we will accomplish nothing save injury to ourselves. It is up to us to choose.

A National Message

By REV. W. PASCOE BOARD, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.A.S.

THE displacement in church took place immediately succeeding 975 B.C., when Israel broke away from the House of David and from the Kingdom of Judah. This in itself was not a displacement, for that division was of God. The division took place under instruction from the prophet of God. After the division, the King of Israel, Jereboam, cut Israel from the Temple and from the true worship of God, and set up the golden calves, leading the people to worship them. This is the second time that Israel lapsed into the worship of the golden calf. The first time was at Sinai, even while Moses was in the Mount with God. On that first occasion Moses prescribed a very significant thing. His remedy for "gold" worship was the "gold cure." He caused the golden calf to be ground to powder, and made the people drink the gold.

In this second lapse the disease was stubborn, and has never yet been cured. But now the Lord is leading the nation to abandon the gold standard, which is the same worship in action. Israel, thereafter, drifted into various forms of idolatry. She worshipped the obscene Moloch. She dabbled in the worship of terahpim, or household gods. These forms of idol worship have always been with us, and are with us still. More and more the countries are being caused to groan under the weight of the idols of various forms which are set up and worshipped. The Reformation swept the land fairly clear of these abominations. Their rough hands performed a good task. But of what use is it to smash the external idols, if we keep the image of them enshrined in our hearts. We are not at the moment dealing primarily with that form of idolatry, we are dealing with the worship of God, illustrated by the golden calves in the olden days. Illustrated by the golden standard of to-day. It is true that Britain has gone off the gold standard; it is not now necessary that so much gold should be behind so much of a note issue. But the phantom of the gold standard still is enshrined in the hearts of the controllers of our currency. It will have to be uprooted from thence; or a new generation must arise in whose hearts and minds the shrine of gold has not been engraved. At all events, this is one of the factors which is responsible for the displacement of the Kingdom from its true centre. Let me speak of this as an almost universal thing When we read we may be inclined to lay the root of the evil at the door of some one or more of the denominations of the church. But while it is true that some denominations are more responsible for the displacement than others are, all are more or less involved.—Reprinted from the "National Message."

Light at Eventide

THE following experience may be of some interest. I was present at the good man's funeral and was assured that, for hours after his death, a look of surprise was clearly registered.

Probably about seventy-two, tall, dignified, provokingly silent, one of those granite men from Scotia's Highland. Knowing his man, the doctor told him the truth, direct bluntly. So he laid him down to die. If he was in pain, no one knew. If he had any fear, he gave no indication. Probably an extended search would not have found a better example of suppressed emotion. YET, a few moments before he died his face lighted and with an awed voice he said, "I have touched the hem of His garment."

As setting sun one sudden flaming finger paints the world,
So o'er his calm and 'ranquil face gleamed for a space
Rare light divine.

As one who unawares some secret spring did press,
So his surprise.

Some quivering sense found vital contact with his God.
His pre-view of "The Beauty of the King," confirms
Hope is not vain.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Lord's Supper

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Math. 26:17-30; I Cor. 11:23-29.

The Passover supper was first celebrated by Moses on the eve of Israel's redemption from Egyptian bondage. Jesus observed this ancient rite with his disciples on the eve of his death on the cross for our redemption.

He sent two of his disciples into the city of Jerusalem to find the place for him to eat the Passover. They were to follow a man bearing a pitcher of water. Where this man lived they would find the place where they were to prepare the Passover.

As they were eating Jesus told them that one of them would betray him. This troubled them and all asked, "Is it I?" When Judas asked, "Is it I?" Jesus answered, "Thou hast said," and Judas arose and went out to sell his Master for thirty pieces of silver.

As they were eating Jesus took bread and said; "Take eat; this is my body." And he took a cup and gave thanks and gave to them saying, "This is my blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many unto remission of sins."

SCOUT CAMPAIGN OVER THE TOP.

The announcement that the funds necessary to increase the Scout membership in Canada to 100,000 have been raised, should be gratifying to all Canadians who realize the value and importance of Scout work.

In this connection it should be of interest to learn that there are now 1,323,819 Boy Scouts in the United States, and that at a recent meeting of the National Council which directs the movement in that country it was pointed out that while it only costs $6 a year to maintain a Boy Scout, it takes $5,000 to apprehend and later look after a juvenile delinquent.

That is a comparison that is worth thinking over, for while, of course, there never was much danger of the majority of the boys who are now associated with the Scout movement ever becoming juvenile delinquents, it is undoubtedly true that in some cases the training and environment of Scoutcraft have snatched boys from questionable company and put them firmly on the road that leads to good citizenship.

The success of the Canadian campaign to raise enough money to make possible a membership of 100,000 Scouts in the Dominion is a remarkable evidence of the fact that everywhere the efficiency of the Scout movement is recognized.

"SOAKING THE POOR" IN THIS INSTANCE.

It is to be imagined that if the Ontario Government were to announce that it proposed to tax the amusements of wealthier citizens 10 per cent. and to clap a levy of 20 per cent. upon the poor man's entertainment there would be an instant uproar.

And yet that is precisely what is being done in the new schedule of amusement taxes which come into force on June 1.

The citizen who pays 25c to attend a ball game or a motion picture show will have to come through with an amusement tax of five cents, or 20 per cent. of the admission charge, while the man of means, who can afford to pay $1.50 to attend a theatre, pays 15 cents in amusement tax, or 10 per cent. of the admission.

Even the youngster who pays five cents for a ride on a carnival merry-go-round is soaked 20 per cent. of the charge for the benefit of the provincial treasury, which, of course, is double the rate of amusement tax paid on the more expensive admission charges.

If it is logical that all persons who can afford to spend money on amusements can afford to contribute something toward relief purposes, then surely it is just as logical that all should pay on the same scale, or if there is to be any variation in the rate, the biggest tax should be paid by those who can afford to pay the most.

On the contrary, the Ontario Government has chosen to collect 20 per cent. amusement tax from those who can least afford to meet this levy, while in the case of the citizen who is in a position to attend expensive entertainments the amusement tax only amounts to 10 per cent. of the admission price.

A HUGE TOBACCO BILL.

Certainly when the money that Canadians are able to dig up for the buying of luxuries, such as liquor and tobacco, is taken into consideration it is difficult to realise that any hard-times conditions can exist in a land where such huge sums are available for what cannot be described surely as the necessities of life.

The figures in regard to the consumption of tobacco in the Dominion last year are striking, for they reveal the fact that Canadians, with the help of their visitors, smoked 4,822,405,065 cigarettes, 114,352,000 cigars and 17,963,000 pounds of pipe tobacco in 1934, which is a total large enough surely to cause some thought.

Evidently there is no great lack of money when luxuries are in demand, although the large quantity of tobacco consumed last year will perhaps be viewed as an indication that better conditions have returned to Canada.

There is one sad feature about it, however, that has not escaped the keen observation of the editor of the St. Thomas Times-Journal, who gives the lie to the idea that all this tobacco went up in smoke.

Not more than two-thirds of it did, he submits; the rest was sheer waste.

Cigarette and cigar smokers, he points out, have to discard the last inch, and in that respect the tobacco firms are somewhat like the mustard manufacturer who said that he did not make his money out of the mustard the people consumed, but what they left on the side of their plates.

NO NEED FOR COUNSEL.

As a result of a statement made in the House of Commons by Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., to the effect that a penitentiary official had made a derogatory remark concerning her to a convict in Portsmouth Penitentiary, an investigation is being held by a royal commission.

The Government has named G. R. Geary, M.P., as counsel to assist in bringing out the facts, and now both Miss MacPhail and the former inmate of the penitentiary, who was her informant as to the statement alleged to have been made by the official, are demanding that they should also be provided with legal assistance at the expense of the Government.

There does not seem to be the slightest justification for saddling the taxpayers with the cost of two extra lawyers to get at the truth in this case, which after all is apparently not a matter of major importance.

Miss MacPhail is not in any way on trial; all that is being sought is the accuracy or otherwise of this ex-convict's statement as to what the prison official is supposed to have said about the lady member of the House.

Surely the commissioner and Mr. Geary, who has been appointed to assist and who represents no one in particular, but is expected to bring out all the evidence, as does the crown attorney at a coroner's inquest, can be counted upon to see that every detail relating to the matter that is being investigated is presented.

The commission counsel will undoubedly put any question that is desired by any of the parties in the case, and under the circumstances all this fuss about other counsel seems to be a case of much ado about nothing.

THE CANADIAN BOY SCOUTS.

Sixty-six thousand Boy Scouts, the present numerical strength in Canada, have been and still remain busy with vigorous welcome to Lord Baden-Powell, of Gilwell, the founder of the Boy Scout movement, which prevails now in all quarters of the world with a total of two million, two hundred and sixty-nine thousand members. Of course, the main strength is in English-speaking countries, in which the Scouts lumber one million, six hundred and seventeen thousand.

It is hoped that the sixty-six thousand Canadian Scouts will become one hundred thousand in the near future in response to a challenge given by the Governor-General last autumn, and to the aid which Lord Bessborough has given to a campaign with that end in view. And this should be greatly promoted by two important factors, first the present visit of Lord Baden-Powell, and next a cordial agreement arrived at between the Boy Scouts' executive and the Catholic church authorities in the province of Quebec.

* * * *

A nation-wide drive, powerfully promoted by the Governor-General, has secured promise of something over half a million dollars to finance the Scout organizations in Canada, national, provincial and local, for the next five years. Half a million sounds a lot. For five years, it means $100,000 a year. For sixty-six thousand Scouts, it would mean a dollar and a half a year to help as regards each Scout. But with 100,000 Scouts, the figure will be an average of a dollar per head per year to meet all cost of local organizations, printing, payment of scoutmasters, cost of Dominion headquarters and Dominion meetings, cost of travelling officers to promote the movement, and many other things.

* * * *

The agreement of the Dominion executive with the church in Quebec province is an interesting thing. The Scout movement, except among the English-speaking people of Montreal, had made no progress in Quebec. The Catholic church appeared to be a little dubious about the Scout idea, possibly because of imagining it to be of a military tinge—which it emphatically is not. At all events, French-Canadian Scouts were limited to a few small troops, some of which did not recognize Dominion association, and which quarrelled with each other. Dominion headquarters eventually, about a year ago, opened negotiations with Cardinal Villeneuve, head of the Catholic church in Quebec, and met a friendly response. As a result a cordial agreement has been reached, unanimously on the part of the Canadian General Council, by which Dominion headquarters recognises the formation of "La Federation des Scouts Catholiques de la Province de Quebec" as an autonomous body, having control of its own affairs, except subject in that regard to the church authorities in Quebec, but subject also to the established principles of Scouting.

These Scouting principles mainly, as specified in the agreement—and it is worth while to reiterate such here, as governing all Scout doings the world over—include the following, formally incorporated in the agreement signed by Dominion headquarters and Cardinal Villeneuve:

(a) Promise:—

"On my honor and with the grace of God, I promise to do my best to serve God and the church, the King and Canada, to help other people at all times, to observe the Scout law."

(b) Principles:—

1. The Scout is proud of his faith and conforms all his life to it.
2. The Scout is a son of Canada and a good citizen.
3. The Scout's duty starts at home.

(c) Law:—

1. A Scout's honor is to be trusted.
2. A Scout is loyal to his King and country, his parents, his superiors, and his subordinates.
3. A Scout's duty is to serve and to help others.
4. A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout.
5. A Scout is courteous and chivalrous.
6. A Scout sees in nature the work of God; he loves plants and animals.
7. A Scout obeys without grumbling and leaves nothing half done.
8. A Scout smiles and sings under all difficulties.
9. A Scout is thrifty and takes care of others' belongings.
10. A Scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

(d) National Colors:—

The Canadian flag, at present the "Union Jack," as flown on public buildings by the Government of Canada.

* * * *

As already said, La Federation des Scouts Catholiques de la Province de Quebec is directly subject to the Catholic church authorities as regards its provincial operation; and French-Canadian Catholic boys are expected to join it if they wish to be Scouts. It is agreed, however, that the federation will not operate outside of Quebec.

* * * *

This agreement of the Canadian Scout organization with Cardinal Villeneuve is an important thing for both the Scout movement and for the promotion of Canadian patriotism.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The next holiday, folks, is July 1, or are you interested?

Toronto is to get its million dollar tunnel after all, and there will probably be very little cheering from summer residents on the Island.

Premier Hepburn has certainly given the "Adopt-a-Baby" Week the best possible kind of start by himself adopting one.

Offhand we would be inclined to say that Miss Agnes MacPhail could take care of herself without a lawyer about as well as any member of the House we can think of at the moment.

Parliament took yesterday off to celebrate Victoria Day, and as a result Mr. Pouliot's daily questions will have to be doubled up at the next sitting.

Business is sooking up, we surmise, some alterations being made this week in E. G. O'Dette's filling station on Main St. The in and out arrangement still holds good, however, we hasten to mention.

Largely Waste of Time

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Your editor says that my "Talks to the ePople" have got him "buffaloed." He means that he can't see where I personally am going to make anything out of it. That is certainly strange, but it's true. Discussing things with a view to getting at the truth in "politics," is no doubt largely a waste of time. People see mto prefer to be made dupes of. Such a thing as a united grand effort to get out of the hole wouldn't help the boys who do the work and want the rewards (small blame to them). If the people won't take a vigorous and sensible interest in their own affairs and want to be bled, why not bleed them—and they do.

For Sunday, May 26

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of very gratifying and pleasant conditions in matters of church, charity and purely social, domestic or romantic engagements. These should inspire much happiness and bring advancement.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a year of great benefits and personal happiness, with many aims and high ambitions gratified.

A child born on this day should have a particularly happy and progressive nature, with many high aims and aspirations coming to fruition through its noble and generous traits.

For Monday, May 27

Monday's astrological forecast is a conflicting one, with good prospects for success in business and employment and signs of change or travel bringing new environs and interests. These favorable auspices, however, may be accompanied by trickery and enmity, which should call for much vigilance and precaution.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of business progress or favorable employment, with a breaking up of old stagnations to make way for fresh opportunity.

A child born on this day may have a bold and adventurous nature, plunging into many conflicts and difficult places, mainly to its detriment.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

A few years ago, just before the war, there was a great deal of discussion in the newspapers and magazines about what was called "twilight sleep", a method of preventing pain for women in childbirth. The idea was by no means new, although certain enthusiastic advocates of the method which was called "twilight sleep" would lead one to believe it was.

As a matter of fact, soon after anesthesia with ether was proved to be a success, which was in 1846, people began to look for an anesthetic which was adapted to cases of childbirth.

In the gray Scotch town of Edinburgh, one of the most famous obstetricians in the world then practicing was James Y. Simpson. He had been interested in this subject for many years; indeed, from the time that as a little peasant boy he had become aware of his mother's sufferings during the birth of his younger brothers and sisters.

As soon as the discovery of ether was announced, Simpson made a journey to London and observed its effects in the surgical clinic of Robert Liston.

Discovers Chloroform

In 1847, about a year after ether was first publicly used, he returned home after a weary day's labor with his two assistants, Doctors Keith and Duncan. They found a package from a chemist who had been working with them, containing a very heavy liquid, which was called "chloroform". They at first thought from its weight that it would be of little value as an anesthetic, but all three poured some on a handkerchief and began to inhale it. The result was surprising. Their fatigue vanished, conversation was of unusual intelligence, and they became bright-eyed and happy, until suddenly there was a crash and one after the other fell to the floor. Doctor Simpson awoke first and found Doctor Duncan beneath a chair, his jaw dropped, his eyes glaring, quite unconscious, and snoring in a most determined manner.

Doctor Simpson had an enormous obstetric practice, and soon put this substance, chloroform, to a practical test. He reported on Nov. 10, 1847, to the Medico-Chirurgical society: "I have now seen an immense amount of maternal pain and agony saved by its employment. And I most conscientiously believe that the proud mission of the physician is distinctly twofold—namely to alleviate human suffering as well as preserve human life."

Opposition Develops

Considerable opposition developed to its use on the basis that Divine Providence did not intend women to bear children painlessly. "How unnatural," an Irish woman said to Doctor Simpson, "for you doctors in Edinburg to take away the pains of your patients."

"How unnatural," he replied, "it is for you to have swam over from Ireland to Scotland, against wind and tide, in a steamboat."

The victory for the idea of anesthesia in childbirth was won when Doctor Simpson received a letter in April, 1853, from Sir James Clark, physician to Queen Victoria, stating that he had administered choloform to Her Majesty during her last confinement, and that she expressed herself well pleased with the result.

Improvements in anesthetic agents have been going constantly since then. The agents employed in twilight sleep were not secret, but were two well-known drugs, namely, morphine and scopolamine, and in some clinics they are still used. Perhaps the most widely employed anesthetics in childbirth at present are forms of the barbiturate hypnotics, such as amytal, those remarkable and valuable drugs which have been so recently introduced into practice.

At any rate, the prospective mother may be assured at present that there are available several safe and effective methods of rendering her experience virtually painless.

Actress-Banker's Vow Signed Third Time

HOLLYWOOD, May 25 (C.P.)— The odd marriage agreement of Minna Gombell, screen actress, and Banker Joseph Sefton of San Diego was launched today on the third year of its existence.

When Sefton and Miss Gombell were married in Yuma, Ariz., May 19, 1933, he said he realised their work would keep them apart much of the time and he wanted his wife to enjoy herself.

He went before a notary and drew up a legal agreement providing Miss Gombell could dine and dance with any single man of her choice between the hours of three p. m. and one a. m. without breach of their marriage vow. They both signed it. At the end of the first year he signed a sworn "declaration of trust" and renewed the agreement for another year, adding, "I am very much in love with my wife."

Miss Gombell announced Sefton re-pledged his faith yesterday to show filmdom two married persons can pursue different careers, live apart much of the time and be happy.

United Church Plans Tenth Anniversary

TORONTO, May 25 (C.P.) — A choir of 2,000 voices, directed by H. A. Fricker, accompanied by the band of the Toronto Regiment, will provide a festival of sacred music as a part of the solemn service of thanksgiving in Maple Leaf Gardens June 10 in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the United Church of Canada.

Seats are no longer available and more than 14,000 will gather in the great arena to celebrate the achievements of the United Church during the first 10 years of its being.

The choir, composed of members of individual choirs throughout Toronto, is so large it has not been able to rehearse as a unit.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE BARON OF BEAVERBROOK

On this date (May 25) in 1897 a boy baby was born in a humble Methodist parsonage at Maple, a small village not far from Toronto. (Please do not send in letters stating that I am wrong and that the baby was born in New Brunswick. He wasn't.). That baby was Max Aitken, son of an earnest but very poor preacher, who soon after the baby's birth was transferred to New Brunswick. The years passed, the boy was given the best education his parents could afford at the district schools and somewhere around 17 became a school teacher at Campbellton. His pay was small in order to increase his earnings he asked to be appointed district correspondent of the Montreal Star, for northern New Brunswick "on space"; that meant that he was only paid for what was published. His "string" averaged three or four dollars a month; one month something big broke and young Aitken's cheque was over $20.00. Probably convinced that if there was so much money in the world he would go after it he resigned his school and made his way to Montreal, sitting up at night because he had not the money to pay for a berth, and probably subsisting on coffee and doughnuts. When he entered the office of the Montreal Star he was the homeliest looking youngster one ever saw. He introduced himself. I took him to the Managing Editor and he was told to try his luck at reporting, at a very small wage.

But Max Aitken was not a good reporter. At that time he had no nose for news; even when he got the news he couldn't write it. The only place where he seemed as home was in the financial section. He could add figures rapidly; he checked over the Stock Exchange figures as they came over the tape more rapidly than anyone else on the staff, and it was not long before he became an assistant to the financial editor. So he went into St. Francois Xavier Street among the brokers. It was not long before he began to make money; his dress improved, he was more particular about his appearance. Soon he quit The Star altogether. He got into the swim; he was taken in as a partner in one of the firms; his financial genius served him well. It was not long before he was rising rapidly. He put through the sensational merger of the Canadian cement companies, making some big money. Other big deals followed. Then Canada became too small for him. He went to London. He became an M.P., then a baronet, then a baron, afterwards the man behind the scenes in the Conservative party, the man who preached and practised Empire Unity, and owner of some of the most powerful newspapers in the world.

No story by Horatio Alger ever equalled in romance the career of the baby born at Maple, Ont., and now Baron Beaverbrook!

ALL OF US

WILD YEAST

I do not know what it is, I cannot see. Nobody knows—though the chemists may think they do. Nobody has ever seen it either—though those same seeking chemists have placed it beneath their microscopes and looked....and looked....and looked.

What am I talking about, anyway?

About wild yeast.

You know what tame yeast is. You buy it in neat little packages, wrapped in foil, with a label on it. You use it....If your mother or grandmother made bread, she didn't buy her yeast that way. She had it in the house always—and kept it over from batch to batch of bread.

It was precious, it was never allowed to die. It was like the flame on the altar of the Vestal Virgins, the flame the Romans kept lit forever.

Pioneer mothers carried yeast with them into their new homes. Yeast was their lives.

And somehow, somewhere, if they "ran out of yeast" they managed to get some more. They HAD to have it, for without yeast their families had no BREAD.

But that yeast you buy in the tiny package isn't the only yeast. There's that other yeast that lives in the air, that blows in the wind, that you've never seen and never will. It is wild yeast—and it goes everywhere, gets into everything that is not boiled and sealed and locked away. And if the yeast factories were destroyed and every household "ran out of yeast", there'd still be that wild yeast—that wild, troublesome, disruptive stuff that never dies. There'd still be LIFE.

It's a strange thing, that yeast, strange to think about. But it's stranger still to reflect that there's a wild yeast, too, in the hearts of men. You look at people and say, "These men and women are tamed and done for. There's no life in them, no hope, no adventure." You think that, and then you meet them and you find that they are full of life, eager with hope, rich in restless dreams. They don't need your help. They haven't run out of yeast. They have it with them still.

They carry the yeast of LIFE on their trek across the years and though they themselves may never use it, they carry it for their sons and daughters....They have faith, you don't need to pity them. The wild yeast will take care of them, as it will take care of you when you need it most. You'll never run out of yeast.

Senate To Redraft Minimum Wage Bill

OTTAWA, May 25 (C.P.) — A minimum wage measure was stood over to-day by the Senate Banking and Commerce committee for redrafting.

"Should there not be a commissioner of labor to administer this bill or are we going to depend on a multiplicity of committees to carry out administration," Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Senate leader, questioned.

Senator Meighen did not consider the measue had been drafted in accordance with the resolution of the International Labor organization in Geneva on which the bill is based. The committee concurred the measure, which already has been passed by the Commons, should be re-written.

John Buchan Selects "Lord Tweedsmuir"

LONDON, May 25.—(C. P. Cable)—'Lord Tweedsmuir' is the title chosen by Canada's governor-general-designate, John Buchan, whose elevation to a barony was recently approved by the King. Yesterday he was also appointed a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Mr. Buchan selected the title Baron Tweedsmuir in recognition of his old associations with the village of that name at the head of the river Tweed. It is thought he would have chosen the simple 'Lord Buchan', but a title of this name already exists.

Only scattered sales came along in the Brewery section and in the distillery group Walkers Common dropped a ¼ point.

Worthwhile advances were boarded for Canadian General Electric Pfd., Canada Bread A, Cosmos Pfd. Goodyear Pfd., Goodyear Common Pfd. and Toronto Elevators Pfd.

FINANCIAL NEWS BRIEFS

McWATTERS.

McWatters Gold.—The management of McWatters Gold Mines plan completion of the 150-ton cyanide mill this summer and development work at lower levels remains satisfactory, the Financial News Bureau is informed by sources close to the company. A direct call to W. J. Hoskins, mine manager, at the property this morning found him underground, but official denial of rumors current on the street will be sought later to-day. Weakness in the stock is attributed to false rumors which indicate that values at lower levels have proved disappointing, and that completion of the proposed mill would be deferred. It is understood, however, that production is averaging 75 tons daily and reached a peak one day of 82 tons.

KIRKLAND LAKE GOLD.

Bullion production of Kirkland Lake Gold Mining Co. for the month of April is reported to be over $86,000, as compared with between $60,000 and $61,000 in March.

CENTRAL PATRICIA.

Production from April 10 to May 15 at the Central Patricia Gold Mines amounted to 2,128 ounces of gold, and while details as to average grade are not available, it is assumed that mill heads were up to April's average of .66 ounces. On the former date the second 50-ton mill unit, which increased capacity to 100 tons a day, was placed in operation.

LOWER PRICES SILVER STOCKS

Small Drop in London Price Gives Opening for Lon-Sell-off.

SENIOR GOLDS STEADY.

TORONTO, May 25 (C.P.) — Trading slackened off on the mining section of Toronto Exchange to-day, with lower prices ruling for the silvers and some of the golds and base metals.

Noranda held firm at $42 and Falconbridge displayed strength at $4. Little Long Lac went to $5.70 but at $5.40 closed unchanged.

A small drop in the price of bar silver on the London market gave an opening for the selling of the silver stocks. Bear at 58 was off about three cents, while Eldorado dropped to 2.10, off about 12 cents, and Castle lost a couple of cents. Announcement the White Eagle property had closed down, brought in some selling in that issue and the price weakened to 2½.

Senior golds were steady except for a loss of 40 cents by Dome.

Oil stocks displayed practically no action and prices in the group were mainly unchanged.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MONTREAL EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, May 25 (C.P.). — A general advance of narrow fractions throughout the list outweighed a few scattered losses at the close of trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day.

Smelters reacted to 180, off 2½ points, but it was ascribed to mild profit-taking after the steady rise in the past week. Bank of Canada sold off a point at 61 and International Nickel weakened ¾ at 28¾.

Brazilian and Canadian Pacific Railway were unchanged at 9¾ and 11⅛ respectively. Hollinger Gold Mines gained five cents at 15.00, Building Products advanced ¼ at 30¾, B.C. Power was up ½ at 25½, Montreal Power up ¼ at 28½, and Shawinigan up ⅛ at 16. Fractional advances were also scored by Cockshutt Plow, National Breweries and others.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP). — Continental Europe's gold standard troubles put a damper on stock market bullishness to-day and prices staged an orderly retreat. A few issues bucked the trend but the list closed easy. Transfers approximated 560,000 shares.

Among specialty shares that managed to buck the trend with moderate gains were Wilson & Co., Eastman, Kodak, Congoleum and Glidden. A fairly steady tone was exhibited by General Motors, Consolidated Gas, Southern Pacific, Sears Roebuck and American Telephone, Case, Deere, Santa Fe, N.Y., Central, Seaboard Oil, U.S. Steel, American melting, Cerro de Pasco, Westinghouse, Chrysler and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

All three were overcome by smoke. Bellevue is about two miles west of Ottawa.

ington, D.C., said agents were working on the case.

Returning from School

Meanwhile an intensive search was being made throughout the city for the boy, who dropped from sight while returning home for lunch yesterday noon from the Lowell School.

Authorities indicated their refusal to comment was based on the fear the boy's life might be endangered if they interfered.

Hoover refused to say directly there had been a kidnapping. He indicated, however, official silence was demanded by undisclosed details of the disappearance.

"Beyond that I can say nothing else at this time," the chief of the bureau of investigation said.

It was believed the reported ransom note was delivered to the Weyerhaeuser home, one of Washington state's residential show places, at 6:15 p.m. yesterday.

At that time a group of George's schoolmates and other friends said they saw a special delivery postoffice motorcycle messenger call at the mansion. The messenger refused to answer when asked what his mission to the home had been.

Aroused citizens co-operated as best they could with authorities in the hunt. Even the Lowell School Boy Patrol organized its own posse. Taxicab drivers weaved through the city's streets looking for the lost youth.

The Wyerhaeuser Timber Company is one of the largest of its kind in the United States if not in the world. When George's grandfather died the family's vast timber and other holdings were estimated at $1,000,000,000.

"Big Shots" Blamed

Belief Eastern gangsters were responsible was expressed as the Department of Justice rushed many agents here to aid in the search.

Fifteen Department of Justice agents arrived here, and more were reported on their way in efforts to find the scion of the rich timber family of Washington and Minnesota.

United States Marshal A. J. Chitty at Seattle said he believed Eastern gangsters had engineered the kidnapping.

"This looks like a big league job," Chitty said. "There was talk at first that it was done locally, but we've assumed now that "outsiders" some 'big shot' gangsters from the East maybe, are mixed up in it."

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!
By ALEX J. MORRISON

NUMBER 614

How many things do you look at without seeing them? How many things do you hear without having them register.

The answer to both questions would not be flattering to you. In most cases your mind is taken up with other things. True, but you profess to have a keen interest in the thing being shown to you.

For example, I've told one pupil about opening the face of his club in the backswing no less than 100 times. Yesterday my explanation and demonstration finally got over. He immediately said, "Why didn't you tell me before?"

The pupil happens to be a well-known New York physician who should know when he is giving the proper attention to instructions. I'm sure he'd never excuse an assistant for indifferent attention to his orders. So, study today's illustration carefully. Perform the movement likewise.

NUMBER 615.

A namesake, R. H. Morrison, of Charlotte, N.C., asks, "Would you advise changing from the overlapping to the interlocking grip for putting?" Mr. Morrison goes on to describe his experiences with different grips in putting.

It seems that he is trying to carry out my instructions about the rest of his game. His scores have dropped from 105 down to 90. His main trouble seems to be in getting used to the interlocking grip.

If he only knew it, the trouble lies not in his hands, but in his body. I never recommended the interlocking grip to anyone before he has learned correct body action. When the body works properly, the interlocking grip is a tremendous advantage, otherwise it is not. So, I'd advise you to stick to your old grip because it is better suited to the rest of your swing.

Aim to Utilize Peat Resources

DUBLIN, May 25 (C.P.)—The government has decided to send a commission to Russia and Germany to study utilization of peat resources in those countries following a lecture in Dublin by Allan Monkhouse, former Chief Engineer of Vickers Limited in the Soviet Union.

Mr. Monkhouse, welcomed to Dublin by the ministers for finance and industry and commerce, described the soviet's methods of using peat as a fuel for generating stations. At present, the Free State is obliged to import coal to run the generators which supplement the Shannon hydro-electrification scheme.

The Free State is among the countries of the world possessing the largest peat resources and these are practically undeveloped. An effort is now being made to popularize turf (dried peat) instead of coal, Free State deposits of which are practically useless.

CLOSING MEETING OF MILLBROOK W.A.

Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, President, Entertains Anglican Society.

MILLBROOK May 25 (Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, president of the Anglican W.A. entertained the society for its closing meeting until after the holiday season, the gathering being at her home on Monday, at 8 p.m., the hostess taking the chair and conducting the special Litany, with Mrs. W. Wilkinson reading the Scripture lesson.

Reports included that of the Junior W.A. superintendent, Miss Margaret Simpson, who stated that twenty-three out of the twenty-four members had passed the examination on the mission study of the year. The Dorcas secretary, Mrs. H. J. Russell, reported the annual bale shipped in April to the W.A. House, Toronto, from whence it will be sent on to the Blackfoot Home, in Alberta. An outfit for an Indian pupil in the school was contained in the bale.

The report of the recent diocesan W.A. convention held in St. Anne's church, Toronto, was given by the secretary, Miss Rose Macnamara, and though no delegate had been sent this year and the report was made up from press clippings and the printed form received from Toronto, a most comprehensive account was read before the meeting. The 'travelling basket' netted three dollars to the funds; the Junior W. A. will hold its annual tea in the Parish Hall on June 5th.

The president read a letter from two mothers in the Haliburton area asking for second-hand clothing and expressing great need. The Auxiliary will respond to this four members had passed the clothing as soon as same can be collected and put in proper repair for the purpose. It was decided to hold the usual 'silver tea' during the summer, the time and place to be at a later date. The meeting closed with special petitions for the prayer partners of the society, and the benediction, after which Mrs. Westmacott and Miss Macnamara served coffee and sandwiches and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

The executive of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church held an open business meeting on Monday at 8 p.m., Olver Brock, vice-president, taking the chair for the worship service, Madeline McDowell reading the lesson and Jean L. Burnham offering prayer. This period closed with the prayer-hymn, "Breathe On Me Breath of God."

The president, Mr. B. B. Dawson, took charge for the business period, and on motion it was decided that the Millbrook Y.P.S. would enter a team in the Softball League, five boys and four girls to make up the personnel. A committee was appointed to select the list of players, and to purchase necessary equipment.

The annual banquet, which closes the year, will be on June 7, and the special speaker will be the Rev. Franklin Bannister, M.A., of Canton. A committee was named to help the Rev. Dr. Williams, on June 3, with the moving pictures of Durham, accounts were read and ordered paid, and the meeting dismissed in the usual manner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gautt motored from Toronto to the village on Saturday, bringing shorts for the Gautt lacrosse team of Millbrook, as a further gift, added to the many which the local boys have already received through the courtesy of the Gautt brothers. The late Alfred Gautt gave the sticks and the sweaters for the team, the latter being striped green and white with the name "Gautt" in white letters on the back; the shorts match the green of the sweaters. Each fall a lacrosse tournament is staged at the Cosmos rink to decide the winner of the handsome silver trophy which commemorates the late Alfred Gautt. In early life the Gautt family lived in Millbrook.

Holstein Breeders Plan Big Field Day

Breeders From Eight Counties to Meet in Woodbridge.

Holstein cattle breeders of seven or eight counties in Central Ontario, including Peterborough, are planning a joint field day to be held at Woodbridge Park in York County, Saturday, June 1.

The local members may arrange to go by bus, a detail of the trip that has not yet been definitely decided. If they travel in company they will go directly to Ray McLaughlin's farm, four miles north of Oshawa, but if separately in their own cars their first meeting of the morning will be at the McLaughlin farm at 9 o'clock standard time.

Three other Holstein farms will be visited during the morning. From McLaughlin they will go to the home of George S. Henry at Oriole in York, then to George Jackson's farm at Downsview, and from there to the farm of D. McKinnon. Lunch is scheduled for Woodbridge Park where Holstein breeders from Victoria, Durham, York, Ontario, Peel and probably south Simcoe will assemble for the field day program during the afternoon.

The provincial association of Holstein breeders concluded that there would be more advantage to the members if district meetings of this size were held throughout the province instead of the county field days of other years.

The treasurer read her report. After the business discussion was over, plans were made for the annual strawberry festival, which is to be held on Wednesday, July 3, at the Manvers United Church. A number of committees were appointed to look after the work. A unique feature of the meeting was the reading of the Scripture lesson, without the aid of glasses, by the hostess' mother, Mrs. Fallis, a very aged lady; also that four generations were represented, Mrs. Fallis, Mrs. Kellett, Mrs. Wheelings and little son Bobby.

After the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," was sung, Rev. Mr. Ryding closed the meeting with prayer. A very dainty lunch was served.

Mrs. R. Wheelings and little son Bobby were visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kellett.

Mrs. W. J. McMaster is at present seriously ill.

Mrs. J. Campbell, of Buffalo, is nursing her mother during her illness.

Patriotic Program For Roseneath W.A.

ROSENEATH, May 25 (Examiner Correspondence). — Mrs. Herman Blodgett and daughters welcomed the ladies of the Women's Association at their home on Wednesday afternoon. Owing to the extremely busy season, the attendance was not as large as usual, and sixteen were present.

The entire meeting was patriotic on the approach of Victoria Day, and was presided over by the president, Mrs. Lily Turner. "Our Loved Dominion Bless" was the opening hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The Scripture reading, Proverbs 14, 17 to 35, was given by Mrs. Turner. A poem, "Canada and Canadians," was read by Mrs. L. W. Scott. The roll call was responded to with a patriotic message.

A reading by Miss Ruby Blodgett, entitled "The Mother Heart"; a poem, "The Union Jack," was read by Mrs. Charles Sandercock; a patriotic reading was given by Mrs. M. Davey; a vocal solo, "Red, White and Blue," by Miss Jessie Smith, who played her accompaniment on the guitar; a bird contest, sent by Mrs. M. D. Brown, and put on by Miss Thelma Blodgett, was won by Mrs. Davey and Mrs. Braithwaite, who receive a box of delicious candy. Other hymns that were sung during the program were: "Land of our Birth." "Lord of the Lands, Beneath Thy Bending Skies" and God Save our Gracious King.

Letters of thanks for good-cheer received were read from Mrs. Beecher Hogg and Mrs. George Mouncey. It was not decided definitely where the June meeting will be held, but on motion the members will be asked to bring thimble and needle ready to sew and make articles or quilts for sale. Mrs. Albert Nill and Miss Jessie Johnston were appointed a committee for extra program.

A sale of home cooking will be held on Saturday June 15th, in the Town Hall, this being the chosen way of the society to raise funds.

The repeating of the Mispah benediction brought the pleasant afternoon to a close, after which dainty refreshments were served and a social time was in one district a dental clinic in another, placing kleenex in the several room of a school for the use of children without handkerchiefs, were among some of the activities outlined in the reports read.

Mrs. Colloton Speaks.

Mrs. Colloton of Lorne Park was present at both sessions as representative from the Department of Women's Institutes presiding at the election of officers in the morning, and addressing the women in the afternoon, at which meeting she also conducted a question box, answering questions relative to Institute work. Miss Edith Hopkins also addressed the meeting, once more making an appeal on behalf of the Juniors, and outlining some of the suggested activities for the coming year.

Mrs. Colloton explained briefly the new book outlining district projects. She said that a change had been made in the speaker and short course services. Heretofore the branches have been provided with a summer speaker on request. This plan has now been changed, and the speaker service will be available throughout the year. Short courses of five days' duration will replace the old plan of two-week courses, and will be available chiefly for the more isolated districts.

For the more central branches the Local Leadership Service is advocated as the best plan. This means that each branch will elect a member, who will be sent to a central point, where she will be fully informed of the latest facilities for the betterment of the community. For rural districts the plan suggested for this year is to learn all about wool, which includes the handling of a fleece from the time the sheep is shorn, until the article desired is finished. The plan for the Juniors for this year is the clothing project. Each girl wishing to enter the competition is to make a dress, cutting and making the garment, under the direction of some one capable of instructing in the work. These dresses will all be shown at a central point, and Miss Hopkins will instruct the girls how to judge the merit of the garments shown. These dresses will be shown at the Peterborough Exhibition, and later at the convention at Toronto.

Hall's Bridge First.

Judging of the quilts entered by the branches in this district was an important part of the afternoon session. Hall's Bridge carried off first prize, Lakefield won second prize and Havelock took third prize, in a very close competition in which twelve beautiful quilts were entered. A fourth award equal to the third prize was made to Westwood because of a misunderstanding about the rules for making the quilt. This extra prize was given by Mrs. Colloton. A donation of one dollar from each branch was asked for by the department to defray the cost of the convention to be held in Toronto in the fall. This was left over for the branches to deal with at their next meeting.

Miss Ethel Blakely of Lakefield Juniors gave a splendid report of the two weeks spent at Macdonald College, Guelph, as high girl in the junior judging competition, and thanked the institute branches who had made her trip possible.

Community singing under the leadership of Mrs. Birdsall of Westwood was a pleasing feature of morning and afternoon sessions.

Thieving Bruin

REDBRIDGE, Ont., May 25 (CP)—Bear turned housebreaker is the story residents here vouch for. The marauder is so persistent in visiting a home here the occupant has vacated.

Miss B. White, living in the home of friends, during their absence, was awakened one night by heavy thumping outside the house. The next morning she saw bear tracks. She left immediately.

The next night the bear returned and broke in through a window. It found food in the kitchen. The window was boarded up, but that did not stop bruin. He broke in again.

He is returning to the same house, nightly, villagers say.

FISH and GAME COLUMN

Conducted by The EXAMINER for the Protection of one of Ontario's greates' Resources

After an excellent start, the pickerel fishing seems to have petered out along the Otonabee. The anglers have been busy by night and day at the locks and at other favorite haunts between the city and Rice Lake but the fish caught have been few during the past seven days.

A veteran pickerel fisherman, who has gone up and down the river trying all manner of bait without result, has given it up. He claims the pickerel have gone back to Rice Lake and the run up the river is over. Others admit glumly that the fishing now is not nearly as good as at this time last year.

Bearing out the theory that the fish have descended the river to the lake are the current stories of large catches being made about Rice Lake. Tommy Hooper, cheery confectioner, and several boon companions spent a few days at the lake this week and had no difficulty in getting their full limit. "I never had such good fishing," Mr. Hooper stated.

Other local parties have recently hit off to the lake to do their fishing and report similar results.

FRY BY PLANE

Out in Manitoba they are using airplanes to speed up work of restocking. Millions of fry in tanks were flown this week from Winnipeg hatcheries aboard Manitoba Forestry Patrol planes and were distributed in 30 lakes in all parts of the province.

OUSE COMING BACK

Larry Maguire, hustling insurance salesman, was out this week north of Norwood looking up a prospect. During the jaunt he reports he saw some large trout, "big as tanks" he described them, in the River Ouse a few miles north and west of Cottesloe. The Ouse was popular among trout fishermen a few years back, but little has been heard of it recently. Perhaps it would be worthwhile to pay the old stream a visit. It is reached by driving south from Warsaw.

FRY FOR RICE LAKE

Members of the Northumberland and Durham Fish and Game Protective Association secured results in their requests to the Department for the introduction of some program for the restocking of Rice Lake when more than 50,000 maskinonge fry were placed in the lake last week. Robert Holdaway, of Bewdley, treasurer of the association, reported that part of the fry was deposited in the lake about Bewdley and about 25,000 were freed at Harwood. The supply was obtained from the Belleville hatchery.

SWARMS OF ANGLERS

Pickerel fishing at Rice Lake attracted swarms of anglers yesterday. Bewdley had one of the busiest days in its history, every boat that would float at all being rented out to fishermen who were keen to hook the big ones. Many of the visitors were from Toronto while a bus carried a load of anglers from Whitby and vicinity. Authentic reports indicated that the fishermen had a big day, results helping to boost the popularity of Rice Lake as a fishing centre.

TROUT TAKING FLIES

Streams in Cavan also were sought out by trout fishermen over the holiday. Stories of sizable trout catches continue and can be safely stated that so far as trout fishing is concerned this season is far above the average. The trout are now being readily taken on flies.

RESORT KEEPERS BUSY

At resorts throughout the Kawarthas and down the Otonabee and Trent rivers young and old are busy these days preparing for the arrival of tourists. Boats are being over-hauled and painted, cottages repaired and everything made ready. Down at Hastings the tourists are already on hand and are taking eagerly to the pickerel fishing. Many of the visitors at Hastings are from the States and they maintain that Hastings is one of the choice fishing spots on the whole continent.

Our Common Birds

A Column Written for the Bird Lovers of Peterborough and District.

By Frank Pammett.

THE WHIPPOORWILL.

This is a queer, shadowy bird about the same size as a robin. It sleeps all day in the woods, and flies about after dark with a mysterious softness. It would be difficult for anyone to detect its presence were it not for the weird call which tells its name. Many more people know this bird by sound than by sight. No sound in the Canadian woods is so poetically mournful as the call of a whip-poor-will.

You can come very close indeed without seeing the bird, as his coat of dark-colored feathers blend perfectly with the resting place. He may be on a rock or an old, mossy log, but he must choose a place broad enough to support his whole body because his feet are too small and weak for much perching.

The whip-poor-will is confused by many people with its cousin, the night-hawk, but there are very noticeable differences between these two birds. For instance, the night-hawk flies about and feeds in the daytime as well as in the evening, but the whip-poor-will never flies in search for food except in the late evening. And then, too, the night-hawk's wings have a distinct white marking on them which does not appear on the wings of a whip-poor-will. The throat of a whip-poor-will is dark and there is a narrow white collar across the base of the throat, whereas his cousin, the night-hawk has a white throat and there is no white collar at the base. These distinctions should enable anyone to know definitely which bird he observes.

The whip-poor-will has a short beak, but his mouth stretches from ear to ear. He keeps his mouth open while flying low over the ground and uses it as a trap for mosquitoes, June bugs, gnats and other night-flying insects. Long, stiffened bristles at the sides of his mouth prevent his victims from escaping when they are once caught.

The eggs are laid in an old stump or directly on the ground in the dark woods under a concealment of dead leaves. They are two in number and are mottled.

The great value of whip-poor-wills has become generally recognized in recent years, and the bird has received a greater amount of protection by law than was previously provided for it.—F. R. P.

In answer to an inquirer's question, "Where do birds go to die?" When the time comes to die, some birds fly far out to sea and drop lifeless into the waves. Others seek solitude and cling to the branches of trees until life is gone, when they fall, and are soon hidden from sight by leaves and grass.

JAMBOREE HELD BY BOY SCOUTS

Over Three Hundred Scouts Meet at C.G.E. Grounds at Nassau.

MOST SUCCESSFUL DAY.

An impressive camp fire entertainment at dusk last evening brought to a close the third annual Jamboree held under auspices of Peterborough Boy Scouts Association.

The 1st Lindsay Troop again proved their supremacy by retaining the pennant awarded for general proficiency in Scoutcraft, Scout games and sports, while they lost the Beal Cup of which they were holders to 1st. Peterborough St. John's) Troop.

Final standing of contestants for the Beal Cup, which was limited to Scouts from Peterborough, Cannington and Victoria County, was: 1st Peterborough 1st Lindsay; 8th Peterborough.

Outstanding Success

Outrivalling any previous event of its kind held locally, the Jamboree was evidence of the growing strength and popularity of Scouting. There were 305 all ranks on parade, including 126 visiting scouts from the Central Ontario District as follows:: 4th Oshawa, 12; 1st Cobourg, 17; 2nd Cobourg, 25; 1st Lindsay, 41; Frankford, 14.

Ideal weather favored the occasion and a comprehensive program was run off without a hitch. A good representation of Wolf Cubs and Girl Guides were present, and although not included in the official program, they succeeded in making their own enjoyment and were interested spectators of the various displays and exhibitions of Scoutcraft as demonstrated by their brothers of the big world brotherhood of Scouts.

Great credit for the success of the occasion is due to Scoutmaster Victor Millard of the 8th Troop, who as chairman of the Jamboree Committee bore the greater part of responsibility of organizing the event.

The Program

The program opened in the forenoon with an official welcome being extended to the visitors on behalf of the local Association by District Commissioner John T. Hornsby and G. R. Langley. Other members of headquarters staff included: Albert Hope, assistant commissioner; Dr. G. Murray Fraser, president of the local Association; H. C. Scotheran, member of the Dominion Association; Dr. J. P. O'Brien; Rev. J. C. Moloney; L. A. Grant, secretary-treasurer local Association; and Scoutmasters George Groombridge, 1st Peterborough; Henry Nokes, 2nd Peterborough; George Houghton, 3rd Peterborough; M. Crough, 4th Peterborough; Everett Peters, 5th Peterborough; E. Wolff, 6th Peterborough; Commissioner Hornsby, 7th Peterborough; Victor Millard, 8th Peterborough.

Edgar Jones, field secretary of Provincial Scout Headquarters was an interested visitor, and it is understood that he was keenly impressed by the ambitious nature of the local Jamboree which is one of the outstanding annual events held by Scouts anywhere in Ontario.

Winners of the various events were placed as follows:

Tub tilting, 1st Lindsay. Pillow fight on trestle, 1st Lindsay; Armpulling, 2nd Cobourg; Knot tying, 4th Oshawa; sack race, 1st Lindsay; Needle threading, 2nd Peterborough; Block race, 1st Lindsay; Skin the snake, 5th Peterborough; Boat race, 1st Lindsay; Signalling relay, 1st Peterborough; Obstacle race, 1st Lindsay; 3-cornered tug of war, 1st Lindsay; Scouts pace, 1st Cobourg.

'Hoppers Expected Toward Month-End

WINNIPEG, May 25 (C.P.)—Farmers in the brush areas across the prairies are watching the poplar trees, infallible barometer of grasshopper activity. When the trees reach full leaf 'hoppers usually make their appearance — about the end of May.

Early spring cool weather will hold back the winged pest this year, K. M. King, Dominion government entomologist, believes. A temperature of 65 degrees is necessary to develop them.

They lie only half an inch to an inch below the surface and get more warmth from the sun than seed wheat more deeply covered. Wheat, however, begins to grow at about 42. Infestation is expected to be lessened this year, however, with less than one-third the number of points reporting serious outbreaks in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

ROBERTA'S CHAT

A column conducted by a reader of The Examiner for her other reader friends. Address all mail to Roberta in care of The Examiner.

"Before I trust my fate to thee,
Or place my hand in thine,
Before I let thy future give
Color and form to mine,
Before I peril all for thee
Question thy soul to-night for me."
—A. A. Proctor.

Dear Friends:

This letter is for the young men and girls, who are, shall we say, "keeping company."

Do each of you play fair, or does one impose their will on the other? Are you jealous, and determined to keep your friend to yourself alone? Of course there is always a certain amount of jealousy in loving, but there is the dog-in-the-manger type, who will not let the other have any enjoyment, unless he or she shares it.

It has been my experience, that men are more inclined that way than women.

Men who live a large full life are free of it, but the petty small minded man, has it to a large degree.

Any man or girl who puts up with jealousy is laying up a poor foundation for future happiness. If they would realize, that it is an extreme form of selfishness, and will develop into bullying, they would stamp it out at once.

The mere fact of loving a person, does not give the other license to rob the loved one, of the pleasure of other people's society.

If a girl or boy has to drop all other friends, they are going to have a very thin time.

If they have not faith and dependence in each other, alone or together, they can count on an unhappy married life.

The time of courtship should really be the happiest in a person's life. If it is marred by selfish jealousy, all the fineness is gone.

Sometimes this may seem flattering, but it soon becomes very irksome. Just remember that a fierce fire burns out quickly, in love, as in anything else.

If a person lets themselves become dormant, before marriage, they are likely to become an unhappy drudge afterward.

No one wipes their feet on a grand piano. Why? Because it stands up.

We all need friendship as well as love, and no two people are sufficient for each other. Have a clear understanding, don't expect all your own way, and always remember, that extreme jealousy is a sign that the person concerned feels inferior to others, hence the fear of losing what they have gained.

Sometimes the thought of losing the one they love, will effect a cure.

So make the time of your engagement a lovely thing, by playing the game, both to yourself and the one you care for. I've been asked to write of this, and hope it helps the one who asked for it.

Your friend,
Roberta.

Transients Believed Responsible For Theft

LINDSAY, May 25.— (Special to The Examiner.)—Thieves broke into John O'Halloran's and William Langdon's butcher shops on Kent street early yesterday morning and made off with half a ham, some cooked meats and $15 in cash. There were a large number of transients hanging around the town last night and it is thought that these men possibly had something to do with the burglary. In both robberies the mode of entry was the same. The thieves forced the back door open and entered the store in this manner. Mr. O'Halloran lost $10 in cash and the ham. Cooked meats and $5 was stolen from Mr. Langdon. C. N. R. Detective Ray Morden reports a large number of transients hanging around the railway yards and Chief of Police Lawlor reports ten registering at the police station.

Recent Issues Which Collectors Will Wish to acquire for their Albums

HOW TO USE BLANK ALBUMS

Lack of information regarding your stamps is almost as bad as lack of stamps. By that I mean that collectors using blank albums are in a sense prone to properly write-up and include important information concerning the issue of stamps displayed. Many collectors simply print or write the name of the coutry at the top of the page and let it go at that. By proceeding in this manner one loses at least half of the fascination of stamp collecting and much of the knowledge that is waiting for those industrious enough to look it up and make use of it.

Seldom is it necessary to arrange more than a single issue on one page, and in a good many cases two or three pages may be required to properly arrange and mount a complete series, and incorporate the most important data concerning them.

Some of the details that should always be included are as follows: the year in which the stamps were first issued, and when possible the day and month of issue. Generally, these latter two dates may be obtained through the use of Stanley Gibbons catalogue. Following this, a note should be included designating the type of water-mark in the paper, or if unwatermarked, this should be noted. If imperforate, note this detail, and if perforated, the guage and types of the perforation or method of separation should be included. It is also well to record the name of the printing firm, when it is available, and this information can also be found in Gibbons' Catalogue in most cases. Whenever possible the name of the original designer, or the source from which the design was derived is good information. Methods of printing are also interesting; such as line-engraved, surface printing or typography, typeset, embossed, rotary or flat press, lithography, rotogravure or photogravure, etc. The total quantities of the various denominations printed, date on which the issue was withdrawn from sale, and what, if any, remainders were destroyed is well to know. Most important of all, in the case of commemorative issues, is a short essay describing the person or event for which the stamps were issued in commemoration.

Such information if neatly printed by hand, or typewriter, will add 100% to the appearance of your collection, and when showing your stamps to friends who may not be collectors, you will not be swamped with a hundred or so questions, the answers to which you will probably have forgotten.

The greater part of the details outlined may be obtained through the intelligent use of a stamp catalogue; Gibbon's is really preferable to Scotts' in this respect, listing as it does about twice as much information concerning the various issues. In order to keep right up to date, and to fill in odd bits here and there that may be missing from the catalogues, one really should subscribe to two or three stamp magazines, which will keep you currently posted regarding new issues to come out, historical essays on stamps and much other valuable and interesting philatelic data.

Some time ago we listed various magazines, which can be highly recommended, both for the beginner, average and specialized colector. In case you missed them, we again list the three of our first choice.

The Stamp Magazine, 36 Camomile St., London, E.C. 3. A monthly, subscription, $1.00 for 16 months.

Stamp Collecting, 15 St. Bride St., London, E.C. 4. A weekly, subscription, 15 shillings per year.

The Philatelic Magazine, 112 Strand, London, W.C. 2. Fortnightly, subscription, $2.00 per year.

Supplementing the yearly catalogues, the following two monthly journals are issued, and both are to be highly recommended.

Scott's Monthly Journal, 1 West 47th St., New York. Subscription rate, $1.50 per year.

Gibbons' Stamp Monthly, 391 Strand, London, W.C. 2. Subscription rate, three shillings per year.

The publishers of most of the magazines listed will doubtless be glad to send you a sample copy on request.

If you are not already doing so, start at once and "dress-up" your collection. You will be surprised what an additional fascination it will provide for you.

Man At Transient Camp Lets Contract Valued At $1,000,000—Buys $8,000 Home

TULSA, Okla., May 25.—(P). — "There's one born every minute," chuckled a 55 year old "financial wizard" yesterday after he contracted for construction of a $1,-000,000 tank factory, rented a suite of offices and "purchased" an $8,-000 home here while he was registered at a transient camp.

Arrested by officers who admitted "we haven't a thing on him but possible vagrancy," the "wizard" said he was Ted Baxter of Shreveport, La.

"We picked him up when negro servants he engaged to run his home appeared at the station and complained they had not been paid," Lieutenant Earl Gardiner said. "He had three cents and two cigar stubs when we arrested him."

While Baxter, highly pleased over his "success," remained in jail, officers uncovered details of his coup.

"Plans were already drawn for the tank factory, we learned to-day," Lieutenant Gardiner said. The transient camp dweller next arranged with the bank to sell $500,000 worth of securities in the factory through a New York brokerage firm.

Mandy for Mayor, Campaign Slogan

GLENVILLE, W. Va., May 25. —(CP)—A sizeable group of the women folk think housewife Amanda Thompson could be a better chief magistrate than her husband, Roy Thompson, so the signs went up all over Glenville today:

"Mandy for mayor".

Mrs. Thompson believes the same as her backers for she opened the campaign with this announcement:

"I think I could do a better job of cleaning the town up. Things are going to be different around here or they're going to jail."

"Mandy" is the candidate of the "Reform" party in this little hill town, home of one of West Virginia's teacher's colleges.

Roy Thompson, town photographer, who runs on the "Public Improvement" ticket, doesn't have anything to say about his wife's campaign.

Both of them are opposed by the present mayor, Alvin L. Cottrell, who is seeking reelection June 4 as an Independent.

LES ECUREUILS, Que., May 25 (CP)—A break in the connecting rod of his bicycle caused the death here of Louis Trepanier, 40, father of seven children. Trepanier was returning from work when the accident occurred. He was thrown to the ground and suffered multiple head injuries.

TITLE-HOLDER TOPS TWEDDELL of the tournament. It was the windiest day of a windy week and on the gale-swept outward nine, which previously had given him much grief, he fired a succession of long, low irons which had the gallery exclaiming "marvellous." There are few low iron hitters among Great Britain's amateurs.

All but one of Little's drives were straight down the middle. Several of them stretched 300 yards. He dubbed his tee shot at the ninth to lose the hole. With the exception of the 16th, where he bunkered his approach against a bank, he played his second shots with deadly accuracy.

The 24 year old defnding champion, who is striving to retain the title and become the first invader to do so, missed a one-foot putt at the fifth and simply four-footer at the sixth.

The cards:

Little out	345	445	334	—37
Tweddell out	455	345	346	—40
Little in	434	444	344	38—75
Tweddell in	444	345	343	38—76

Obituary

WILLIAM CROSS

MADOC, May 25 (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred early Friday morning of William Cross, an old and esteemed resident of Madoc at the advanced age of 79 years.

The late Mr. Cross has been a patient sufferer for several years, but was able to be about as usual until about two weeks ago, when he was confined to his bed. He has been a victim of heart trouble for many years, but has been a great reader and student, spending many hours reciting poems beloved through the years, and discussing standard authors.

Mr. Cross was born in Rossshire, Scotland, (and came to Canada at 17 years of age. He spent several years with his cousin, the late Thomas Cross, in his business as general merchant, but later went to California as expert accountant, then returned to Elizabethville, Ontario; from there he removed to Bruce, Alberta, where he had a hardware business and an agency with the Imperial Oil Company.

In 1882, he married Nettie Mouncey, who predeceased him in 1919. One small daughter died in infancy. Since then his sister-in-law, Miss Josephine Mouncey, has cared for his household. He was brought to Madoc four years ago, a confirmed invalid, and since then has been lovingly and patiently nursed by Miss Mouncey, who remains to mourn his loss.

In religion a Presbyterian, and in politics a Liberal, he was in every sense, a good man and an earnest Christian gentleman. He was a member of the Oddfellows for over fifty-four years, and in death wears his fifty-year jewel.

The funeral is to be under the auspices of Madoc Lodge, I.O.O.F. from his late residence on Durham street at 4.30 p.m. Sunday afternoon, May 26th; his pastor, Rev. W. A. Hunter of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church officating.

Interment is to be in Lakeview Cemetery.

ELEANOR A. DEAN

HALL'S BRIDGE, May 25. (Examiner Correspondence).—On Wednesday, May 22nd after the beautiful burial service of the Church of England which was held in St. Luke's Church and conducted by the Rev. E. C. Moore, assisted by the Rev. G. J. Bousfield, and which included two favorite hymns of the deceased "On the Resurrection Morning" and "Lead Kindly Light," the mortal remains of the late Eleanor A. Dean were laid to rest at Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough. The congregation included members of St. Matthew's Anglican Church and other friends from Buckhorn. Among the floral tributes was one large cross of roses and sweet peas which completely covered the top of the casket and which was placed there "in loving memory by her sister and brother-in-law.

Miss Dean, who belonged to an old English family, came out to Canada last August to spend a long visit with Dr. and Mrs. Willis of Buckhorn.

Previous to this she had resided at Horton-Kirby and Gravesend, Kent, England, where she had many friends, her cheerful, happy disposition making her loved by all.

In years past she was honorary secretary of the Royal Life Boat Institution and was also an active member of the ladies' committee of the Gravesend Hospital.

Miss Dean will be sadly missed by the surviving members of her family, namely, her sister, and niece, Mrs. E. E. Willis and Miss Willis in Canada, and her brother, Mr. George Dean and his son and daughter in England.

NURSERY DOOR IS SHUT IN FACE

had travelled 350 miles from Montreal to visit them. Dinner over, the visitors asked if they might see the quintuplets. Of course they might. Mrs. Dionne is very proud of her babies.

They strolled across the road, and passed through the guarded nursery gate. The inflexible rule is "Positively no visitors."

They walked the little way to the nursery steps. The babies, each in her perambulator, were on the porch, catching the warmth of the afternoon sun, their five healthy faces being kissed by an invigorating wind. All were asleep.

Nurse de Kiriline appeared on the porch and stood at the head of the short flight of stairs that lead down to the walk along which Mrs. Dionne and her cousins had approached.

Mrs. Dionne smiled greeting and started forward.

Nurse de Kiriline spoke.

"Don't you come up those steps."

The mother of the world's most famous babies stopped.

Someone protested:

"But we only meant to take a little peek. See, they are asleep, and the wind is blowing away from them. Surely there can be no harm; and we have come so far."

"Don't come up those steps," said Nurse de Kiriline.

Elzire Dionne sobbed disconsolately until long after the Sabbath sun had gone.

Nurse de Kiriline's action was explained due to the presence of companions with Mrs. Dionne, for the mother of the quintuplets has no bars against her at the hospital.

Ninety-year-old Mary Ann Gunton, widow, and William H. Patterson, bachelor and fisherman, were married recently in Great Yarmouth England.

ANTHONY EDEN, LEAGUE COUNCIL ARE SUCCESSFUL

Pompeo Aloisi, Italy's representative, had carried on long and numerous telephone conversations with Mussolini at Rome.

The resolutions provide for arbitration, and, unless the border incidents which caused the trouble and extensive Italian mobilization are ironed out by August 26, the reconvening of the Council to deal anew with the problem. This date is well in advance of the close of the rainy season, which is effectively preventing any military action.

Officials of the League expressed the opinion a telling blow had been struck for peace in Africa.

Mr. Eden said he interpreted the agreement to mean Italy and Tthiopia will delimit the frontier of Somaliland and Ethiopia as soon as the present difficulties are settled amicably.

No More Troops.

The Ethiopian representative said his nation interpreted the agreement to mean "Italy will refrain from sending additional troops to East Africa and will not employ troops already there for aggression."

Italian Government circles at Rome said they regarded the resolutions as following the normal course of events. Officials declined to comment otherwise, except to say the setting of a time limit for the negotiations and recognition of the treaty clauses outlawing recourse to arms fit in with Italian ideas.

Empire for Peace

LONDON, Eng., May 25. (C. P. Cable).—A renewed declaration of the British Empire's role in the pursuit of peace was laid down today by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald.

Before a distinguished gathering which included John Buchan, Governor-General designate of Canada, the Premier last night asserted if there was one thing for which the Empire could stand in the world's present unsettled turmoil, it was peace.

At the same time, it was announced Mr. Buchan, recently created a Baron, had received further honor. The King has approved his appointment as a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. He is expected to take the title Baron Buchan of Tweedsmuir.

The dinner was tendered by the United Empire Societies to the Empire prime ministers in London for the Royal Jubilee ceremonies. Sir Archibald Weigall, chairman of the Royal Empire Society, presided.

The Empire, said Prime Minister MacDonald, stood "not for a peace of surrender, not a peace which gives everything because it is afraid to stand for its rights, but a peace which can come when a people like ours stand as custodians for justice and demand recognition of justice for all other peoples on earth."

Wants Colonies

LONDON, May 25 (AP)—Germany has informed Great Britain her right to hold colonies must be recognized in some tangible form by the former allies before she will return to the League of Nations, well-informed British quarters said to-day.

The German attitude toward Colonial possessions and mandates was clarified in an interview yesterday in Berlin by Sir Eric Phillips, British Ambassador with Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, Germany Foreign Minister.

It was officially disclosed here Sir Eric was asked to question Von Neurath regarding various points raised in Adolf Hitler's Tuesday's Reichstag speech.

Von Neurath, it was understood, said Germany's demand for 35 per cent of the strength of the British navy would not be altered if she were granted her former colonies or mandates. He made clear she does not want actual possession of the colonies or mandate at the present time.

Plans for Anglo-American naval talks, which probably will begin within ten days, also were believed to have been discussed.

OFFER DEFERRED PAYMENT PLAN REPAIRING, REMODELLING HOMES

Johns-Manville Company Offers Unique Plan to Aid Industry.

MANY APPLICATIONS.

An opportunity of repairing and remodelling homes on the plan of deferred payments over maximum periods of from twelve months to two years is being offered to the public by the Canadian Johns-Manville Company of Toronto in an effort to stimulate the building industry by employing a modern method of merchandising.

The Canadian Johns-Manville Company are manufacturers of an extensive range of building materials, and they have decided that they are not going to stand still any longer waiting for the depression to lift, and prosperity to emerge from around the corner.

This company has contemplated the prolonged idleness of the building industry, observed the extent and the substantial results of the deferred payment plan of selling many specialities and some commodities, and concluded that hope for revival of their own business lay in that same direction.

"The home owner has only a limited number of dollars to spend for living expenses, household necessities, repairs to his home and luxuries," the Johns-Manville people said. "The successful sale of automobiles, electric refrigerators and radios are the direct result of a bid for a portion of this dollar by dealers selling on sound deferred payment plans. To meet this competition the building industry must adapt this phase of modern merchandising to its own selling methods, and the builder must realize that for the first time he must also consider himself as virtually a salesman.

The records of the leading finance companies show that, even during the depression, deferred payments are met with remarkable promptness and with a minimum of bad debt losses."

A Sound Plan

The logic of the company's survey of the problem that has held down the building industry since 1929 continued in this vein: "If it is sound for a man to purchase his home on deferred payments (and no one will deny that it is) it is at least equally as sound for him to provide for the proper maintenance or improvement of his home in the same manner. When he does so, he does not really make an expenditure but adds an investment, maintaining or increasing the value of his property as well as adding to his comfort."

The company recognized the established fact that the manufacturers of automobiles, radios, electric refrigerators and other articles were comfortably riding the depression to a large extent by means of the deferred payment plan. On the same system people would probably undertake to improve their homes, make necessary repairs, and bring more comfort and brightness into their households if the cost of this work could be spread over a convenient term of months.

That, in a few words, is the Canadian Johns-Manville plan, backed by the company's credit fund of $1,000,000.

Has Many Applications

If your house needs a new roof, if you have dreams of a sun porch, a breakfast nook, or a remodelled kitchen with colorful "tiled" walls, if you wish to convert an attic into a useful room, or make some other changes which have been put off because of the immediate expense factor, the Johns-Manville plan is not only available to you but should also be attractive.

Insulation of your house to cut down the winter's fuel bill, laying hardwood floors, altering the exterior of your house, and building garden furniture are a few more of the 101 suggestions that are presented in the company's booklet which may be obtained from their local representatives, the Peterborough Lumber Company.

The home owner enters into an agreement with the company in the same form that is adopted in paying for an electric refrigerator, for instance. He can engage a builder who is known to him, providing only that this builder is approved by the company who guarantees the quality of the work.

One Essential Condition

The only essential stipulation requires that twenty-five per cent of the materials used in the job must be Johns-Manville products. All the details of costs are assumed by the company. The builder is paid, the dealers get their money, and in turn the company accepts the home owner's agreement to pay them over a period of a year or two depending upon the total cost of the work.

Instead of having to pay a lump sum for any of these improvements, you can spread it over twelve or twenty-four months.

Its principal feature is the advantage it affords to home owners who estimate the cost of improvements and then hesitate about calling in a builder because their fund of ready cash may not be sufficient to cover the cost. On the deferred payment method they can meet their ordinary expenses, and absorb from month to month the outlay involved in the needed repairs and changes they have made to their homes.

TELLING ON CANADA

and the British Empire

By HARRIS-STAPLETON

When William R. Watson says "Shake" to anyone whose good fortune it is to meet him, it's a foot he extends in a casual manner, instead of a hand. While this extraordinary Canadian from Macleod, Alberta, has arms and hands, they have been useless since the day of his birth. Yet he does almost everything that his more fortunate brethren do as a matter of course—and excells many of them.

Legs and toes are "Bill" Watson's arms and hands, and mighty dexterous ones, too. He has trained them to write more legibly than do nine out of ten hands, to wield a shaving brush and razor so expertly that a "once over" is sufficient, to select and play a card that doesn't trump his partner's ace—in short, to do all of the many things that hands ordinarily do.

Watson was born in Scotland and came to Canada with his parents at the age of seven. Never having had the use of his hands, he didn't miss them, and almost automatically his toes replaced them when he started to school. Sitting on the floor, with a flat board as his desk, he trained his toes to handle a pencil, evolving an individual style of writing which he now calls pedescript. On occasions, the same foot tasted an impartial teacher's strap!

Early in life, Watson adopted as his motto, "They can who think they can," and pursued it so successfully that he completed Grade XII with highest standing. After completing high school, he proceeded on to the University of Alberta at Edmonton, where he found it necessary to develop a second style of writing, in order to take class notes. Here, too, he succeeded, gripping his pencil in his teeth and writing in that manner.

To-day, at the age of 31, this Canadian who refused to be daunted by so severe a handicap is a full-fledged lawyer, possessor of considerable experience as a salesman, and author of a book that has gone through two editions. He enjoys normal human activities to the full, even swimming and skating. His big mission in life is that of awakening Canadians to the necessity of giving crippled children greater opportunities to overcome their physical disabilities than were available to him.

Captivating to the antiquarian and historian is the old fort and museum at Annapolis Royal (Nova Scotia), which among its numerous distinctions has that of being the oldest town in Canada. Here are to be found relics galore of old Acadia in the days when ownership from day to day was uncertain, changing no less than nine times during the period 1613-1710. Visitors still traverse a road originally built in 1608.

Half a century has passed since Canada emerged from the turmoil of the Riel Rebellion, which began March 19, 1885, and ended when the half-breed leader surrendered to the authorities in the following May. He paid the penalty with his life on November 16 of the same year.

JAMES ARBUCKLE

TWEED, May 25. — (Examiner Correspondence).—James Arbuckle, a former well-known resident of Tweed, died at his home, 152 East Dundas street, Belleville, on Wednesday, May 22nd, following a brief illness. The late Mr. Arbuckle suffered a sudden stroke one week ago and his condition had gradually grown worse. Born in the Township of Hungerford in August, 1864, he was a son of the late William Arbuckle and with the exception of the last seven years in Belleville, had spent all his life in the immediate district of Tweed.

For forty years, the late James Arbuckle was a faithful employee of the Houston Company and on their removal to Belleville, in 1928, he left Tweed to make his home in that city. For thirty years during his residence in Tweed he was a member of the choir of St. James' Anglican Church and took an interest in all branches of church work.

The late Mr. Arbuckle was a Conservative in politics and took an interest in the welfare of the party.

He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Jennie Coulson of Thomasburg and two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Freeman and Bernice, both of Belleville, and one son, H. J. Arbuckle of Walkerville. Four brothers remain, William, George, Byron and Albert, all of Thomasburg.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon, May 24th, with services in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, conducted by Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, vicar, assisted by Rev. C. T. Lewis, formerly of St. James' Church, Tweed. Following the services in Belleville the remains were brought to Tweed and interment made in St. James' cemetery, with Rev. G. Hope Swayne conducting the graveside service assisted by Rev. C. T. Lewis.

Faster Way Found to Relieve Headaches

NOW PAIN OFTEN RELIEVED IN MINUTES!

Remember the pictures below when you want fast relief from pain. Demand and get the method doctors prescribe—Aspirin.

Millions have found that Aspirin eases even a bad headache, neuritis or rheumatic pain often in a few minutes!

In the stomach as in the glass here, an Aspirin tablet starts to dissolve, or disintegrate, almost the instant it touches moisture. It begins "taking hold" of your pain practically as soon as you swallow it.

Equally important, Aspirin is safe. For scientific tests show this: Aspirin does not harm the heart.

Remember these two points: Aspirin Speed and Aspirin Safety. And, see that you get ASPIRIN. It is made in Canada, and all druggists have it. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every Aspirin tablet.

Get tin of 12 tablets or economical bottle of 24 or 100 at any druggist's.

WIDE INTEREST

left the impression that eleven ladies would be given trips. The inference is obvious, but we assure you that, if we had intended to award eleven trips, it would have been strongly advertised. The original plan was to award nine prizes, with the lady winning first prize being awarded the privilege of taking a friend or relative with her. We felt that, rather than have any misunderstanding or hard feelings after the contest is over, we have chosen to let it stand as indicated in the first announcements of the campaign. In other words, the generosity of The Examiner through their Travel Club is awarding eleven trips in all. This means that, at the end of the contest, the ten ladies standing highest in votes will win eleven trips instead of nine ladies winning ten trips, as originally intended.

Bonuses Awarded on New Subscriptions of Six Months

Up to the present a bonus of 5,000 votes have been given on all new subscriptions of one year only. It seems only fair that extra votes should be allowed for a new six months subscription, so we have decided to allow 2,500 extra votes on all new six month subscriptions. This will be applicable on all such subscriptions turned in by the candidates from the start of the campaign.

Second Payment Subscriptions Important.

We cannot too strongly stress the importance to the candidates of second payment subscriptions, from a standpoint of votes. We believe that members have a thorough understanding of the working of second payment subscriptions. Votes on second payment subscriptions will be computed on the schedule in force when the first payment was made. This offer is being taken advantage of by many of the candidates and in many cases they are securing third and fourth payments on subscriptions.

150,000 Vote Bonus Given Next Week.

Again to conform with th popularity of the two special vote bonuses given for $10 and $12, respectively, we are again awarding a bonus for next week of 150,000 votes for every $10 turned in by the candidates. Any balance left over from last week's clubs will be included in next week's offer. Candidates, do not fail to get your share of thes SPECIAL VOTE BOUSES while they last.

Toronto Driver Hurt In Spectacular Crash

Although there was a large volume of traffic on the highways yesterday, Provincial Traffic Officer A. E. Hornick had no accidents to report on his beat extending from Fowler's Corners to Port Hope, on Highways No. 7 and 28, over the holiday.

He stated however, that he is considering laying a charge of reckless driving against John Loughran, 23 Standish avenue, Toronto, in Port Hope Magistrate's Court in connection with an accident in which Loughran was involved near Bewdley on Thursday night.

At about 7.45 p.m. Thursday, according to the officer, Loughran, who was driving a car owned by the Canadian Raybestos Company, left the highway when negotiating a curve about a mile this side of Bewdley. The car was badly wrecked, landing in the ditch with the radiator buried in the ground and the rear axle pointing skywards. The driver received injury to his right ear, and three stitches were required to close the wound.

Thirteen-year-old Odette Martin has been charged with arson, it being alleged she was caught firing a farm in France.

YOUNGER BLOOD WILL BE TAKEN INTO CABINET

Anthony Eden and Malcolm Macdonald Are Slated For British Cabinet.

PREMIER TO RESIGN.

LONDON, May 25 (C.P. Cable).—Introduction of new and younger blood into the cabinet loomed as a possibility to-day.

The latest report had it Malcolm Macdonald, son of the Prime Minister, would step into the office of Secretary for the Dominions now held by J. H. Thomas. Anthony Eden was prominently mentioned as a possible successor to Sir John Simon as Foreign Secretary.

Macdonald to Retire

An unfavorable report on his eyesight, which had caused him trouble for several years, was believed to have made certain the resignation of Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald.

Stanley Baldwin, former Prime Minister, leader of the Conservative party and now Lord President of the council, was expected to take over Mr. MacDonald's office.

Capt. Anthony Eden, 37-year-old Lord Privy Seal, has made a name for himself in the field for Foreign Affairs by his negotiations in various European crises. He represented Britain with distinction at several League of Nations meetings in Geneva and played an important part in conciliating Hungary and Yugoslavia last December when they fell out over the efforts to assess responsibility for the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Marseille in October.

More recently he went with Sir John Simon to Berlin and alone to Moscow, Warsaw and Praha in efforts to devise a collective security scheme for troubled Europe. He played a leading part in the negotiations at Geneva which culminated last night in the agreement of Premier Benito Mussolini to conciliation of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Malcolm MacDonald Parliamentary Undersecretary for the Dominions since 1931, is only 34. He has travelled widely in various parts of the Empire. At present he is suffering from a stomach ailment, but he is expected to make a quick recovery.

There was no indication as to whether other cabinet posts would be found for Jimmie Thomas and Sir John, if these changes take place, or whether they would no longer remain in the cabinet.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

CONTEST WINNER.

Mrs. J. Torpey, 585 Elm street, is one of the winners in the recent Dodds' Medicine contest as announced in The Examiner.

"BE PREPARED"

That is the Boy Scout motto, and the manner in which it is lived up to was amusingly demonstrated over the holiday.

Through a typographical error, it was announced in The Examiner that the big Victoria Day Jamboree at Nassau was to start at 1.30 a.m. E.S.T., instead of 11.30 o'clock in the forenoon.

Were the Boy Scouts taken by surprise? Not the least!

A party of them encamped at Nassau on Thursday night, and at 1.30 a.m. Friday, one of their number, who evidently possesses a good sense of humor telephoned his scoutmaster.

The "S.M." doubtless awakened out of his slumbers, heard in sleepy-eyed surprise, that the Jamboree had started — right on time!

PREMIER A SUBSCRIBER.

Miss Virginia Lobb of Indian River, one of the young ladies who may be destined to share the pleasures of the Examiner's Travel Club trip to New York and Bermuda, recently turned in a subscription from Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn. Incidentally, the private secretary to the Premier is Roy Elmhirst of Indian River, a former student of the Peterboro Business College.

PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

Lacking a flagpole, an Empire-minded family of the south end of the city utilized the family clothesline, where a large bright red flag was pinned neatly and flaunted itself to the breeze in a horizontal direction.

John Brownlee, the blind news vendor of Charlotte street, is again compelled to move his quarters. This time, the encroachments of advertising billboards demand the space occupied by his stand. So it is to be moved and will be placed just north of the B. F. Ackerman establishment on George street.

SELLS BULL TO GOVERNMENT.

W. H. Elmhirst and Son of Indian River recently sold a 2-year-old red pure-bred Shorthorn bull, "Laird's Delight" (217,104) to the Federal Government. It was one of a shipment of Shorthorn and Aberdeen Angus cattle which the Government bought for the use of Saskatchewan farmers, assembling them at Guelph and forwarding them by rail to the West.

LOST—AND FOUND.

According to police report, Dan Ryan, 14, of 291 Rubidge Street, stated to have been missing from his home since last Friday, has been located by the truant officer at the home of his grandfather in Otonabee Township. He was just "scheming school," officials stated.

They Will Soon be Shouting "BON VOYAGE"

Bermuda's Lure Stirs Activity; Enthusiasm Shown in Standing of Travel Club Members--High Votes.

Notice to Subscribers

You have seen the standing of the candidates. We know that every district is agog with the positions in the race of their candidates. Interest is at fever heat. Candidates are working at top speed and you can bet they will look for your increased support. Make sure that your favorite is a winner. Only three more weeks remain in which you can decide whether your favorite will be a winner or not.

BE A BOOSTER!

STANDING

The standing shows the position of the candidates up to Saturday, May 18th. As will be seen, in many cases, members are tied for position, and in most cases only a few votes separate candidates. The race is extremely close and many changes will be effected as the campaign progresses and those who are on top are by no means safe, because they have contenders who are dangerously close. While only a couple of days work will put those who are lowest up among the leaders.

Millions of votes are yet to be counted and registered, but the candidates and their helpers can get a general idea from the standing of how the race for the trips is going.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The woman who is going abroad and who wishes to be well dressed on ship board, does not require many changes of costume, but she will need certain dresses, wraps, etc., some of them sport clothes, some dressy frocks.

* * * * * * *

Also for headwear she will need a tight-fitting close hat, and it is wise to take a square or triangular silk scarf to tie about the head when the wind is brisk on deck. Some young women entirely discard hats on ship board, and wear these natty scarfs instead.

* * * * * * *

For footwear sport shoes and dancing slippers are essential. One traps the deck many times a day, and dances, probably, every evening.

* * * * * * *

It is customary to dress for dinner. Of course, if a woman is too sick to bother about her appearance, it will be understood should she fail to be in evening dress. But the etiquette on shipboard is evening dress for dinner, and the evening entertainment, which may be dancing, or may be some entertainment by the passengers.

* * * * * * *

One evening the ship's orchestra gives a benefit concert. The last evening is the grand celebration, and for this occasion fancy dress is customary. However this is not compulsory and the smartest of the women's evening gowns can be worn if preferred.

* * * * * * *

If a woman has several evening dresses, she saves the best for this festive occasion when she is not planning to be in fancy dress. It will be known what sort of entertainment there will be on the last night aboard ship and arrangements for it can be made. On the first evening don a becoming evening dress, but let it not be the best you have. By this you will perceive that two or more evening gowns are preferable to one.

* * * * * * *

A heavy coat is something not to omit from a ship's wardrobe. There will be times when you are sure to want it, unless the trip is phenomal. A smart evening wrap is another essential. It will probably be worn at times during every evening.

* * * * * * *

To eliminate both and also cost of transportation of luggage, there is an excellent custom of leaving a trunk in a dock's baggage room. In it are stored all the clothing for ship wear which will not be wanted on shore. The cost is trifling for this service. On returning to take passage back home there will be room in the trunk after the contents have been taken out, to pack the accumulation of articles collected.

I.O.D.E. DECORATES SOLDIERS' GRAVES

Over 200 Graves Are Decorated by 57th Chapter on Empire Day.

According to the yearly custom on Empire Day, members of the "57th Regimental Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire," met at 2.30 at Little Lake cemetery to decorate the graves of deceased soldiers. 200 graves were decorated with little Union Jacks, and the following prayer was repeated:

"In the name of Canada and the Empire, we place this flag upon the grave of ——, in remebrance of duty done. May God ever protect and bless our country, our homes and our people."

On the staff in the Memorial Base in front of the cemetery, a new flag was erected and the Regent, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, repeated a prayer in memory of soldiers buried overseas.

A minute's silence was held in memory of the late dear member, Mrs. Poole, who for many years looked after the Chapter's cemetery work. The graves of all former members who have passed on were also decorated and at 4.30 at St. Peter's cemetery, 35 soldiers' graves were decorated and the prayer repeated at each grave.

Mrs. G. Melton, convenor, looked after arrangements.

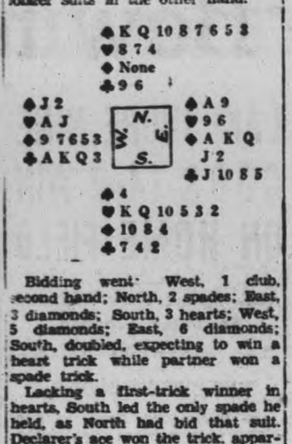
DUPLICATION OF VALUES

While trick counting may be depended upon up to nine or ten tricks, it is dangerous to attempt higher calls without more specific information, on account of duplication of values. East and West have good hands, but singularly enough, each holds the 5-4-2-2 distribution, with specified suits of equal length in both hands. This is unusual and afforded no opportunity for discards of losers of one hand upon longer suits in the other hand.



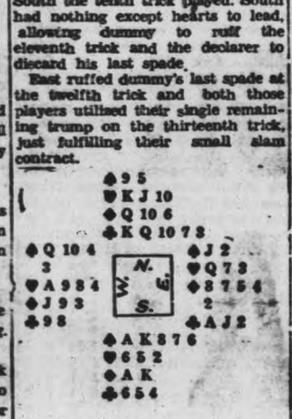
Bidding went: West, 1 club, second hand; North, 2 spades; East, 3 diamonds; South, 3 hearts; West, 5 diamonds; East, 6 diamonds; South, doubled, expecting to win a heart trick while partner won a spade trick.

Lacking a first-trick winner in hearts, South led the only spade he held, as North had bid that suit. Declarer's ace won the trick, apparently doomed to go down a single trick, having one loser in spades and one in hearts.

The declarer ran off three trump tricks, pulling all opposing diamonds. Then he ran off four club tricks. South let go his lowest heart. North discarded three spades while trumps were led, and the 4 and 7 of hearts upon the last two clubs led.

East suddenly had a bright idea. South led the 4 of spades. Dummy held the 2. North discarded the 6, 5 and 3, in descending order. South must have led a singleton, and the five remaining cards held by South must be all hearts. That solved the declarer's problem. He led off dummy's ace and J of hearts, giving South the tenth trick played. South had nothing except hearts to lead, allowing dummy to ruff the eleventh trick and the declarer to discard his last spade.

East ruffed dummy's last spade at the twelfth trick and both those players utilised their single remaining trump on the thirteenth trick, just fulfilling their small slam contract.



The call is three no-trumps by North. The opening lead is the 4 of diamonds. Before Monday see whether North can fulfill his contract. Ten members of an exclusive Boston club state that it cannot be done.

"LADDIE" AND LAUREL AND HARDY

"Laddie" is the feature picture, one of those enchanting affairs that portrays life as it is lived, not in exotic surroundings, but close to the soil and heart.

Gene Stratton Porter's well-known novel has been dramatized with superb finish. A little girl opens the picture—and closes it—the elfish, old-fashioned little creature that was so prominent in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" played by the same small damsel, Virginia Weidler, who does better work even in "Laddie" as "Little Sister" the small bit of femininity who goes about poking her small nose into other people's business and adding a charm all her own to the story that centers about the romance of the Indiana farmer lad, "Laddie" Stanton, and the blue-blooded English girl, Pamela Pryor. John Beal, who did so well as "The Little Minister," and Gloria Stuart, have the leads.

In "The Fixer Upper," the exasperated Mr. Hardy and the martyrised Mr. Laurel have a vehicle that provides them with many opportunities to exercise their own particular brand of fun-making. In their quaint fashion, they essay to settle the matrimonial difficulties of a dramatic lady, while engaged in the prosaic occupation of selling Christmas cards. It is a good example of their amusement-makers, and, as this reviewer happens to be a great admirer of these two goofy gents, it went over big.

Be Beautiful

(By Gladys Glad)

SOME TIME AGO a popular magazine published the photographs of the hands of some of the famous women of 1935. Among the hands pictured were those of Amelia Earhart, famous aviatrix; Katherine Cornell, talented stage star; Babe Didrikson, Olympic athlete, and Pat Paterson, cinema luminary. The hands of each of these individuals differed in usual occupation, in points of grooming, in strength and in texture. But they all possessed one common trait—perfect shapeliness. Tipping the fingers with a brilliant polish, Pat Paterson asserts, won't make the hands look attractive if they aren't well shaped. And she's certainly right concerning that.

Every one of these women will tell you, however, that exercise is one factor that helps to make the hands shapely. Amelia Earhart, for instance, enjoys tinkering with aeronautic machinery, thus her fingers have become nimble and flexible. Katherine Cornell and Pat Paterson use their hands to express emotions, thus they, too, must keep their hands limber and flexible. And Babe Didrikson's many athletic accomplisments give her hands plenty of exercise. Of course, the average woman seldom thinks of exercise as a molder of contours. But hand exercises really are important for hand shapeliness.

Exercise Helps

Exercise really does a great deal to mold and shape the hands attractively. And there are some excellent ones for this purpose outlined in my article on "Care of the Hands and Nails." But the following also are effective:

Stand erect, extend your arms forward. Then relax your hand muscles and flap your hands up and down from the wrists. The hand muscles must be entirely relaxed during this exercise, and the flapping must be done briskly.

Using the left hand, push the fingers of your right hand as far back as you can. Then reverse the exercise, pushing the fingers of your left hand back with your right hand. Do not use too much force when doing this exercise, however.

Pretend you are practicing five-finger exercises on an imaginary piano, stretching your fingers as far as you can. If a real piano is available, use it and see how much over an octave you can stretch your fingers.

With each finger pointing straight ahead, describe circles in the air with first the thumb, then the fore-finger, then the centre finger, then the fourth finger, and finally the pinky. Make the circles as wide as you possibly can, in order to stretch your finger muscles.

EDMONTON, May 25 (C.P.) —Business men of Alberta who seek university graduates for their office or field staffs will be aided by the University of Alberta. Under the direction of Dr. W. C. Wallace, president of the university, leading firms will be given information about the qualifications of graduates seeking a commercial course in life.

Investigation into careers of the university's school of commerce graduates resulted in reports on 97 of the 127 men and women graduated from the institution since it started in 1923. They are employed in Alberta, Toronto, Vancouver, the United States and one in Honolulu.

Some have taken up teaching; others are engaged in secretarial work; in the Canadian trade commission offices and in general commercial fields. One graduate took up farming.

The survey showed that only seven of the 127 graduates had married since leaving the commerce school.

GEORGE DEMAR PAYS BIG PRICE AT WOODBINE

Young Lindberg Riding Sensation During First Week's Racing at Toronto.

BITS FROM MURRAY

WOODBINE hangs up the shutters this evening until the fall months after a very good spring meeting. The weather was unprecedented with the sun shining every day and a fast track prevailing at all times. Young Lindberg was sure the riding sensation of the week, keeping up his wonderful run right until the end. It is to be hoped that Eddie Seagram leaves him in our midst and does not ship him to some American track . . . . This threatened strike of the horsemen would sure tie things up on our tracks but our guess is that everything will be straightened out to the entire satisfaction of all.

We told you some six weeks ago that thirteen year old George De Mar had a few wins left in his ageing legs and did you notice where he done the trick on Thursday at twenty-one to two, and that will not be the last for this old fellow as he is in rare form right now and acting like a two year old . . . Boosebel is a little longer than usual coming to hand this spring but is nearing the peak of her form right now and will gather in a purse at next outing. Lady Herkberger is a sprinter that will cop a six furlong event any day now. This mare has a lot of early speed and when hitting on all four is tough to beat.

DETROIT opened up this week and our old friend Ladfield grabbed off a purse the very first day. Homework is also at this track and is in fine fettle so you can expect to see him lead into the winners' circle any day now. The Halliwell stable has also been shipped there from the Woodbine but will come back later for a whirl at our tracks . . . Thorncliffe is having five days out of seven set aside for ladies' days when the members of the fair sex will be admitted for fifty cents. And on those days the feminine shrieks will be heard in downtown Toronto as one of their longshot specials pops down in front.

During this Woodbine meeting the Smallman stable lost about six horses by way of the claiming route. It is usually the reverse with George Alexandra, the trainer for this establishment is always reaching in and grabbing any horse that is in shape. (A bit of their own medicine) . . . Conny Smythe is expected back in Toronto tomorrow and then we can look for some action from his stable. During his absence they have not won a purse and Conny will likely issue a few orders that will remedy this. Direct Hit is about the best of the lot and should be heard from in the very near future . . . Young Athens, the clever apprentice will do the riding for the hockey magnate.

PETES CLICK IN FOURTH AFTER SLOW START; HOLLINGSWORTH-FOLEY GET THREE-BASE HITS

Crashing out 14 hits, five for extra bases, Johnson Motors opened their C.O.B.L. campaign in Riverside Park yesterday with a 10-4 win over Dominion Brewers of Oshawa. A huge holiday crowd witnessed the Petes' 1935 debut and saw some hard and timely hitting behind Spook Scriver's five-hit pitching.

An ideal baseball day marked the occasion with a warm sun shining. Following the big parade to the park and the rival players' criss-cross march before the grandstand with the Rangers' Band playing, the season was opened with Mayor Denne throwing the first ball, Alderman Macdonald catching and Alderman Cotton at bat.

The Petes were slow in starting but in the fourth began to pound Moose Mathews' offerings. He retired in the sixth with the score 6-2 and Walter Knox found trouble trying to subdue the locals the rest of the way. Scriver was stingy with his hits and fanned four, improving as he went along except for a wild streak in the ninth. Despite a few fielding lapses on each side, some neat defensive play was shown, while the hard hitting of the homesters was a feature.

Whatley led the stickers with two doubles and a single in four tries, while Clark, Burton, Foley and Hollingsworth hit safely twice apiece. Hollingsworth and Foley smashed out three-base blows with Kearns coming through with a two-bagger. Mathews knocked a double and single in four for Oshawa while Hurst singled twice in five times. Both infields flashed some good play at times, having plenty to do, while Hurst and Foley grabbed nice catches in the garden. A Clark-to-Hollingsworth-to-Ash double-play drew a hand.

On an error and two outs, Hurst got to third but died there in the first. The Brewers tallied two runs in the second. With one out, Grose singled and reached second on Scriver's error. Kitchen walked and both moved up on a sacrifice. Mather's double sent both home. They did not get a man past second from then until the ninth when two more were counted. With one away, Peacock, pinch-hitting, drew a walk. He reached second and Kitchen first when Clark dropped Hollingsworth's throw. Osborne walked to load the bases. Knox forced him at second but Peacock scored and Kitchen stopped at third, coming in later on Hurst's single. Calladine took Rowden's fly to end the brief rally.

The Petes failed to do anything for three frames, though Burton hit safely in the second. They got a brace in the fourth. Calladine singled and raced home on Foley's triple to deep left. The latter trotted in on Osborne's wild throw to third. Two more tallied in the next canto. Whatley doubled to right and scored on Clark's single. The latter took second on a sacrifice and crossed the plate on Hollingsworth's bingle. They made it 6-2 in the sixth with another pair.

Continue Scoring

Ash singled and took third on Whatley's double to right. Ash scoring on a bad throw. Whatley raced in when Clark hit safely. Three were chalked up by Knotty Lee's gang in the seventh. Calladine walked but was forced by Foley, the latter tallying on Kearns' double to left. Burton's single sent in Kearns and an out and a hit by Whatley chased in Burton. The final counter came in the eighth, Scriver reaching second on an error and trotting home on Hollingsworth's triple to deep centre.

LAKESHORE NINE COPS 14-0 WIN ON HOME FIELD

Weak Mound Work Accounts For Petes' Lopsided Setback.

TWO CIRCUIT BLOWS.

The Intermediate Petes ran into a 14-0 whitewash as they played the opening game of the Lakeshore League against Bowmanville on the Bowmanville lot yesterday afternoon. A crowd of four hundred sat in the May 24 sunshine and cheered the homester squad to the signal victory.

Weak moundwork spelled the Petes' doom. Barrie twirled the opening three stanzas allowing two hits of which one was a home run smack and then he was taken for another homer in the fourth, Manager Doug. Moore put in McGillen, who was stampeded out of the box during a disastrous fifth innings in which the Bowmanville squad counted seven runs, and Clark finished. Piper, on the hometowners' mound, pitched steady ball, fanning five, allowing five hits and two walks.

Bowmanville opened the scoring with G. Piper's homerun in the third, a sock over the left field fence. Large contributed another circuit clout the next inning. A three-base hit by Bagnell started the procession in the fifth inning. A double by G. Piper, three walks and two free bases for men hit by pitched balls accounted largely for the seven counters. When Clark took over the box, the Petes settled down to better ball and held the victors to three runs in the remaining three appearances at bat.

Dizzy Writes Now

"Now this is the way I pitch." Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, ace St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, seems to be enjoying the task of writing a series of sport articles for the newspaper-reading public. With pencil behind his ear, Diz does some cogitating before trying to tell in typewriter language, how to pitch to men like Babe Ruth. But judging by the smile, Pitcher Dean finds it pleasant.

COSTLY ERRORS FOR KINGSTON

Chief Williams Outpitches Yammy Jamieson in Brilliant Mound Duel.

FINAL SCORE 1-0.

BELLEVILLE, May 25.—(CP). — Belleville Stewart Warners defeated Kingston Ponies in the opening C.O.B.L. game here yesterday, 1-0, Jack ("Chief") Williams outpitching "Yammy" Jamieson in a brilliant mound duel. The opening ceremonies were brief, with Mayor George O. Tice pitching the first ball. Ernie Rowesome, President of the Belleville Amateur Baseball Association on the receiving end, and Newton Thompson, Secretary of the league, at the plate. The Citizens' Band was in attendance, and before the game got under way, the pennant won by the Belleville team, which includes seven C.O.B.L. championships and two Provincial titles, were pulled to the top of the flagpole.

Belleville won the game in the sixth frame, when they scored their lone counter on two successive errors by "Brick" Stone, shortstop for the Ponies, who threw wide to first on each occasion. Two were out when the miscues occurred.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, as I gotta write this Thurs. I can't give you no dope on the Central Ont. loop opener between Oshawa and the Johnson Motors of this village on Fri. Anyway, the customers will know all about it before they read this here epistle, if ever, so we'll hafta let it go at that. Early this week, old-timer, the outlook wasn't none too bright, believe you me, owing to the fact the O.B.A.A. moguls decided our Mister Sig Konopka wasn't eligible to play in our midst this year and that our Mister Hollingsworth's transfer oughta be held up, and on top of that our Mister Murphy stopped a throw with the 1st finger of his tossing hand, which is 1 of the surest ways of getting put outa action we can think of offhand. As these 3 birds was the whole keystone combination of the Petes' infield and as a ball team is often said to be just about as strong as its shortstop-2nd base section, you can see that the Petes' stocks took a slump for the time being. However, things brightened up as the week went along. Mister Hollingsworth was voted O.K. and Mister Murphy's finger looked like it might let him into the fray after all. The only fly in the ointment was the loss of Mister Konopka. The Polish boy was a very popular ball player here last season, and the fans is going to miss him if the final decision keeps him outa the line-up.

Belleville Radios and the Ponies tied to pry the lid off the Central season Wed. nite, but the sun went down too quick for the boys, and they had to call it a nite at the end of the 7th with the score tied. Looking at it from this distance, the feature was the work of the rival twirlers, Mister Bud Clancy for the Ponies and Mister Calhoun, formerly of Toronto, both of which seemed to be on top of the batters all the way. Outside of these heavers they was several new faces seen in the battle, Belleville trotting out a new catcher in Mister Barclay and Mister Ossie McIlroy, a former Toronto 3rd sacker, with a kid named Grey, a junior rookie, in the outfield. Kingston stuck to the old gang, with the addition of Mister McQuaid, the hard-hitting gardener.

All in all, it looks like a great race in the Central circuit this year, and ye fans oughta have plenty of excitement.

Here's hoping anyway.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

LEAFS HOLD THREE-GAME LEAD IN INTHERNATIONAL LOOP RACE

Bisons, Bears, Orioles and Royals Locked in Terrific Dog-fight For Second Place — Canadian Clubs Cop Holiday Doubleheaders.

(By The Associated Press)

Toronto Maple Leafs are beginning to draw away from the rest of the International League but four clubs are locked in a terrific dog-fight for second place.

While the Leafs' advantage today stood at three games, the Buffalo Bisons, Newark Bears, Baltimore Orioles and Montreal Royals all were tangled up in a virtual tie for the runner-up post. On percentages, however, the Bisons held second place at .548 with Newark third at .545 and Baltimore and Montreal tied at .543.

Cop Holiday Wins

Both Canadian clubs celebrated Victoria Day by taking doubleheaders yesterday Toronto, getting first-rate pitching from Ray Starr and Whitey Hilcher, subdued the Bisons 3-2 and 12-1, ending Buffalo's six-game winning streak. Tony Piet's double in the ninth, scoring Cal. Chapman, broke up the morning game but the afternoon duel was a rout as Whitey Hilcher kept 10 Bisons' hits well scattered and the Leafs pounded Ben Ash and Art Jacobs for 17.

Montreal also had the benefit of excellent pitching from Ray Fritz and Lauri Myllykangas as they turned back Rochester 8-1 and 5-3. Fritz gave the Red Wings only four hits in the first game while the Royals garnered 11.

Millykangas had an edge on John Berly in the nightcap, but Tommy Carey's error contributed to the Royals' winning three-run rally in the sixth inning.

Sweeps Series

Syracuse, trailing Baltimore and Montreal by only 3½ games, made a clean sweep of the series with Newark, taking a 2-1 final decision in a pitcher's duel between Hy Bandenberg and Marvin Duke.

Baltimore collected 19 hits including six home runs in walloping Albany Senators 21-2. George Puccinelli drove out three home runs to bring his total for the season to 16. Woody Abernathy hit his 12th and Gibson and Casen collected others.

5-RUN SPLURGE WINS FOR FORDS

Overcome Omemee Lead in Eighth Inning to Take 7-5 Victory.

NICE HURLING

Crashing through with five runs in the eighth Hood and Cummings came from behind to overcome Omemee 7-5 on Thursday night at Central. The villagers had been leading up to that time and with Frankie Shine hurling nice ball appeared to have the game well in hand but in the fateful eighth Dorrington led off with a home run followed by four clean hits with an error thrown in, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away the Motor boys were in the lead and went on to win easily.

Cavanaugh, the winners mound choice, pitched splendidly allowing but seven hits, all of which came in the last four frames, not the semblance of a hit being carded against him for five and one-third innings. Shine, for the losers went well also, except for his one lapse in the eighth which proved costly to the O's.

O'Leary and Creighton shared the batting honors for the Fords, bagging three apiece while Caccavella collected two. For Omemee Shine helped his own cause with two of his team's seven bingles, both being timely drives which accounted for two of the villagers' five tallies.

The fielding for both teams held up well, both infields and outfields doing yeoman service, McQuade for Omemee and Gillespie for Hood and Cummings snagging several hard hit fly balls that were tagged for extra bases, while the throw-ins from the field were more accurate than usual, few runners gaining bases on overthrows.

KEENE ENTRY TAKES EARLE SOFTBALL CUP

Omemee Beaten 4-3 in Final for Senior Softball Honors.

OMEMEE FIELD DAY

OMEMEE, May 25. — (Staff Reporter).—In the annual Victoria Day tournaments held here under auspices of Omemee Athletic Association, the senior softball trophy was captured by Fenelon Falls, while the Dr. Earle cup went to Keene intermediates, who trounced Omemee to the tune of 20-2 in the finals.

While Fenelon Falls and Omemee were the sole contestants in the senior division, the game, which resulted in a 4-3 decision for the former, was the feature of the day's activity. It was an outstanding game from the point of pep and sportsmanship.

Weather conditions were ideal, but notwithstanding, entries in the softball tourney were poor as compared with former years, and the crowd was noticeably smaller.

Altogether there were ten softball teams in the tourney as against twenty-three teams last year. Oshawa, holders of the senior cup last year, and a Peterborough team failed to put in an appearance, although their entries were in the hands of Secretary Allan Adams.

Competing Teams.

Competing teams were as follows:
Senior—Fenelon Falls and Omemee.
Intermediates — Keene, Rice's Grocery, Haboco, Stouffville, Lindsay Eagles and Omemee.
Girls'—Keene and Omemee, with the former as victors.

The senior line-ups were:
Fenelon Falls — Littleton, c; Thompson, p; Townley, 1b; Warne, 2b; Graham, 3b; Reid, ss; Smith, lf; Curtis, rf; Hutton, cf.
Omemee—Brooks, c; T. Parsons, p; F. Parsons, 1b; Shine, 2b; Prince, 3b; Reddick, ss; Adams, lf; Pogue, rf; McQuade, cf.
Umpires — McNeil and Hayes. Score—Fenelon, 4; Omemee, 3.

Wins Intermediate Honors.

Keene and Rice's Grocery squads were the semi-finalists for the Earle silverware, the latter being beaten 24-9, placing Keene into the finals with Omemee.

Omemee had the lead earlier in the final game, but when the score became tied in the seventh inning, the homesters, who fielded a much lighter team than their opponents, went all to pieces, and Keene continued to pile up the score against them.

The line-ups were:
Keene—J. Gall, 2b; W. Wood, p and ss; F. Whalen, ss and 6; A. Nelson, lf; D. Brown, 2b; Rennie, lf; McCarthy, c; Renwick, 1b; Richardson, rf.
Omemee—C. Reed, p; B. Jones, ss; A. Jamieson, c; C. Stephenson, cf; A. Williamson, 1b; J. Johnson, rf; H. Ellis, 2b; J. Deyell, lf; B. Earle, 3b.
The scores:
Keene ..... 001130358—20
Omemee ..... 051010001— 8

Running Races.

Under direction of Wes. Wilson, children's running race events were run off, with the decisions being as follows:
Girls, 5-7 years—1, Norma Marshall; 2, Beth Magee; 3, Jean Rowan.
Boys, 5-7 years—1, Milton Dunlop; 2, James Evans; 3, Bill Laidley.
Girls, 7-10 years—1, Merle Rowan; 2, Audrey Baxter; 3, Peter Curtis.

Girls, 10-12 years—1, May Faulkner; 2, A. Ireland; 3, Phyllis McQuade.
Boys, 10-12 years—1, Tom Rowan; 2, Jack Deyell; 3, Stanley Parrott.
Girls, under 15 years—1, A. Ireland; 2, May Faulkner; 3, Roberta McQuade.
Boys, under 15—1, Jack Williamson; 2, Jack Deyell; 3, Ken Ackerman.
Girls, 3-legged — 1, Myrtle McQuade and May Faulkner; 2, Phyllis McQuade and Roberta Deyell; 3, Lois Wilson and Dorothy Brooks.
Boys, 3-legged—1, J. Williamson and Ed. Dunne; 2, T. Rowan and K. Thurston; 3, J. McQuade and Burrell.

At night a big street dance was held with Van Walker's orchestra from Oshawa in attendance for round dancing and the Easy Aces orchestra from Peterborough for the square dancing.

In connection with the evening festivities an amateur contest was held in Coronation Hall, where the following contestants were entered to demonstrate their ability in dancing, singing, recitations and instrumental numbers: John Giddis, Joe Rowan, Russell McElwaine, Howard S. Vaughan, Helen Reddick, Jean Fee, Albert Carroll, Howard Vaughan, A. Marshall, Bill and Fred. Weir, four Marshall children, Phyllis McQuade, Russell McElwaine, Earl Milloy, Jacqueline Stone, Clare Fox and Teddy Hughey.

The association, which is to be congratulated on the ambitious nature of the programs held annually under their auspices, is under presidency of Les. Curtis. Dr. W. H. McPhee and Fred. Bent organized the softball tourney.

Work has been started on the twenty-mile tunnel which will connect Spain and Africa, and the project is to be completed in 1939.

Well, that's one ball game we don't have to worry about—that 10-4 win over Oshawa yesterday. And if the Petes—Johnson Motors is the official monicker—can just cop their tilt in the Motor City today, Knotty Lee will be wearing a smile a foot wide. 'Twas an ideal opening yesterday. A big crowd in holiday mood sat in a warm sun and saw a pretty fair sort of fixture with the right squad copping the duke. A classy parade, colorful opening ceremonies, some neat pitching by Scriver and some hard hitting by his teammates. What more could you ask? Official paid attendance at the game was 1250, though there were well over 1300 on hand.

Big Moose Mathews had the locals eating out of his mitt for three frames. But then the May 24th fireworks started. He was driven out in the sixth by a barrage of base blows and Knox spent the next three innings throwing 'em in and ducking. Spook Scriver hurled nice ball, despite occasional streaks of wildness. He allowed but five scattered hits while fanning four and was seldom in serious trouble. His support was good for the most part. Hollingsworth had an error on the first batter up but fielded perfectly after that and Clark went good defensively in spite of two miscues. He started one neat double-play. Incidentally this youngster—filling in at short for Murphy—had two hits in four tries and drove in two runs. Nice going, boy.

• • • • • • •

What we like about the Lee squad this year is that they seem to have a real punch to their attack. They have four or five players who can step up there and belt the ball hard and frequently. Oy Whatley came to life with the baton and hammered out two doubles and a single in four times up, every one a nifty clout. Foley and Hollingsworth hit dandy triples and can now drop around to Fashion-Crafts and pick out a smart tie—Bud Hickey offering a tie for every local player hitting a three-bagger here. Kearns got a whistling double while Burton came through with two singles. A total of 14 hits with five of them for extra bases. Other C.O.B.I. flingers please note.

• • • • • • •

Eddie Murphy should be back in the lineup shortly as his finger is improving fast. Possibly Konopka may get his transfer. Meantime, the Petes' infield looks pretty fair, aside from a few boots, and will be okay. The outfield is shaping up swelegant and they still have Cadd—a valuable fielder—in reserve, with Whitehouse also available. The catching and pitching promises to be quite satisfactory. Don't forget that the game yesterday was only a starter and that the Petes—who looked fair enough then—will go lots better within a few weeks. Yeah, we think our senior squad is going to prove a decided headache to rivals this summer.

• • • • • • •

The intermediate Petes were smeared all over the Bowmanville diamond in the Lakeshore League opener yesterday, carrying home the sour side of a 14-0 mauling. The locals weren't in shape and didn't have a strong team on the field at all. They'll shakeup the squad till its teeth rattle before the next tussle and should hold their own in this circuit after they get some practice under the belt. Three local twirlers were tried out but none were ready. Piper pitched good ball for the winners and had better support. Corbett clouted two of the Petes' five hits while Piper helped his own cause with four bingles in four appearances. Cobourg is here the 30th.

• • • • • • •

Coach Don Crawford and his King Edward School nine—champs of the bantam section of the City Baseball League here last year—lost in Waterloo, 9-5, yesterday in a sudden-death game to declare 1934 O.B.A.A. champs. It was a sweet struggle till the sixth, but the Cubs finally broke through to get three, adding four next time up and then two more. The locals threatened with three in the seventh but couldn't quite make it. They did okay and made it an interesting battle, their loss being far from a disgrace. Todd's pitching for six frames, the hitting of Williams, Berwick and Lawson being nifty and the whole team's fielding oke.

• • • • • • •

Once again Thursday eve the E.P.I. ball meeting flopped, only two teams—Raybestos and C.G.E.—being represented. So these two decided to notify the Trent Valley League at once of their desire to enter that circuit. If both get in, then we'll have three intermediate teams operating this summer, two in the T.V.L. and one in the Lakeshore League. The E.P.I. apparently will fold up for this year. Lack of sponsors is the reason. By the way, Bill Prindible will have the say as to use of the diamond at the Exhibition Grounds and all teams wanting use of it should notify him in plenty of time.

In a swell mound duel in Belleville yesterday a.m., the Stewart-Warners took a 1-0 win over Kingston Ponies. Their game Wednesday was a tie and calls for a replay later. Chief Williams held the Ponies to two hits Friday in a fine effort while fanning six and getting good support. Tammy Jamieson allowed but five hits but two errors by Stone handed the Quinte crew its lone run. Before the game started, Belleville pennants, won in past C.O.B.I. seasons, were hoisted to the top of a flagpole. These included seven Central League and two Provincial flags—that was when knighthood was in flower along the Bay of Quinte shores.

Lillico's go to Omemee Monday, while Fashion-Crafts tangle with Hood and Cummings here that e'en . . . . Port Hope beat Cobourg, 7-3, yesterday in the Lakeshore Ball Loop . . . . Nine-inning games will be played starting Monday, and games are billed for 6.15 sharp. With a quarter of the schedule over, Nationals are on top closely followed by Orioles and All Saints. The Leafs have won no games so far but with the acquisition of Jack Hope and Ron Fleming, should start to go places. Their team looks strong on paper. All Saints may be the team to beat out, according to many followers. The addition of Ashmore, Burke and Robertson gives the Anglicans a well-balanced team.

LAWN BOWLING

HERB MARTIN

In Keeping With all other lawn bowling clubs throughout the Province of Ontario, the Peterborough Lawn-Bowling Club opened its season's activities, yesterday afternoon, before as big a crowd as has ever gathered together for such an occasion.

Stan Low, Chairman of the Games Committee, spoke briefly about the tournament and then introduced B. Chesler, Vice-President of the club.

Mr. Chesler, In Beginning
his address, expressed the hope that before another tournament day rolled around that we would see our worthy president, J. T. Braund, back again, in harness and greatly improved in health. He drew the attention of the bowlers to the club's new slogan "Play the game," and hoped that all would practice this idea on and off the greens throughout the entire season. He also reminded the players regarding the new schedule books; asked them to take them home with them and read them carefully and by so doing would help the club, help the committees, and also help themselves.

The Rev. Dr. Barr
made reference to the passing of the late Dr. Mahood and all present bowed their heads in silent memory.

We Were All Glad

To Those Who Were Absent
all we can say is that they missed one of the finest afternoon's sport that has ever been staged on the local greens.

Champions Blanked By Picton 1 To 0

NAPANEE, May 25.—Picton Intermediates won the opening game in the Bay of Quinte Baseball League when they shut out the 1934 champion Gibbard Athletics 3 to 0 here yesterday. The league is classified under the O.B.A.A. as Intermediate "A."

Vernon "Lefty" Bishop, the 18-year-old southpaw who was with the Gibbards B tiplists last year, was on the mound for the winners and was never in trouble, scattering seven hits and allowing but one man to get on third base.

PETERBOROUGH CRICKET CLUB ADVANCES CUP SEMI-FINALS

Local Cricketers Score 150-101 Victory Over Ontario County.

ON OSHAWA GROUND.

On Friday, the Peterborough Country team travelled to Oshawa to play Ontario County and won handily by 150 to 101. The championship for the Matthews Challenge Cup is proving a great success, with 11 counties engaged.

By their win on Friday, Peterough reach the semi-finals as they have drawn a bye into the second round.

They opened with the usual pair, J. Lawrence and W. Binks, who took the score to 35, when the former was bowled for 12 by a beauty from Mann. Binks was out at 43 for a real good knock for 25 including four 4's. Worrall and Rowe took the score to 70, when the latter who hit hard and luckily was out to a good catch in the long field for 15. Worrall and Hamilton both did well, but when the seventh wicket (Dyer's) fell at 95, things did not look too good. However, the tail-enders rose to the occasion, and Smith, who was not out for 28, the high score for the side, received valuable help from Colbran, and the pair put on 30 for the ninth wicket. Lorne stayed while 13 were added when he was run out with the total 150.

Ontario Innings

On Ontario going in Mann and Larmouth made a good start against the bowling of Roe and Dyer, and took the total to 29 before Mann was out. Upon Dewberry joining Larmouth the pair put on 32 for the second wicket, making the score 61.

The turning point of the game came when Capt. Dyer took himself off for Wild. The latter bowled splendidly, getting 6 wickets (five clean bowled) for 21. Pickup hit a few runs at the finish, but Wild bowled him, and the innings closed for 101.

RANGERS CLOSE INDOOR SEASON

Club Had Successful Season Despite the Small Membership.

PRESENT PRIZES.

The Rangers' Rifle Association is now finished with the indoor season. The club has had a very successful season, despite the small membership.

The finances show a balance to the club after purchasing new lighting equipment and targets, etc.

During January, February and March, the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association held a series of matches in which the members took an active part in the following matches: Club fours, club pairs, individual and individual aggregate. They did not win any of the events but finished in a central place on the final scoring. Some 3,000 targets were scored in the above event, and considering that this was our first time to enter this event the scores compared favorably with some of the clubs from Toronto and Montreal, who have been long established.

Prizes presented by the Society of Miniature Rifle Clubs, England, were won by the following:

First-class marksmen's badge—W. Zeller and D. Clement.

Second-class marksmen's badge—A. Prout.

News of the World certificate—E. Wells.

Daily Mail certificate—C. Ashby.

Daily Telegraph certificate — D. Clement.

Bell medal certificate—D. Clement.

These prizes entitle the winners to take part in any of the above events at Bisley, free of entry charge.

In the Jubilee medal competition organized by the S.M.R.C., England, the following qualified for medals: E. Wells, W. Zeller, and D. Clement.

Canadian Small Bore Rifle Association medals were won by the following: E. Wells bronze, bronze and silver; D. Clement, bronze, bronze and silver, silver, silver and gold.

It is proposed to conduct a series of outdoor matches at 30 and 100 yards during June and July. Anyone interested can have all particulars from W. Zeller and D. Clement.

Despair over the result of the Saar plebiscite is believed to have prompted the suicide by poison of a man in a hotel in Verdun, France.

SWAP! Through the WANT-ADS

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

CHAPTER 34

But Louise did not go to Stewart with her troubles. She found no opportunity to do so, for Stewart was mysteriously busy these days. She might have been suspicious of him except for the fact that he had such plausible excuses and supplemented them with costly gifts and telephone calls and a good sized check or two. Surely no man who wasn't still crazy about her would do that. However, in the back of her mind lurked the suspicion she had voice to Goldberg, so she sent for Douglas.

Mostly out of curiosity Doug went to her dressing room. He was vastly amused at her attempt to be subtle in her questionings, but the cocktails she offered were good and so he stayed and talked to her.

"You're a dear to tell me all these interesting things about the gypsy," Louise said. "I guess I've been awfully wrong but you can understand how I felt, the star of the show, with her busting right in with all that publicity. I've been pretty snooty to her but you have to be to most chorus girls and especially to dancers or they just run over you asking favors. I'm perfectly willing to make friends with her now—" Louis bit her lip. It was hard for her to even lie in this matter of the gypsy girl. "After all I suppose it'd be a break for the kid to have her say she was a friend of L'Ville's. Leave it to me to help someone along. I'm just that way I guess." She sipped the mild cocktail and refilled their glasses. "Goldie would give me hell if he knew I was drinking again between acts—but heck, these are so weak they don't matter. She's simply beautiful now that she has so many new clothes," she said, turning back to the subject.

Doug grinned.

"As if the clothes made any difference," he chided.

"They make a lot of difference when you pay for them."

"Well, I can afford it."

"You're sure the kidder, Doug. I'm not a bit curious but I was just wondering who's playing sugar for her?"

"Not sugar—pepper, where the gypsy girl is concerned; and besides you're an insulting wench to infer that I couldn't pay for her clothes."

"Who does, really?" she questioned, trying to keep the eagerness out of her voice.

"Me."

"Are you ever serious? Go on, tell me, I won't tell."

"Daisies have."

Louise frowned.

"Stewart much be awfully generous to let you spend so much time with her—or do you work for him any more?"

"I'll let you in on a secret, Lou—"

A call boy broke in:

"Time, Miss L'Ville."

Louise swore under her breath.

"Tell me!"

"Oh, heck, you haven't time—"

"Yes, yes, I have, tell me!"

"I'm mad about her!" he whispered.

Louis gave him a withering look and left.

Doug grinned and stepped out of the dressing room. At that moment Consuelo saw him.

"Douglas, what are you doing in there?" she demanded.

"Um—m—you'd be surprised, little chicken." He put his arm around her.

She shook him off.

"Do you like that woman?"

"Sh, not so loud, my darling—against the rules." He pulled her hair. "You're jealous of me, gypsy."

"Bah!" Consuelo flung off his hand and, going back to her dressing room, slammed the door behind her, which was also against the rules. It was the first time she had been angry with Doug, or jealous of him.

This white woman, everywhere I turn she is standing in my way, the gypsy thought. She has put her eyes on Doug, my Dougalas, and I will slap her face for that. If it wasn't for her I would be dancing all through the show. Renaldo says I do not have to rehearse much longer. Then what am I to do? Sit and wait and wait and wait—

She thought of the day backstage when L'Ville had insulted her so. She thought of the night that followed when she swore black vengeance on the woman. What had she done about it? Nothing. Waited—waited, like a person afraid. The applause from her one act had turned her head and made her forget how she hated this woman? Applause for one number? Bah! One act, what was that? L'Ville went on a dozen times. Gypsy Consuelo could go on a dozen times, too. Didn't she know the dances and the songs and hadn't they rehearsed the ensemble numbers with the rest of cast? Now that she had done all this what was the good of waiting?

The girl stopped pacing the floor and sat cross-legged on the couch, the wide silk skirt spread about her. She was in costume—gypsy, all gypsy now, waiting to dance. Her legs were covered with anklets, more than she had ever dreamed of in the days of the van. Her wrists were heavy with bracelets. There were necklaces and earrings, and the scarf wound around her head was brilliant with bangles. It was only at the theater that she dressed like this any more, gorgio clothes had become a part of her life for other times. Now it was good to sit cross-legged and be dressed like a gypsy and to have bare toes curling against her legs.

The call came and she went down. When she went on, the sound of applause was like manna to her. She could not see very far out into the house but she knew that out there, row after row, people sat and watched her and the knowledge was heady wine and she thought that she could go on and dance and sing forever. Now if only a silver dollar would fall at her feet it would be perfect.

She thought of the country fairs and how she had danced with never a thought of the meager lights or of makeup or of the rough boards under foot. Never again would she do that—on, not even for the sound of silver dollars falling at her feet. She was a famous, rich gypsy. She remember Petru and his flute and here below her were 30 pieces all playing just for her.

Too soon the act was finished and she made her final bow and the curtain came down and men rushed on to change the scene for the next number. Now if only she could run upstairs, change quickly into another costume and come down and go on and dance—and dance—ah, she would never tire! But no, she must go up and take off her makeup and her gypsy clothes and her jewelry, her cheap jewelry, and she was through for the night, through until the next night. Down below, the show would go on for another hour or more and she was through—through! But L'Ville would dance and sing and dance and sing and—

She went back to her dressing room.

I have been a fool! I have thought that this was the marble palace and so it is, but instead of dancing on the floor, I am standing below and this white woman is dancing in my place. How Marcu would sneer at me! He would say, what is the matter, little one, have you forgotten how to fight? You used to carry a knife in your blouse but you have turned into a white dog and are afraid!

If Marcu was here he would do the thing she wanted. But since he was not she must—some way!

Police Seize Toronto Gambling Den, Fill Jails With 120 Men

When police raided the 'Jolly Miller Inn,' on the outskirts of Toronto, they filled the jails with 120 men, seized $3,000 in cash and a pile of gambling paraphernalia. The inn, police claim, has an elaborate system of trap doors for just such an eventuality, but police moving swiftly, caught the lads red-handed. Layout shows LEFT, section of crowd of men waiting to be taken to jail. RIGHT, gambling devices seized by police.

Magistrate's Court

Three "drunks" appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., today on pleas of "guilty" and two of them were fined $10.00 and $4.50 costs each. The third, charged as a second offender, was ordered to pay a fine of $50.00 and $4.50 costs, or to go to gaol for a month in default of payment.

A local woman was remanded until Monday on a charge of vagrancy to which she pleaded "not guilty." Bail was allowed. On a further charge of being dangerous to be at large, the Magistrate ordered that the woman be examined by two medical men as to her mental condition, and further directed that if she took advantage of her opportunity to get bail on the first charge that she be placed under responsibility of a police officer at the home of her parents.

The woman was represented by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

KING EDWARD CHAMPS FALL BANTAM FINAL

Waterloo Cubs Win O.B.A.A. Bantam Title and Carls Rite Trophy.

FINAL SCORE 9-5.

WATERLOO, Ont., May 23.—(CP)—Waterloo Cubs, three time bantam champions of the Inter-County Baseball Association, won the 1934 O.B.A.A. bantam title and the Carls Rite trophy here today when they defeated Peterborough bantams 9-5 in a sudden death game, marking the first time an Ontario Baseball title has come to the Twin City.

Cubs were eliminated by Columbus boys of Toronto last fall in the finals but a Toronto player was later found to have been over age and the playoff between Peterborough and Waterloo followed this spring.

After five innings of air tight baseball, Cubs broke away in the sixth to score three runs to which they added four in the seventh and two in the eighth. The Petes counted one in the sixth, three in the seventh and one in the ninth.

FIJI GOLD SCARCE

SUVA, Fiji., May 23 (CP)—Rumors of an important gold strike in interior Fiji found scant support in a survey to-day. The survey disclosed only two producing mines in the islands. Several gold finds have been reported, but there is no gold rush in the general sense of the term.

Scots Overwhelm W.F.A. Stars 9 To 1

KITCHENER, May 25 (CP.) — The Scottish Football Association touring team commemorated Queen Victoria's birthday here by scoring nine goals in an exhibition soccer match with a team selected from the Western Football Association, while their opposition tallied once.

It was the fourth consecutive victory of the visiting Scotsmen. Their trail of success began in New York and was continued in Philadelphia, Toronto and here.

The speed, accuracy and team play of the Internationals overwhelmed the W.F.A. eleven. Paced by D. Wilson, who had scored four goals in the first half, the team had a comfortable lead of six points at half time. In the second period they treated the crowd of 1,000 to a spectacular display of passing, headwork and foot-technique.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK by R. J. SCOTT

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright
Where nothing mars the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass.
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

LIFFORD LINE

May is the month for tree planting. Under the classification of ornamental trees are massed all deciduous trees such as oaks, elms, maples and flowering trees such as the horse chestnut.

The planter should consider their treatment from the moment they arrive. If they have to travel any distance at all and have no earth attached! to their roots,—and most trees from the nursery have none—they must be unpacked after sun down and be separated so that each specimen may be by itself. A trench is then dug in a vegetable garden, or any convenient spot, fully two feet deep in a slanting way, and we place our trees with the roots in the bottom of the trench. We then soak the roots with a liberal supply of water, cover the roots completely with a foot of soil, and then water this also. The part of the tree exposed to the light we next give a thorough soaking with water and cover it all with burlap or old carpet or anything that will keep the sun off the trees. The trees having been lifted for so long, have naturally suffered from exposure and are you might say sick. It is absolutely necessary to give all trees out of soil for a day, this treatment even though you have the holes all prepared before the trees arrive, because it will take all the strength of the tree to regain its normal health to start growing again, and then it would be too weak to go ahead. This is why some trees make such little head-way the first year, or fail altogether. The trees should remain in the temporary trench fully a week before they are planted, into their permanent quarters, and every day while they are there, they must be copiously watered both on the soil and over the trunk and branches to enable them to start the sap to flow freely again. And so we are ready to plant.

With the proper location decided and the proper distance for each tree carefully considered, we must first study the root system of our dormant tree to see how wide and deep a hole to prepare. Measure the diameter of the root system of each and observe that every tree must be set from two to four inches deeper than it was and now make your hole two feet wider and two feet deeper than actually required. When this hole has been dug, we open up the bottom fully a foot deep, with a pickaxe so that the new roots find it easy to stretch out deeper without much effort. We place upon this six to twelve inches of well-decayed stable manure mixed with good rich soil, and this we do not stamp down, but let it naturally settle down for two or three days and now we are ready to set our trees. We lift our tree from the prepared trench and with a good pruning shear, we proceed at first to prune the roots. A poor cheap pruning shear does more harm than good. First we cut off part of such roots which were injured or bruised while lifting, just beyond their injury or their last cut. All heavy roots require this because when the tree was lifted in the nursery most of the heavy roots were cut, and the nursery man is not to blame for this for it is impossible to get every root up without cutting it, or the expense of lifting a tree would be more than we pay for it. It is beneficial rather than injurious to treat the tree in the foregoing manner. All other heavy roots and those which we have now cut, must be cut again to shape the root system in a good form. The average amateur must banish the natural temerity when it comes to cutting.

Most planters do not prune severely enough. While tenderness is a virtue one should not spare the knife when planting a new tree, for it is of utmost importance and greatest benefit. The heavy root which goes straight down in direct line with the trunk is known as the main taproot. This root must be cut a little to stop it from going further. It requires two to set a tree right and in order to get at the right depth and to see the tree straight the use of a planting board is often found helpful.

One man holds the tree in its erect position while the other throws the soil into the hole, always through the roots so that it breaks up and sifts in between the roots. All soil that is used now, must be free from manure, but should be good rich loam, and the poor subsoil which we have thrown out while digging the hole must be discarded altogether. No stones must be mixed with this soil and these if found should be carted away; nor must we allow the tree to be planted where the water settles in spring or winter, for this would never do. When we have the hole filled up so that the roots are held inplace and just covered, we use a rammer (a post about four inches at the end) and now we ram in the soil outside of the circle of roots and when this is done we proceed first to fill the balance of the hole with water; and then wait until the water has receded, showing us the rifts between the roots. We carefully fill these rifts with soil and cover all the roots thoroughly and now we tread the soil firmly above the roots with our feet, and while we ram the soil on the outside of the roots or tread it above, the second man must not relinquish his hold on the trunk for otherwise the tree would not sit straight. We now fill in loosely right up to the surface, but allow a saucer-like effect near the trunk. This is for the purpose of holding the water and rain; for every day for nearly two months after planting, if the weather is dry the soil must be liberally soaked and if the summer is dry, water all summer when needed.
